Spinster Recluse, Unseen For 30 Years Leaves $45,200 To Brother In Canada

PICKERING, Yorkshire, Eng., Oct. 27 — (CP). — A 74-year-old spinster recluse, whose tradesmen used a "secret" knock to bring her to the door, left £11,300 ($45,200) and a 20-room mansion to her brother in Canada.

She was Hilda Kendall, who died last March and whose will was probated today.

But her brother, William Kendall, who lives on the Sahanatien Indian reserve near Bala, Ont., with his Indian wife, says he will not leave "my people" to take possession of the house, Sinnington Hall at nearby Sinnington.

Miss Kendall for 30 years lived alone and unseen in the heavily-curtained house. Her housekeeping bills never exceeded £1 a week.

Mother Acquitted

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Oct. 27.—(CP).—Mrs. Annie Hayden, middle-aged Whitehorse mother, has been acquitted of a charge of murdering her husband, Horace Hayden. A six-man jury deliberated only 15 minutes before finding Mrs. Hayden innocent of the crime near here. Mrs. Hayden said she shot her husband in self defence after he had beaten her for refusing to tend his fishing nets.

Ottawa Blackouts

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—(CP) —S. W. Canniff, general manager of the Ottawa Hydro-Electric Commission, said Tuesday night power blackouts will start in Ottawa next week. Drastic New Power Cuts Face Londoners For Winter

By H. L. JONES.

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Thousands of Londoners will have the routine of their daily lives upset next month — the power dimout is coming back for the winter.

From November 1 all factories must cut consumption of power by 10 per cent between 8 a.m. and noon and 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. And offices, shops, restaurants, theatres and all commercial users of electricity must cut it by half between those hours.

Starting December 1 it will be even worse. From then on the cuts must cover all the hours between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. as London's electrical authorities strive to stave off a winter power shutdown by conservation during daylight hours.

Thousands of workers will go on night shifts; big industrial plants will be operated on staggered hours; elevators will be stopped and stores and offices will have lighting and heating cut to a minimum.

W. J. Skinner, chairman of the 12-man West London District Advisory Committee of Employers and Trade Unionists responsible for 3,500 industrial undertakings and 45,000 commercial firms from Hammersmith to Ruislip and from Harrow to Staines said:

Firms Overwhelmed

"Many firms are overwhelmed by the thought that they have to cut their consumption by 50 per cent, but nobody will be put out of business by these new instructions.

"Cinemas will have to cut their auditorium lights during intervals. Banks and insurance offices who use automatic calculating machines will have to do away with the luxury of lighting corners that are not used.

"Fires will have to go off. Typists will no longer be able to warm their toes in front of the electric fire."

As Londoners look to the grim approach of winter that will bring thick fogs and rain as well as power cuts, they have one consolation— the streets will be brighter.

Despite necessity for power conservation authorities have agreed brighter street lighting is necessary to help forestall crime. Most boroughs have agreed to increase night street lighting up to as much as 75 per cent of prewar.

Hopes For Communion Between Churches

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Dr. F. H. Cosgrove, former provost of Trinity College, Toronto, said Tuesday he hoped to see development of United churches in other countries "that may not be Anglican but will be in communion with the Anglican church."

Speaking at a meeting of the Anglican clergy of the Archdeaconry of York, Dr. Cosgrove said that one instance of that kind of church, the United Church of south side, was "one of the greatest things in Christian history."

He said that if the Anglican Church in Canada and the United Church of Canada could achieve a common ministry it would be the first step toward organic union.

Re-elect J. Juby President PC Association

The Hon. Dana Porter, newly appointed Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary for Ontario, told a meeting of the party members of Peterborough County Tuesday night that the past five years, under the Drew administration, has seen the "greatest impetus to education in the history of our province."

He was speaking at a meeting at which officers for the county organization and delegates to the two coming provincial conferences of the party were elected.

James Juby was re-elected president of the Peterborough Progressive Conservation Association. Other offi ers elected were: Honorary presidents, Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Hon. George A. Drew, Hon. Harold R. Scott, M.P.P., Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and Senator Iva Fallis; vice-presidents, Henry Batten, Mrs. John Cridland, Richard Sanderson of Havelock, John Bradshaw, Bert Lochheed of Norwood; treasurer, Col. D. J. Lawrie; secretary, Mrs. Floyd Curtis.

The four delegates to attend the meeting of the party in Toronto on Saturday, at which the date for the coming convention to name a party leader will be set, are: John Corkery, Jr., David Rogers, Mrs. Floyd Curtis and John Dietrich; alternates, James Juby, Mrs. James Juby, Mrs. David Rogers and Kenneth Tedford of Norwood.

The 10 delegates from the Peterborough County Association who will attend the convention to name the new leader were elected. They are: Mrs. John Cridland, James Juby, Rodney Webb of Norwood, Clarence Watts of Warsaw, Richard Batten of North Monaghan, John Currelly, John Bradshaw, Mrs. Floyd Curtis, Mrs. Robert Cottrell, Kenneth Morris of Lakefield.

Alternates are: Chester Hamilton, RR 2, Lakefield; James Baskin, Sr., of Norwood; Mrs. Wellington Lean of Apsley; Theodore Post of Lasswade; Mrs. George Oltment of Norwood; Mrs. Harold R. Scott, Stanley Lowes, Col. D. J. Lawrie and Mrs. Harvey Staunton.

Mr. Juby was chairman of the meeting which was attended by party members from various points of the county. Mr. Porter was introduced by Mr. Scott.

Education A Foundation.

Following a review of the accomplishments of the Provincial Department of Education since 1943, when the present government was first elected, he said that education was the "the true foundation for the development of a country." He stressed the importance of the system of provincial grants to municipal school boards, which amounted to $30,000,000 in 1947. These grants, he said, have made it possible for local boards to carry out expansion programs for their school systems which could not have been done otherwise and they have relieved the taxpayers of much of the burden of the cost.

Although it was true that school taxes had not dropped, he said, that it was also true that, despite the tremendous increase in the cost of all factors involved, there had been no great rise in them. This had also been due to the grants program, he said.

Must Have Best Possible.

"If education is to be brought to all the people and if it is to give the greatest return for the effort put in, we must be sure that we have the proper tools—the best possible teacher and equipment which can be provided our students," he said.

"It is one of the major responsibilities of a provincial government in providing services to see that our human assets are developed to the full," said Mr. Porter.

Mentioning the great increase in construction of new schools, he said that the grant system had meant the extension and expansion of school facilities to many suburban and rural areas not touched before. The province has paid from 40 to 50 per cent of the cost of more than $75,000,000 in school expenditures over the past four years, he pointed out. It was clear, he said, that much of this work could not have been borne by the separate municipalities unaided.

Praising the program of extension started by the former Minister, Hon. George Drew, he said that the Department was "looking at Education in a new light— as a means of providing recreational as well as mental development for our children."

Speaking of the many additions to facilities for teaching technical skills, Mr. Porter said that these contributed greatly to the earning power —future and present— of the workers and affected the standard of living by that raise.

"With these new skills— and the will to work— we can forge those postwar dreams of our world."

Ontario Expanding.

Natural expansion of Ontario's population is more than 40,000 a year, with an additional 40,000 to 60,000 annually by immigration.

"We must have plans for the training of our people," he said.

"During the past five years, we have seen the greatest impetus and vigor put into our educational program than at any other period of the history of the province."

"With these greater educational facilities we can press forward to even more in the same direction. We are keeping in touch with modern methods, and changing our policies ot meet the changing needs of the people."

Thanks of the meeting were expressed to Mr. Porter by Mr. Juby.

MORNING WARNING

One young businessman in the city is wondering if the modern car-makers don't overdo this gadget business a bit. He recently purchased a new car. Stepping out sharply Tuesday morning to start it, he got a bit of a shock: the motor worked fine, but so did the horn, loudly and continuously for more than 15 minutes before the despairing owner drove the noisy machine to a garage. There the answer was found and conveyed to the red-faced owner: the car had a built-in burglar alarm which hadn't been shown to him. He had flipped it unknowingly and caused the nerve-shaking racket from the alarm. Anyway, in the horse-and-buggy days, life was so much simpler.—R.B.

Break-in Nets $50 In Tools At Lumber Co.

Break-in at the Beaver Lumber Company mill on George St. was discovered this morning. The theft, which resulted in the loss of more than $50 worth of woodworking tools, took place sometime during the night. The tools were the property of C. W. Stack, an employee of the company. They were taken from a tool box in the mill.

Entrance had been gained by forcing a door on the east side of the mill. One of the doors to the lumber shed had been tampered with, but no entry had been made.

Permit Woodpile On Norwood Rd.

Milford Payne received from the Council Monday night a temporary permit to distribute wood from a lot in the area north of McFarlane St. as it was verbally located to the board of works.

W. J. A. Fair, representing Mr. Payne, said the lot was to be used as a piling ground during the winter, and that loads of fuel would be sold there, as a convenience to the public.

"He cannot find a vacant place suitably near the city," Mr. Fair said.

Permission was granted until April, and it was directed that Mr. Payne must not do any sawing.

It may be a distribution place, but not a general woodyard.

Duffy Club Plans To Attend Parade

About 30 members of the Duffy Club (Hasty Pees) met at the Legion Hall on Tuesday night for the annual nomination of officers. Because of the small attendance, it was decided to leave the first 10 minutes of the election night, November 9, open for further nominations.

It was decided to donate a wreath to the Peterborough poppy fund which is operated by local branches 52 and 452 of the Canadian Legion.

On Armistice Day the Duffy Club will march in the Peterborough parade along with the Red Patch Club, distinctive in their red berets.

At the annual Red Patch dinner commemorating the Battle of Ortona, the Duffy Club will again join in. Members, wives and lady friends are invited to the dinner on December 6.

It is expected that RSM Angus Duffy of Belleville, after whom the club was named, will be chairman at the election meeting.

Col. V. Eastwood Honored By Colleagues

Following dinner on Tuesday evening at the officers' mess of 50th HAA Regiment, Prince of Wales Rangers, Lieut. Col. V. M. Eastwood, MC, ED, recently retired, was presented with a large engraved sterling tray by his fellow officers to fittingly show their appreciation of his long association with unit.

Col. Eastwood's retirement actually took place at the end of March, 1948, but official word was only recently received by present officer commanding, Lieut. Col Maxwell Clarke, ED. The presentation was made by Col. Clarke, who briefly tracel Col. Eastwood's military record. Col. Eastwood joined the 57th Regiment in 1913 and served overseas in The First World War and was demobilized with a commission and a Military Cross. In 1939 he again went active and served in Canada for six years and attained the rank of Lieut.-Colonel.

He retired to the reserve corps of officers and up to March 31 was commanding officer of the regiment.

Col. Clarke, his successor, enlisted in 1928 with the 4th Machine Gun Company and was commissioned in 1935. He went overseas with the S.D. and G. Highlanders and was demobilized in 1945 with the rank of Captain. He has been in the reserve forces since that time and to date has attained the rank of Lieut.-Col.

In presenting the tray to Col. Eastwood, he told the assembly that the garrison was very fortunate in being left in such a sound position by Col. Eastwood's untiring efforts.

Hockey Fan, Coach Art Pagett Dies

Arthur Pagett, 64, of 638 Chamberlain St., died on Tuesday in hospital followi g a lingering illness. He was born in Willenhall, England, son of the late John Pagett and Mary Ann Rutter, and had lived in Peterborough for the past 40 years. He was employed as a brass finisher at the CGE.

He leaves his wife, the former Sarah Doleman, and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Hickson of Kingston. There are three sons, Arthur, Gerald and Donald and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Leether and Mrs. T. Ritchie, all of Peterborough. He was an adherent of the United Church, a veteran of the First World War and a member of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion.

The body is resting at the family residence and funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

The late Mr. Pagett was held in high esteem by a galaxy of youths from all parts of the city, for his interest in amateur hockey and baseball. Always a booster of the youngsters, he gave valuable and friendly advice to two generations of boys. His first love was hockey, and he rarely missed a trip to outside points when the south-end teams were playing. He acted too as assistant coach to his son, Arthur, Jr., in handling the players and the financial affairs of the various sporting groups.

Money Not Returned

Practice of the city council is not to refund money paid for a transient traders licence. That is the substance of a reply that is to be made to Mr. A. E. Borland, representing the Workers Educational Association, whose co-operative grocery store has been discontinued. The motion by Aldermen Swanston and D. Miller was a plain statement of customary action. Local businesses pay $50 and out of town transients $250 for this licence. The money is credited to taxes against the property, but if there is failure or retirement the money remains with the city.

CAR OVERTURNS

Skidding on the leaves on the road following a collision, the car of J. H. Young of 559 Reid St., hit the curb near Weller St. and Monaghan Rd. Tuesday afternoon and overturned. The accident, about 4.45 p.m., involved the cars of Mr. Young and A. Rightmyer, 573 Patterson St. Both fenders of the Young car were damaged. A box of tools in the rear broke a back window when the car turned on its side. Damage is about $50.

Outboard Marine President Presents $1,000 In Civic Arena Campaign

Hugh Campbell, president of the Outboard Marine, has announced that his firm is making a donation of $1,000 to the Civic Arena Fund. This latest financial boost to give Peterborough schoolchildren an enclosed rink for skating and hockey was announced on Tuesday night by Hurrell Dodds, chairman of the building committee.

Donations from other business firms poured into headquarters to make Tuesday's receipts the highest since the start of the campaign. House-to-house canvassers are continuing to solicit donations.

Several hard-working canvassers reported to the George Street headquarters with donations totaling well over $500.

The Civic Arena Committee met with Hugh Wilson, Arena contractor, last night to discuss final plans for completing the inside work.

In spite of the fact that Mr Wilson is sorely handicapped by lack of experienced carpenters to do the inside work he promised the committee to have the interior of the building partially completed by November 25.

This is the date that the Governor-General is making an official visit to Peterborough and will inspect some 2,000 school children at the arena.

Other donations received from the "special names" committee are as follows: Towne Togs $100, a Friend $100, Dr. B. Waite $100, Irwin-Godson Ltd. $100, H. B. Tayor & son $50, Noel Rishor $25, Churchill Restaurant $20, Wm. Lech & Sons $25, Fred Roy $25, Dr. L. Zacks $25, L. V. LYINDSAY, Ont., Oct. 27.—(CP).—Fifty-five members of Local 837 of the Textile Workers Union (CIO-CCL), employees of Knitter Ltd., have voted to defer strike action until Nov. 15 if the firm continues normal production. The company has promised the union a meeting with the company president, L. Laplanche, now in Europe.

E. A. Cluney, assistant Canadian director of the union, said the union is seeking to return to wage rates originally agreed on plus an hourly wage increase of four cents recommended by a concilation board.

Youths Pepper New Arena With Stones

Ald. H. Dodds laughed a bit grimly the other night telling about Park St (south) youths who like the sound of stones banging on the big shiny target of the Civic Arena. That marksmanship is being discouraged, it is hoped with some police aid.

"The very ones we're building the arena for," said Ald. Dodds. "There hasn't been any damage to it, but you wonder about any youngster throwing stones at a new property. Probably the rink will be a means of correcting that disposition toward public property, and they will be taught to look on it as their own."

Ald. Dodds told the board of works a light at the east end of the CPR foot bridge was frequently broken by boys throwing stones.

Chamber Signs New Members

At a brisk half-hour meeting today of ten team captains of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce drive to obtain 210 additional members, their total reports showed 120 new members had been signed up for 1949. This, said chairman Gordon S. Matthews, was an excellent showing for only a two-day effort.

The membership this year is only 140 and the objective set is 350 to bring Peterborough into line with other cities of the same size. To date only one-third of the prospects have been contacted.

President Wilson Gemmel was absent and is attending the annual convention of Canadian Chambers of Commerce in Vancouver. On his return, the Peterborough team captains hope to be able to present him with the news of having attained the 210 new members and from their zeal shown in the first two days of their campaign, it will be easily accomplished, they feel.

Team captains present to give an accounting of their activities were chairman E. C. Braund, Roy Girven, Gordon Munro, Harley Keefer, Chas. Kingan, Ed Riley, J. J. Dorris, Jim Fraser, Ted Weir and Fred Overend with chairman Gordon Matthews in the chair.

75 Animals Bring $95,685 At Holstein Auction Sale

Cattle from the herds that show at the district championships in Peterborough brought top prices at the All-Canadian Holstein auction sale in Toronto Monday.

Elmcroft Farms of Oshawa received $9,400 for a five-months-old bull calf, heading the male section, and Norman W. McConkey of Peterborough was paid $4,600 for his five-year-old cow Mata Hari Supreme. She was bought by Clarence Lyons of Mountjoy, Pa. She is the world champion for fat production in the junior three-year-old class on 2X with her record of 905 lbs. fat from 19,635 lbs. milk.

A paternal sister, also consigned by Mr. McConkey, was purchased by Isaac H. Gates, Newton, Pa., for $2,000.

The general average for the 78 animals was $1,226, and total turnover in the sale was $95,685. Thirty head brought at least $1,000 each, and 11 of them surpassed the $2,000 mark.

Twelve bulls averaged $1,958; 14 milking females $1,779; 45 bred heifers $882, and 7 open heifers $1,182. The Elmcroft bull calf was taken by Dr. Antonio Ubici, acting for the firm of Harriett & Ubici, Salto, Uruguay. His sire was the Elmcroft Sylv-o-Gram, all Canadian senior yearling in 1945. Elmcroft Farms also sold the second highest priced female, getting $4,000 for their three-year-old heifer Elmcroft Hiemke Monogram from Cashman Farms, Hopewell Junction, NY. She is a daughter of Montvic Monogram and was first prize two-year-old at Peterborough championship show in 1947.

Wm. J. Murphy of Lindsay bought heavily, taking nineteen head for a total of $15,275. Breeders were represented chiefly from Ontario, Quebec and Prince Edward Island. The sale attracted 1,000 buyers, many from the USA and several from Great Britain and South American countries.

Peterboro Under Power Quota

For the last five days, Peterborough's use of electric power has not exceeded the Hydro's daily maximum allotment of 240,000 kilowatt hours.

Tuesday's register of consumption was exactly at the quota mark, 240,000 kwh. Probably sunshine helped, and was definitely on the side of light. At any rate, Peterborough people are evidently not relaxing in their campaign against wasting power.

The figures for the last five days were: Fri. Oct. 22, 240,000 kwh.; Sat. 212,000; Sun. 146,000; Mon. 204,000 Tues. 240,000.

ANOTHER MONSTROSITY

During the past ten days, the Examiner editorial office has been a target for large grotesque vegetables grown by Peterborough gardeners. There were beets, carrots, potatoes. Today, A. J. Madill, 606 George Street, topped all comers when he brought down a monstrous thing 20 inches long, 17 inches in diameter which grew in his garden off Bennett St. No one has seen anything quite like it, or knows what it is, except Mr. Madill, who assured us it was a radish. There is about four or five pounds of it.

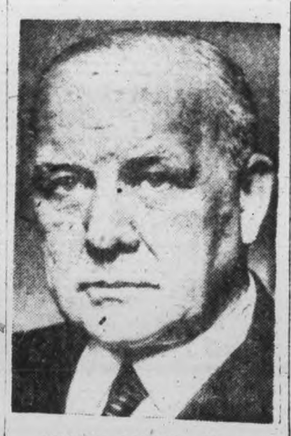
Taxes Breaking Hearts, Landlords Say

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Ontario landlords, getting ready to pocket new rent increases ranging up to 15 per cent, claim that taxes are breaking their hearts.

H. E. Manning, honorary president of the Ontario Property Owners' Association, told a meeting of the Association Monday that property owners carry the financial load in the municipalities while the tenants escape direct taxation.



"The municipal tax system is one of the strongest agencies working for Communism in North America because it is breaking the hearts of the people who own homes," he said. "A tax burden is never distributed. It always rests upon the owner."

He said some "conscientious students of economics" suggest that taxes on buildings are paid by tenants who meet rental obligations. But that was a suggestion with which he could not agree.

Jamieson Bone of Belleville, president of the organization, charged that the Federal government, in prolonging rent controls, was "catering to the greatest number of votes — the tenants." He added:

"We're heading toward mob rule when the mob will vote you out of business if they get the chance. All have the vote now, even those who shouldn't."

R. M. Willes Chitty, past president of the Toronto Property Owners' Association, said the latest rent increase had been too small.

FRANZ LEHAR, Viennese composer and author of "The Merry Widow" and other operettas, who died in Vienna recently, aged 78.

Tie Immigrants Into Church Life

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(CP).—Rev. J. J. Stam of the Netherlands Reformed church said Tuesday he had spent the last six months on a mission in Canada to "integrate the Dutch immigrant members of my church over here into the United church of Canada."

Dr. Stam said in an interview that the Netherlands with 10,000,000 people is overpopulated. Some of her people must go abroad and since the war a considerable number have gone to Canada.

This year, he said, some 8,000 to 9,000 Dutch immigrants already have arrived in the Dominion. Next year he expects some 20,000 will arrive.

Speaking of his task in Canada, he said: "We want to put them into the life of Canada and not have them locked up in nationalist groups."

Dr. Stam, who is sailing for home from New York Saturday, arrived in Quebec last May 7 aboard the steamship Tabinta. He travelled with 750 Netherland immigrants—farmers and their families. Since then he had crossed the dominion from east to west.

Dr. Stam saaid two colleagues, Rev. L. B. Bruijn and Rev. K. T. Smits, would remain in Canada to continue with the church merger process.

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One-Fourth The Cost

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough syrup, they get a dependable, effective medicine. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all, and makes a splendid medicine. Keeps perfectly, tastes fine.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, helping to clear the air passages and soothing away irritation, has caused it to be used universally throughout Canada.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Canada Digs In Scrapyards Of World To Find Steel

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—(CP). — Steel Controller F. K. Ashbaugh says Canada's critical steel shortage has forced the country to start a trek for iron and steel scrap in the junk yards of the world.

The word has gone out from the Trade Department to Canada's trade representatives. Negotiations are being made in Hong Kong, Singapore, Australia, Japan, South America and Germany to buy whatever is available.

So dark is the picture that all Canadian industry and construction, with the exception of housing, is feeling the pinch, Mr. Ashbaugh said Tuesday night in an interview.

He added that to the man-in-the-street the shortage is a vague and uncertain problem. But it might become real to him in shortages of Canadian-built automobiles, refrigerators, stoves and furnaces if the dearth of steel continues for any length of time.

One gleam of hope is in the Montreal report of an electrical steel-refining process that cuts the job from 24 hours to 30 minutes.

In Early Stages

But the "refining-by-electricity' process, still in its pilot stages, is a "revolutionary" process for the future. What is needed, said Mr. Ashbaugh, is about $20,000,000 worth of blast furnace, coke ovens and open hearths as soon as possible.

Biggest news for Ontario is that a $15,000,000 blast furnace may be built in that province. One location under consideration is Sault Ste. Marie.

The government is prepared to shoot the works on costs. A cabinet spokesman told the Canadian Press the government is willing to subsidize steel-construction costs.

"It will do everything within its power to alleviate the shortage."

Canada's current steel shortage is estimated a 1,000,000 tons of scrap a year.

Need More Food

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.— (CP). — Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent Tuesday night said he could not "boast of being a farmer" but he wished every citizen in Canada could realize how important for the whole world was the production of food in Canada. The Acting Prime Minister spoke at the official opening of the Ottawa Winter Fair.

Remember...it's the TIRE that STOPS your car

GOODYEAR'S NEW KIND OF TIRE GIVES STILL GREATER SAFETY!

On slippery winter roads—in mud and snow and slush—you'll be glad you switched to Super-Cushions by Goodyear! Because they're bigger and softer, run on only 24 pounds of air, Super-Cushions put more of the time-proved All-Weather tread on the road, where it counts most, for increased traction and skid-resistance!

Super-Cushions' big, husky, deep-slotted rubber diamonds meet the road at an angle that means grip and stop—no matter which way the car wants to slide. Naturally, Super-Cushions mean greater blowout protection and increased mileage, too! And they'll whittle repair bills to an all-time low, by cushioning your car from shocks and bumps.

Remember—tires bought at this time of the year will give you up to 25% longer wear. That's because winter's cold wet pavements and slower speeds keep tires from heating up. And the cooler the temperature, the slower the wear.

For safety's sake replace your worn tires with safe Super-Cushions. See your Goodyear Dealer soon.

Formal Attire Disappearing From U.S. Scene

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27 (AP)—The world's most famous exponent of top hat, white tie and tails hints that this formal attire is disappearing from the US scene.

Fred Astaire was hoofing through a dance number with Ginger Rogers for "Barkleys of Broadway" and he was spiffed out in his usual ultra-formal costume.

"You certainly don't see this kind of dress out any more," Fred admitted. "You used to see it more in this country, but never so much as in England.

"I remember when we played in an English show, we could see nothing in the audience but white ties. When the black ties started creeping in, we knew the show was reaching the end of the run."

Fred confessed he hardly ever wears the formal dress outside movie stages these days.

Of course, there is a good reason for the general demise of the outfit. Who but Astaire can look good in top hat, white tie and tails?

Seek 'Mutiny' Couple For Obtaining $1,000

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Oct. 27—((CP)—Capt. William Bodden and his wife Ethel, who arrived in Toronto last July with a tale of how they had survived mutiny and attempted murder aboard their tug Miranda in the Caribbean, were being sought today by police on a charge of obtaining $1,000 by false pretences.

Police said the charge arose from a property deal they made here Saturday with Mrs. Kenneth Wells. The couple, about 40 years of age, left here Sunday morning and were traced as far as Toronto.

They were brought here late in July by a local ship's carpenter who was impressed with the story of their hazardous voyage from Kingston, Jamaica to Venezuela.

First Concert Of New Series

The Saidenberg Sinfonietta, consisting of 20 outstanding orchestral players and conducted by Daniel Saidenburg, eminent young American conductor, will appear in Peterborough at PCVS Auditorium on Saturday night in the first program of the Peterborough Concert Association's 1948-49 series.

All the great music of the established masters such as Bach, Handel, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert and Tschaikovsky, as well as the compositions of more contemporary musicians is included in the repertory of this ensemble which is in fact a complete small orchestra.

Organized in Chicago in 1935 while Mr. Saidenberg was first celist of the Chicago Symphony, the Chicago Sinfonietta met with instant success. At first the group confined its activities to Chicago proper, but, yielding to demand, performed in cities in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wsconsn and Mnnesota. As a result of the success in the midwest, Mr. Saidenberg was invited to come to New York just before the war to organize an eastern orchestral ensemble. When the orchestra made its debut at New York's Town Hall the reviews of the critics and the reception of the audience left no doubt as to the stature and accomplishment of the group. Requests for appearances outside the city quickly folowed.

Mr. Saindenberg has been heard frequently on the radio over CBS serious music programs as well as over NBC conducting the orchestra on the Chase and Sanborn Hour, featuring Alec Templeton. He has also conducted small symphony groups in Denver and on the West Coast, as well as engagements as guest conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra at the Dell Concerts.

SARNIA, Oct. 27 — (CP) — Kenneth Hollywood, of Hamilton, sentenced Oct. 16 to three years' imprisonment for illegal possession of narcotics, today was sentenced by Magistrate C. S. Woodrow to an additional one year to run concurrently for breaking and entering a Thedford drugstore.

Hollywood, who pleaded not guilty, was convicted of the break-in Aug. 25, at the drug store of Dr. M. MacDonald. A quantity of cigarettes and other articles were taken from counters. Codein, morphine and other narcotics were stolen from the safe which was forced open.

The proprietor testified Hollywood was the man whom he had seen pass his store on the night of the break-in and whom he had later picked out of a police line-up at Guelph.

PETERBOROUGH COLLEGIATE

The heads of three different departments in the Collegiate Institute addressed the opening meeting of the P.C.V.S. Home and School Association. Mr. Switzer, of Industrial Arts, explained the function of his department, which is to give the pupils a general education and fundamentals of a trade, but can in no sense be called a trade school. "Part of our work is to see if pupils are equipped with mechanical ability, without which they cannot succeed in this department. The most brilliant pupils can, with the addition of an academic subject, prepare themselves to enter the Engineering school at the university, or take up the profession of teaching in the Industrial Art department, other graduates can enter into the various trades which their talents and inclinations would fit them for," he said.

Mr. H. A. Toole explained the function of the Commerical Department. "The regular commercial course that the pupils embark on in grade 10 and continue to grade 12, gives them a general as well as a commercial education," he said. "Recently, what is known as library science, has been added to the curriculum in the last grade, which teaches the pupils how to do research and thus be of additional value to their employers. The special commercial course is open to pupils who graduate from the academic school from grade 11 on and it gives them a working knowledge of all commercial subjects. The demand for the graduates of this department is very great at the present time and all pupils can be placed in good positions."

Miss McDougall of Household Science explained that her department has quite a varied curriculum, teaching other things besides cooking and sewing. "The girls of this department are taught the fundamentals of good family life, the proper management of a home, the equipment that is necessary in kitchen, dining room and laundry, their use and care, the proper way to dress and the care of clothing, as well as how to make them. The graduates, besides becoming homemakers, can enter the nursing profession, go in for interior decoration or enter the department of Household Science at the university, or obtain positions in textile departments of large department stores," she said. Mrs. Chambers moved the vote of thanks to the speakers.

Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, the president, was in the chair for the meeting. The following list of additional officers was announced: Mrs. C. S. Browne, Hon. President; Mrs. W. Cunningham replacing Mrs. Lynch as treasurer; Mrs. Fries, social convener; Mrs. J. Low, publicity; Mrs. E. McElraith, health; Mrs. J. D. Fanning, program; and Mrs. Drury, pianist.

Mrs. E. Chambers, the membership convener, made an appeal for an increased membership, and proposed the scheme of asking the co-operation of the pupils, to get their parents interested. The class that brings in most parents during education week in November will be given a $5 prize by the association. Mrs. J. G. Carlyle gave the finance report in the absence of the convener, Mrs. Ward, and announced that a silver tea has been planned to be held at the Collegiate Open House, November 17, at which a sale of home baking and candy will also be held. A rummage sale is scheduled to be held November 13, and a frolic scheduled sometime in February of the coming year. The proceeds are used for Save the Children Fund, scholarships, a banquet tendered the rugby team and other incidental expenses. Mrs. J. Wood reported on the Regional Conference held last week-end at St. James Church. Education week was announced starting November 14, and an invitation from the University Women's Club to hear Dr. Hawk at the Public Library on November 6 was extended by the president. Mrs. Laderach exhibited a number of pamphlets and explained their uses, Mrs. Drury led in a sing-song and Mrs. G. Fries and her committee served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

MR. AND MRS. THOS. M. McNEIL, who were married Saturday in St. Luke's Anglican Church. The bride is Barbara Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pollard, 103 Cameron St., and the groom is a son of Mr. A. McNeil of Norwood and the late Mrs. McNeil.

Special Speaker Planned For Thankoffering

Mrs. A. M. Partridge, president, opened the meeting of Mark St. WMS, held in the ladies' parlors Tuesday afternoon, with a Thanksgiving story. Mrs. E. Lilliico reported that a box had been packed and sent to Miss Bamforth ,the adopted missionary. Mrs. A. J. Macklin reported on supplies and asked if the group wished to send another parcel of clothing to Europe. It was agreed this should be done and members are to bring new and used clothing to the next meeting.

Members decided to have a Sunday night Thankoffering meeting in November with a special speaker. A nominating committee of Mrs. M. Stockdale, Mrs. E. Alton and Mrs. Sargent was appointed and they will report at the next meeting. The Baby Band tea on Wednesday afternoon was announced in a report by Mrs. E. Alton. Mrs. Lillico moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. G. Eason who has had the picture of Miss Bamforth framed.

Mrs. Macklin led in prayer for the missionaries. Temperance was taken by Mrs. Alton, in absence of Mrs. F. Stevenson, with assistance of other members. Mrs. Stockdale took charge of the devotional period, opening with quiet music and prayer. Mrs. Knox read scripture and a hymn was read in unison. Mrs. A. E. DeNure delighted with a solo and was accompanied by Mrs. J M. Arnold. The study book was taken by Mrs. Eason who dealt with the topic "Women with a new look in China" in an interesting and efficient manner. Mrs. Stockdale spoke on "Women then and now in China." She also offered prayer at the close of the meeting.

PHILOSOPHER—"Take things as they come, don't get too excited about troubles and you'll live longer," Mrs. Emma Swift of London, Ont., declared as she celebrated her 101st birthday this week. She hasn't been active since she broke her arm last year but still reads the daily paper.

QUESTIONS: Do you have that recipe for a lemon pudding that separates out when baked so that it has a custard on bottom and cakey substance on top? This is a lovely pudding for this time of year.

Mayflower.

ANSWER: I call this Lemon Cups but it may be baked in one large dish for about 1 hour.

Lemon Cups

One cup sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 5 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind 1 lemon, 3 well-beaten egg yolks, 1½ cups milk, 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Mix the flour, salt and sugar and add to the butter; add lemon rind and juice and mix well. Add egg yolks and milk, stir. Fold in egg whites. Pour into greased custard cups and place in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes. Sponge cake forms on top, lemon custard forms at bottom.

Troop Colors Fittingly Deck St. John's Hall Tea Room

Purple and gold, the Troop colors of St. John's Cubs and Scouts, made a fitting decorative scheme for the Mothers' Auxiliary afternoon tea Tuesday. Small half pumpkins, with sharply notched edges, made charming holders for deep purple candles. These marked the corners of a fall harvest centrepiece on the tea table where clusters of luscious grapes were heaped over golden pumpkins, big red apples, and yellow pears. On the mantel they guarded another pile of fruits and vegetables.

Windows of the parlor in the Parish Hall were enhanced with a bouquet of bronze baby 'mums and branches of maple leaves, mostly turned from green to blended shades of orange and yellow. The president Mrs. P. A. Martyn, received a large crowd of guests during the tea hours, assisted by vice president, Mrs. A. Barber.

A plentiful table of delicious pastries, buns and preserves was reduced to bareness in a short time with Mrs. T. Franks and Mrs. G. Groombridge handling the sales. Sweaters, bonnets, bootees and a daintily patterned housecoat were among the handsome knitted articles obtainable for the youngest member of the family from the fancy work display. Embroidery and applique trimmed luncheon cloths and other fancy work also under the charge of Mrs. F. G. Elcombe.

Presiding at the lace covered tea table were Mrs. H. G. Kelsey and Mrs. C. E. Newman. Mrs. B. Baker, general convener of the tea, assisted Mrs. D. Green in replenishing the refreshments and they were served by Mrs. J. Cooke, Mrs. J. Turner, Mrs. P. Howden, Mrs. W. Gedge and Mrs. E. Pinn.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell attended the treasurer's table and was responsible for the decorations.

DOROTHY DIX

Higher Education Teaches Girls to be More Cagey

DEAR MISS DIX: Do college women want to marry? Since leaving college 17 years ago I have proposed to at least 150 women college graduates, secretaries, school teachers, bookkeepers, nurses and other professional women. Each said NO I asked why The reason seemed to be that I did not have enough money. I have less than $500 in the bank, but I earn $50 a week.

Dorothy Dix

When I suggest marriage to them as an investment, they can't see it. They even blow up when I propose that we buy a car together and say that they don't see why they should put any money into a car for me. I tell them that all of the money I am saving my wife will get when I die and that is is safer than a government bond, and that the investment return will be at least 1,000 per cent.

I cannot understand why women can't take marriage as a business partnership, and again I ask if college women want to marry?

A LONELY BACHELOR

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your letter is the best argument I ever have read in favor of a college education for girls. It indicates that higher education does, at least, teach women to look before they leap into matrimony, and to use their brains; instead of their emotions in picking out a husband. All of which should make matrimony a more stable investment than it is now.

Skeptical of Rewards

You say that you cannot bring women to look on marriage as a business investment Possibly that is because so many of them have been stung in the transaction. So many of them who married for love have gotten philanderers. So many who thought they were getting security have had to go to work to support loafers So many who thought they were marrying Fairy Princes found that their mates were Old Man Trouble. So it is no wonder that the women who have good jobs want to look into his Bradstreet rating when a man pops the questions to them

You also say that 150 of these hard-headed, mercenary females have refused to marry you, although you hold out the glittering promise of 1,000 per cent interest on their investment in a marriage license. Maybe it is because they weren't buying any Blue Sky that day and couldn't figure out how on a salary of $5 a week a man could belong to clubs and play around in high society and yet save up enough money to leave his wife a rich widow.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I are in our middle forties. He is two years older than I am, but I have been in very bad health and have aged more than he has. On several occasions lately women have told me that they thought my husband was my son What makes people say such cruel things?

JUST WONDERING

ANSWER: Sometimes they are motivated by malice, but as a general thing, it is just sheer stupidity. They lack tact and good manners.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ODD BIDS AND SIGNALS

ONE OF THE most important provisions of the Laws of Contract Bridge—not only of those which went into effect on the first of this month, but of all previous codes—covers the use of special conventions in bidding or play. The underlying principle is that, if a particular bid, lead or play by your partner conveys to you information at all different from its natural or accepted customary meaning, your opponents are entitled to receive the same specific message. Otherwise you would have an unfair advantage over them, the same as if you deliberately used a private or secret convention.

The new Laws cover that point splendidly, clearly and fairly. The job is done in the last part of the final section of the Laws, titled "The Proprieties." Its first sentence says: "It is improper to employ, without explaining its meaning to opponents, a convention in calling or an unusual convention in play, the significance of which may not be clear to them."

In other words, if you are using the Blackwood slam convention, you should tell your opponents so. If you employ some variation of it, which some players might call "an improvement," such as using 4-Clubs instead of 4-No Trumps to ask for aces, you should give a full explanation. If in leading an honor, you always lead the second card of a sequence, such as the queen from king-queen, jack from queen-jack, and so on, you are departing from customary practice and giving your partner information which unfairly helps your side unless you in advance tell your opponents about it.

The section of The Proprieties continues thus: "When applied to a call, the term convention covers a call designed to convey an arbitrary or artificial meaning, or used by a player with the assurance that his partner will not accept it in its natural sense; such a call is not subject to penalty as an improper remark; it is necessary that a convention so used should be fully understood by the other side, and players using convention calls should be ready to reply fully to a proper inquiry by an opponent as to their meaning or use."

Then the Law says: "Should it be necessary to make such an inquiry during the auction, the partner of the player who has made the convention call should reply." That is important. In other words, the partner of the bidder must tell what special information he received from the call, and in such cases it is usually advisable to ask the bidder to leave the table while the conversation goes on, so that he will not learn anything unauthorized about what his partner believes the bid means. A question of that nature could be regarding the meaning of an original bid of 1-Club, or about an opening suit bid of two when 1-Club is used to indicate a generally strong hand, or about the meaning of an original suit bid of three, or various other possibly ambiguous calls.

That section of The Proprieties concludes with: "The committee of any Association, Tournament or Club, or a group of persons playing Contract Bridge, may prohibit or restrict the use of conventions which are both generally unrecognized and sufficiently intricate to cause unreasonable delay." That is just simple fairness to the majority, whose time should not be wasted inordinately by long-winded and perhaps repeated explanations which prolong the game unduly and thus detract from its pleasure.

• • •

TOMORROW—After you make an opening game-strength suit bid of two and your partner answers with the negative 2-No Trumps, what should you usually try to do?

Family Dinner Marks 26th Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Oct. 27—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hubble, of Havelock, who were married in St. Ann's Anglican church, Toronto, on October 24, 1922, celebrated the 26th anniversary of that event on Sunday with a family dinner party. They received many gifts and best wishes.

Rev. Canon Skeys officiated at their marriage, Kathleen Campbell, now Mrs. David Watson of Toronto, was the bridesmaid, and Frank McKay of Havelock, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hubble lived in Toronto for six months after their marriage and then took up residence in Havelock. Since that time they have lived in Galt, Orangeville, Elgin and Dummer township, finally returning to Havelock. Owing to ill health, Mr. Hubble was forced to give up his position as CPR locomotive engineer in 1947.

Mr. Hubble is a native of South Lake, son of the late Eleazer Hubble and Mary Post.

He is an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman. Since his boyhood there have been only three seasons that he did not take part in the deer hunt, and one year since her marriage. There was only one year that he did not get a deer. He recalled that one season he shot eight of his party's quota of 12 deer. His two sons. William and Larry have followed in their father's footsteps in this respect as both got their first deer at the age of 14.

Mrs. Hubble says she takes great pride in watching the men start on their hunting trip. Mr. Hubble is looking forward to going this season.

Mrs. Hubble was born in Belfast, Ireland and was formerly Isabella Gardiner, daughter of the late William and Isabella Gardiner. Following her mother's death, she came to Canada in 1914 under the care of a guardian to join her father, who had been in this country for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubble have two daughters and two sons, all of whom were home for the anniversary event. They are: Miss Margaret Hubble of Peterborough, William of Toronto, and Larry and Georgina of Havelock.

Mrs. Hubble has five sisters: Mrs. George Shields, Toronto; Mrs. Stewart McMinn, Tottenham; Mrs. Harry Hobson, Mrs. Alfred Budenham, Mrs. Gordon Young, Detroit, Mich.; two brothers, William Gardiner of Detroit, Mich., and Robert Gardiner of Sarnia

Mr. Hubble has four sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Walter Davis and Mrs. O. Parcells of Havelock; Misses Lily and Jennie Hubble and Charles Hubble of South Lake, Ross of Caugary, Alta., Roy of Toronto, and Bert of Wabowden, Man.

Quebec Grant Aids Grenfell Mission

Women of the Peterborough branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medcial Missions were pleased to receive word from their society secretary in Ottawa that the Quebec Provincial Government had recently brought down an appropriation for $100,000 for additional building to the Mission hospital at Harrington Harbour, P.Q. Together with some Mission funds directed toward the same project, they feel they will finally have inadequate accommodation for people of the Labrador coast.

At the probation of the estate of the late Miss Amelia Sherin, who formerly lived at 184 Dublin St., the Peterborough Mission branch were granted a considerable amount of money. The Canadian Red Cross Society were also beneficiaries. A personal cheque was also received from Miss Cassie E. Angus of Warkworth.

The Peterborough branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission is planning a tea and sae of handicrafts at the home of Mrs. W. R. Morris, Homewood Ave., Nov. 24.

Lakefield Church Marks Anniversary

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 27 (ENS)—Splendid attendances marked both services when the Lakefield United Church observed its anniversary services on Sunday.

The church was beautifully decorated with foliage, flowers, fruit and vegetables in the traditional Thanksgiving manner. Centreing the decorations were two baskets of pastel-shaded 'mums on the altar table; one placed there by Mr. and Mrs. G. Warren Payne in memory of their parents, the other by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rollins in memory of their son.

In the unavoidable absence of the minister, Rev. G. F. Kelly, Rev. W. R. Archer was in charge of the service, and introduced the guest preacher, Rev. Dr. M. C. Macdonald of Toronto, Associate Secretary of the Home Mission Board of the United Church of Canada. Dr. Macdonald delivered a most inspiring address, using as his tevt, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me,"

"This is the greatest text in the Bible, and the greatest challenge Jesus ever extended to His followers," said Dr. Macdonald.

On this your anniversary, you ought to think of the meaning of living the Christian life. If we are Christians it is our business to life Christ up—Christianity has no other meaning, the church has no other purpose apart from that."

"The greatest sermons are not preached from a pulpit but are enacted in your lives. Either you are lifting Christ up, or you are dragging Him down," concluded Dr. Macdonald.

For his evening sermon, Dr. Macdonald spoke on the subject, "The Danger of Security." In his address Dr. Macdonald urged his listeners to be on the alert as Christians lest Communism and other "isms" gain control.

Soloists were Miss Helen Kelly, Mrs. Ray Jackman and Mrs. J. R. Hull. The choir, with Mrs. G. F. Kelly at the organ, contributed several anthems.

50 Attend Wedding

NORTH SMITH, Oct. 27 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Northey entertained the People's Friendly Society Friday night, with more than 50 in attendance. The program was prepared by Messrs. Charlie and Bill Pavey and presided over by Miss Melba Pavey. Mrs. J. A. Northey conducted the song service. Miss Isabelle Northey were in charge of the lesson period. Miss Lois Pearsons was in charge of review and records. Mr. John Harrison gave the topic on "Faith in God."

In the business period, plans were made for the Hallowe'en party. The Misses Mildred Armstrong and Leona Harris were named a program committee. Miss Esther Meiklejohn conducted a number of games and contests. Delicious refreshments were served and social time enjoyed by all.

National Emergency

LIMA, Oct. 27 — (Reuters) — The Peruvian Government to-day declared a "state of national emergency" and assumed extraordinary powers to "thwart any intent of upsetting public order and social peace." The decree provided that "the government shall exercise these powers adopting such measures as it considers necessary and issuing the necessary decrees."

Freight Car Derailed

STRATFORD, Oct. 27—(CP)—The early morning Canadian National Railways train No. 10 from London to Toronto via Stratford was delayed one hour and 30 minutes this morning by a derailed car of a CNR freight train at Kelly's siding near St. Marys. During switching operations one car of the freight slipped off the track.

Report Canadian Tinplate Smuggled Into Yugoslavia

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(CP).—Canadian and American officials are investigating the illegal shipment of Canadian tinplate through a New York forwarding firm to Yugoslavia, it was learned authoritatively today. The source said a Montreal firm had contracted to ship second-grade tinplate to Italy but the forwarding firm had altered the documents of the Montreal shipment to send top-grade tinplate or strategic value to Yugoslavia.

It is understood Canada and the United States are dovetailing export regulations on shipment of strategic materials to countries in the Russian sphere of influence and the tinplate shipment broke these regulations.

No Names Given

The source did not mention names of the firms involved.

He said "several hundred tons" of tinplate were involved in the transaction which was illegal on the counts of changing of documents and shipment of strategic materials.

The Montreal firm had obtained a permit to ship to Italy tinplate "wasters," a low-grade tinplate of 'not much use in Canadian industry,' the source said.

He added that the New York forwarding firm changed the shipment documents so that the destination read Belgrade instead of the original destination of Italy. In addition top-grade tinplate had been substituted for the "wasters."

Look Into Matter

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(CP). —A spokesman said today the Trade Department is "looking into" reports that Canadian tinplate has been exported illegally to Yugoslavia.

G. R. Heasman, director of the Trade Commissioner Service, said he has been informed of an investigation being made in New York.

Lengthy Talks At McKinnon's

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 28 — (CP)—Another lengthy session in the discussions between representatives of McKinnon Industries and General Motors labor relations department on the one hand and officers of Local 199, United Auto Workers (CIO) and Canadian and American representatives of the U.A.W. on the other side, was held Wednesday.

The discussions continued to explore the position of each of the two interested parties, and no decisions asto settlement of the strike was reached. No comment on the talks was released by either side.

Company spokesmen said today that while no further talks are definitely scheduled, they were ready to meet the union at any time and will await word from the union regarding further meetings. Union officers said that a policy committee meeting of Local 199, UAW-CIO would be held this afternoon, and would make no further comment until it is held.

Today the union is appearing as defendant in a court case being heard before Magistrate H. D. Hallett that the present strike was called illegally during the terms of an existing agreement, which the company contends is effective until Nov. 1 of this year, this coming Monday.

Think Canadians Get Money All Right

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP).—A Toronto paper said today that Eire currency regulations probably won't hinder a payoff to Canadian winners in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes Wednesday — in which chief beneficiaries are Albert Robins of Toronto and J. K. Kern of Moose Jaw, Sask., who won $40,000 prizes.

It relates that an informed Toronto source says the money from sale of tickets in Canada didn't leave the country and will be used for the payoff as soon as the Irish Hospitals Trust authorizes it. This is expected in about six weeks.

Getting the money out of Eire itself would be a problem as persons leaving that country are permitted to take only $140 with them

LONDON, Oct. 28 — (CP) — Canadians soon may be able to send gift boxes of apples to the United Kingdom, it was learned today. UN Sanctions Suggested In Palestine

Canada Backs Plan To Halt War; Ask Stronger Measures

PARIS, Oct. 28—(CP).—Britain and China proposed today that the United Nations use economic sanctions to force peace in Palestine.

Canada, France and Belgium announced support and a reliable source said the United States also would vote for the resolution. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine did not make known their positions.

The debate will be resumed tomorrow in the Security Council. Russia asked for a two-day postponement, but Warren Austin, the American Council president, ruled at adjournment today there would be no delay. The Council meets again tomorrow.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain offered the Council a draft resolution calling for a special committee to "examine urgently" the action the Council might take under Article 41, chapter seven, of the U.N. charter. The article reads:

"The Security Council may decide what measures not involving the use of armed force are to be employed to give effect to its decisions, and it may call upon the members of the United Nations to apply such measures. These may include complete or partial interruption of economic relations and of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio, and other means of communications, and the severance of diplomatic relations."

Canada and Belgium announced they will support the British-Chinese resolution when it is put to a vote. Authoritative sources outside the Council said the United States also would suport it.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton threw Canada's support behind the resolution and said the Canadian delegation looks forward to having the report of the seven-member Council committee before the Council at an early date.

"No party must be allowed to derive any advantage from the use of force while the truce is supposed to be in operation," McNaughton said. He was sure the committee, consisting of the Big Five members and Belgium and Colombia, could render "very useful help and assistance," in the Palestine question.

Need Stronger Measures

Dr. T. F. Tsiang of China declared stronger measures were needed to enforce the truce in the turbulent Palestine situation.

The council called today's session to hear Egyptian charges that Israel is violating the U.N. cease-fire order on the Negev front in southern Palestine.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting U.N. Palestine mediator, told the council the Negev hostilities might wreck the Palestine truce. The time had come for "bolder and broader action."

Bunche said the language of the council's Oct 19 cease-fire order might be considered by some to be ambiguous. But his interpretation of the order was that Israel and Egypt must withdraw

Churchill and Party Resist Deletion of Word Empire

LONDON, Oct. 28.—(CP). — Conservative leader Winston Churchill said today in the House of Commons that the Government apparently wished a situation where the words empire, dominion and British, "will be heard no more or as little as possible."

The commonwealth prime ministers concluded a two-week meeting last week and Churchill said 'we are confronted with various constitutional issues which have been brought before us."

Britain's wartime prime minister said the Statute of Westminster, passed nearly 20 years ago, had decided to rely for empire unity and cohesion on the link of the Crown which joined all.

"Now we are asked with some evident hesitation to consider abandonment of the sole remaining symbol and legal foundation of the British empire.

"I will make clear that the Conservative party will resist any attempt to destroy the expression 'British empire' or to abandon the constitutional term 'dominion' or to abolish the word 'British' from our collective designation," he said amid cheers.

(A government spokesman said following the prime ministers' meeting that it was likely the phase "British Commonwealth of Nations" would fall into disuse and be replaced with "Commonwealth of Nations.")

"Great Britain is not a commonwealth but a kingdom—the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Canada has long proudly called herself the Dominion of Canada though it now seems that the word dominion is to follow the word empire into desuetude," Churchill added.

To Stand Trial

OSHAWA, Oct. 28—(CP). —Irvin J. Trick, 23, of Oshawa, today was committed for trial on a charge of shooting with intent to maim. Bail of $3,000 was renewed. Herbert E. Payne of Toronto told the court that while he was visiting an Oshawa home here Oct. 9, Trick accused the occupants of stealing his money. Trick departed and when he returned Payne said the Oshawa man smashed the glass of the door with a rifle and then fired two shots in his direction.

French Ports Tied Up In Blockade

PARIS, Oct. 28.—(AP) —Wailing sirens called French miners to mobilize for battle today as troops moved into the pro-Communist Pas de Calais area to take over strike-bound northern mines

The government announcement said "a large force of troops and a large convoy of police" had encircled the area and were closing in.

An estimated 30,000 troops took part Monday when mines in the eastern section of the northern coal fields were taken. Today's movement was in the western section of the northern fields.

Pickets at Carvin, near Lens, evacuated six pits without incident although sirens wailed throughout the early morning.

An electric plant and coke oven seized by police in the Lens region were inspected by engineers and declared ready for operation Security services planned to begin work immediately, it was reported.

Hits Ports

The strike tide also engulfed France's main ports and tied up 200,000 tons of coal, as Communist labor leaders ordered a land-sea blockade of all fuel imports.

Dockers stopped unloading 22 ships in seven ports, and the government was reported considering ordering troops to unload the vessels.

The Communist-led Confederation Generale du Travail, which called the blockade, said it was in sympathy with the coal strike over wages now in its 24th day.

The move appeared aimed at frustrating government plans to import an extra 1,000,000 tons of coal. This is needed to compensate for nearly 3,000,000 tons lost so far by the strike.

It was not clear how the C.G.T. hoped to shop rail shipments from the Ruhr, Belgium and the Netherlands, since previous efforts to provoke a railroad strike were unsuccessful.

May Recess Assembly Dec. 10 Till March

PARIS, Oct. 28 (Reuters). — Plans are being made by high United Nations officials to adjourn the general assembly Dec. 10 and reconvene it in New York about the end of February, it is authoritatively learned.

Officials here realize that the important political committee has too much work before it to expect final decisions to be taken before Christmas.

The plan, as considered now, would be to adjourn the assembly but keep the political committee in permanent session in New York. When it has finished its work a plenary session would be called to give final approval to any decisions reached.

The Palestine question, it is learned, would be one of the subjects which would be shelved during the present session and left to the political committee to consider during the first two months of the New Year.

Israeli Girls Tried

HAIFA, Oct. 28—(AP)—Two teen-aged girls went on trial today before a secret Israeli military court, charged with membership in the outlawed Stern group. Haifa-born Tova Nahmani, 16, and 15-year-old Soshana Huli, a native of Lebanon, admitted they had distributed placards for the Sternists, but said they considered themselves as working for a political party.

Now Ready To Join Six Others

First Time In History Dominion In Peace Takes On Military Pact

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 (CP)—Canada has informed the other governments concerned that she is ready to enter into negotiations for a "regional treaty for collective security," External Affairs Minister Pearson announced officially today.

This means the Dominion is prepared to enter into a military alliance with the United States and the five nations of Europe's Western Union—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—to form the long-awaited North Atlantic Defensive Union.

Meeting reporters before his departure for Paris tomorrow to head the Canadian delegation to the United Nations meeting, the newly-elected external affairs minister said the government has received and studied a report from the experts who met in Washington to discuss the framework of such a union.

Mr. Pearson said the Canadian government had noted with "great interest" the statement issued last week-end by the foreign ministers of the Western Union nations in which they said they were in complete agreement on a North Atlantic Union.

Collective Consideration

"That statement represents the collective consideration of those governments of what has been done," he said. "Consideration of the question also has been given by this government.

"As a result, the Canadian government has informed the other governments that this government now is ready to enter into negotiations for a regional treaty of collective security with them."

Mr. Pearson added: "And with other North Atlantic states."

This was taken by observers to indicate that other states would be invited to enter the broader defensive union, possibly countriese such as the Scandinavian nations, Ireland and Iceland.

He said the general lines of such a treaty and the implications of it have been made clear to the Canadian public in statements by various government representatives during the last few months.

Other sources said such things as standardization and stock-piling of strategic materials among the North Atlantic union nations might well flow from the new treaty.

So far, Canada had made no military commitments. The first consideration in all such agreements was the political commitment and even this point had not yet been reached.

First Time

Never before in peacetime has Canada entered into a defensive agreement with other nations, although during the war time she was a partner in the Ogdensburg declaration with the United States.

Mr. Pearson noted that the talks leading to the North Atlantic union were opened in Washington July 6, with Canada taking part. These conversations, which occupied some weeks, were between

He is survived by two brothers, Henry, California, Joshua, Arthur Richardson and Mrs. Steve Thamesford, and two sisters, Mrs. Dundas, Thamesford.

Union Organizer Tried To Buy Trenton Plant

TORONTO, Oct. 28 (CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board was told Wednesday that a labor union organizer tried, as representative of a group of would-be purchasers, to buy a $400,000 silver plant at Trenton, after threat of a shutdown on grounds the plant was losing money.

The board was hearing an application by the International Jewelry Workers (AFL) for permission to prosecute H. J. Cradduck, president of Trenton's Benedict-Proctor silver plant on charges of trying to break the union and of refusing to bargain. The hearing was adjourned until Nov. 3.

Harold S. Blakely, president of the Trenton union, said Mr. Cradduck told employees that the plant was being kept open beyond the date set for closing because Russell Harvey, A.F.L. organizer, was making arrangements to buy it on behalf of a group.

Mr. Blakely said Mr. Cradduck told him that one of the conditions of sale was that Mr. Harvey manage the plant for a year or forfeit 10 shares.

The outcome of the bid by Mr. Harvey on behalf of a group ready to buy the plant was not disclosed at Wednesday's hearing. But apparently it failed, since the plant still is being operated by Mr. Cradduck.

Withdraws From Board

Mr. Harvey withdrew from the board sitting because of his personal interest in the case.

The request for Mr. Harvey's withdrawal was made by W. R. West, company counsel, who said he may call Mr. Harvey as a witness. Members of the board cannot be subpoenaed as witnesses.

The dispute at the Trenton silver-plating factory followed a reported warning by Mr. Cradduck that he would close down the factory rather than accede to union demands for a wage increase of 12 cents an hour. It was said the company would be unable to operate at a profit if it paid higher wages.

7 Firemen Injured In $75,000 Blaze

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Seven firemen were injured early today while fighting a $75,000 fire which for a time threatened the entire wholesale fruit section of the city.

Most seriously injured was Fireman Allan Tait, who had the tip of an index finger severed by falling glass. The blaze was largely confined to the upper two storeys of a four-storey building occupied by Peter Culotta's wholesale fruit business. Hundreds of bags of fruit and vegetables were burned and the smell of frying onions spread for blocks.

Stalin Has Accused Britain Of Supporting Policy Which Can Unleash War

Says Present International Crisis Only End In Shameful Failure; Blames Canada And Other 'Neutrals'

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Oct. 28—(AP).—Prime Minister Stalin today accused Britain, the United States and the so-called "neutral" states of the United Nations Security Council—including Canada—of supporting a policy which can lead to the "unleashing of a new war." The Soviet leader added, however, that the present international crisis "can only end in an ignominious failure on the part of the instigators of a new war."

Stalin answered a series of questions put to him by a reporter of Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, on the Berlin controversy.

The Prime Minister criticized Canada, China, Colombia, Syria, Belgium and Argentina for their actions in the Security Council at Paris during the Berlin discussions.

(These six countries attempted to mediate the big-power quarrel over Berlin, but Russia vetoed their proposed compromise Monday.)

"Those gentlemen are obviously lending their support to a policy of aggression—to a policy of unleashing a new war," Stalin said.

Not Interested

"The point is," Stalin went on, "that the inspirers of the aggressive policy of the United States of America and Britain do not consider themselves interested in agreement and co-operation with the U.S.S.R.

"The instigators of war, who are striving to unleash a new war, fear more than anything else agreement and co-operation with the U.S.S.R., since a policy of agreement with the U.S.S.R. undermines the positions of the war-mongers and deprives the aggressive policy of these gentlemen of its objective.

"All this is done in order to demonstrate the impossibility of co-operating with the U.S.S.R., to demonstrate the necessity of a new war, and thus prepare the conditions for the unleashing of a war.

"The policy of the present leaders of the United States and Britain is a policy of aggression and the unleashing of a new war."

"Where can all this end?" asked the correspondent.

Stalin replied:

"It can only end in an ignominious failure on the part of the instigators of a new war. (Winston) Churchill, the main instigator of the new war has already managed to deprive himself of the trust of his own nation and of democratic forces throughout the world.

"The same fate lies in store for all other instigators of war. The horrors of the recent war are still too fresh in the memories of peoples and public forces favoring peace are too strong for Churchill's pupils in aggression to overpower them and to set a course for a new war."

Craft Takes Full Blame For Kennedy Death—Guard

KINGSTON, Oct. 26.— (CP). —Austin Craft, 47-year-old Brantford convict, charged with murder in the prison-break killing of prison messenger John B. Kennedy here, at the time of his recapture last April 26, took full responsibility, the prison guard who captured him testified today.

Guard John P. McLaren described how he spotted Craft and his companion escapee, Howard Urquhart, 21, lying behind a log in a field near Sydenham, and how he and Guard P. H. Delisle ordered the convicts to surrender.

After the men had hrtown away their guns, McLaren testified, he overheard Craft say to Urquhart, "Don't worry, kid. It'll be all right. It's all my fault."

The statement, objected to by J. A. Black, Kingsthon lawyer who is assisting Craft in his own defence, was admitted as evidence by Mr. Justice Keller Mackay. Black based his objection on the ground the statement was "hearsay evidence."

Delisle said he found the two convicts hiding behind a log in a field about 125 feet from a county road near Sydenham.

"I ordered them to come out with their hands up," he said. 'Craft threw the gun over his shoulder and shouted "don't shoot; that would be murder and there are witnesses."

After the men surrendered Delisle said he recovered the revolver and a number of live cartridges from Craft.

"I saw Craft point the gun at Kennedy and fire," testified Edward Barrett, on duty at the prison's north gate the morning that Craft and Howard Urquhart made their four-hour break.

"Craft got out and walked over toward the lawn," he said. "Kennedy got out of the car and signalled everything was okay. I opened the gates and allowed Kennedy to enter. I had half the gate closed when Craft rushed in the gate. He pushed a revolver in my stomach and said 'this is it.'"

Police Hunting Plastic Purse Mrs. Pohl Used

KITCHENER, Oct. 28—(CP).—Police are conducting an extensive search today for a small, black or dark brown plastic purse, known to have been carried by Mrs. Emma Pohn, strangled Sunnyside housewife, the day she disappeared from her home more than a month ago.

The area around where the slain woman's nearly-nude and badly decomposed body was found, three miles northwest of nearby Ayr Monday, has been thoroughly combed by police.

Particular importance has been attached to the purse by police, preferring a possible amended charge against William Stuart, former boy friend of the woman, now held on a charge of public mischief.

Stuart will appear in court again Nov. 3.

The latest report being investigated came from a commercial traveller. He told police that, as he was driving along a road west of the village of Ayr, he saw a car parked at the edge of the road just 100 yards from the thicket where the body was discovered. He saw two men and a woman and was about to stop to see if they needed help when one of the men waved to him to keep moving.

Police also heard Frank Shmellovich, a former shoeshine parlor employee, tell of cleaning a pair of shoes Sept. 14. He said a man wearing brown shoes, a blue suit and a brown hat came to his shop about 8 a.m. Asked where he had got the shoes so muddy, he said "on a farm."

Chinese Fighting Desperate Battle

PEIPING, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Great armies of Nationalists and Communists pitched headlong today in what they may be the decisive battle for control of Manchuria and North China.

The centre of operations seemed to be between the Manchurian city of Chinhsien, 125 miles above the Great Wall, and Tahushan, 65 miles north of Chinhsien. War planes from Peiping and Mukden flew to the aid of Nationalist troops.

Severe fighting also was reported near Taiyuan, capital of Shansi Province 250 miles southwest of Peiping.

Communist forces were said to be only five miles south of Taiyuan, six miles to the southeast, five miles east and northeast, and 10 miles north of the capital.

Need Extra Billion For Marshall Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(AP). —Foreign aid officials said today they expect to ask the United States Congress for an extra $1,200,000,000 to carry the Marshall Plan through April, May and June of next year.

The $5,055,000,000 appropriation for European recovery will have been exhausted by the end of March—12 months after the program's start—a spokesman for the economic co-operation administration reported privately.

Congress voted the recovery money for 15 months, or until the end of the Federal fiscal year next June 30, but gave President Truman the power to let ECA use it up in 12 months if necessary

Five Youths Get Sentences From 2 to 10 Years For Shooting Druggist

Give Toronto Man 10 Years With 20 Strokes On Armed, Assault Charges; Arrest Quintette In Farmhouse Near Lindsay

MILTON, Oct. 28—(CP).—Five youths aged 17 to 22 Wednesday were given sentences ranging from two to 10 years, with lashes, on charges arising from the Oct. 2 shooting and wounding of D. A. Allan, 48, druggist at Bronte, Ont. Fred Jackson, 20, of Toronto, was sentenced to 10 years and 20 strokes after his conviction on charges of assault while armed and attempted robbery.

Joseph Rebeck, 19, Toronto, was sentenced to seven years and 20 lashes on the assault charge and given a concurrent sentence of six months for stealing a revolver. Buddy Smith, 18, Willowdale, received five years and 20 lashes for assault and one year concurrent for car theft.

Edward McMann and Joseph Grebski, both of Malton, each received two years and 10 lashes for assault.

Gunshot Wound

Allan, 48, suffered a gunshot wound Oct. 2 when three youths entered his store and demanded money.

"I was starting to mark some merchandise," he told the court. "I heard the door open but did not look up...some one came up from behind me....

"I started to turn around and saw he was a stranger. He screwed up his face as though he was going to hit me. Then the gun went off."

The five youths were arretsed in a farmhouse near Lindsay the following day.

He said the council had laid down the principle that no military advantage should be gained by either side during the truce.

Rejects Withdrawal

Israel has rejected the troop withdrawal provision, declaring the language of the resolution called for negotiation on that point.

Sir Alexander asserted the Council "could not close its eyes to what has happened in Southern Palestine." If Jewish forces were permitted to retain positions gained after October 14, "it would b a display of weakness by the Council."

Aubrey S. Eban of Israel told the Council the Egyptian forces were invaders. He said the British-Chinese draft resolution proposed to "restore its fortune" and added:

"The second Egyptian invasion of Palestine would carry the banner of the United Nations."'

Eban agreed with Bunche that direct negotiations between the Arabs and the Jews should begin immediately. Arabs, however, have always refused to deal directly with Jewish authorities. The Arabs say that would be tacit admission of the existence of a Jewish state.

officials and were on what Mr. Pearson termed "an official, non-committal and exploratory" basis.

That stage of the defensive development now was complete. This meant that the officials had reached the place where they felt it desirable to refer what they had done to their respective governments. This was done several weeks ago and the Canadian government had studied the results.

Other Invitations

Other sources said the next development likely would be the extension of an invitation to other North Atlantic states to enter the proposed union. This approach likely would be made by Britain and France and likely would go to countries such as Iceland, Ireland, Finland, Norway and Sweden.

One source said the governments concerned now might call a full-dress conference at this time or they might have their respective officials meet again to draft a treaty which could be placed before them at an open meeting.

If and when the treaty was signed, it was expected here to include the principles both of the Bogato Pan-American treaty and the Brussels Pact which formed the western union. However, some quarters here expressed doubt Canada and the United States would care to go as far as the Brussels Pact, especially in its social and economic implications.

Saunders Hints New Power Cut

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(CP).—Another "serious reduction" in the delivery of Hydro-Electric power from Quebec suppliers was announced Wednesday night by Robert S. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

He said the cut—totalling more than 5,000,000 kilowatt hours a week—would mean "another review of the power supply to municipalities in southern Ontario." Most southern Ontario communities now are undergoing almost daily power cuts and restrictions are planned for northern areas. Commercial lighting has been restricted generally.

Tuesday Mr. Saunders announced that Quebec contractors had cut power deliveries to Ontario by 3,000,000 kilowatt hours a week.

Handcraft Guild Formed Here

As a means of co-ordinating the efforts of the various handcraft groups in the city, a Peterborough Handcraft Guild was formed at a meeting on Wednesday night held at the Library.

Object of the guild is to promote and advance handcrafts both among members and the general public. It is expected to raise the standard of skills and broaden the interests of those already belonging to a particular group.

Weaving, pottery, leather and metal are the crafts represented at present, but later it is hoped to add felt, and lino-block printing. Woodwork is a possibility as well.

Charter members will be those who have completed the teachers' handcraft training course sponsored by the Community Programs Branch, Department of Education and the local Recreational Commission.

Those who are able to pass specified standards as laid down will be regular members of the guild and those who are unqualified but interested, may, on payment of a specified fee, be classed as associate members.

Each craft will nominate two members to the executive committee and they in turn will elect their own officers. At the Monday meeting: Mrs. Roy R. Parker and Mrs. Grace Northey, leather; Miss Maralyn Munro and Mrs. G. Reinhardt, pottery; Mr. W. E. Stephens and Mrs. E. Niblett, weaving, and Fred Jennings and Mrs. Mary Downes, metal.

Election of officers will be on Wednesday, Nov. 3 at the library.

Ladies representing all other Baby Bands in the city were among the guests received by the president, Mrs. K. Ferguson. Black and orange candles lighted the tea tables at which Mrs. E. Alton and Mrs. E. W. Rowland presided. Tea room hostesses were Mrs. G. Ireland, Mrs. M. Green, Mrs. E. Wright, Mrs. M. Cooper, Mrs. M. Steer, Mrs S. Craig and Mrs. H. Guppy. Smith was convicted of throwing a bottle through a window at a rooming house, and of damaging the cell pipe. He was fined $10 and costs or 20 days on the drunk charge, and will spend 10 additional days in jail if he does not make restitution for the damage.

Peruvian Army Garrison Revolts 2nd Time In Month

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 28—(AP).—The government rushed loyal troops to its defence today after an army garrison revolted at Arequipa. It was Peru's second major rebellion within 25 days. President Jose Luis Bustamante Rivero's government announced late Wednesday night that Brig. Manuel Coria, commandant of the Arequipa garrison and a former minister of government (interior), and troops under his command had launched an insurrection.

The government said troops at Lima, the capital, and other garrisons in the north and south had remained loyal. Arequipa is in southern Peru, about 135 miles from the Bolivian border. The president broadcast a message denouncing the Arequipa revolt as the work of a small group of "ambitious and resentful" men.

Peru has been in a state of unrest for months and the government declared a national emergency and assumed emergency powers Tuesday following a students' political strike.

Disorders previously occurred at Arequipa early this month during an uprising which began Oct. 3 at Callao, Lima's port city.

The Oct. 3 revolt was blamed by the government on the leftist Apra party.

The government at that time rounded up more than 100 members of the Apra party, including leaders in the Peruvian parliament.

Last July, an army garrison rebelled at Juliaca in southeast Peru, but government forces stamped out resistance in a few days.

Wednesday night's announcement said several officers who took part in the Juliaca revolt were detained by Bolivian authorities when they tried to leave for Peru. They were carrying arms, the government said.

Westclox Staff Set Fifth Safety Record

Westclox employees have topped one million working hours without a lost time accident for the fifth time since 1940. The new record was reached at nine o'clock this morning.

The first drive to eliminate accidents in the big plant was given added impetus back before 1940 when J. H. Vernor, plant manager, was elected president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, and his workers came through with the record. At that time they worked 4,480,090 hours without a single lost time mishap.

In November, 1942, another million-hour total was passed, for a record of 1,003,952. By July, 1944, they had worked 1,193,853 hours before an accident intervened to end the period. Then again by September, 1945, the workers had piled up 1,567,979 hours without a break.

The latest push for a fifth record started back on March 8 of this year. By this morning the million - hour period had been reached, and the employees are carrying on, hoping this time to exceed even the four million record of 1940.

The world record for the longest period without a lost time accident is held by the Dupont Ltd. plant at Seaford, Delaware. Their record is 18,871,795.

Canada Begins Tariff Talks With 11 Lands

OTTAWA, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Negotiations with 11 countries which have indicated their desire to enter the 22-nation general agreement on tariffs and trade will open in Geneva, Switzerland, next April 11.

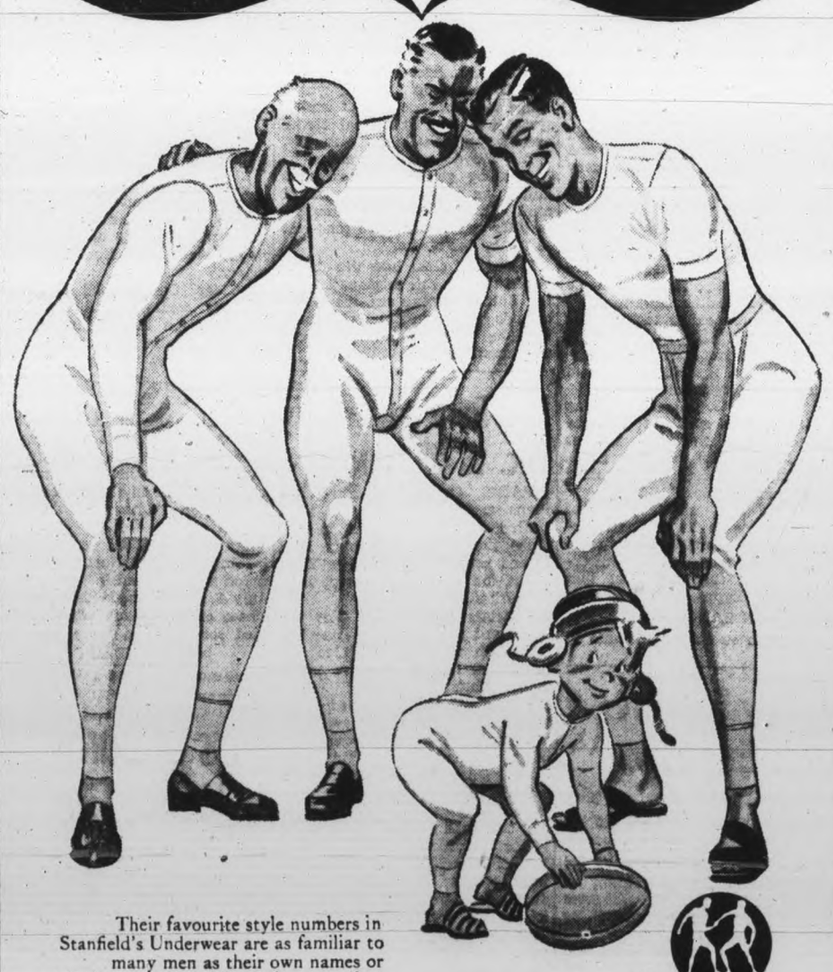
Trade Minister Howe announced Wednesday that Canada, along with the 22 countries which signed the agreement last year, will take part in the negotiations.

The 11 newcomers to the agreement have been invited to join its provisions by the 22 "originals." The new negotiators include Denmark, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Finland, Greece, Haiti, Italy, Nicaragua, Sweden Peru and Uruguay

The purpose of the agreement is to lower tariffs and other trade barriers and promote a wider exchange of goods. In its present form, it covers more than 70 per cent of world trade

Among the countries which signed the agreement last year are Canada, Britain, France and the United States Russia is not a party to it.

Mr. Howe said there will be no negotiations at Geneva among the countries which took part in last year's talks, though they all will be there to negotiate with the new participants



"Canada and the other countries which negotiated in Geneva last year will be expected to negotiate only with the 11 countries listed.

Purse, Minus Money, Returned To Owner

Return of a lost purse—minus its money content—was made Wednesday night anonymously. The loser, Cyril Davis of 390 George St., South, lost it between his home and work. It was thrown on the verandah of his home hours later. Twenty-five dollars in it, which had been saved for the purchase of a water-heater, were missing.

It may have been a mean finder who originally spotted the wallet, took the money and returned the purse to the address on the card in it. Or, it is also believed, it might have been returned by a second finder who found it after the money had been taken out.

Cobourg Favors Federation District Clubs

COBOURG, Oct. 28—(ENS)—Proposed zoning boundaries by the Federation of Anglers and Hunters, which came up at a meeting Tuesday night at Peterborough is not favoured entirely by the Northumberland Fish and Game Association, with headquarters at Cobourg. The Association agrees in principle to zoning but does not feel that much good would be obtained through being part of a zone which would run from Trenton westward to Hamilton as the interests of the Toronto and Hamilton section are not the same as those in the eastern part of the zone, Club secretary, Murray Smith said today. He added that if anything, the Northumberland Fish and Game Association would rather be in zone 4, which would run from Trenton to Cornwall. However the Association has for a considerable time favoured a district federation of Fish and Game Associations which would take in the Kawartha waterways and would be made up of the Northumberland Fish and Game Association, the Ganaraska in Durham County, Campbelford, Peterborough and Trenton. Interests of these Fish and Game clubs are of kindred nature and Northumberland Association feels that such a federation could be of greater value than some other zoning system.

Claimed $5,404 Awarded $350

COBOURG, Oct. 28 —(ENS)—Damages in the amount of $350 and costs awarded Clifford Township in his action against Lorne Bradley of Hampton by a jury which brought in a verdict yesterday afternoon in Assize Court. Plaintiff had sued for $5,404 claiming that he had been assaulted by the defendant and broke his leg on September 1 last year. The jury found that the injury was received by accident. Evidence was that Allen came to Bradley's premises and that there was a dispute over some lumber which plaintiff said was his by reason of an earlier transaction. During the course of the argument, plaintiff claimed he was pushed into a depression in the ground.

Settlement of the action, Greenway vs. Lingard wound up the session which started on October 12 with Mr. Justice Chevrier presiding. Greenway vs. Lingard was an action brought by William Greenway of Port Hope against Frederick Lingard of the asme town and claimed breach of an agreement respecting the sale of Lingards taxi business to the plaintiff. The action brought by Mrs. Edith Wait of Cobourg against Chief Constable W. J. Carey alleging that she had been arrested without grounds on a charge of vagrancy and confined to a mental hospital, was on the jury list but did not proceed.

Cobourg Has Trouble Finding Arena Site

COBOURG, Oct. 28.—(ENS).—Committees endeavouring to launch a drive for the Community Centre are being plagued by the difficulty of securing a site. A tentative site was staked out yesterday in the park property at the tourist camp, but the dimensions of the building are such that the Parks Board felt it would encroach too far on the tourist camp. While the site might be worked out as somewhere in the general tourist camp area there has been no definite decision, and it is considered possible that the Community Centre might be situated in one of several other locations in the town.

Salary Increases Urged For Teachers

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(CP). — Salary increases for public and secondary school teachers and principals were recommended Wednesday night by the advisory salary committee of the Toronto Board of Education. If the new schedule, providing for increases ranging from $200 to $700, goes into effect, Toronto teachers will receive the highest maximum salaries in Canada.

The report suggested that the salary of public school women temporary teachers be raised to $2,800 from $2,000, to equal that paid men teachers. It proposed to raise salaries for public school principals from $4,700 to $5,400 for grade A schools and $5,200 for grade B schools. Secondary school principals would receive a maximum of $6,200.

35 Stitches Needed To Close Wounds

LINDSAY, Oct. 28—A party of five from Oshawa came to grief on a sharp bend in the road near Minden, ditched their car and were all badly shaken up. The driver of the car, John Frederick McDonald, was found guilty of dangerous driving and fined $25 and costs. Hugh Patterson required 35 stitches to sew up his wounds. Bill Paterson, J. Bracken and Fred Jircock all received painful lacerations and two of the men were tossed out of the car when it went over. The car was wrecked.

The Senate As A Political Boneyard

There are at present 63 Liberal appointees in the Senate, and the Conservative Senators number only 19; there are 14 vacancies. Now that the Progressive Conservative party has a new leader and is enjoying one of its periodic fits of optimism this situation is causing loud complaint in the Conservative press. What, cry the optimists, will Mr. Drew do when he is Prime Minister, and finds all his splendid schemes for the betterment of Canada baulked by a crapulous, degenerate and hunkerous Liberal Senate? For it is well-known that the Liberal Senators are all either incompetent or downright malignant, and the thought that they might be critical of Mr. Drew's plans is quite unbearable. The St. Thomas Times-Journal expresses the case thus:

> If and when George A. Drew heads a Conservative party in office, he could find every Conservative measure blocked by an overwhelming Liberal Senate, in which case, he might be obliged to adopt the same device as the British Labour Government is adopting against the House of Lords—limiting its power to reject bills sent from the Commons.

• • •

If Mr. Drew has any sense of history he will do nothing of the kind. He knows as well as anyone that Canada began its career with a Tory Senate, of which Sir John Willison wrote: "Since the very organization of the commonwealth the Senate has proceeded on the principle that to question the expediency and justice of Conservative legislation is flagrant treason to British institutions in North America". Mr. Drew knows that when Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to power in 1896 he faced a Conservative majority in the Senate, and that it killed one of his most ambitious railway schemes. Mr. Drew knows that when Mr. King came to power in 1921 he found a Senate so heavily Conservative that even after five years of power there were still 54 Conservative Senators to 39 Liberals. In 1933, when Lord Bennett was in power, there were 47 Conservatives and 41 Liberals. Even as late as 1944 there were 51 Conservatives and only 38 Liberals in the Senate. In the light of this record the Conservative complaints about the present composition of the Senate sound like greedy shrieks for the spoils of office, rather than reasoned appeals for balanced government. We must point out, also, that many Liberal administrations have governed Canada well while the Senate was in the hands of the Opposition. Are the Conservatives less skillful in approaching a cool upper House? Or is the hullabaloo about the Senate merely another exemplification of the desire of the Conservatives to have everything their own way?

• • •

The Conservative attitude about the Senate is really inexplicable. One Tory paper calls it "a private preserve for worn-out Liberals". Well, if they are worn out, why fear them? Another says that in the eyes of most Canadians "the Canadian Senate has become a sort of house of refuge for members of the House of Commons who, having become old in service, or feel they are too old to fight another election, are 'rewarded' for their services to the party by being 'elevated' to the Red Chamber". This, of course, is merely Tory sour grapes. That party has never lacked greedy oldsters, and was once happy enough to accommodate a cast-off leader in a red chair until he was persuaded to leave that haven to lose yet another election. Indeed, Mr. Bracken would not wait long for a Senate appointment if Mr. Drew had one to give.

• • •

The Conservative party has never learned that it is impossible to have your cake and eat it, too. Conservatives must not abuse present Senators, and declare the Senate a boneyard for political hacks, when they are so anxious to get possession of the boneyard themselves, and when they have been masters of the boneyard for the greater part of Canada's short history. Their whines provoke mirth and add nothing to the dignity of a party which, like all others, has had its ups and downs.

Loafing Cows

A man was telling us the other day about a clever American way of dealing with cows that give milk in summer and hold up the fluid in winter. The ingenious American farmers, even in the northern states, are applying psychology to their cows. It is the same sort of thing that child psychologists have been doing with children—letting them romp as they like, feed as they like and mix with their own kind in familiar surroundings.

The farmers are providing their cows with "loafing sheds". These are roofed and completely enclosed buildings put down in an enclosed field. There are no stalls, no feeding bins, no scrubbed floors. The door is open and the cows can come and go in winter as they please. They feed on a communal pile of hay and grain thrown on the floor and take as much or little as they like of whatever they like. (It is said of horses that they know better than humans what is good for them—cannot cows take their food wisely too?) The manure accumulates, but cows seem to be like pigs and will not foul their own nests unless they have to. The manure heap grows in one corner of the loafing shed. Straw is thrown down all over the floor once in a while. In the spring the concentrated pile of manure provides better fertilizer than the ordinary daily sweepings from a byre. Best of all, the cows treated so breezily in this loafing shed do give more milk than cows chained to a stanchion all day all winter.

The prodigious quantities of milk which the happy cows shower on their happy owners are not extracted in the loafing shed. Milking time is working time even for loafing cows, so they go as usual to the antiseptic barn for the semi-daily rite. Not being an expert on this loafing business we cannot say whether or not cows in this district can be offered the same type of winter quarters.

Let's Not Overdo Hallowe'en

As Hallowe'en falls on Sunday this year we presume that it will be celebrated next Saturday night. We would not like to see this very old festival fall into disuse; nevertheless, we feel that for the last two or three years the Hallowe'en revelry has been overdone in Peterborough by gangs of boys who are approaching manhood, and whose notion of fun is the destruction of property and the painful humiliation of adults. A line must be drawn between reasonable Hallowe'en sport and rowdy behaviour.

Last year considerable damage was done by a gang which began the evening in East City, worked its way over to the North End, and finished the evening in the West End. The police know how such gangs as this have worked during the past three or four years, and therefore we think that this year the police might fittingly prepare a plan of campaign, and station a few patrolmen in each section of the city. In that way they would improve their chances of catching the hoodlums, and dealing with them. Last year a few of these daring lads boasted that the police could not catch them; we are quite sure that the police can do all that is necessary. It is not desirable that local young people should scorn the police; we do not want a Beanery Gang to develop in Peterborough.

No one wants to curtail the Hallowe'en pleasure of children. They like to scamper about in disguise, frightening one another and demanding fruit and candies from the neighbours. Occasionally they like to throw things about. But they are very different from lads who have the strength but not the intelligence of adults, and who raise barriers in the streets, tear up manhole covers, smash doors, throw rotten fruit into doors, and rip gates from their hinges. If these young men have to be given their first lesson in adult responsibility by the police we are sure that the police are fully competent to teach them.

City Fathers Making Money

Municipal Councils seem to exist for the purpose of picking ratepayers' pockets and spending what they get and more. It was therefore pleasantly shocking to learn at the last Council meeting that the City Fathers have been making money for us. One large lot which the city bought a year and a half ago for $15,000 is being sold now to a private firm for $31,000. Another lot which it acquired before the war for $3,000 is being sold for $5,000. Gross profit on the two deals—$18,000. Don't blow it all in at once, gentlemen of the Council, on the new civic $2,000,000 hospital which is now a building to the tune of $4,000,000, or on the $750,000 remodelling of the sewage disposal system which you must undertake some day.

The Bureau of Statistics tells us that the "average Canadian" pays $27.43 a month for his house. This puts a lot of us in the "exceptional" class.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE YOUNG LIONS by Irwin Shaw (Random House of Canada). The American war novels are beginning to accumulate, and this is probably the most ambitious to date. It is a complicated story, really three stories, which are not sufficiently interwoven to become one, and this is its great weakness. The book begins brilliantly, with some of the best social satire on an over-sophisticated Broadway set I have ever read. Here are the decadents of Hecate county, moved to town; the people of multiple marriages and single kidneys, movie star wives who come east twice a year to see their husbands, trailing clouds of male admirers, a broken-down playwright who drinks his rye from a cup and saucer so his wife will think it is tea. In the midst of them is Michael, a tired young producer whose social conscience is pricked back to life by a man from Spain. (It is 1938 and this man, Parrish, may be a thinly disguised portrait of Hemingway.) Michael is the type of the sophisticated intellectual, and the most successful charater in the book. When the United States enters the war, he joins the infantry, backs out to a desk job in entertainment, and later returns to the infantry and goes into action for the grand finale in Germany. Here he again meets Noah, the second hero, whom he had seen mistreated to an unbelievable degree by his fellows in their first camp.

❖ ❖ ❖

NOAH is the writer's darling, a persecuted Jewish boy. In the early chapters of his story, as a civilian adolescent, he is a touching character. In the army he is martyred and sentimentalized to the point of nausea, and though anti-Semitism is the cause nearest the writer's heart, he defeats himself by bogging down in maudlin pity for his protagonist. One loses patience with holy Noah. It is difficult to believe that every man the boy came across in the American army was a completely brutal Nazi type—generals, captains, psychiatrists, privates, but especially the officers who are all Foul Fiends brought up in Brooklyn. If they were, one wonders why he felt he must go abroad to fight the evil.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE third part of the story concerns a young Austrian. Decent to begin with, but gradually made brutal, he becomes the only efficient soldier in the book and completely inhuman. This is accomplished through the influence of his lieutenant, a hateful sadist, completely without mercy, and with the aid of the lieutenant's wife, who is the thoroughly depraved girl friend of the Nazi big shots in Berlin. Here, once more in civilian surroundings, Shaw regains his brilliant style, but the book disintegrates like a spent bomb, after the half way mark, and in spite of some high spots of military adventure, never recovers its force.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE episode with Michael in the Allied Club in London during a raid is splendid. Again the prose glistens, and the auxiliary characters come to life crisply. "There was a high whistle outside and above, a roaring, crowding thundering, clattering scream, that grew out of the blackness like a train wreck one hit the floor.... The lights flickered on in a storm, and hurtled toward them. Everyone got to his feet. Somebody lifted the proprietress from the floor and put her back on the chair, still sleeping. She opened her eyes and stared coldly out in front of her. 'I think it's despicable,' she said, 'stealing an old woman's scarf while she sleeps.' She closed her eyes again."

❖ ❖ ❖

INCIDENTALLY the overwhelming Americanism of this story will be a little annoying to readers outside the United States. Somebody should show Mr. Shaw the records on Africa; he does not seem to know that the British turned the tide there at tremendous cost, before the Americans arrived. To the R.A.F. he attributed skill only in singing dirty songs. His American airmen sing "Oh What a Beautiful Morning!"

❖ ❖ ❖

THIS book is interesting and in places entertaining to a high degree. Where it is good it is very, very good, and where it is bad it is embarrassingly so. The over-all impression is unsatisfactory, because his bedeviled Hamlets do not play out their destinies to a satisfactory conclusion. It is only fair to warn prospective readers that Mr. Shaw writes throughout in a counterpont of sex and war. He seems to know less about war. Irwin Shaw's gift is for clever and biting social comedy. In the "Young Lions" he has attempted more than he can handle. Nevertheless, it is my guess that this will become a best seller. H.T.K.

CANADIAN SPRING (Musson, Toronto) is a refreshing, pleasant book. The author Florence Page Jaques and her husband the artist Francis Lee Jaques travelled unconventionally from Lake Manitoba to the Peace River in the spring months and saw the Canadian West as few see it who travel on the main line trains and stop at resort hotels. The terrain and animal life delighted this couple who have spent many years journeying off the beaten tracks of America and Europe. They describe with relish and skill the mountains, the pines, the glaciers, the towns and the fauna of our West; the author in lively kindly story, her husband with pen-and-ink sketches which ornament the book and delight the eye.

This book is an attractive portrait of the West which will give those who know it well a fresh interpretation and those who do not an enlarged interest in it. The sketches of birds and wild animals are delightful. One might wish that Canadians had produced the book, but the American view of this talented couple has its own special value. T.J.A.

NOW TRY IT

A long-suffering diner noted that his coffee was served without a spoon.

"This coffee," he remarked pointedly, "is going to be pretty hot to stir with my finger."

A short time later the waiter returned to the table with another cup of coffee.

"Maybe this isn't so hot, sir," he said.

Letters To The Editor

BOARD OF HEALTH UNDEMOCRATIC

Sir: I have been very interested, along with many other taxpayers in the letters regarding the extravagance of the Board of Health recently printed in Letter to the Editor column. I had hoped that others would follow this up, but as they do not appear to have done so I would like to say what I think about this Doctor Worton business.

I feel the Board of Health had no right whatever to give such a long leave of absence or holiday with such large pay, much more than the great majority of working men earn in our city.

It has always seemed to me that the Board of Health and other bodies, including the City Council, are appointed to carry out the wishes of the citizens, not, as in this particular case to spend the money of the people extravagantly, and thrust down the throats of the people certain measures of which the people violently disapprove. I feel quite certain if this matter of two-thirds of a year holiday with $2,000 pay had been put to a vote of the people it would not only have been defeated, it would have been snowed under. Yet in spite of all the protests of the people who pay the bills, it was passed, and the City Council made no objections.

It is such incidents as this, which cause people to begin to distrust democracy and add to the unrest now sweeping the world, for whatever name may be given the recent action of the Board of Health in the Doctor Worton matter, there is one word which cannot, by any stretch be given to it, and that word is democracy.

Thanking you. Yours sincerely,
PERCY S. AITCHISON.

ARE CITY OFFICIALS PAID ENOUGH?

Sir: The inadequacy of the salaries of the city officials is striking. Comparing their responsibilities with Deputy Ministers', their salaries are about one-fifth to one-third and their responsibilities are nearly as great.

Peterborough City has nearly doubled in population in ten years and is a trading centre for a very wealthy and prosperous population within a radius of about thirty-five miles.

Members of the Council are elected from year to year and many of them do not know or appreciate the responsibilities of the city officials. The industrial concerns appreciate the value of men and women in key positions and a first-class instance was the losing of Max Sloan to the city, who was employed by the Canadian Government as an assessor.

I respectfully submit that the City Council could well confer with some of the leaders of industry and labour in Peterborough and discuss with them an adequate scale for salaries of the city staff. The salary structure, in my mind, should be established on a basis very much as the Canadian Civil Service Act provides. The Civil Service Act has been studied carefully from difference sources, discussed in Parliament and is reasonably adequate to pay for the services rendered.

I am strongly of the opinion that we have overlooked a fair and equitable adjustment of salaries for our civic officials and I am taking the liberty of making this suggestion to the Mayor and the City Council, as well as the public, Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

Home And Career

Fierce argument can always be provoked on the question of whether or not woman's place is in the home. Nowadays, women are accepted in nearly every trade and profession but a hundred years ago they could only work as domestic servants, sempstresses or milliners, whilst the genteel woman had no choice but to be governess or companion. Honor Croome, who has it both ways, being a part-time lecturer at the London School of Economists, on the staff of the journal "The Economist", and the mother of five children who manages to run her home efficiently while doing her professional work, spoke in the BBC's Overseas programme "Woman's Magazine", about the great change that has come about in women's position in the modern world. "I wonder how much further this great change will go?" she speculated. "Shall we ever reach a state of affairs when there will be as many women in high executive positions as there are men, when a woman who achieves outstanding success won't be News? I think not. Equal pay for equal work—yes—most emphatically yes, but just what is equal work? Equal brain-power, energy, conscientiousness, all the other personal qualities don't necessarily add up to equal work in the long run — the long run which counts for something in pay and everything in promotion. One is paid, really, not only for the job one's doing now, but for the qualifications one is going to do it better next year. And next year is apt to be a less certain matter for a woman than for a man.

The great majority of women marry sooner or later, and then have to carry, for a good many of their best years, the responsibilities and burdens of family life. A man who had, for a similar number of years, to handle a whole extra job outside his career, wouldn't expect to do so well as one who could give that career his whole energy; there's no unfair sex discrimination involved in preferring for promotion someone whose career isn't likely to be interrupted and competed with. And there's no use pretending that wifehood and motherhood needn't compete with a woman's professional or business life. Modern science can speed up a lot of things, but not the time it takes a baby to develop and get born. Modern organization can do a great deal, but it can't organize away a child's need for the daily need and personal care and security of home."—B.B.C. Commentary.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

We have heard of the pride of Moab; he is very proud: even of his haughtiness, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies shall not be so. Therefore Moab shall howl for Moab, every one shall howl....

And gladness is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field; and in the vineyards there shall be no singing, neither shall there be shouting: the treaders shall tread out no wine in their presses; I have made their vintage shouting to cease....And it shall come to pass, when it is seen that Moab is weary on the high place, that he shall come to his sanctuary to pray; but he shall not prevail. (Isa. 16: 6, 7, 10, 12.)

I have heard the reproach of Moab, and the revilings of the children of Ammon, whereby they have reproached my people, and magnified themselves against their border. Therefore as I live, saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and saltpits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.

This shall they have for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of the Lord of hosts. (Zeph. 2: 8-10.)

A man's pride shall bring him low: but honour shall uphold the humble in spirit. (Prov. 29: 23.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. (Matt. 5: 5.)

MYSTERIOUS

The young husband eyed the greyish concoction with misgiving. Bravely he dug a spoon into the mystery, and began to eat.

After a few moments he straightened himself, eased his collar a little, and asked: "What do you call this, darling?"

"It's date pudding, dear," beamed his wife.

"Oh, yes," he breathed, "but—er—what date?"

A BRITISH OPINION

Dixiecrat Vote May Stalemate U.S. Elections

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(CP)—Rebellious southern Democrats who call themselves "Dixiecrats" are not likely to elect their candidate for president of the United States but they may cause an election stalemate.

In that case the choice of president for the next four years would be decided by the House of Representatives. The last time that happened was in 1825.

Southern Democrats bolted the national party organization in anger over President Truman's demand for equal treatment of Negroes and the inclusion of that demand in the party platform. The Dixiecrats have their own candidates on the ballots in 13 states and are trying to get on two more.

If they succeed in electing their candidates in those states, they would control about 160 votes in the "Electoral College" which legally and constitutionally elects the president and vice-president.

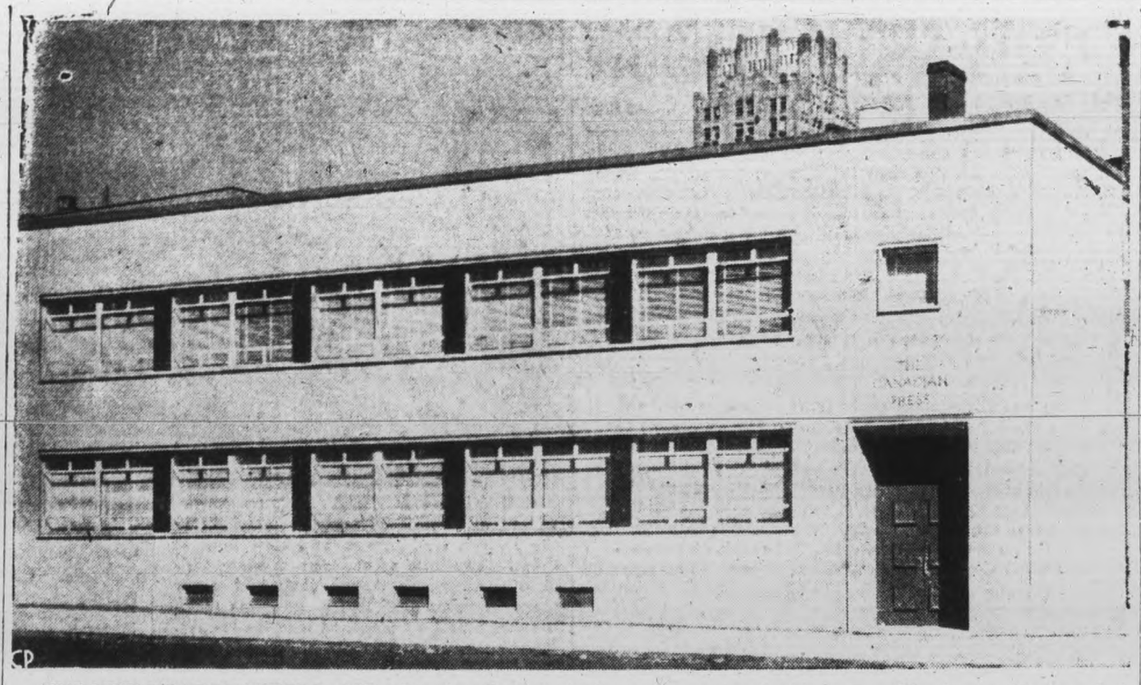
The winning presidential candidate must have a majority of the 531 electors in the so-called College—266 votes. Every vote lost to the leading contenders makes it less likely that any candidate will get a clear majority.

Under the law, the "electors" are permitted to vote for anyone they please, regardless of the people's will but they always give the whole Electoral College vote of their state to the party winning the majority in the popular voting.

Four States Pledged

In four southern states the Dixiecrats have received pledges from the Democratic candidates for seats in the Electoral College, that they will vote for some candidate other than President Truman. It certainly will not be for his Republican opponent, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, nor for Progressive candidate Henry Wallace.

Those four states, with a total of 38 electoral college votes, are Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Louisiana.



In addition, the Dixiecrat ticket of Governor Strom Thurmond, South Carolina, and Governor Fielding Wright, Mississippi, is on the ballot in Arkansas, Texas, Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, Florida, Kentucky and North Dakota.

They have suits pending on the petitions to get on the ballot in Maryland and Oklahoma.

It would seem that Truman is most likely to suffer from the Democratic revolt. But if he should have more success than is generally expected there is a possibility that neither he nor Dewey will get the necessary 266 votes in the Electoral College.

Then the House of Representatives would have to decide the issue. In that case, each state group of representatives would have to decide, by majority, whom to support. Only 48 votes would be cast, one for each state, and a simply majority decides.

The House had to make the decision in 1800 when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr tied and the former won. Again in 1825 the House had to decide when four candidates split the vote and there was no majority. John Quincy Adams who had only 84 Electoral College votes was given the nod although Andrew Jackson had received 99 votes.

THE NEW HEADQUARTERS of The Canadian Press is shown here. Located at 55 University Avenue, Toronto, the structure was erected at a cost of $250,000. Construction of the new two-storey building gives CP a home of its own for he first time since newsgathering co-operative was founded. Modern in every detail, the building embodies many features which will enable CP to better serve its member papers.

Danger Of War Brings Unity In U.S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 —(CP)— The threat to democracy has brought a certain degree of unity among the major contenders for the Presidency of the United States in the waning days of the political campaign.

Each candidate, however, has dealt with the issue of totalitarianism in his own fashion, claiming that a victory for any of his rivals will give aid and comfort to the enemies of the democratic way of life.

With the Nov. 2 election day in sight, President Truman, Governor Thomas Dewey and Henry Wallace Wednesday night keynoted the issue, relegating to the background such domestic issues as inflation, housing, labor and civil rights.

Truman and Dewey both voiced the declaration that world peace rests on the outcome of the election, and each claimed that a victory for the other would be a victory for the Communists. Wallace, meanwhile, labelled "powerful reactionary forces" as "the real danger to our demomracy.."

Truman told a Boston audience that the Republicans, by what he called their appeal to "the passions of prejudice and intolerance," are helping a "Communist intrigue" against him.

New England School Girl Flies Home To Her Mother

MONTREAL, Oct. 28.—(CP).—Subdued and silent, Lenore Shanhouse today planned to fly home to her mother after an unscheduled tip to Montreal which touched off kidnapping rumors and an international police search.

The lanky, 19-year-old, Smith College sophomore left Northampton, Mass., Monday with only a few dollars in her pocket. Broke and unhappy, she was discovered in a Montreal park late Tuesday night.

Although she was questioned by police, immigration and consular officials, the brown-haired college girl declined to say why she had suddenly left school. Reporters seeking to interview her caught only a glimpse of a tear-stained face as she hurried from police headquarters. It was understood she spent Wednesday night "with friends."

The kidnapping rumors proved false. By her own account, police said, the girl travelled to Montreal Monday, went to the Laurentian resort town of Ste. Agathe Tuesday and then hitch-hiked back to Montreal later the same day.

When a frightened, penniless youngster tried to rent a room in a Central hotel, the proprietor notified police. After that it was simply a matter of disentangling red tape. For one thing, Miss Shanhouse gave a fictitious name at the Canadian border and said that she was going to visit an equally fictitious uncle in the province of Quebec.

But fatherly immigration officials straightened the legal twists out and fixed up the papers for Miss Shanhouse to go home.

Masked Marvel Beats Pete As Morgan Licks Flanagan

The Masked Marvel beat Col. Pete Peterson in the main bout of the pro mat card last night before a good crowd, dropping the first round but winning the next two with a "cobra" hold. It was not a popular win but the Marvel was too tough and tricky for the American ex-army officer, who commanded a battalion in Germany near the end of the war. As an added attraction afterward, Tuffy Truesdale performed with a lively alligator.

Peterson won the first fall of the main go in 12 minutes with a slam after an elbow clip to the Mask's chops, when the hooded one was coming off the ropes. Just before that, Pete was thrown out of the ring and the Mask was roughing him plenty. It was a case of Peterson being fast and popular—and no ring dope, either—but the Marvel being powerful and rough, with a lot of ring savvy—and that isn't just a word. He ignored warnings from Referee Ernie Powers and drew a lot of boos.

The Cobra Hold

It was 14 minutes next round before the Marvel pinned the Colonel with his cobra hold—an unconscious neck grip, using one of his opponent's arms as half of the "U" squeeze to the sides of the neck. The referee stopped it and gave the Mask the fall, though the fans booed. Before the Marvel had softened Pete up by working viciously on his left arm, stomping it and twisting it at every chance while Powers proved powerless to prevent his attacks. The first part of it was fast but it soon turned into a rough joust and the Mask was threatened by fans all the way to the dressing room afterward.

The final came in slightly less than 11 minutes with the Mask again applying the cobra hold to throttle the Colonel. The latter had his rough opponent in trouble for a space with a series of flying tackles, but once the wily Mask went down quickly to let Pete go over him and right out of the ring. He was nearly counted out and finally came back in groggy fashion as a perfect setup for the hooded one, who made no mistake in giving him the works and getting the deciding, if unpopular fall.

Ben Too Good

Big Ben Morgan, no less than 320 bearded pounds from Tennessee, beat Pat Flanagan, going 223 in 14 minutes of the semi-final. The fiery Pat put on some flurries with his tackles and mule kicks, and was faster, but was definitely no match for his powerful opponent. Morgan mauled him almost at will and finally ended it with his "mountain slide," just a plain slam plus some 300 odd pounds hitting the right spot at the right time. He was fairly fast and tricky for such a mountain of a man and knew the grapple game, thoroughly, so Pat had little chance.

After 30 minutes of grappling in the prelim, popular Ben Sharpe was awarded the referee's decision over 248-pound Lee Henning. Ben, at 237, played it clean most of the way, while Lee was definitely rough and used illegal tactics nearly all the way. He refused to break when told, yanked hair, pulled choke holds and also closed fists. He was experienced, too, and got away from a lot of Ben's rushes but the latter got going finally to punish Henning plenty with his huge size, to the crowd's delight. It was wild and woolly for a space, especially when Lee used a foreign substance, but Ben was in there pitching hard at the finish to earn the nod.

U Of T Takes Honors

HAMILTON, Oct. 28.—(CP).—University of Toronto walked away with top honors at the intermediate Intercollegiate track and field meet at the Civic Stadium Wednesday when they ran up a point total of 92, more than double that of their nearest competitor, Guelph Ontario Agricultural College. Only one record was broken, that by J. Smylie of O.A.C., who finished in first place in the 800-yard run in the fast time of 2:01.4, four seconds faster than the old mark. The Guelph speedster was the only double winner of the meet, chalking up wins in both the half-mile and the mile events.

NEW PREXY — Bob Gamble has been elected president of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, and is probably the youngest man ever to hold this office.

Robert Gamble Is Prexy Of Lawn Bowlers

By HERB MARTIN

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, Robt. Gamble was chosen president, S. O. Shields, vice presidence and F. H. Dearborn, secretary-treasurer.

In electing Mr. Gamble to the office of president, the board made a wise choice and we believe he is the youngest man to ever hold that high position.

Last year he was a vice-president, and for several years he has been chairman of the open tournament's committee. He has been greatly responsible for the success of the Lift Lock Open Doubles. The experience he has gained will go a long way to help him in his new position. The promotion was well earned.

Mr. Gamble is a past president of the Sales and Ad Club and is well known in business circles, having been associated with Ed. Riley's store for many years. He is well supported by S. O. Shields as vice chairman, and with the experience of the other members of the board to help him, he should go a long way in promoting the welfare of the club.

Officers 1947-48

Past president, W. Jeffries; president, R. Gamble; vice president, S. O. Shields; secretary treasurer, F. H. Dearborn.

Committee Chairmen

Property and house committee, H. Beatty; green's committee, J. D. Fitzpatrick; games committee, A. Black; membership committee, K. Shadgett; open tournaments committee, R. Gamble; local tournaments committee, S. O. Shields; Black memorial tournament committee, W. Jeffries; publicity committee, H. R. Martin; Friday night committee, K. Shadgett; Wednesday and Saturday night committee, R. Hendry.

CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

Orillia Bombers and the local Panthers play at 2.30 this Saturday aft in the Oval, first of their ORFU group finals. This playoff series for the championship is a home-and-home affair, with points counting, so the Panthers not only want to win the game but they hope to bank a good surplus against the return engagement up Orillia way on Nov. 6. Two powerful clubs, full of grid savvy and deceptive plays, they're sure to stage a swell scrap. Elimination is the lot of the loser in this series, as the victor goes into provincial playdowns. Doug Plunkett may return to action for Gord Young's gang this week-end, and the squad will be fighting from start to finish. It rates a real big crowd of fans.

Not sure of the junior rugby setup concerning local and district teams Saturday, but the senior PCI-ers are off to Oshawa. This one winds up their COSSA group schedule with Bev Goulding's classy PCVS pack out in front. There's some talk of Guelph Collegiate meeting the Garnet and Gray gridders here Nov. 6 or Nov. 11 in an inter-league exhibition, though this is still tentative. And the COSSA playoffs are listed for Nov. 13 and Nov. 20. Year after year, Peterborough Collegiate comes up with fine football teams, especially in senior play, with the juniors keeping the supply coming.

Re The Cage Colleens

Looks like six girls' basketball teams will face the barrier this season, as St. Paul's is a doubtful starter. Those for sure are: Neill's, Normals, Nurses, CGE, Lock Co. and Kawarthas. The schedule will open a week from tomorrow, on Nov. 5, in the YWCA, Howie Macdonald advises, and it will be published shortly. No mention of Towne Togs returning to LOBA competition, but it's likely that a junior affiliation will occur as the loop wants to encourage the younger cagers, too. This circuit gives the colleens plenty of action and fun each winter.

Several queries have come our way regarding season tickets to the Civic Arena when it is completed. And that won't be long now. Probably lots of fans would like to purchase a ducat good for all home OHA games, assuring them of a seat regardless of congestion at contests. We don't know what the score is and haven't bothered Manager Dick Ouimet with the question until the drive for funds is over. But some info should be forthcoming soon. The seating capacity for the rink is just 1,600, while about 700 standees can be accommodated. Certainly not a big arena for a city this size, but it's a secondary rink and there just wasn't enough money to build a larger one.

Sport Loses A Friend

Another gentleman and sportsman died the other day, Art Pagett Sr., we mean. Founder of the Trojan Athletic Club in the south-west end of the city a few years ago, he took a keen interest in young boys. His own sons proved good athletes in hockey, baseball and softball, but Mr. Pagett wanted all the lads in his end of the city to get into athletics. And he worked hard to get them a place to play and proper equipment. Hockey and ball were his favorite games and hundreds of boys got a chance to play these sports who might not have if it weren't for Art and his Trojan AC associates. He wasn't well most of the summer but got over to Riverside or the Ashburnham Bowl whenever he could. He was an officer in the City Baseball League and in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association. Sports will certainly miss Mr. Pagett.

This item from Oshawa concerning Monty, scrappy former junior of Lakefield and our IOOF-ers: "The hustle line of Gamble, Hooper and Montgomery, were again to the fore against St. Mike's. With Chapman's trio of O'Connor and Stephens running a close second. Hooper was forechecking his usual great game and handed out some neat and stiff body bumps during the contest. Montgomery and O'Connor were the two Oshawa players to make with the fisticuffs, Monty coming through in the last period with a near donnybrook. He really clipped McCarthy and that worthy had to leave for the dressing room with a bad cut." No one will push Keith around too much.

Man Like A Mountain

While the Masked Marvel took Col. Pete Peterson—a real USA colonel, by the way, who fought in Germany—in the main mat bout here last eve, we weren't unduly impressed. He used the "cobra" hold, which is an unconscious grip, only different from the illegal strangle inasmuch as it's applied to the sides of the neck. We preferred the work of huge Ben Morgan, the bearded Tennessee mountain. He was much too strong for Pat Flanagan in the semi-final and, despite a few flurries from Pat, had things his own way for his fourth straight win here, finally getting it over in 14 minutes with his "mountain slide". Ben Sharpe earned a popular prelim win o'er Lee Henning, and Tuffy Truesdale beat the alligator.

Indians Trounce Hershey 5-2

By The Canadian Press

Springfield Indians moved into second place in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League Wednesday night by trouncing Hershey Bears 5-2. Third-place Bears trail the Indians by one point.

In the other tilt, Pittsburgh Hornets swamped Philadelphia Rockets 7-1.

Armand Lemieux paced Springfield to victory with three goals while Leo Curick and Ralph Hosking accounted for the other markers.

Arnold Kullman and Creighton scored for the losers.

Pittsburgh's veteran top line of centre Pete Langelle and wingers Syd Smith and Tod Sloan accounted for four of their seven goals.

Smith tallied twice and assisted on two others; Langelle got a goal and two assists and Sloan, a goal and one assist.

Mike Narduzzi tallied for the Rockets in the second period but the Hornets came back with four goals in the final period. Smith notched his second marker and Peanuts O'Flaherty, Ray Ceresino and Pete Backor completed the Pittsburgh scoring.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Panama Al Brown defeated Eugene Haut of France in a 15-round bout at Montreal 18 years ago today for the world bantamweight boxing title. They clashed in Paris a year later, with Brown the winner again.

ONLY LAST MONDAY, this trio worked out at Detroit Olympia as members of the Detroit Red Wings, and now look at them! They look as at home in those Chicago sweaters, as though they had never worn anything else. The picture was taken the first time they practised with the Hawks. Reading from left to right, and making sure that the material in their new sweaters is the best, are forward, Bep Guidolin; defenceman, Doug McCaig; and forward Jimmie Conacher. Chicago Black Hawks who joined Detroit Red Wings as a result of the most recent NHL trade, were forwards Bud Poile and George Gee.

PCVS Juniors Take Rugby Win From St. Peter's

By FRED MAYBEE

PCVS juniors defeated St. Peter's 55-0 Wednesday at the Oval in the final regular season game, prior to group play-offs November 6, against either TCS or Oshawa. It was the sixth straight win for Coach Alex Londry's team who have compiled a record of 227 points, or an average of 38 per game and have had but 29 scored against them.

Ted Evans led the way yesterday with three tries while Warren Brown, Roy Armstrong and Al Jensen each contributed a pair. Eight were converted and a pair of singles completed the largest point total to date for one junior game. A forward, Griffin to Evans, midway in the first quarter, enabled the latter to romp over for the first of four majors scored in the first half and Brown carried over on a plunge shortly after to make it 12-0. Griffin passed effectively as usual to put his mates in the clear for several scores and converts, aided by excellent blocking by Jim Grant, Al McIlraith and Knox. Grant Burns stood out defensively with some great tackling, while Armstrong played his usual strong game and the team as a unit looked fine from every angle. Saints tried hard but were unequal to the task of holding a better team.

PCVS play Grove seniors in Lakefield Saturday in an exhibition at 2 p.m.

PCVS—Flying wing, Evans; halves, Brown, Armstrong, Gandy; quarter, Griffin; snap, Frize; insides, Grant, McIraith; middles, Jopling, Knox; outsides, Burns, Jensen; alternates, Young, Heard, Braund, Fowler, White, Howe, Facendi, Bigford, Ackford, Wood, Langhorne, Cruickshanks.

St. Peter's—Flying wing, O'Rourke; halves, O'Neill, C. Crowley, Picard; quarter, Monaghan; snap, Richardson; insides, Heffernan, Corkery; middles, Brioux, Wolff; outsides, Cavanagh, Fitzpatrick; alternates, Fitzgerald, Ferren, Armstrong, Hickson, Ryan, G. Crowley, Basciano, LaPlante, Morrissey, McTague.

Leafs Whip Canadiens 3-2 As Rangers Bow To Wings

By The Canadian Press

While Detroit Red Wings were keeping their first-place fires burning, Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night dropped their first game in the young National Hockey League season.

Detroit moved three points ahead of the pack by coming from behind to edge the youthful New York Rangers 3-2. Montreal went down by the same score before Toronto Maple Leafs, the second win of the year for the Stanley Cup holders.

It was the first home game of the season for the injury-riddled Rangers.

Fielding perhaps the youngest team in their history, Rangers threw a scare into the Red Wings as they shot into a 2-0 lead midway in the second period and carried the play throughout the game.

For the Leafs, it was revenge for the 5-0 beating they took from Canadiens in their first meeting this year.

Boston Bruins, undefeated and untied in three games this year, tonight meet Chicago Black Hawks home opener.

Second Place Tie

Boston and Montreal still are tied for second place, three points behind Detroit. Toronto follows with four, New York has a solitary tie and Chicago has failed even to bruise the scoring column.

Twice Leafs came from behind to beat Bill Durnan, fresh from two consecutive shutouts in the Montreal nets.

Big Harry Watson tied the score in the second period after Maurice Richard knifed past three Leafs to beat Turk Broda. The Habitants moved ahead again in the first minute of the second period while Elmer Lach and Richard set up rookie George Robertson, while Bill Barilko sat out a tripping penalty.

Howie Meeker banged in Ted Kennedy's rebound to tie it up again and Max Bentley netted the winner, his first goal of the season.

Moral Victory

Rangers had at least a moral victory—they scored twice on Harry Lumley who had let only two pucks past him in his first four games this year.

The first one came in the first minute of play when Eddie Kullman pushed home a long shot. Little Dunc Fisher got the second on a close-in shot.

Playing his first game for Red Wings, Bud Poile collected a goal and an assist to share honors with Ted Lindsay. Lindsay got the first Detroit marker while Fisher was in the box for charging. Poile—who hadn't scored a point for Chicago in four games—got his unassisted goal late in the period.

Veteran Sid Abel fired a 40-foot blast past Chuck Rayner for the winner in the final period.

League Changes Under Review

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP). — This is the time of year for the annual crop of reports on changes in the Eastern Canada senior football setup—and 1948 runs true to form.

Annis Stukus, former footballer who now covers the game for the Toronto Star, reported Wednesday that there was serious talk of a new league would leave Toronto Argonauts out in the cold.

"Most of it is just wishful thinking but I know for a fact there's more than just talk in the air," wrote Stukus as he talked of a football league made up of Ottawa Rough Riders, Montreal Alouettes, Toronto Beaches Indians and an entry from Hamilton.

The Alouettes are said to be unhappy in the Big Four, particularly over the attitude of some clubs who won't play Sunday football. They say they need the extra $15,000 to $20,000 they get from Sunday gates to keep on an even financial keel.

Beaches Indians are reported to be unhappy in the ORFU, figuring that no matter how good a team they develop they won't be able to keep their financial operations in the black because they can't draw good crowds without strong opponents.

Stukus suggests the possibility that the Tigers and Wildcats may merge to form a Hamilton entry.

Detroit Tigers In Doghouse Lose 10 Players

DETROIT, Oct. 28 — (AP). — Detroit Tigers are back in baseball's "doghouse," stripped of 10 minor-league players in a ruling by Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

Chandler's order parallels the late Kenesaw M. Landis' sweeping 1940 decision which freed 91 players, including four major leaguers, owned by Detroit.

The Chandler ultimatum, however, cuts no major leaguers free nor does it assess any fine against the parent Detroit club.

But the issue is much the same. The Tigers are charged with "covering up" the movement of players in their minor-league system by making invalid oral agreements governing disposal of certain men signed to contracts with [illegible] clubs in 1946 and 1947.

Specifically, Chandler's decree frees the 10 players free agents and censures Detroit for the manner in which the players were handled—"contrary to baseball law and procedure."

Chandler's decision affects nobody now with Detroit, but takes away from the Tigers a pitching prospect. Ossie Kolwe, who would have gone to Detroit's Lakeland, Fla., training camp next spring.

None of the other players the Tigers are accused of mishandling with improper agreements were considered ready for big-league trials.

General manager Billy Evans of the Detroit club issued a statement in which he disclaimed knowledge that the players were handled in a manner contrary to baseball law.

"The decision of Commissioner Chandler comes as a complete surprise," he said. 'The Detroit club accepts it as final, but we thoroughly disagree with it."

SWEDEN AND GERMANY competed in the first international light athletic meeting held in Germany since the war. The competitions took place at Hamburg. Here Heinz Ulzheimer (right), German 800 metre champion, snatches a close victory from Bertil Ljungqvist of Sweden. His time was 1 min. 54.8 secs.

Dark Of Braves Voted Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP).—Alvin Dark, brilliant young shortstop of Boston Braves, was voted today the National League's baseball rookie of the year.

It was a virtual landslide for the 25-year-old native of Lake Charles, La., in a country-wide poll conducted by the Associated Press, Dark romped in as the No. 1 freshman of 1948 with 160 out of a possible 220 votes.

Only four other players received consideration from the baseball experts, Richie Ashburn flashy Philadelphia outfielder, was a poor second with 57 votes. Pitcher Robin Roberts and flychaser Johnny Blatnik, teammates of Ashburn, each got one vote as did outfielder Hank Sauer of Cincinnati Reds.

Dark gained the distinction by his fine batting, his skill in the field, his speed afoot and his colorful all-around play. In 137 games, the former all-around athlete at Louisiana State University batted .322 to finish third among the regulars.

No Temperament

The five foot, 11 inch, 185-pound yougster, in his first full season in professional baseball, batted .303 for the Milwaukee Brewers, led the circuit in doubles and total base hits, and was hailed as the top American Association rookie in 1946.

Dark is quiet and easy going. He has shown only one burst of temperament on the field. That was when he was with Milwaukee. In the Brewers' second game of the season, manager Nick Cullop lifted Alvin for a pinch hitter. Dark replied by flinging his glove high into the air.

"If you ever do that again," Cullop warned his later, "I'll fine you." Dark apologized to the skipper. It was his first and last outburst of temper.

Here And There In Sports . . .

BY CANADIAN PRESS

Word of the death in England of Mendel Burditt, 48, one of the originals of the Canadian National Exhibition's marathon swims, at Toronto, has stirred memories here of the gruelling 1928 grind in which nobody was able to finish the 21-mile course.

Big, barrel-chested Burditt was a prize-winner anyway. He was given a cheque for $2,500 for showing great endurance and still was struggling to finish when the race was officially called off.

Philadelphia Phillies announced Wednesday that Dick Porter, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs in the International Baseball League, has resigned.

'He plans to remain in baseball," said a club spoesman, 'but has no plans now as to where he will go."

Asked the reason for the resignation, the spokesman replied: "I don"t know."

Del Bisonette, former Brooklyn Dodger, seems the "logical choice" manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League next season, Ed Sawyer, manager of the present Philadelphia Phillies, indicated at Toronto Wednesday night.

Sawyer said Bisonette was the choice of the Phillies "but of course the final choice will rest with the Leafs."

Bill Dickey, former star catcher and manager of New York Yankees, Wednesday was hired as a coach by the Yanks.

The announcement was made in New York by George Weiss, general manager of the American League Baseball Club, who said the acquisition of Dickey "completes the Yankees' official family."

Casey Stengel was signed recently to replace Bucky Harris as manager. The other former players wilth long Yankee backgrounds, Jim Turner and Frankie Crosetti, were named as coaches in recent weeks.

Arthur King, British Empire and Canadian lightweight champion, and Johnny Forte of Philadelphia Wednesday were matched for a 10-round fight at the Philadelphia Arena Nov. 8.

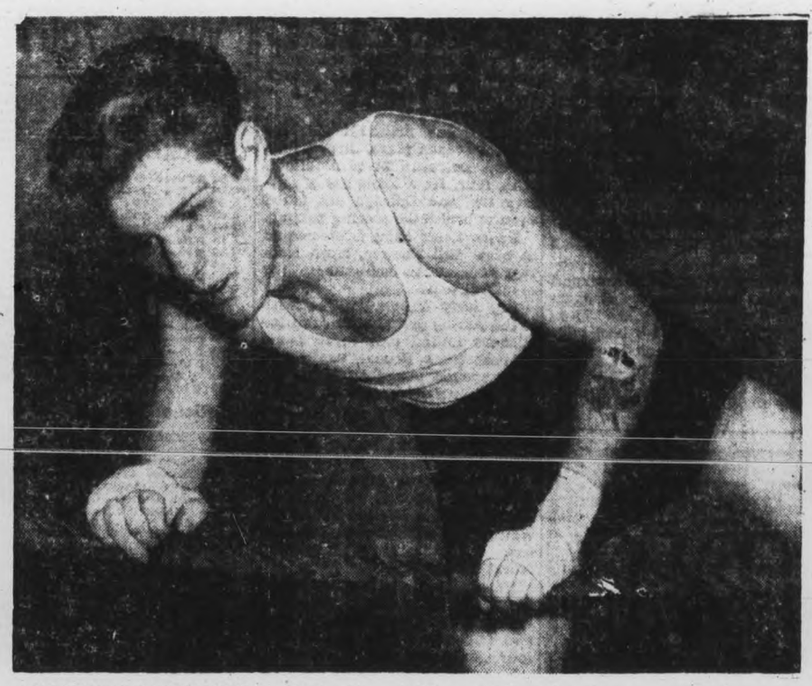
King and Forte will appear on the same card featuring lightweight champion Ike Williams and Buddy Garcia, Galveston, Tex., in a 10-round over-the-weight bout.

Johnny Greco Wednesday night won a sixth-round technical knockout over Gaby Ferland at Montreal when Ferland failed to answer the bell. The Canadian welterweight champion had his fellow Montrealers in serious trouble in the fifth.

Greco weighed 151, Ferland 147¾.

The Notre Dame de Grace champion floored his youthful foe twice for nine counts in the second and fifth rounds. After the latter, Ferland's seconds signaled to the referees that he would be unable to continue.

Ferland, who held a decided edge in reach and height over the champion managed to secure a slight advantage in the first and third rounds by using an effective left jab. But after being hit a few times, he slowed down and became an easy target for Greco's vicious punches.



Canada Hopes To Get International Trophy

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Canada hopes to lift the British International Trophy—symbol of world-wide speedboat racing leadership—from Gar Wood, Detroit speedster who has held it for 28 years.

Canadian boatmen are banking on Ernie Wilson of Ingersoll, whose Miss Canada III won the silver cup at the Detroit international regatta last August.

The Motor Boat Club of Canada, formed here Wednesday, plans to seek affiliation with the Union of International Motor Racing and hopes for changes in the rules to permit Wilson to challenge for the trophy in 1949.

But under present rules, countries may challenge only if the boats and engines are built in the challenging countries.

FAVORITE IS KAYOED — Gaby Ferland, young Montreal fighter, shown above, was a heavy favorite to beat Johnny Greco, Canadian welter champion last night in Montreal, but the champ came through to win the bout on a technical knockout in the sixth round. He had Ferland in serious trouble throughout the fifth and Gaby failed to answer the bell for the sixth.

Unbeaten In Seven Starts Teepees Trip Guelph 2-1

By The Canadian Press

St. Catharines Teepees are riding far in front of the pack in the Ontari Hockey Association's Junior "A" loop.

Unbeaten in seven starts, Teepees beat Guelph Biltmores for the second time in as many nights Wednesday night, grabbing a 2-1 victory when Fred Hildebrand scored the winning goal with less than four minutes left.

Only a tie with Toronto St. Michael's Majors mar Teepees record. Their 13-point total gives them a seven-point bulge over Windsor Spitfires, also unbeaten in three tries, and Oshawa Generals, who have won three out of five.

In the senior group, Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen moved into second place by edging the tail-end Toronto Marlboros 6-4 at Waterloo. Two third-period goals by Trent Anderson within less than a minute of play nullified a late Toronto rally that had tied the score.

Dent Defences

The battling Biltmores had the consolation of denting young Don Campbell's defences after the clever Teepee netminder had kept his cage clear for 112 minutes of play. Don Oberholtzer deflected a shot past Campbell early in the third period.

Marcel Clement got Teepees' other goal early in the second frame. Thirteen penalties marked the rugged contest.

Dutchmen looked like easy winners in the senior tilt as Mike Dzuira and Ted Grasser scored first-period goals and Don Bauer made it 3-0 early in the second.

But Marlies, led by Ray Hannigan, bounced back into the picture. Hannigan fed Alex Davidson a pass for the first Toronto goal, which was nullified by Art Hurst. Then Hannigan rattled in two in the last two minutes of the period to make it 4-3.

Chuck Blair got the equalizer for Toronto before the last period was two minutes old, but Anderson salted the game away with his two markers about five minutes later.

The game was cleanly played with only five penalties awarded, three to the winners.

One junior game is carded tonight, as the last-place St. Michael's club travels to Stratford to face the Kroehlers in a game moved up from Friday night.

Pla-Mors Triumph Over St. Paul 3-1

The Pla-Mors won their fourth straight Wednesday night, defeating St. Paul 3-1 at Kansas City.

Meanwhile Minneapolis Millers chalked up their second straight victory, winning at Dallas 6-4.

EFFORTS OF DR. JUAN BRAMUGLIA, Argentina's Foreign Minister and acting president of the UN Security Council, to settle the East-West dispute failed recently when Russia vetoed the small power compromise to end the deadlock. At right Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in a familiar gesture, raises his hand in Paris, which means "We won't play."

Representatives May Lose Voting Rights

PRETORIA, Oct. 28 — (CP) — South Africa's Nationalist Government may be planning to remove native representatives from the South African Senate as well as the House of Assembly, Cabinet members have indicated.

Even if they are allowed to remain in the Union Senate, they will not have a vote on confidence votes, Lands Minister J. G. Strydom told a party meeting.

Previously government spokesmen have only mentioned abolishing native representation in the House of Assembly.

Strydom's statement is considered to be an indication of how the government plans to overcome the deadlock at the next session of the Senate where 22 Government members face 22 Opposition members.

Four native Senators are lined up with the Opposition, but if they are not allowed a vote on confidence issues, the government will have a working majority for any measure it wants.

There is, however, little danger of a government defeat in the Upper House, discounting the hazards of sickness or death of government supporters.

Call Joint Meeting

If Government Bills are defeated in the Senate, the government can call for a joint sitting of both Houses which would give Prime Minister Malan's Nationalist Party a majority of five votes.

A government proposal to abolish the three native representatives in the Assembly would boost the Nationalist majority there from five to eight—enough to enable them to remain in power until the next election.

Political sources do not discount completely the possibility of an early election. The Union will elect four new provincial councils in February and a quick election might result if the Opposition United Party receives a bigger setback than it did in the general election last May when the Nationalists were elected.

RUSSIA IS ATTEMPTING a gigantic bluff against the United States and the Western Allies but is "not ready to fight, doesn't want to fight and won't fight," if her bluff is called, General H. H. ("Hap") Arnold said. Arnold was asked what positive steps the Western Allies might take in the present situation. "Why not take a motor convoy and push it through the corridor to Berlin," he replied. "Perhaps we might have learned something from George Patton's technique. If Patton were running the show he would take it through."

Hastings Deanery Laymen Meeting Largest Yet

MARMORA, Oct. 28—(ENS)—The annual meeting of the Hasting Deanery Laymen's Association was held in the Oddfellows' Hall at Madoc on Tuesday. It was one of the largest in the history of the Association.

Clergy and laymen were present from the parishes of Bancroft and Maynooth, Madoc, Tweed, Marmora, Stirling and Trenton. Supper was served by members of the WA of St. John's.

President E. T. Nayler expressed his pleasure at the large attendance, which included more than 120 men.

Two solos were sung by Mrs. R. Frost, with Mrs. Grant Fraser accompanying.

The president introduced the guest speaker, Rev. John L. Hutchinson, of St. Peter's, Brockville, formerly rector of Madoc The speaker chose as the title of his talk, "My Father's Business." He referred to increasing sense of the value of the laymen of the church.

Thanks were extended to the speaker by Vice-President William Hurst.

Rural Dean J. M. Brownlee said he was proud of the Laymen's Association of the Deanery which seemed to be the most active of the Deanery Association in the Diocese.

Tells of Lambeth Meet

Impressions of the Lambeth conference were given by Right Rev. J. Lyons, Bishop of Ontario. He mentioned the task facing the church of bringing in that great body outside of it. Perhaps that body had not been appealed to in the way it should have been, he said. The laymen can bear witness which the clergy cannot bear and they have a great field of service in that respect.

Of 430 active Bishops within the Anglican church, 330 attended the conference.

The first meeting of the Lambeth conference was held in 1867 with 80 bishops present. This was the eighth session just held. This meant the spreading abroad and keeping alive of the spirit of goodwill.

The Bishop heard Princess Elizabeth speak striking words. She had said that "the challenge to Christianity is not so great as the challenge of Christianity."

The president thanked the Bishop for his address.

Thanks to the women were expressed by C. H. Buskard of Deloro, member of the Diocesan Council and acknowledged by Mrs. Jean O'Riordan for St. John's WA.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, William Hurst, Tweed; vice-president, Peter Kellar, Bancroft; secretary-treasurer, C. R. Whittemore, Deloro.

The invitation from Bancroft Laymen's Association to hold the 1949 annual meeting in that village was accepted.

C. H. Buskard and C. R. Whittemore were reappointed as delegates to the Diocesan Council.

The toast to the Clergy was proposed by Hon. President W. J Cottrell, Marmora, with reply from Rural Dean J. M. Brownlee

A vote of thanks to the retiring president was proposed by Rev. A. T. McConnell, Trenton after which the Bishop pronounced the Benediction.

RUSS WANTS "BOOTY"

VIENNA — The Socialist party press services said the Russians nave demanded from Austria as "war booty" 540 locomotives and 5,575 passenger and freight cars. The demand, to be implemented in November, would strip easternzone railways of their rolling stock and reduce the Austrian railway system's strength to the 1945 level, the service said.

George White Again Candidate PC Meet Hears Gordon Graydon

MARMORA, Oct. 28 —(ENS)— George S. White, M.P. of Madoc, member for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough was unanimously chosen as candidate for the Progressive Conserverative Party in the next Federal election at a large gathering in Marmora Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

Warden George West, Madoc, past president, was chairman.

Welcome was accorded the delegates by Reeve Vincent M. Lynch.

The treasurer's report was given by Jamese Moore.

Those elected were: President, Isaac Anderson, Havelock; 1st vice-president, Wilfred Spencer, Rawdon Township; 2nd vice-president, Ernest Sanderson, Havelock; 3rd vice president, Arnold Gaebel, Madoc; treasurer, James Moore, Queensboro; secretary, C. H. Buskard, Deloro.

The chairman declared George White duly elected as candidate. In his address, the member thanked the convention for the expression of loyalty.

George Stokes, M. P. for Hastings South, gave a brief address.

Gordon Grayson, M. P. for Peel, followed with a striking speech.

He warned his hearers not to have a feeling of over-confidence at the success of their candidate They must work hard in the interests of the party and see to it that the continuity of George White was not lost, he said.

"We are facing a new era in Canadian politics. New leadership has come to both of the old parties. The Progressive Conservative Party did not stand still under the leadership of John Bracken. If George Drew is returned at the next general election, it will not be a victory for his party alone, said the speaker.

"It will be a victory for his party dinary people in Canada."

He did not believe in assisting the party in power for things they had done that he did not approve for "by tearing down, you don't build Canada much higher."

As a party, the Progressive Conservatives desired to be constructive in their criticism.

The closer the Government is to the people, the better the kind of government."

Dangerous Trend.

"There is a dangerous trend to be noticed— that which infringes on provincial right. There is a movement towards beauocracy— to centralize things at Otawa."

The speaker criticised the Income Tax forms and touched on the difficulty facing farmers to have them filled out. The farmers do not want to evade tax payment, but they do not want to have to go to a lawyer to have them made out, he said.

"You cannot standardize a farmer's business as businesses run on other lines. There is the type of man who sits in a swivel chair in Ottawa to make things easy for himself and his Department."

Criticizes Expenses.

"Touching on extravagances of the present government, he singled out the Department of External Affairs for attack.

He said that the house obtained in Washington for the Canadian Embassy cost the government $300,000. Before that the Department had purchased a mud house in Chungkin, China, for $122,000 and sold it for $12,500.

Since then it had paid $43,000 for four collapsible houses to be sent to China. A further $18,000 had been paid for their shipment and they had not been erected yet.

"If ever there was a time to apply a new broom at Ottawa, it is now."

Coming to the two ways of life offered the world to-day he warned that the strength of Communism should not be underestimated at home or abroad

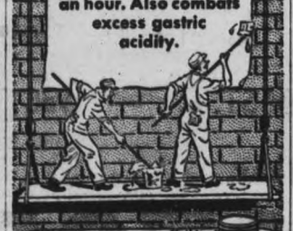
"It is easier to crusade for the things we have not got than for those we already have. Yet it is our place to crusade for the things we have. Democracy has to demonstrate that it has a system to give mass justice to the world.

"Referring to his visit to Berlin and Europe, the speaker said, "Whatever may be the cost of permanent and lasting peace cannot measure up to the cost of war.

"These are stirring, compelling and serious day's but they are not without a semblance of hope.

A vote of thanks was given the speaker on motion of C. H. Buskard.

The president-elect, Isaac Anderson ,thanked the delegates for his election.



Theodore Tryan of Bancroft moved "that this convention here assembled, re-affirm its loyalty to their gracious Majesties and pledge their support to the Progressive Conservative Party under the leadership of Colonel George Drew."

December brings in another month of five Fridays one falling on Christmas Eve and one on New Year's Eve and the entertainment committee under Chairman Lou Durkin, have written away asking for a ruling on these important occasions. One month ago our social evenings were moved from the top floor to the auditorium floor to allow additional space and to provide a stage for an orchestra. Now, after one short month, the committee is finding itself still crowded due to the increasing popularity of the evenings and is looking for ways and means to increase their floor pace.

Hint Settlement Of Record Ban

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—Hopes for early settlement of the recording ban were raised Wednesday by a resumption of discussions between officials of the Record companies and James C. Petrillo's Musicians Union.

The ban has been in effect since Dec. 31 when the old contract between the record companies and the AFL-American Federation of Musicians expired. The Taft-Hartley Labor Law prohibited a new contract continuing the previous arrangement under which royalties were paid directly to a Union Welfare Fund on each record sold.

The first direct negotiations toward ending the ban started Oct. 5 but broke down Oct. 12. The resumption of discussions Wednesday led to speculation in trade circles that an agreement was near, but both the Union and Record companies declined comment.

The New York Times later reported that the Musicians Union and Record companies had reached agreement on 'major terms" of a contract.

The Times said it had learned the contract would be submitted "in the next few days to the Department of Justice for an opinion as to its legality under the Taft-Hartley law."

"If approval is forthcoming from Washington," the Times added, "the first few records to be made in 10 months will reach the market in a matter of days."

Warn British Business Men US Market Hard To Hold

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, Oct. 28 — (CP). — The Board of Trade, export drive adviser, has warned British business men it will be no picnic extending or holding the United States market.

In the midst of government commendation of efforts to increase exports, especially to Canada and the United States, the Board has surveyed the United States market and come up with the following conclusions:

Whisky — Scotch whisky is a leading export to the United States, but continued business will depend on economic conditions.

Housewives' Patience

Linen—The United States has been the greatest export market for Irish linen, but the outlook must be viewed with caution. Tariff reductions on some lines has been welcomed, but much of the benefit was discounted by the continuing rise in prices.

China and earthenware — British ware has superiority in the eyes of customers. The question is, will the consumer, the American housewife, wait indefinitely for it?

Autos — British cars cater to "a very special market or markets where the appeal of unsual appearance, economy in petrol, parking space, or deluxe fittings may have special weight."

Bikes Too Expensive

Bicycles — Principal cause of a decline in imports of British cycles have been the change from a seller's to a buyer's market.

Cotton — "Many of the prices quoted for United Kingdom cottons are disquietingly high. Immediate difficulties of the United Kingdom producer should not obscure the long-term possibilities of the United States market."

Leather goods — United States purchases of British leather in 1947 dropped 10 per cent in value from 1946.

Aid Mine Companies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(AP)—The economic co-operation administration said Wednesday night it is ready to aid financially United States mining companies launching foreign operations which will increase scarce defence materials. The agency will share the risk of foreign investment, operations director Aubrey Harwood said, as part of its program to improve the United States stockpile of strategic materials.

Add One Million

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP) — More than $1,000,000 was added to city revenue this year by the "awakening" of Toronto's Assessment Department, Assessment Commissioner A. J. B. Gray disclosed Wednesday, addressing the Optimist Club, he said that the amount was added before a large-scale reassessment was started. Two Vocalists To Appear On Whiteman Show

Eugenie Baird and Russell McIntyre will be the leading vocalists heard by the Peterborough audience when Paul Whiteman and his 60-piece orchestra play here on Friday night at the Armouries.

The concert featuring Gershwin music is sponsored jointly by the Kinsmen and Rotary Clubs, proceeds going to their welfare funds. The 'King of Jazz" has promised a program that will include "Rhapsody in Blue" as well as some of the lesser known compositions of the late George Gershwin.

It was Whiteman who first played "Rhapsody in Blue" back in 1927 before an audience that was first critical then enthusiastic. His instinctive realization that jazz was an American contribution to the world of music, not just a passing fad, led to him being crowned "King of Jazz."

Whiteman comes from a musical family. His father was superintendant of music for Denver High Schools and his mother a famous singer.

It is said that he showed little early promise of becoming perhaps the greatest exponent of popular American music. But at the age of 17 he had reached the status of chief viola with the Denver Symphony. From there Paul turned to several of the impromptu bands of jazz addicts that were then current.

His next musical experience was as Navy Bandmaster but his name was made as one of America's best orchestra leaders from 1924 on. In 1927 at an experimental jazz concert he combined his talent for conducting with that of Gershwin for composing. From then on jazz was acceptable in concert halls as well as dance halls and night clubs.

During his musical career he has started such well-known persons on the road to fame as Morton Downey, Mildred Bailey, the Dorsey Brothers, Johnny Mercer and Bing Crosby.

The acknowledged dean of modern American music, now musical director of one of the United States' largest broadcasting companies, considers Bing his pet protege. He likes Bing's consistent matter of factness about his success.

"The bigger Bing's income gets," says Whiteman, 'the smaller his head becomes."

Before the night is out some lucky person will have won the Rotary car. The winning ticket will be drawn during the program.

Judge T. N. Harvey Dies In California

The late Judge Thomas Norman Harvey, 70, of Bakersfield, Calif., was cremated on Monday following a funeral service in that city. He died at his home on Saturday following a short illness and was born in Barrie, Ont., son of the late W. B. Harvey and Jean Watt, and had lived in California for more than 40 years.

He was a graduate of the Ottawa Normal School and taught in Frontenac County and in Prescott. He obtained his degree after studying and reading law at the San Francisco Law School just prior to the earthquake in that city. As result of this catastrophe he was employed as an insurance adjuster for a number of years, and later established a law practice in Bakersfield. Always interested in education, he was chairman of the Bakersfield High School Board for 24 years. He was a member of the Episcopal Church and a Rotarian.

Judge Harvey leaves his wife, the former Violet Salter, a daughter Mrs. Kenneth McGregor (Jean) of Long Beach, Calif., and one son Thomas Norman Harvey Jr. of Los Gatos. A brother, J. F. Harvey, BA, lives in Lakefield.

Miners' Union Warns Horner

LONDON, Oct. 28 (Reuters).—The executive of the National Mineworkers' Union today gave notice to its Communist general secretary, Arthur Horner, that it would not tolerate any repetition of his conduct during a recent visit to France when he spoke in support of the French coal strikers who are not backed by the British union.

The executive meeting, less than 24 hours after the strong denunciation of Communism by the general council of the Trade Union Congress, officially stated that Horner's statements on his visit to the French Confederation General Du Travail and on the French miners' strike were "contrary to union policy, unauthorized and disclaimed by the national executive committee."

Authorities said similar arrangements were being negotiated to fly out aged and sick western Berliners.

Meanwhile the Russians gave their blockade another turning of the screw. They announced that henceforth parcel post service between western Berlin and western Germany would be stopped.

London Paper Tells Weird Version of Canada's West

FLIN FLON, Man., Oct. 28 — (CP). — In this northern Manitoba mining town they're chuckling over a story which appeared in the London Daily Mail April 4.

The story arose from the recent discovery of uranium ore near here. It resulted from long-distance telephone conversations a Daily Mail reporter had with George Branscombe, co-discoverer of the uranium deposit, and Cyril Steventon, mayor of Flin Flon.

Said the Mail's story:

"Over the transatlantic phone last night came the Canadian voice of Mayor Cyril Levinson (should be Steventon).

"It said, 'we sure are booming.'

"This was the voice of Flin Flon, base of uranium rush which is taking men and women from all Canada to get-rich-quick prospect at pine-ringed Lake Judick, 30 miles away."

"Mighty Hard Going"

The story went on to quote Mayor Steventon as saying:

"Hundreds of 'em are coming in; some have got their tucker and kit and some of 'em haven't. Some've got ski cars, some dog teams, and some'll just have to walk, and it'll be mighty hard going. If many more light in here to Flin Flon, we won't know where to put 'em."

The mail then attempted to describe the boom area:

"On the shores of Lake Judick, tents, bivouacs and log cabins are going up on claims which their owners hope will make them rich overnight. Their food, stores and equipment go by sled from Flin Flon, frontier town of wooden buildings housing 7,500 trappers, prospectors and ranchers."

Then there was a reference to the Canadian government's announcement of the find.

Some residents of Flin Flon (population 10,000) said it appeared the English reporter shared the belief of many of his countrymen that to be a real Canadian one must have a ranch somewhere in the offing.

The story concluded with a remark attributed to Mr. Branscombe:

"The story i 4 n a'a!ofvbgl 'But it takes a long time working a uranium mine, and thar's a power of these get-rich boys who are going to disappointed."

Report 'Slave Boy' Improving In Hospital

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP)—Paul Gordon Kelly, the 19-year-old "slave boy" who told police last week he had been locked in a closet and fed on bread and water for a year, is recuperating in hospital, it was learned today. Until his physical condition is improved, he will not be able to undergo a psychiatric examination ordered by a family court judge.

Police are awaiting the result of the examination before considering what charges, if any, may be laid against Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith who said the boy had been in their care since he was a young child. He was found —naked to the waist, his hair matted and reaching almost to his shoulders—scratching on a suburban Etobicoke door to beg for food.

Bearers were two nephews, John and George Doyle of Trenton, Mr. Allen, Mr. Thomas, Mr. Dewberry and Mr. Black, all of Belleville.

Miss Doyle was the last surviving child of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle of Marmora township, and was born in Madoc. For the past 34 years she had been a resident of Belleville, previous to which she had lived in Rochester for about 15 years.

ALBERT ROBINS, $25-a-week window-blind factory worker, who won $40,000 with a ticket on the second-place horse, Royal Tara, in Wednesday's Irish Sweepstake, hugs his wife and daughter Irene, 16, as they celebrate their good luck at their River St. home. The three are planning a flying trip to Ireland to collect the winnings.

$25-a-Week Factory Hand Wins $40,000 In Sweeps

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(CP). — Albert Robins, $25-a-week Toronto factory worker, danced with his two daughters through their modest home Wednesday as they celebrated his winning $40,000 in the Irish sweepstake.

With a ticket on Royal Tara in the Cambridge Handicap, Mr. Robins came within inches of winning $100,000 as his horse was edged out in the stretch by Steropе, the winner.

As his excitement abated, the 63-year-old man started planning with his wife and daughters, Barbara, 23, and Irene, 16.

He talked of giving up his job at a window blind factory and of flying to Ireland with Mrs. Robins and Irene to collect his winnings.

"I haven't seen my homeland, England, for 29 years, and as soon as I get my money we will take a trip there," he said.

Three other Ontario persons also came into the money with tickets on horses that ran Wednesday.

Rene Cloutier, of Kapuskasing, Ont., is listed as holding a ticket worth $2,000 on Impeccable, who finished in a dead heat for third place with Patchously.

Mrs. Pearl Systopul, of Toronto, and Ernest Pogson, of Stratford, each won $1,200 for holding a ticket on a starter.

J. Henry Kern, Jr., of Moose Jaw, Sask., who also had a ticket on Royal Tara, will share his $40,000 with A. C. Necker, also of Moose Jaw, who bought a half interest.

Mr. Clouthier, 34, the Northern Ontario winner, said he bought his ticket, his second in a lifetime, with $2.50 of the last $3 he had at the time. Then he had to borrow $10 from the manager of the chain store at which he worked to get through the week.

He said he planned to go into the grocery business with his two brothers, buy an automobile and get married.

Mr. Pogson, a Stratford furniture worker, held a picket on Sea Shah, a 66-to-one shot which did not pay off except for the consolation prize.

Decide Hooey To Stand Trial

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 23 (CP)—A jury decided Wednesday night that Arthur Hooey, 23, is fit to stand trial for murder in the stabbing death March 6 of Allan Crowe.

The Crown plans to call 13 witnesses at the trial, scheduled to start to-day and expected to last two days.

The Ontario Supreme Court jury at the "trial within a trial" on the sanity issue deliberated more than four hours.

Defence Counsel Russel McAvoy told the jury:

"I admit Hooey suffers from hallucinations, but that has been evident only during the last week. They say that he appears unconcerned, but possibly he has no reason to worry."

Two psychiatrists, Dr. J. N. Senn of the Ontario Hospital at Hamilton, and Dr. W. A. Caldwell of the Mental Hospital at Penetanguishene, both testified that Hooey was unfit to stand trial.

Mr. McAvoy said in his address to the jury: "I want this man to stand trial, and I'm sure that he is able to stand trial."

Roger Lemelin Publishes Second Novel

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT.

QUEBEC, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Roger Lemelin, 29-year-old Quebecer who grew up in shabby St. Sauveur district to become a successful lumber operator and author, has just published his second novel.

His first, "Au Pied De La Pente Douce," caused such an uproar after its appearance in June, 1944, that Quebecers were ready for anything when "Les Plouffe," the new story, came along.

But critics who have scanned the account by Lemelin of the life of a Quebec Lower Town family as the war comes along expect no repetition of threats, charges of anti-clericalism and general outcry that exploded over "Au Pied De La Pente Douce."

"Au Pied," as Lemelin refers to his first effort, was translated into "The Town Below" earlier this year. "Les Plouffe," the story of the Plouffe family, is due also for translation and publication shortly in the United States.

Qualified readers of "The Town Below" described that first novel as a bit confused and said it was because Lemelin started it when he was only 22 and fell into the trap of artificial melodramatic writing.

Right On the Head

About "Les Plouffe," they say the energetic author has not bent the nail one way or the other, but hit it right on the head. The 470-page book has a plot that is the backbone of a piece of regional fiction easily in the class of Gabrielle Roy's "Bonheur D'Occasion (The Tin Flute)."

What happens to the Plouffe family when a lanky Cincinnati preacher drops in and the Second World War breaks out is the story of "Les Plouffe."

Before this, life was fairly simple in the household of Theodule Plouffe, newspaper printer and former cycling enthusiast, and his fluffy, good-natured wife Josephine.

Napoleon, the eldest son, went to bed every night with an ice-cream cone. Cecile, a spinster daughter, wasted away pining for a tram conductor, who did not find her "dynamic" enough. Passionate Ovide turned to opera because women would have nothing to do with him, while the unpredictable Guillaume was the hero of the household for his skill at quoits.

Lemelin's third book is to be a collection of short stories called "Fantasy of the Seven Capital Sins."

Punch On Chin Never Felt In Film Fights

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28 (AP)—"I've been wanting to do this for a long time," said Kirk Douglas as he punched me in the chin. His boxing glove caught me again—and again. "Very interesting," I commented.

Douglas was demonstrating the gentle art of harmless offence, as practised in movie fights. He would thrust his arm out with a murderous jab, then hold back at the last split-second before the blow. The effect was like being assaulted with a stick of cotton candy.

The angel's tap is necessary only for closeup shots. In many movie slugfests that you see, not a blow is exchanged, even though the hero and villain appear to be killing each other.

You see, the camera is not fast enough to detect the hero's missing the villain's chin by six inches. The crack of fist on chin is heard on the sound track, and the heavy reels backward under the impact of the imaginary blow. And there you are thinking, gad, how can those actors take such punishment.

No Battle Scars

Such trickery will not always be possible in Douglas' next film "Champion," for which Director Mark Robson is seeking the realism of closeups. I found Kirk in a slugging match with his coach, Mushy Callahan. Neither bore a scar of the battle.

Mushy, a veteran at staging movie bouts, said they are much more exciting than the real thing.

"Ninety per cent of the regular bouts are just plain dull," the smash-nosed fighter remarked. "In the movies, we can put excitement in a fight because they are staged for thrills.

"One of the most successful fighting teams I remember was a couple of boys who were rematched 20 times. They always put on a good fight. Why? Because they lived together and could stage their fights beforehand at home."

St. Paul's United At Bancroft Marks 52nd Year

BANCROFT, Oct. 28—(ENS)—St. Paul's United church marked its 52nd anniversary on Sunday with special services morning and evening. The congregation of St. Mark's church, Paudash, gave up its morning service.

The Rev. Dr. Denzil G. Ridout of Toronto, secretary of the Missionary and Maintenance Department of the United Church of Canada, was guest speaker. In the morning he spoke on "Living the Doxology" and in the evening a capacity gathering enjoyed his illustrated lecture on our prospective new province, Newfoundland and on Labrador. His slides had all been made from pictures taken by himself.

With the aid of these views, Dr. Ridout gave a clear picture of the rugged beauty and the national resources of the land itself, and a glimpse into the life of the people there.

On Monday, after a turkey dinner in the basement to one of the largest numbers of patrons in years, the church auditorium was again filled to overflowing for another illustrated lecture by Dr. Ridout on Central Africa. Many children were present.

Killer Mountain Still Threatens Alberta Village

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FRANK, Alta., Oct. 28—(CP)—The mountain that 45 years ago killed 66 persons and wiped out a village still poses a threat today.

Government officials keep close tab on Turtle Mountain's crevices, widening and deepening yearly over the gigantic rockpile it loosed April 29, 1903.

Then it flung a 100-foot-deep mess of rubble—some of the limestone slabs were as big as houses—for two miles down and out into the valley, leaving a bald scar on its face as a reminder.

Only a handful of the residents of the old village of Frank escaped. One was a tot recovered from the edge of the rubble.

Estimates of the 7,000-foot fall placed the slide at 500 feet deep, 4,000 feet wide and 1,300 feet high.

Today, a railway has been recarved through the desert of rock chunks while a highway also traverses the waste. But some families continue to reside in the path of what may be future slides although other families have been moved to the new town.

Mining Continues

Mining in the base of the brittle giant continues. In the actual cave-in, no miners on duty were killed and they knew of the disaster only after they attempted to use the usual tunnel, found it blocked, and then came out through a channel away from the fall.

A freight train escaped the slide by minutes and one of the heroic actions performed immediately after was by trainman Sid Choquette who crossed the mile-long pile, blinded by choking dust and in danger from fresh slides, to warn an approaching passenger train.

The Canadian Pacific Railway uses the fallen rock as a natural supply for ballast which went last spring to flood-weakened lines as far east as Moose Jaw, Sask.

But outside of a few bodies uncovered when the highway was blasted through, the 66 dead are likely to remain with their houses, banks, churches, and stores buried under 100 feet of Turtle Mountain.

Engineer Making Report On Snow Removal

City Engineer A. E. Chalmers is preparing a report on the bounds of a central area in which snow is to be removed from the sidewalks of the occupants of the fronting stores and residences.

Present suggestions are: George St. from the CPR to London St.; Water St. to Murray St.; Aylmer St. to Murray; Hunter St., Bethune to Mark St.; Simcoe, Bethune to Queen; Charlotte St. from Park St. to Water St.; Murray and Brock Streets, easterly to College Street.

Owners of automobiles and trucks are to be informed at once that cars are not to be left standing at curbs when snow comes. Full street width is required for effective removal of snow from the streets.

An overhaul job on the parking meters will not suspend their nickel an hour collection. City Engineer Chalmers suggested to the board of works that ten or fifteen units could be lifted at a time from the busier down town sections and replaced by others from the fringes of metered area.

They could be transferred from Hunter St., towards Aylmer St., for example, to George and other central spots. Tuning up could be done on the group of instalment plan without loss from the more remunerative machines.

Repairs are planned for the winter months. Ald. D. Miller contends that the parking charge of five cents an hour should not be applied if cars are barred by snow from parking against the curb line. "We should not be selling parking space that we haven't got some days until the streets are cleared."

Council Broadcast

The session of the city council Monday, Nov. 15, will be held in the Kawartha room of the Empress Hotel, and will be broadcast under sponsorship of the Peterborough Sales and Ad Club. It is expected that all the members will be present, although usually during the deer hunting season in the first half of November some of the aldermen have been gunning in the woods.

MRS. MARGARET JENNINGS will be 102 years old on Friday. Living in Belmont township, Mrs. Jennings is the mother of Tom Ashby, Peterborough. Her mother lived to be 91 and her father was 92 when he died. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ezra King, north of Havelock.

Mrs. M. Jennings Of Havelock 102, County's Oldest Resident

HAVELOCK, Oct. 28 — (ENS). — Mrs. Margaret Ashby Jennings, oldest resident of Peterborough county, will quietly celebrate her 102nd birthday on Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ezra King, Belmont Lake. A quiet dinner party with relatives will mark the event.

Mrs. Jennings looks many years younger than her age and has not had a day's sickness since her last birthday. She has a very bright personality and a good memory of events that transpired in bygone days.

Seventeen years ago she suffered a broken hip which has confined her to a wheel chair and to this long period of forced rest she partly attributes her long life and good health.

Until her injury, she led an active life and is a firm believer that hard work, regular attendance and support of the church tend to make for happiness and long life. She does not lie down for a rest during the day although she rises between 7.30 and 8 a.m. and does not retire until about 10 p.m. She takes a keen interest in current events, enjoys listening to the radio and is still able to do some reading.

During the early years of the war she was an ardent knitter and sewer for war purposes. Despite her advanced years she is able to attend to her own needs.

Mrs. Jennings was born in Lincoln, England, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson and came to Canada with her parents at the age of 8. The family settled in Clark township, near Port Hope. There her parents hewed their farm out of bushland. Some years later they moved to what is now Pontypool where they were again pioneer settlers.

At the age of 20, she married Charles Ashby who died 31 years ago, and later she married Simon Jennings who died 21 years ago. Mrs. Jennings has been a resident of this district for 55 years. Mrs. Jennings' parents both enjoyed long life, her father living until he was 2 years and her mother 91 years.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. King, Mrs. Jennings has one son, Thomas Ashby of Peterborough. She has eight grandchildren: Mrs. Edward Henderson (Lois King) of Port Credit; Clyde Ashby of Peterborough; Mrs. George Boyd, (Aileen Ashby) of West Hill; Mrs. by), Mrs. Ray Forbes (Ila King), Randal Anderson (Thelma Ash-Mrs. Eric Ellis (Olga Ashby), Mrs. Edward Barker (Wilma Ashby), of Belmont township and Mrs. Wilbert Barton (Hilda Ashby) of Havelock. She has also 10 great grandchildren.

No Diversion Of Funds Officials Say

Hopes of the Civic Arena committee of obtaining financial assistance from Memorial Centre funds have been dashed by a legal opinion regarding disposition of these trust monies.

It was hoped that $10,000 of the accumulated interest on the more than $300,000 worth of bonds diverted to help finance the Civic Arena. The officials had no intention of disturbing the capital funds, but now they find that even the interest is inviolate.

Joe Jebsen, chairman of the Memorial Centre committee, said today that legal opinion had been obtained, and none of the money could be diverted to the Arena.

"I regret very much that we can't help the Arena," said Mr. Jebson. "I realize the hard-working members of the Civic Arena committee are having a difficult time collecting the $40,000 and I want them to know that every member of the Memorial Centre committee is solidly behind them in their work."

Mr. Jebson pleaded for co-operation saying, "I hope every service club, every church and every women's organization will be just as interested in this project as they were in the Memorial Centre. It will just require a little more push to raise the funds to the $40,000 mark."

He gave assurance that the Memorial Centre would be built as soon as details of financing and site could be straightened out, and added the committee members while chafing at the delay were doing everything in their power to get action at an early date.

Mr. Jebson added: "I hope too that by astute management and saving of every penny, the officials of the arena can look forward to the installation of artificial ice within a year after the Civic Arena opens."

Allan Cameron, treasurer of the Civic Arena committee, and an employee of the Bank of Montreal, said an up-to-date report would be available on Friday, and he added the donations are nearing the $30,000 mark.

City Just Over Power Quota

Daily tabulation of the Utilities Commission shows that Peterborough used 244,000 kwh of Hydro power Wednesday, almost at the quota level of 240,000 kwh.

The margin of excess was so small that it is not likely to bring frowns from the Hydro officials.

It is understod that some auxiliary power is being provided, signifying that Peterborough is not keeping so close to the quota line as the daily report indicates. Some help is flowing into the circuits recently that has not yet been accounted for.

Car Struck By Train Woman Is Injured

Mrs. George Furphy of 382 Charlotte St. was taken to St Joseph's Hospital Wednesday night with injuries received when the car in which she was a passenger was struck by a train. Her condition is not believed to be serious.

Mrs. Furphy received a head blow and injury to her hands. She is still in hospital receiving treatment.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Parents of new babies are advised to notify the Department of Health and Welfare as soon as possible after the baby is born if they wish the baby bonus to start at once. Parents who waited three months to fill out the form obtainable at the post office, now find they have lost the first three months bonus. Payment of the bonus starts when the form reaches the department, and apparently there is no way of recovering any bonus lost by late filing.

Fog Blankets Entire Area; Traffic Halted

Dense fog—the heaviest in years—swept over the Peterborough area Wednesday night and this morning. It was part of a province-wide blanket which tied up air and water and ground traffic in all sections.

Transport companies and bus lines operating in and out of the city reported no accidents to their vehicles as a result of the fog, but all reported that schedules were thrown back because of the extremely poor driving conditions.

Provincial police cars in the district did not do routine patrol work during the night because of the fog, but held their cars in, ready to answer any emergency cases of traffic accidents.

Canadian Press reports indicated that the fog hung over most of eastern Canada, grounding aircraft and forcing lake shipping to move at a snail's pace.

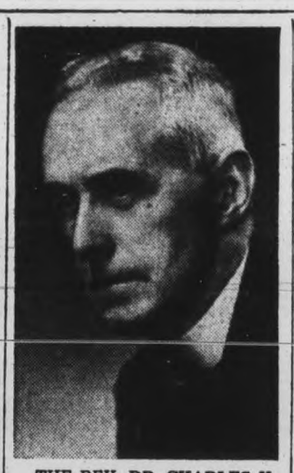
The occasional night worker or late reveller wrapped his coat around him firmly as he stepped onto the street on his way home. Dampness was so heavy it could be felt descending.

As a car would go by, travelling at reduced speed because of the poor visibility, the tire tracks would show on the wet road. People approaching could not be detected more than a hundred feet away, even on a well-lighted area.

Signal service officers at Montreal said fog banks extended well below the mouth of the Saguenay River and the full length of the Upper St. Lawrence to the Great Lakes. Traffic in Quebec harbor and in city streets was almost at a standstill.

Harbor ferries which normally cross between Quebec and Levis every 20 minutes moved irregularly and movement of ships was dangerous. The river schooner Mont Joli, damaged in an accident blamed on poor visibility, was towed to a Quebec dock Wednesday for repairs after running aground.

Coast guard officers at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., said lake traffic on the St. Mary's River began to move about 9 a.m. today after being tied up for more than 10½ hours while fog reduced visibility to zero Some 40 ships were forced to anchor.



12 Fire Alarms To Be Set Up

As Peterborough grows so does the fire alarm system. Five new alarm boxes have been installed in the south end of the city and there are still seven to be placed; and in East City one has been installed and three are to be erected.

The five posts in the fast-growing southern part of the city are King George and St. Catharines Sts., Hamilton and McKellar Sts. (west end), Hamilton and McKellar Sts. (east end), Monaghan Rd. and Arndon Sts., and St. Catharines St. and Howden Ave.

A box has been placed at Mark and Maria Sts. in East City; another is to be put on Wallace St., one at Ross and Dufferin Sts., and two more at points as yet unnamed.

Fire Chief George Smith said that it was part of the policy of giving the citizens' maximum fire protection, "As the city grows we just keep on adding," he said.

Hard Of Hearng, Man Pleads Guilty Discovers In Time His Name Not Called

It pays to be attentive to what is said to you in open court. One man today in police court was so preoccupied he nearly paid the penalty for another's charge.

A name was called and a man ambled forward to the front of the counsel's table in the court room. The charge was read and he replied that he could not hear it. So, he was moved to directly in front of Magistrate Philp, who read the charge again:

"That so-and-so did drive vehicle such-and-such on a highway...without due care and attention..."

"Guilty," the man answered.

Magistrate Philp turned over the information sheet, poised his pen to mark it with the penalty and glanced at the police sergeant for details of the incident.

He addressed the man again by the name on the sheet.

The accused, who had pleaded guilty to careless driving, then discovered—that he was not the man at all.

His charge, of driving without a licence, was withdrawn by the crown.

"You can go home now," Inspector James F. Reid advised the bemused accused.

He went.

New Conference Advocated By CCC Group

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28—(CP). — A new Dominion-Provincial conference is advocated by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to revise present agreements in a manner acceptable to all provinces and to the Dominion.

This was one of a large slate of policy decisions made Wednesday at the organization's annual convention.

Another decision in effect advocated that employers should not dominated unions. It would rehave to deal with Communist-move such unions from all privilages and protection of labor relations legislation.

Further it would bar Communists from government employment, education, transportation, communications and similar vital services. It advocates redefinition of the term treason and that provisions of the Criminal Code in that regard be strictly enforced.

Other Declarations

Other declarations favored raising of teacher salary levels; a national conference on forestry; long-range immigration program with a separate Minister of Immigration; Western Canada irrigation projects; placing of national defence in immediate proper order; a study of Canadian seaports; abolition of double taxation; equal taxation of all business enterprise whether privately owned or owned by governments or co-operatives; inquiry into radio broadcasting and consideration of placing it under the jurisdiction of a body independent of both the CBC and private stations, responsible directly to parliament; and a joint Dominion-Provincial commission to work out an arrangement for a modern trans-Canada highway.

Another declaration said the Chamber is opposed in principle to government marketing of agricultural and other products.

The policy decisions indicate the Chamber's direction in the coming year in its contacts with its 560 member Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce which have a membership of 75,000 businessmen.

Eight Generals Convicted Of War Crimes

NUERNBERG, Oct. 28.—(AP).—A United States court today convicted eight German generals of war crimes. An admiral was acquitted.

The judgments completed the cases of 13 high German military commanders, with 11 convictions and two acquittals. Sentencing is expected later today.

The three-man tribunal Wednesday found all 13 defendants innocent of plotting to start the Second World War. Ruling they did not rate high enough to make policy.

It then proceeded to pass judgment on charges of crimes by the 13 against prisoners-of-war and civilians.

Acquitted today was Admiral Otto Schniewind, 60, commander of the North Sea fleet. Wednesday the court acquitted Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, 62, commander of the air fleet which blitzed London in 1940.

Convicted were:

The judgments came after a nine-month trial.

Buses And Trolleys Start Rolling Again

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Buses and trolleys rolled again today on seven New York systems carrying 3,500,000 daily fares as left-wing leaders of a revolting union faction urged their followers to join a back-to-work movement.

Company and CIO union officials predicted normal service on the 121 privately-owned routes that had been halted Tuesday in the biggest surface transit strike in the city's history.

Union membership votes Wednesday brought an official end to the two-day walkout by members of the Transport Workers' Union (CIO).

Only spotty service was provided Wednesday as many of the 8,500 drivers, maintenance men and other employees rebelled against back-to-work orders issued the day before by Michael J. Quill, right-wing international president of the union.

Austin Hogan, left-wing anti-Quill head of the union's local 100, conceded Wednesday that "our strike is broken" and urged his faction to end its rebellion.

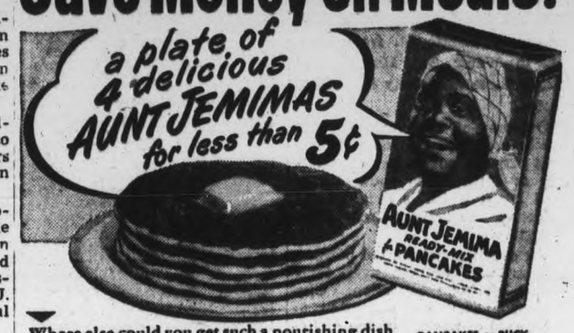
Moscow Theatre Has Jubilee

MOSCOW, Oct. 28—(AP)—The Moscow Art theatre Wednesday night presented the first performance of its 50th jubilee season.

On hand for the occasion were Soviet leaders, representatives of the diplomatic corps and figures from all walks of Russian life.

The keynote of various speeches was that the theatre had attained its full growth only after Russia became a Communist state. The speakers stressed the concern shown for the theatre by Prime Minister Stalin and the Communist party.

The widow of the Russian writer Anton Chekhov, a famous actress in her own right, declared the 50th jubilee session open. She was one of the few original founders present.



The entire troupe of the art theatre was on the stage—between 400 and 500 members. That was in contrast to the small group of about 40, mostly amateurs, who organized the theatre half a century ago.

Wednesday night's performance was under the direction of Konstantine Sanislavsky and Vladimir Nemirovich-Danchenko, the two men who presented the theatre's first performance on Oct. 27, 1898.

Church Attendance Drops During 1947

TORONTO, Oct. 28—(CP). — Baptist Church membership in Toronto declined by only nine persons last year but average weekly attendance dropped from 5,395 to 4,271.

Rev. Alfred Burgess, clerk-treasurer of the Toronto Association of Baptist Churches, quoted these figures from the Baptist Church Year Book at Wednesday's annual meeting of the association. He said another report indicated that individual participation in city church activities declined up to 30 per cent. in some departments. But he added:

"I find it difficult to accept this report as a true finding of the activities of our Church during the last year because of the inordinate difficulty of getting reports in from the various churches."

Soviet Has Invited Germans To Moscow

BERLIN, Oct. 28—(AP).—The Soviet administration said today 14 German politicians and trade union leaders from the Russian occupation zone of Germany have been invited to attend the anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik revolution in Moscow Nov. 7.

Most of those invited are non-Communists who, however, in eastern bloc politics go along with the Soviet-sponsored, Communist-controlled Socialist Unity Party.

Observers noted that Germany's two top Communists, Wilhelm Pieck and Walter Ulbricht, were not invited. They have attended previous Moscow celebrations.

This tended to discount a reported statement of Helmut Kuelz, former Russian-zone politician now a refugee in Frankfurt, that the Moscow trip would develop into a conference which might radically revise Soviet occupation policies.

Germans here said Kuelz could hardly be expected to know anything about Communist plans since he has been in western Germany for some time.

Wallace Claims Old Parties Leading Country To War

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(CP)—Sixty-year-old Henry Agard Wallace, third in importance among the numerous men who are seeking election as president Nov. 2, is probably harder to understand than any other figure in United States public life.

Wallace—tall, heavy - built, shaggy-haired son of Iowa's soil—is leader of the new Progressive party which he founded this year, its aim to tear down those interests in both old parties which he claims are leading the country to war and chaos.

His opponents claim his party is Communist-inspired and Communist-controlled. That doesn't faze Wallace. He says he is not a Communist but will welcome support from any source.

He speaks like an old-time evangelist and is a good performer when things are going his way. He proved that he can stand up under adversity, too, when he was met with rotten eggs and overripe tomatoes during a recent tour into the South.

Wallace was probably the most unusual vice-president and cabinet member in United States history. He was shy, aloof, serious, studious, intensely interested in liberal reforms and almost unpolitical.

Political Background

His father was a former Republican secretary of agriculture and Wallace was reared and registered as a Republican but he used to attack his father's policies. In 1928 and 1932 he worked and voted for the Democrats but remained a registered Republican until 1936. Roosevelt brought him to Washington as the New Deal agriculture secretary.

Wallace was the target for jibes and sneers—some of the bitterest directed at the New Deal—when during the depression he ordered the plowing-under of crops and destruction of pigs to cut down farm surpluses at a time when millions were finding it difficult to sustain themselves.

Roosevelt chose him as vice-presidential candidate in 1940 and Wallace served one term. It was a bitter disappointment when Roosevelt's advisers rejected him in 1944 and chose Harry Truman instead.

Wallace was in Chicago at the convention and made a fight for it, pleading with the delegates to stick to the broad liberal lines that were his faith, to fight racial discrimination and abolish the anti-Negro poll tax which is a prerequisite in some southern states.

He was angry and resentful at his defeat but took his licking and went out to campaing for the Roosevelt ticket. He became secretary of commerce.

Wallace did a great deal of travelling and visited Stalin in Moscow. Soon his public utterances began to rankle his more conservative colleagues. In 1946, when he made a speech in New York attacking the administration's foreign policy and especially its attitude toward Russia, he was let out of the cabinet.

Started Third Party

Afterwards he was editor of the New Republic magazine a while, and began to talk about forming a new party unless either the Republicans or Conservatives became "liberal" in the sense he believed necessary, to preserve the United States home economy and the peace of the world.

Last winter he decided the third party was needed. He set about organizing it, completing the job at Philadelphia in July when the party adopted its name and platform and chose Wallace as its presidential candidate. There were no other contestants.

The party stands for peace and goodwill among nations, complete removal of all racial discrimination and an end to warlike preparations.

Wallace is a graduate of Iowa State College. He went to his father's paper, "Wallace's Farmer" and later was editor. He managed a farm and experimented with hybrid seed-corn from which he is said to have made a considerable fortune.

He married Ilo Browne of Indianola, Iowa, in 1941 and they had two sons and a daughter, Mrs. Wallace, young looking and charming, a housewife and not a politician, is constantly at her husband's side in his presidential campaigning.

Sportsmen Favor Affiliation With Federation Of Anglers

Peterborough Fish and Game Association members voted to affiliate with the Ontario Federation of Anglers at a meeting held in the Collegiate auditorium Tuesday night.

The meeting was called by the local association with invitations to the Northumberland,, Ganaraska and Campbellford clubs to send delegates. It was intended to acquaint the sportsmen with the aims and purposes of the Federation.

Pete McGillen, a director of the Federation was called on by chairman, Bob McCabe, to explain what the Federation is and what it does.

He said the Federation consisted of more than 150 angling and hunt clubs in Ontario banded into one unit for the purpose of fostering intelligent management of the province's natural resources, and also to bring into being, legislation in keeping with this ideal. They also fought for strict law enforcement with penalties commensurate with the crime.

He added that during the past two years the Federation had organized the entire province, both northern and southern Ontario into six zones, three in the north and three in southern Ontario. "The idea is to get every angling and hunting club in these zones to affiliate with the Federation, so that the 24 directors can speak for every sportsman in the province before the Fish and Game Committee of the Legislature."

Zone 4 according to Mr. McGillen takes in all of eastern Ontario as far west as a straight line drawn north from Trenton. Zone 5 which includes Peterborough extends west to Hamilton. The balance of western Ontario is in zone 6.

Considerable discussion ranged over whether Peterborough should be in zone 4 or zone 5, but it was finally decided to on motion by Campbell Rowatt and Ernie Guppy to affiliate and remain in zone 5.

President Bob McCabe told the meeting that the executive of the local Association had been cool to affiliation until they had the privilege of sitting in at a directors meeting and seeing the scope of the work and the sincerity of the men. "We feel the cause of conservation can best be served if our powerful organization affiliates with the parent body. I would urge every club to give serious thought to this same step."

Win Fisher, Cobourg said he was a fact-finding delegate and was not authorized to speak for the Northumberland Association. However he added that the Cobourg sportsmen were keenly interested and that a decision would be given soon.

President Wiggins of Campbellford, said his group was in favor of affiliation, but had not decided yet which zone they would go into.

Jack Baldwin, secretary, expressed regret that through an error the Havelock Fish and Game had not been invited and he intended to send a letter of explanation to them. Lakefield received an invitation but was not represented. J. Plowman, a director of the Federation from Orillia was on hand and spoke briefly.

The two speakers, Blake Uren, Orillia, chairman of zone 5 and Harold Darragh, Orangeville, could not attend the meeting.

Following the discussion, Conservation Officer Alex Kay, gave an interesting 15-minute talk on bird life in this part of Ontario.

Says Money Lack Chief Reason Britons Shabby

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 28 — (CP) — Britons who blame their shabbiness on stringent clothes rationing are being told they couldn't do much to improve their appearance if all garments were placed on free sale—they couldn't afford to.

"There is no doubt that price is the most important factor today," Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, told a meeting of clothing manufacturers.

"If coupon rationing were abolished tomorrow, there would still be millions of families who would be rationed by price, and the only way to increase that ration is to lower the price, which means lowering the cost."

Manufacturers were prevented from bringing down prices by the high cost of materials, most of which came from abroad.

Wilson hinted that there might be further modifications in the rationing system, already eased considerably this year. But he said that some goods are still in short supply.

A year ago the public was being told that all garments were likely to be scarce for a long time to come and that ther small allotment of coupons would have to be stretched even farther. By last May, however, stocks had accumulated to such a point that the number of coupons available to each consumer was increased, and the coupon value of many goods was reduced.

Further Readjustment

In August a further adjustment in ration values was made and the coupon allocation for six months beginning Sept. 1 was set at 24. Footwear was freed from the ration altogether. Men's suits required 20 coupons instead of 26, women's dresses seven instead of 11, and so on down the line.

Merchants who anticipated a buying rush were surprised, on the whole, by the public's lack of interest. As a result such bodies as the Drapers' Chamber of Trade have called for complete abolition of rationing.

A report prepared by the Chamber and overwhelmingly approved at a meeting of its members said there was evidence the public now had far more coupons then it could use. Some speakers said that those who could not afford clothes were selling their coupons to the wealthy and "creating a black market that is a blot on our national life."

Only a few reported higher sales since coupons were increased. One merchant claimed his business had increased 50 per cent but his motion that rationing be continued on a more generous scale was heavily defeated.

Meanwhile, there has been a steady rise in prices. The Board of Trade has approved increases in the cost of a wide range of items including hosiery, gloves, curtains, knitted cloth and household textiles. The increase on more expensive articles like sheets amounts to several shillings.

Some wool manufacturers contend the increases are not enough to meet their costs, and predict a decline in the quality of their goods.

Canadian Meat Plants Win Olympia Prizes

LONDON, Oct. 28 (CP)—Canadian competitors in the British dairy farmers show at Olympia, described by one newspaper as "milkolympia," chalked up more victories Wednesday.

Canada Packers Limited of Toronto, one of six Canadian competitors in the Dominions bacon contest, won first prize. Burns and Company (Eastern) Limited won second, and John Duff and Sons Limited of Hamilton, third.

"The judges were full of praise for the high quality of the bacon exhibited," said A. E. Bryan, commercial counsellor for Canada.

Blanchard and Missouri Cheese and Butter Company Limited, of Belton, Ont., won first prize in the Dominions cheese competition.

Highly commended were the Diamond Cheese and Butter Company of Kinburn, Ont.; the Hess Cheese Factory of Williamsburg, Ont.; and the Newry Cheese Factory of Atwood, Ont. A cheese exhibit entered by the Dorchester Union Cheese Factory of Dorchester, Ont., also was commended.

Wage Demands Trouble For Britain

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 28. — (CP). — Britain's Socialist government, striving to hold the line against inflation, is watching a threatening bulge on the wages front and may act soon.

Labor's growing concern about prices and wages was emphasized at the recent Trades Union Congress convention at Margate. Observers think the government, rather than agree to higher pay, will take some other action to protect the value of the working man's earnings.

The British worker has pledged, through the T.U.C., to use restraint in wage demands. But there is a tendency now to seek increases on the grounds that wages have not kept pace with the rising cost of living.

Recently the government awarded an increase of up to 11 shillings ($2.20) weekly to 70,000 mechanics in its employ. A labor ministry court of inquiry later recommended awards of up to 5 shillings weekly to 2,000,000 mechanics in private industry who had asked for 13s.

The recommendation caused dissatisfaction and there was talk of a strike on the Clydebank, something the government wants to avoid at almost any cost.

Now 500,000 employees of the nationalized British Railways have presented demands on the government for a flat 12s 6d. weekly wage hike which would cost the treasury £20,000,000 ($80,000,000) more annually.

Approved Stabilizaton

This latest demand followed close on the annual convention of the TUC which, for the second time, approved the government's wages-prices-profits stabilization policy announced last March. Labor approval was given on the understanding workers would refrain from wage claims except in special cases, providing the government held down prices and profits.

But neither the government's white paper, urging stabilization at the levels of last February, nor decisions of the TUC, are binding on the workers. It is an unwritten agreement, and those unions which think they have a particularly strong case are not prevented from seeking wage increases.

Main argument of increase-seeking unions is that the government has "failed" to hold prices and profits as promised. Time and again delegates mounted the rostrum at Margate to say that present-day living costs in Britain are far beyond the reach of wages. The convention turned down a resolution seeking to withdraw support from the government's stabilization policy. But it gave a thumping majority to another calling for vigorous pursuit of "a policy designed to maintain the purchasing power of wages."

This resolution asked the government to "take more effective action" to control prices, maintain and even extend cost of living subsidies, review the effects of the purchase and other taxes on commodities entering into ordinary domestic use and to impose stricter limitations on profits.

SPECTATORS LINE THE STREET in London yesterday as the State Coach, escorted by Household Cavalry, proceeds from Bhckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament. Amid ancient pomp and ceremony, King George VI opened the new session of Parliament and called for the nationalization of Britain's steel industry. On the throne in the House of Lord, the King wore his crown and robes of State for the first time in ten years.

Ask Pupils Excused Memorizing Poems

MONTREAL, Oct. 28 — (CP) — The Protestant School Board has asked provincial authorities to forego a requirement that elementary-school pupils learn by heart a list of poems prescribed by the province's Protestant committee of education.

The list includes such classroom standbys as Leigh Hunt's Ben Adhem, Alfred Noyes' "Come Down to Kew in Lilac Time" and William Henry Drummond's "Leetle Bateese."

The Board decided Tuesday that a rigid requirement for memorizing poems strikes "at the root of the effective teaching of poetry" because it limits freedom, flexibility and enthusiasm. Besides, the Board said, some of the poems are not very good.

Expect 400 PC's To Attend Meet

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—(CP). — Between 300 and 400 Progressive Conservatives from Ontario meet in Toronto Saturday to settle time, place and method of answering the province's prime political riddle.

Delegate members of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association, they will pick a date for a provincial convention to choose a successor to George Drew as party leader in the province.

Nearly 700 persons are eligible to take part in the meeting, called solely to fix a date for the convention, and to set its organization machinery in motion. However, it is not expected there will be a full attendance.

G. Drew resigned as provincial leader and premier after he was elected to the national leadership of the party. His post as premier is filled temporarily by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, 70-year-old minister of agriculture, who has announced that he will not be a candidate at the convention.

Spring Convention

In political circles most talk is of a spring convention. It is argued that there is not time enough to organize a meeting of some 1,700 delegates by early Decembr. And even if it were held then, the new leader would have little time to prepare for the 1949 session of the Ontario Legislature, likely to start in February.

Another argument for a convention after the Legislature session is that the rough-and-tumble of house debate may provide a test of leadership qualities of some of the aspirants.

The eligible list for Saturday's meeting includes 20 officers of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association; some 100 representatives from five district associations; 48 young Progressive Conservatives; candidates in the last provincial and Dominion elections, about 168; four delegates from each of the 90 provincial constituencies, total 360.

Discuss By-Elections

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP) — The Ontario cabinet is expected to reach a decision at its weekly meeting today on when to hold the by-elections to fill two vacancies in the provincial legislature. If the cabinet decides on an early vote for vacant Parry Sound and Cochrane North constituencies, it is believed the votes may be held between Nov. 22 and Nov. 29.

U.S. PRESIDENT HARRY TRUMAN, accorded a tremendous reception upon his arrival in Chicago for a last-ditch campaign speech, was visibly excited and overjoyed by the ovation accorded him by the city's Democrats, as he stepped to the microphones at Chicago Stadium. Here the president, beaming with pleasure, waves his arms in acknowledgement of the cheers. He launched a bitter attack on the Republican party and its candidate, claiming his opponent, Governor Thomas Dewey, was nothing but a "front man" for reactionary elements seeking to impose a Fascist dictatorship on the United States. Chicago's mayor Martin Kennelly is on right.

BC Wood Union Leaders Still Battling

By RAY TIMSON

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28 (CP)—An unprecedented jurisdictional war wages to-day in British Columbia's $200,000,000 forest product industry between the union leaders of the 40,000 woodworkers involved. And an end to the strife is not in sight.

A month ago, 27,000 of the loggers constituted the powerful BC district of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO). They had grown from 5,000 when chartered in 1937. To-day they are split into two bitterly-rival factions.

Leftist Harold Pritchett, the loggers' counterpart of John L. Lewis, led a swift disaffiliation from the International Union and the CIO on Otcober 3. He blamed United States immigration authorities, who refused 33 BC district delegates permission to attend on international conference at Portland, Ore., the union headquarters and base of its president James E. Fadling.

The rejected delegates are prominent in the Labor Progressive Party.

Freeze Funds

Two days after the disaffiliation, International President Fadling obtained a Supreme Court writ freezing all funds and properties of the strife-torn BC District Council, chieftained by Pritchett. The latter then announced formation of the rebel Woodworkers Iindustrial Union.

Fadling has charged in Supreme Court that the BC District Council unaccounted for more than $100,000 in its books. He further charged that some of the woodworkers' dues had been used to help finance the Labor Progressive Party in BC.

The Supreme Court here is expected to set a date within the next two weeks for a hearing of charges in connection with the flaring factional dispute.

Pritchett and his rebels, campaigning throughout the union locals, claim at least 10,000 woodworkers have voted to join the new autonomous offshoot. Fadling and his International retort that 20,000 have decided to remain within the IWA fold.

Find Profits Not As Big As Believed

VANCOUVER, Oct. 28.—(CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce is scratching its collective head today, wondering how it is going to persuade the public that business doesn't make the profits that people think it makes.

For instance, as Walter E. Elliott of Toronto, told the Chamber Tuesday, public opinion polls show that the average person thinks that business and industrial concerns make about 32 cents on each dollar of sales. That's just the average opinion—individual guess run from five cents to 90.

Further, said Mr. Elliott, the average person thinks 16 cents would be fair, whereas in fact the real profit is about five cents, with only half of that nickel going to shareholders, and the rest going back to maintain the business as a going concern and an employer.

The Chamber is devoted to the idea that more people get more goods under free enterprise than under any other system, and that it can be made to produce a lot more for everyone. It believes that it is the only system under which individual freedom can be maintained, and that anything that is wrong with it can be solved by open discussion.

The nickel profit on the dollar as opposed to the average opinion of 32 cents, epitomizes, in discussions at the current annual meeting, the difficulties of explaining business.

Ignores Marshall

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28—(AP)—Robert Lovett, under-secretary of state, Wednesday disclosed that President Truman decided to issue his statement on Palestine last Sunday before notifying State Secretary Marshall. Lovett refused to say whether the president and his secretary of state hold conflicting positions on the issue of Israel's boundaries. Previously White House and state department officials had said there was no conflict.

DR. BERNARD VONNEGUT, weather scientist at a research laboratory in Schenectady, N.Y., is using fire as an agent to dispense tiny silver iodide particles into the atmosphere. Fiercely-burning charcoal impregnated with a silver iodide solution emits thousands of sparks, each of which produces millions of silver iodide particles. In the sky, the particles serve as nuclei upon which super-cooled or below-freezing water droplets in a cloud crystalize into snow. The snow may turn to rain dependent upon temperature and humidity of atmosphere near the ground. Laboratory tested thus far, the charcoal-burning generator and others developed, are expected to undergo extensive experimentation in actual weather conditions by the U.S. army signal corps and the office of naval research under the weather program known as "Project Cirrus."

Try New Stunt To Aid Drive Lakefield Arena

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 28.— With the drive for $26,000 for the new Lakefield and District Memorial Arena now well past the half-way mark, a further project is being sponsored this Saturday to raise funds for it.

It will be the appearance in Lakefield of Krikor Hekimian, Armenian strong man, who is expected to draw a large crowd. His feats include pulling a six-and-a-half ton truck, uphill on gravel in his bare feet, with his teeth. Later, relaxing on a bed of ice eating an ice cream cone, he will swim the Otonabee river.

However, a local attraction believed to be creating even more interest is one Hekimian will attempt as a challenge from the village . . . and there are many who doubt that it can be done and will be on hand to watch.

He has accepted a dare to carry Lakefield's genial Police Chief Garnet Samis for a distance—in his teeth. The popular police officer, well-known throughout the area, is one of the largest symbols of law and justice anywhere in Canada. He has agreed to the trial and is non-commital himself as to whether the stunt can be done. The Chief's weight is over 200 pounds.

The trial will take place Saturday afternoon at the Lakefield dock at 3 o'clock.

Britain Resigned To Reassembling Armor

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, Oct. 28 — (CP). — Britain has resigned herself to reassemble the armor she cast aside hurriedly after the war.

Keynote for the country's new feeling was struck by Field-Marshal Viscount Montgomery at a recruiting drive, before he resigned as Chief of the Imperial General Staff to head the Western European union's five-power Military Committee.

"While I do not want to stress the danger of war, I do not want to underplay it," he said. "I just want to say: Let us be secure whatever happens."

Britain has a triple task—protecting British Isles against attack, playing a dominant role in the rearming of Western Europe, and sharing the responsibility for over-all Commonwealth defence. In all three phases, the main factor is time.

Years from now, Britain may have a strong Territorial Reserve Army of men who have served up to two years in the Regular Army under the peacetime conscription regulations. But at present this force is in the earliest stages of organization.

Take Precautions

The official view is that war is not imminent. However, that feeling has not prevented the government from taking these precautions:

1—The over-all demobilization program has been slowed down; the service period for conscripts has been extended from 12 to 18 months; and a full-dress recruiting campaign for the Regular services has been started.

2—Production of equipment for all services is being increased.

3—The Navy is taking "out of wraps" hundreds of vessels put into reserve after the Second World War ended.

4—The Pacific Fleet is being doubled to a strength of two aircraft carriers, four cruisers, 12 destroyers, and an undisclosed number of submarines.

5—The biggest military exercises since VE-Day have been held by the three armed forces.

6—Construction of air, land and sea bases in Kenay, East Africa, to convert that colony into the strategic nerve centre of the Commonwealth, is being speeded.

7—New civil defence plans are being worked out, to protect the population in event of an enemy air attack.

500,000 Under Arms

Best estimates are that Britain will have more than 800,000 men under arms at the end of this year—about 80,000 more than was planned before international tension put the country back on guard. This is a long way from the 4,500,000 in mid-1944, but 60 per cent more than in 1939. The Army then was about one-third its present size. However, military critics claim it was in a better state of readiness then than now. The steady inflow of 18-year-old conscripts, most of whom serve less than two years, requires widespread employment of seasoned veterans for training purposes.

The RAF finds itself short of men and has eased its enlistment requirements. It is also keeping aircraft up-to-date, equipping squadrons with jet fighters and experimenting with jet bombers. The Navy is slowly building up a long-service force of volunteers.

Mrs. Eber Syer, 90 Is Buried At Ida

CAVAN, Oct. 28 — (ENS) — The funeral of Isobella Syer, widow of Eber H. Syer, took place on October 25 from the residence on the 8th Line of Cavan at two o'clock. Rev. Walter Patterson, pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church, had charge of the service and burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

Mrs. Syer was in her 90th year and was one of Cavan's oldest citizens. She was formerly Isobella Coulter of Newtonville, and her marriage to Eber H Syer took place on October 30, 1889 when she came as a bride to the Syer homestead on the 8th Line of Cavan, where she lived until her death.

She was a member of Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook, and of the Cavan Women's Institute. She retained her faculties and was very active in her home until a short time ago, when she had a fall from which she never fully recovered. On Tuesday she had an attack and she died on October 23

The funeral was attended by many and there were many beautiful flowers and wreaths. One was from the teacher and pupils of SS No. 7 and one from the Women's Institute of Cavan.

Pall-bearers were Alfred and John Coulter, Millbrook, Percy Donaldson, Keene, Stewart Donaldson, Millbrook, W. H. Clegg, Elora, and T. E. Syer, Orono.

Left to mourn are seven children, Ray and Kenneth of Cavan, Herbert of Bailieboro, Dr. G. E. Syer of Milton, and Mrs. W. H. Clegg, Elora, Mrs. Russell Bonner, Millbrook, and Mrs. F. Fry of Peterborough.

Mixed Peel Added To Pound Cake

By MARY MOORE

What made me want to make a pound cake I do not know.... unless it is because I want to start making Christmas cakes, but think it is a bit too early for even me. This pound cake, to which I added mixed peel, is a sort of compromise. Besides—I get away with slicing it thinner than I would an ordinary butter-type cake, so it lasts longer for the school lunches I have to pack.

I did not use butter in this cake, and while the vegetable shortening I did use cost 47c per pound it was a help in the total cost and if I never tasted a better-flavored pound cake all the rest of my life I would be satisfied. I used the new pack of mixed peel that is showing up in the stores for the Christmas trade.

Peel Pound Cake

One cup shortening or butter (do not use lard), 1½ cups white sugar, 5 eggs, 2 cups flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon mace or nutmeg, 1 teaspoon vanilla or almond extract, 1 cup fresh, mixed peel or 1 cup citron peel. Cream the shortening very well, then gradually add the sugar, creaming constantly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating between each addition, until mixture is smooth and creamy. Sift the flour, salt and mace together and add them. Add vanilla and peel. Pour into greased, butter-paper-lined loaf pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for from 660 to 80 minutes.

Without the peel this recipe is for a basic pound cake and the variations are limitless. Up to 1 cup nuts, peel, or fruit may be added.

Cocoanut Pound Cake

You merely add 2-3 cup shredded or dessicated cocoanut to the above recipe.

White Pound Cake (sometimes called Bride's Cake)

Substitute 8 beaten or unbeaten egg whites for the 5 whole eggs in above pound cake. If the whites are fairly stiffly beaten the cake will rise higher and will be more feathery than a standard pound cake.

Honey-Raisin Pound Cake

One cup seedless raisins, 1 cup shortening, 1 cup strained honey, 4 eggs, well-beaten, 3 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ to 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon each vanilla and lemon flavoring, ¾ cup chopped nuts,—preferably walnuts or pecans. Wash raisins, dry them and cut them in halves. Cream the shortening very well by hand or electric beater and gradually add honey, creaming. Add the beaten eggs and beat well. Sift in sifted dry ingredients then beat until perfectly smooth. Add the flavorings, raisins, and nuts and beat smooth. Bake in loaf pan which has been greased, and lined with buttered paper. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. for about 2 hours or until done, and slightly shrunken from sides of pan.

Individual Gold Cakes

Cream one-half cup butter until light and white looking and gradually add ½ cup sugar while creaming thoroughly. Beat in the yolks of 4 eggs, then beat in 3 to 3 1-3 tablespoons heavy cream. Sift twice together the flour (1 cup), ½ teaspoon baking powder and ¼ teaspoon mace, then sift this over the first fixture. Add ½ tablespoon lemon juice and mix until smooth. Bake in buttered and floured muffin tins or fluted tart tins or paper cake cups at 300 deg. Fahr. and when baked sprinkle with powdered sugar. These are lovely little rich and satisfying cakes to serve with fresh fruit for dessert, and keep well.

SMALL AND SMART — After all the moonlight and roses, ostrich feathers and lace, we'll settle for the beautiful, beguiling, artless little hat fashioned of fine fabric deftly manipulated, with the trimming only used because it is an integral part of the design. This designer has taken a hood of grey pewter grey beaver felt and fashioned it into a little peaked bonnet trimmed effectively with pearl-headed pins and a neat little veil.

MADE WRONG CHOICE

Alexander Graham Bell tried to persuade Mark Twain to invest $500 in his telephone invention; instead the author loaned the $500 to a friend who went bankrupt three days later.

Textile Men Find Canadians Like Bright Colors in Homes

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 (CP). — Canadians are fond of bright colors in their homes. They are style-conscious about home-decorating. And they don't hesitate to experiment.

This is what E. F. Evans, director and sales manager of a British domestic textiles firm, found in a two-month tour of Canada to sound out market prospects.

Evans thinks summer sunshine and four or five months of winter snow are the reasons for brightness of Canadian living-rooms and bedrooms and boldness of design.

He has found similar taste for brightness in homes in Australia and South Africa which also bask under sunny skies for long periods.

As well as in homes, this liking for brightness shows up in clothing—women's dresses in particular, he says.

He sums up the whole of it in what he calls a "new, young approach to things, a willingness to try new things out."

Naturally enough, Evans feels that there is a place in the Canadian market for British domestic textiles produced by firms such as his own.

He feels that British designers are old hands at interior decorating and that their products would go over well here because though styles may change, there is a standard of good taste that applies universally.

Startled By Decoration

Some of the interior decorating in North America opened Evans' eyes. In a restaurant where he lunched, he was startled by the size of a rose that was part of the decorative pattern on a wall. He left his lunch companion for a moment, went over to one of the roses and measured it for his personal satisfaction.

But British textile designers do not wait to be startled by new styles, he says. They keep up to, or perhaps set trends, with new designs and style changes.

In their business, there are some things that do not change much. Materials for the Royal Navy, for instance, which have been tested by long experience and have not altered "since the Crimean War," as Evans puts it.

Canadian taste seems to be the same from coast to coast though it may be that in British Columbia "quieter colors" are in favor, says Evans.

The young executive looks at Canada as a country at the door of a burst of development. "Canada is like a coiled spring," he says.

Until he saw Lake Louise he was convinced Rio de Janeiro Harbor was the world's most wondrous natural beauty spot.

"I'm not so sure now," he says.

Suggests Better Laws

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—(CP). — Laws should promote happier marriages rather than extend grounds for divorce, June Ryan told the Provincial Council of Women Wednesday night in the fourth of a series of lectures by women lawyers.

She suggested laws which provided better housing, wages, premarital intelligence, tuberculosis and venereal disease tests, and a counselling education in school for young people.

Enjoy Hallowe'en Dance

A "jolly" time was had in the YWCA Wednesday evening by Overseas Club members and their husbands. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Stevenson opened the dancing and the former acted as master of ceremonies for the evening, with Mr. Larry Hale attending the records. A hilarious incident was when Messrs. Don Porritt and Bernie Morin tied for a novelty dance prize and each was given a biscuit to eat and then whistle a tune. The tie-breaker was won by Mr. Morin who received a package of cigarettes and he then raffled his prize in aid of the club treasury and the final winner was Mr. T. Stanley. Other spot dance winners were Mr. and Mrs. J. McEwen and Mr. and Mrs. C. McPhee. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Clarke entertained with Scotch songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. Killingbeck and Mr. B. Morin also sang during a social hour.

Refreshments were served by Messrs. Liscombe, Hale and Hughes. Welcoming old and new members and their escorts were the president, Mrs. E. A. Killingbeck, Mrs. D. A. Clark and Mrs. C D. Porritt Next meeting will be on November 10.

Yes, Ma'am, and Yes, Sir, too (men are potential Christmas Shoppers) these perky sleeping pyjamas are the perfect answer to a limited Christmas budget. Just imagine giving someone a pair of these dainties that you know can wear a whole year, 365 days.
They are made of exceptionally fine quality "spun rayon". (that's why they look better after each washing) The jacket is full cut with two generous patch pockets and the pants are easy to slip into because we insisted on elastic waist bands.
Two exciting patterns to choose from in three flattering shades of pale blue, dusty rose, and primrose yellow.
Sizes—14 to 20.

EMERALD SILK TAFFETA—Jewel toned pure silk taffetas have always made brilliant evenings more so, but they have been a little hard to come by since the recent war years. Now they are available again, and in department store readymades, too, which, believe it or not, this handsome dress is one of, to put it ungrammatically. The fabric is of a wonderful shade, a buttery softness, with plenty of native gimp to stand out in the winged back drapery which is attached to the trained skirt by a line of puffing. Bodice is wrapped high and taut in the Empire idea, dramatic and fashionable in the latest mode.

Miss A. L. Thomson Presides At Nurses' Dinner

Annual meeting of district 6, Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, was held in the nurses' residence of St. Joseph's Hospital at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Anthony Machalla of Belleville was in the chair. Business of the association was dealt with and officers elected. Miss Steele of Cobourg, supervisor of Northumberland Durham County public health services, was appointed district chairman. Miss A. L. Thomson, superintendent of Peterborough Civic Hospital, is first vice-president, and Mrs. Hilde Ray of Cobourg, industrial nurse at the CGE plastic factory, will be secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

A dinner followed the meeting, served in the Empress Hotel, with 75 present. Tables were decorated in Hallowe'en design with pumpkins and candles. Miss A. L. Thomson, chairman of chapter C presided. Miss Mary Robson entertained with two delightful solos and was accompanied by Mrs. D. Flett.

Miss Madelyn Baker, registrar consultant for the RNAO of Ontario, was the speaker, and gave a most informative talk on "Aspects of Community Nursing."

ELEGANT ENSEMBLE — In the hands of a deft designer, a comparatively small length of fabric or a few pelts become invested with a world of beauty, grace, and original line and detail. So it is with this delightful ensemble consisting of a fur jacket and dress. Both show unmistakably the suave silhouette of today. The jacket is of Persian broadtail and its high-rising collar offers face-framing flattery.

Moore Preceptory Ladies' Night

A most successful ladies' night was held on Wednesday evening by members of Moore Preceptory Knights Templar in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. Following the dinner, the presiding preceptor, G. Wilson Craw, welcomed the ladies on behalf of the members, and then conducted a series of draws for door prizes, the winners being Mrs. Ian McRae Mrs. William Ovens and Mrs. Arthur Legon. Several games of bingo, which were conducted by E. C. Williams, and these were followed by a delightful musical program. Two groups of solos were sung by Mrs. Dorothy Goldie and Mr. Donald Londry. A junior quartette from the Salvation Army Band was heard in four beautifully rendered numbers, and piano duettes were played by Charles Allen and Loris Daykin. The entire musical part of the program was in charge of Mr. Allen.

Presentations of the door prizes were made by Mrs. Craw, while the bingo prizes were presented by Mrs. Ovens. Prize winners were Mrs. Alex Gibson, Mrs. Fred Revoy, Mrs. James Downing, Mrs. Stanley Richardson, Mrs. H. M. Yelland, Mrs. T. J. Doughty, Mrs. Charles Elliott, Mrs. Reginald Moore, Mrs. Eric Edmondson, Mrs. C. V. Elliott and Mrs. K. W. Griffin of Lindsay. The committee in charge of the arrangements were L. H. Bearne Arthur Legon and E. C. Williams.

St. Paul's MA Club Held Delightful Hallowe'en Tea

Jack-o-lanterns winked merrily at tea guests in St. Paul's Church parlors Wednesday afternonn and their good humor was reflected in the charming hospitality shown by WA hostesses. Even the darkly garbed witch brooding over her "pot" seemed to have a friendly expression. To find out what she might be "brewing," however, meant contributing a fee that entitled the inquisitive one to unwrap a small parcel that was apt to contain anything from potholders to pictures.

A particularly pleasing practice of this club is to present the new baby of any member with a layette. Typical articles for boys and girls were displayed at the tea and they are really lovely. In addition to swarm flannel nighties and such like they get pink or blue hand-knitted sweater and bonnet sets and a daintily smocked dress or pair of rompers.

Quartette tables accommodated visitors nicely, each lighted by an orange and black candle set in a silver holder. The hostesses in attendance were Mrs. F. C. Whitton, Mrs. Ross Latimer, Mrs. H. A. Brumwell, Mrs J. H. Hewitt, Mrs H T. Fredericks, Mrs. L. G. Owen, Mrs. R. Cochran, Mrs. C. A. Grant, Mrs. G. Wilson, Mrs. Jos. Grierson and Mrs. F A. Montgomery. Mrs. P. E. Dyer replenished plates for them

Pouring the tea at a large table were past presidents, Mrs Geo. Coleman Jr., and Mrs. Donald Davidson, assisted later by Mrs. W. Andrew and Mrs. Les Reid. Glowing features of the two-faced pumpkin in the centre came from a candle inside, and flanking crystal holders without held black and orange tapers. Grapes, apples and pears represented the bounties of the season. Candlelight flickered on the gleaming silver at each end of the lace-covered table.

Jams and jellies sparked the array of tempting home cooking set out on a gaily printed Hallowe'en table cloth. Salesladies were Mrs. G. Minty, Mrs. R. Perry and Mrs. D. Amos. The "witch's pot" in deep orange and black draping was attended by Mrs H. B. Cowan Jr.

Mrs. C. G. Boyd assisted the president, Mrs. Ross Curtis, to receive, and Mrs. H. Davidson and Mrs T. McMillan looked after registration. General conveners were Mrs. Les Reid and Mrs. H. Watson and the table arrangements were by Mrs. D. Snelgrove and Mrs W. Andrew.

FORMAL ELEGANCE—In this photograph we have a broadtail cape with fox banding; a terrific diamond clip and notable diamond earrings; and a reverse ostrich (he has refused to bury his head) in a "wig" dinner hat of white feathers edged with silver. The whole outfit looks smart over a sleek crepe dinner gown with futuristic pannier skirt, ready for the formal season which will soon be upon us.

Typical Woman Gets 3-10ths Coat 2½ Slips Yearly

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(CP).—If you are the typical woman whose purchases are reflected in the Bureau of Statistics cost-of-living index, you buy three-tenths of a winter coat each year and 1½ housedresses.

You don't buy any afternoon frocks or evening gowns.

The prices commission engaged in a brief study of part of the cost-of-living index today. F. H. Leacy, a Government statistician, explained that it contains a subgroup of women's wear. He presented a list of the items going into it and their proportionate "weights"—the value each is given in working out a composite total.

The sub-group includes one-fifth of a spring coat, on the theory that women are likely to wear their spring coats five years. It also includes 2½ rayon slips, 10 pairs of rayon stockings, three pairs of stockings of "woollen mixture," five rayon panties, one pair of panties made of a "woollen mixture," seven-tenths of a cotton nightgown and 1 3-5 of a rayon nightgown.

Commission counsel H. A. Dyde queried the absence of "some articles we usually think of as women's clothing." Mr. Leacy explained that the purchases in the women's clothing sub-group were based on a survey the bureau made in 1938 of the purchases of a carefully selected 1,500-family sample of the population.

"We've added refrigerators, radios and washing machines," he remarked of the list as a whole.

Meddling of Mothers-in-law Wreck Children's Homes

That mother-in-law are charter members of the home-wrecking crew, has become such an accepted belief that probably the highest matrimonial recommendation any youth or maiden could offer would be a certificate that they arrived in the world via the stork express and had no female relatives whatever.

Dorothy Dix

Unfortunately, there are just enough mothers-in-law who are trouble-makers to justify this theory. There is the possessive mother who cannot bear to give up her darling little boy to any girl, and who harps upon his wife's faults until she makes Sonny feel that he has been gypped and taken in by an adventuress.

And there is the bossy mother who runs her daughters home and who decides every detail of her life, and leaves to the poor young husband no privileges, except that of paying the bills

And there is the oracle mother-in-law who always knows best. And the mother-in-law who worms all of the family secrets out of her children and then blabs them around the neighborhood until she turns a husband and wife argument into a scandal.

Big Difference

But, on the other hand, there are myriads of good mothers-in-law who mind their own business, who handle their in-laws with tact, and who are an ever-present help in times of trouble. The difference between ministering angels and she-devils is no greater than that between good mothers-in-law and bad mothers-in-law.

This being true, nothing is stranger in the whole mother and child relationship than that women so seldom realize the kind of mothers-in-law they make determines, to a large extent, how their children's marriages turn out.

Boys and girls, for instance, know little about human nature. They have been in the habit of taking their opinions from Mother, and what she says about their mates still goes with them. Mama either builds up their husbands and wives or pulls them down. Many and many a marriage goes on the skids because Mother knocks the props from under it. With her fault-finding and criticisms she makes John dissatisfied with Arabella, or Sally feel that she has thrown herself away on George, and it is all over then except a decree absolute.

Nor can anyone doubt that mothers-in-law are first aid to divorce by their helping on every squabble that husbands and wives have and turning every little sparring match into a fight to the death. Being human, every married couple are bound to have their difference of opinions and go to the mat with them on occasions. If left to themselves, they will kiss and make up and forget it. But with their respective mothers-in-law taking sides and pitying poor John because his wife is such a bum cook and weeping over Clarissa because the poor darling can't have a fur coat, they can smash a marriage into so many pieces it can never be put together again.

Also, mothers-in-law could put the divorce courts out of business by rearing their children to be good husbands and wives; to take marriage on the chin and stand by their obligations, instead of quitting cold on them; to act like intelligent adults and not spoiled brats. There is nothing in the world stranger or more pitiful than that so many parents are bringing up the kind of future husbands and wives they never want their own children to marry. YESTERDAY'S JEWEL BOX—One of the prettiest of the many pretty fashions of yesteryear is stone set enamel jewelry, at once demure and arresting. This mode has been revived in some attractive pieces including this set in ebony enamel in a medallion motif which is framed in gold and rhinestones. The enamel medallion is repeated on the wide gold band of the bracelet and appears in miniature on the dainty earrings.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, October 29

Although there may be a dominant urge to indulge the personal activities and aspirations of life, on this day, with yearnings toward social, domestic, and romantic doings, yet it is probable that there are to be scant satisfactions or pleasures in this direction. Several adverse aspects prevail, making it a day of disruptions, estrangements, unlooked-for events in which all matters—business, financial, professional and personal—may be considered fitful or "topsy turvy." Maintain honesty and high purpose, but postpone major plans until more harmonious and fertile auspices.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find their affairs, business and private, unlikely to develop along cherished lines, plans and high objectives. Sudden and strange influences may affect the most carefully and happily designed programs, with an unforseen turn probably precipitating separations, explosive crashes, estrangements, or other surprising and disruptive twists and patterns. The situation is neither pleasant, profitable nor constructive. Postpone action and romantic dreams until more propitious time. Adhere to principle and integrity.

A child born on this day while possessing many refinements, aspirations, and worthy ambitions, may lean toward the erratic, emotional and dramatic, with unhappy reactions on its life.

BENHOLM, Kincardineshire, Scotland, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Two sisters who loved a garden in their childhood have left £10,000 ($40.000) for its preservation.

The Misses Jane and Diana Myers were the daughters of a former minister of Benholm, Rev. A. S. Myers. His garden was a show place until the family moved away.

Not until they were about 80 years old did the two daughters revisit the garden. They were shocked to find weeds and rank grass where they had imagined flowers. The garden had proved too big for succeeding ministers who, with small stipends, were unable to hire a gardener and had not time to fight the weeds alone.

The sisters, when they wrote their wills, directed that the residue of their estates, estimated at £10,000, should form "The Benholm Manse Garden Trust," and should be used to restore the garden and pay the wages of a full-time gardener.

Ironically, the Benholm manse is no longer used as a minister's residence. The congregations of Benholm and Johnshaven were joined a year ago and a church committee decreed the minister of the joint charge should occupy the manse at Johnshaven.

6—In Memoriams

JONES—In loving memory of my father, James Jones, who passed away October 28, 1944.

He travelled life's journey with courage,
And helped others on its hard way;
He lived out each day in its fullness
With a heart always cheerful and gay.
He laboured, and loved, and was happy
He was my father and friend;
And to me who so well knew him
He was faithful and kind to the end.

—Always remembered by son Herb.

TRUDE — In memory of a dear Wife and Mother, Mrs. W. F. Trude, who passed away one year ago.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break but all in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.

—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.

Revision Court Impotent Reeve Enters An Appeal

NEWCASTLE, Oct. 28.— Newcastle Village Council, which also serves as a Court of Revision, finds itself in the centre of a red hot assessment controversy over the increasing of assessments by as much as 300 per cent. in its equalization program, under consideration for 30 years.

Appeals have been registered against nearly 75 per cent of the buildings in the village, including properties of Reeve George A. Walton and all four members of his council. A large number of the appeals were entered by one home owner, Earl Walton, brother of the reeve, whose assessment on his home was increased from $400 to $1,200, after he had made a small addition to the rear. He appealed all assessments on buildings from $700 to $2,100. Any citizen can appeal another person's assessment under the Act.

The fact that councillors' own assessments have been appealed makes the present Court of Revision impotent, as the Ontario Assessment Act stipulates that no person with an appeal before the court may serve as a member.

Court Adjourns

As a result Reeve George A. Walton had no alternative but to adjourn the session of the Court of Revision to obtain legal advice from either a county judge or from officials of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

Under the new assessment, made by an outsider, F. E. Fenton, Colborne, brought in to equalize after council had refused to accept a previous assessment, all properties have been increased by at least one-third, with some as much as 300 per cent, according to H. C. Bonahon, clerk-treasurer.

Under new equalized system, the total assessment was increased from $304,000 to $465,000, while the first attempt made by the previous assessor increased the total only $7,000. Reeve Walton explained that a levy of 37 mills under the new assessment would raise as much revenue as 56 mills, the present rate, under the old basis.

"We know that inequalities still remain but if the people will bear with council for one year, they will be corrected," promised the reeve, who said that nothing has been done during the past 20 or 30 years to have the assessment equalized.

Discrepant Figures

The clerk explained that one hotel in the village, the assessment of which is being appealed, was increased from $4,000 to $15,000 while the same property was sold for $74,000.

Assessment on Councillor A. W. Glenney's home was raised from $1,100 to $1,700 and on Reeve Walton's home and orchards from $1,700 to $2,400.

Irate property owners contend that the assessor did not visit their properties and that assessment notices were irregular.

"If this new assessment is not accepted the mill rate will be 65 or 70 mills next year," the clerk predicted. He said that $6,000 for a skating rink would mean 20 mills and a grant of $2,500 for a hospital, already approved by the ratepayers, would mean another eight mills.

Legal Advice

"We do not know whether one man can appeal against the assessments on all residential properties and another against all farm buildings as has been done in this case, the appellants stating that their own assessments are too high in comparison with the others," explained Reeve Walton. "We are getting legal advice on this point."

It is understood that the assessor did not visit all properties as claimed, but rather took advantage of the portion of the Assessment Act, which stipulates that he may obtain necessary information by discreet inquiry. By this method, it is contended that the village was saved a substantial amount of money, which would have had to be paid for all such work to have been done.

Report Prices Mixed As Trading Slackens

TORONTO, Oct. 28 — (CP) — Prices were mixed as trading slackened on the Stock Exchange here today. Industrials showed a weaker tone on fractional losses and golds and base metals held steady.

Papers dipped downwards in industrial. Imperial Oil and BA Oil were easier in refining oils and Brazilian Traction and CPR dipper in a weak utilities list.

A few junior golds traded actively for small gains. Nicholson was down and Joburk, Kirkland Lake, Central Patricia and Conwest were ahead in juniors. Hollinger, Kerr Addison, Wright-Hargreaves and La Luz gained in seniors.

Base metals partially recovered Wednesday's losses. Consolidated Smelters was ahead ¼ and Quemont, Eureka, East Sullivan, Silanco and Torbrit advanced. Sheritt, Pend Oreille, Waite Amulet and International Nickel were down.

Reserves Judgment

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate Philp to Nov. 4 on a charge of careless driving against Charles Irish of Coe Hill. Evidence was heard this morning. The charge was laid following an accident on Aug. 21 involving Irish's car and a Ferguson Bus. The accused pleaded not guilty. He was represented by W. J. Arthus Fair.

Fishermen Deputation Protest New Ruling

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 27.—(CP). —Dr. M. Phillips, MLA for Grey North and Rev. A. W. Downers, MLA for Dufferin-Simcoe, are accompanying a deputation of commercial fishermen to Toronto today.

The fishermen are protesting the action of the Department of Lands and Forests in closing the southern portion of Georgian Bay to all fishing from Oct. 25 to the end of the current year. The deputation has an appointment with Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief of the fish and wild life division of the Department.

This Mother Learned What Emergency Lighting Means

Racing through the storm was bad enough. Then came the blinding flash of lightning that plunged the entire area into darkness. But up ahead, a single building stood out like a beacon. It was the hospital . . . and what a relief to find the lights still on.

This hospital was safeguarded against lighting failure, which can happen despite all precautions of utility companies. It was equipped with an emergency lighting system, powered by EXIDE Batteries which instantly and automatically takes over the emergency lighting load when normal sources fail.

What better guide could you ask when selecting a battery for your car? With EXIDE you drive secure in the knowledge of having dependable EXIDE battery power, no matter what the driving conditions.

It pays to visit your EXIDE dealer regularly. He will help you to get the most out of your present battery. Only when you need a new one will he recommend the proper EXIDE to meet the electrical requirements of your car.

TRY AN UNDER GAME BID

THERE is never any hurry about rushing into a game bid after you or your partner had made a call which guarantees the side enough strength for it to reach a game contract. Such a call might be an original suit bid of two, or a response of one more than necessary to a bid of one, or a new suit rebid of one more than necessary, or a minimum bid of a suit named by an opponent. At such a time it usually is best, on your next turn, to find, if you can, some informative call which is below game, in order to give your partner maximum possible information and a chance for you to elicit the same from him.

	♠ 8 7 6 ♥ Q J 9 7 4 ♦ Q 4 2 ♣ 8 6
♠ Q 9 3 2 ♥ 10 5 ♦ 10 9 6 ♣ K J 7 5	N W E S	♠ 10 5 ♥ 6 3 2 ♦ K J 3 ♣ Q 9 4 3 2
	♠ A K J 4 ♥ A K 8 ♦ A 8 7 5 ♣ A 10

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

That was the bidding at one table of a tournament. It was much better than the calling at another table where South had bid 3-No Trumps on his second turn.

The merit of South's rebidding 3-Diamonds, a less-than-game call after the 2-No Trumps, was that it enabled North to bid hearts if he had five or show a spade fit if he had four, without going above the game level; after three from North in either of those suits, South had the option of bidding the game in either just 3-No Trumps or the suit.

The 3-No Trumps got made where it was bid, with nine successive tricks after the club 5 lead. But the 4-Hearts bidders beat them by 20 points when they made their contracts. After drawing trumps, these declarers tried leading toward the diamond Q, then for the diamond split which worked for the discard of a spade on the thirteener; they had still another chance if it had failed, the spade finesse.

Of course an opener of 2-No Trumps followed by a 3-Heart response would have brought the same winning contract of 4-Hearts, but that is another story.

Tomorrow's Problem

If you got into 6-No Trumps on the South cards of this deal, how would you seek it after the heart K lead?

HON. GASPARD FAUTEUX, of Montreal, speaker of the House of Commons, is shown during a visit to Bavaria being greeted by children in native Ukrainian costume at a Displaced Persons camp. Most were brought as slave labor in Germany by the Nazis, but now refuse to go home to eastern Europe because of their fear of Communist persecution.

Youth Group Organized At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Oct. 28—(ENS) — The parish hall of St. Thomas' Anglican church was the scene on Monday evening, when more than 40 young people of the three churches of the community met to effect organization of a Young Peoples' Union.

Ministers of the three churches, Rev. Walter Patterson, of Grace Presbyterian, Rev. George McQuade, of St. Andrew's United, and the rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, were in attendance, the latter taking the chair.

Elected officers include: President, Don Spicer; vice-president, Jean Smith; secretary, Edith Elson; treasurer, Donald Thompson; publicity convener, Pauline Kennedy. Conveners of departments will be appointed at a later gathering.

Monday nights, alternating in the three churches of the village, were chosen for the time and place of meeting, the parish hall to be again the gathering place next Monday evening. After his election, Don Spicer took the chair, a sing-song was held under Jean Smith's leadership, with George Ingham at the piano.

This is the first time that a community young peoples' organization has been undertaken locally.

Medieval Customs Continue In Strange British Rents

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, Oct. 29 — (CP). — In no other country in the world are so many rents paid in such curious ways as in Britain.

Every year the Duke of Marlborough delivers to the King a small flag of white satin emblazoned with fleurs-de-lis as token rent for his rich Blenheim estate in Oxfordshire.

On the anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo each year the Duke of Wellington hands the King another flag— a miniature French tricolor—as "rent" for his estate of Strathfield Saye, Berkshire. The estate was originally bought by the British nation for £263,000 ($1,052,000) as a gift to Napoleon's conqueror.

It costs only a few pounds each year to have these small flags made. But the "service" rents on which some famous properties are held from the Crown make even smaller demands on their owners' pockets.

A snowball is the token rent paid to the King by the Lairds of the Scottish estate of Fowlis. The rental snowball must be obtained under terms of the family charter, from the mountain slopes of Ben Wyvis, and is payable in midsummer.

Ivory Cup for Kings

The Marquis of Ailesbury owns Savernake Forest, Wiltshire, on condition that whenever the King goes hunting there, the Marquis must present him with an ivory cup.

Kidwelly Castle, one of the oldest in Wales, is held on condition that the King is furnished with the services of a knight in full armor when visiting in the district.

The Duke of Atholl must pay a white rose to the Sovereign as rent for his Scottish estate.

Strangest tenure on which any British property has ever been held was probably that of Sauchiemuir Castle in Scotland. It was granted by King James IV. of Scotland to Sir James Murray on condition that he provide drink once a year for a ghost.

The ghost was that of the King's grandmother, said to return to the banqueting hall every New Year's Eve to drink "three glasses of her favorite port."

Not until the castle was burned down a few years ago did the custom of putting out wine for a thirsty ghost cease to be observed.

Had Weak Nervous Stomach Limbs, Back Pained Badly

"Got Bad Headaches. Had No Energy To Do My Work." Says This Woman: Tells Of Grand Relief After Using Syntona Herbal Compound.

MRS. ELEANOR LYONS

To persons who suffer from stomach disorders, constipation, nervous irritability, fatigued, run-down feeling or aches and pains throughout the body, this message will be of special interest. It is typical of men and women who have found prompt, effective relief by using Syntona Herbal Compound and comes from Mrs. Eleanor Lyons, 405 King Street East, Hamilton, Ont.

"I suffered from a weak, nervous stomach for several years and my entire system had become run-down," said Mrs. Lyons. "Gas pains, indigestion and sour acid risings after my meals was almost a daily occurrence for years. I got bad headaches and my back and limbs pained very badly. By the end of many days my nerves would be so on edge I couldn't sleep, and I constantly felt fatigued and worn-out and had no energy to do my work.

"After trying everything I knew of without getting any better, I heard about Syntona, so I got some and began using it. From my first bottle my stomach felt more settled and I could eat better. As I continued taking it, more and more I could feel the benefits that I was getting. Now I eat all my meals without any discomfort afterward, my nerves are calmed down so I enjoy sound, restful sleep and the aches and pains are relieved for the first time in years. As a result I feel more energetic and built-up and am able to do my work without tiring as I did before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too.—(Advt.)

J. L. Ilsley Resigns From House

To Call By-Election December 20 In Carleton Riding

OTTAWA, Oct. 29. — (CP).— Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today the resignation of Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley as a Member of Parliament and said a by-election will be held Dec. 13 in Mr. Ilsley's Nova Scotia seat of Digby-Annapolis-Kings.

He confirmed that he will meet George Drew, newly-elected leader of the Progressive Conservative Opposition, next Monday and indicated a by-election may be called for Dec. 20 in Carleton riding, now being vacated, to open a seat for Mr. Drew.

If he were asked, he said, he would advise the Liberals not to contest the Carleton seat, which is predominently Progressive Conservative. It is being vacated by Russell Boucher, who has held the seat for the official Opposition since 1940.

At the same time, he said, a contest will be held in the Quebec constituency of Laval-Two Mountains before the next session of Parliament. That seat become open when Liguori Lacombe, Independent, was appointed a Quebec magistrate this summer.

No Too Grave

Meeting the reporters today he made this pronouncement:

The international situation is "grave" but none of those he talked with during his recent trip to London felt there was any immediate danger of a "fighting war."

Mr. Ilsley resigned the justice ministry last June 30 to return to private law practice. He now is a member of a Montreal firm of lawyers.

A member of the Commons since 1926, Mr. Ilsley was Canada's finance minister during the Second World War.

He became minister of national revenue in 1935 and switched to the finance portfolio in 1940. After serving through the balance of the war in that tough post, he moved over to the less strenuous justice ministry late in 1946 for health reasons.

80 MPH Race Ends As Car Upsets

Catch Two Others Fleeing Up Tracks; Have Stolen Car

COBOURG, Oct. 29—(Staff).— Four Montreal men were captured in this area this morning following an 80-mile-an-hour highway chase and fast action by Provincial Police who flashed word by radio.

The four are Real Darveau, Jean Vincent, Rene Lesperance and Jean Coulombe. They have been charged with vagrancy today, pending further details from Montreal police authorities regarding theft of the car in which they were travelling.

The first step of the morning's work came about 10.30 when a parked car was spotted on No. 2 Highway near the north edge of Cobourg. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine, acting on a 'hunch,' passed the car, then returned and pulled up alongside it to investigate.

Two Men In Car

There were two men sitting in the car and the officer noticed two others running up the highway and later going east on the CNR railway tracks which run through the town.

The two in the car pulled away when the black-and-white police cruiser approached and roared off in the direction of Port Hope. Their speed at times, was in the 80-mile-an-hour range.

The pursuing police radioed District Headquarters No. 8 of the Provincial Police at Peterborough. The message alerting cars in the Cobourg area went out at one. Attention was also given to the two men who were escaping on foot.

The car overturned in the east end of Port Hope at Helm Bend, which it was trying to round. Constable Erskine arrested the two in it as they emerged from the upset vehicle.

In the meantime, Provincial Constables Donald Nicols and Harry Wilson in Cobourg gave chase to the pair racing along the railway tracks. They captured them at the D'Arcy street crossing in Cobourg.

Operations at Cobourg were directed by Prov. Cpl. Douglas Wilson.

Montreal was notified of the capture. At first unaware of the theft, they later confirmed that the car had been stolen in that city.

RT. HON. J. L. ILSLEY has resigned as a member of parliament and acting Prime Minister St. Laurent said a by-election will be held December 13 in the Nova Scotia seat.

Drew To Seek House Seat In Carleton

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—(CP). — George Drew, newly elected leader of the National Progressive Party, has an appointment with Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent next Monday to discuss the date for a by-election in the Ontario riding of Carleton.

It is in that historically-Conservative centre that he'll seek his first seat in the House of Commons, probably some time before Christmas.

Sitting member for the constituency, Russell Boucher, announced Thursday night he will resign to make way for the new P.C. leader, who, he is convinced, will be the next prime minster of Canada.

Mr. Boucher's announcement followed a meeting of the executive of the party association in the riding. A. D. McKenzie of Toronto, president of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association, accepted the invitation on behalf of Mr. Drew.

Famous Riding

Two famous Conservatives made their bid for a Parliament seat in Carleton. They are Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Robert L. Borden. Sir John, Conservative prime minister of the day, contested and won in Carleton in 1882 and 1887. Sir Robert was its representative from 1908 and 1911.

Mr. Boucher, a magistrate of Russell and Carleton counties from 1930 to 1935, won the seat in a by-election in 1940. He was returned to office in 1945 by a margin of 5,607 votes.

Date of the new by-election depends on the government. It can take place before Christmas if a writ is issued for organizational Castonguay, chief electoral officer, requires 40 days after the writ is issued fo organizational purposes.

However, it is expected that the government will issue a writ without delay on the principle that the leader of the official Opposition should have a seat in the Commons. The next session of Parliament is expected to open in January.

Ships And Cars Piling Up As Eastern Canada Still In Grip Of Dense Fog

Thieves Strike Hard In Toronto Area; Plane Trips Cancelled And Boats Tie Up Along Welland Canal

By The Canadian Press

Fog-bound eastern Canadians groped their way about again today as the misty shroud which enveloped almost half the continent Thursday night showed no signs of decamping. Tug captains were busy towing grounded freighters from shoals but airline pilots sat it out when dense fog banks obscured landing fields and forced cancellation of regular flights.

The Canada Steamship Lines freighter Meaford was sitting on a shoal near Cornwall waiting for a tug and barge to arrive to remove some of the 3,000 tons of coal in her hold so she could be floated free. Another barge and the tug that was towing it grounded at Braddocks Point near Rochester, NY, harbor. The barge crew of nine men were waiting to be taken off by another tug which was delayed by the fog.

Nineteen ships were forced to moor along the Welland Ship Canal and in the outer harbor at Port Colborne. Traffic through the canal halted at 7 p.m. when visibility became poor.

Freighter Collision

A French cargo ship collided in the St. Lawrence, 70 miles from Quebec, with a Portuguese freighter which was riding at anchor.

At Malton airport in suburban Toronto Trans Canada Airlines officials said planes which were grounded all morning would resume normal schedules this afternoon. It was likely however, they would be grounded again this evening when the fog rolled back. All TCA flights from Toronto were cancelled last night at five o'clock. Visibility was zero this morning at Malton but Trenton, Ottawa and Montreal reported visibility was sufficient for flying.

Dense clouds of fog which made motor driving hazardous were responsible for scores of traffic accidents throughout Ontario and Quebec. In larger cities police reported an outbreak of petty

Chevrier Says Balkans Try To Keep Tension

PARIS, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier today charged Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania with "an uneasy conscience" concerning Greece and with making a "strong and determined effort" to maintain a tense international situation there.

Chevrier spoke in support of the joint resolution by the United Kingdom, United States, France and China to extend the life of the United Nations special commission on the Balkans. The committee is investigating charges of aid to Greek guerrillas by Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

The Canadian delegate addressed three questions to "Messrs Bebler, Vishinsky and company": (Alex Bebler of Yugoslavia and Andrei Vishinsky of Russia).

"1. Why did Poland and the U.S.S.R. refuse to accept an invitation to appoint representatives on the committee on the Balkans?

"2. Why did the Balkan countries refuse to co-operate with the committee?

"3. And why did these countries refuse to open their frontiers to observation groups as recommended in a resolution of the General Assembly Oct. 21, 1947?"

The assembly created the body to help interested governments find a solution to the Greek problem, Chevrier said. But Greece was the only country which welcomed the committee in the spirit of the assembly recommendations by opening its frontiers and giving the necessary information.

Fire Destroys Iron Foundry, 4 Firemen Hurt

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Fleck's Foundry, a three-storey reminder of Ontario's younger days, was a mass of ruins to-day, following a $150,000 fire which Thursday night swept through the historic structure. Four persons were injured.

Ottawa oldtimers say the midtown stone building at 614 Wellington street, about 700 yards west of parliament hill, is as old as Confederation.

Expropriated by the government during the war and leased temporarily to Alexander Fleck, iron products manufacturer, the building was ravaged by flames in a two-hour blaze which broke out early Wednesday night.

Roaring flames set off when sparks from an acetylene torch caught in inflammable material raced through the building and within 30 minutes had reached the tin roof. It collapsed and 50-foot flames lighted up a red sky which could be seen by Ottawans a mile from the fire.

Twelve persons, working on the nightshift of the plant, escaped without injury. However, one fireman, climbing a 30-foot ladder, fell to the ground and was rushed to hospital suffering spinal injuries, cuts to the hands and face.

UN Accepts Canadian Plan Sanctions Go To Sub-Group

PARIS, Oct. 29—(CP).—The United Nations Security Council today accepted a Canadian plan to turn over the hot issue of sanctions in Palestine to a sub-committee. Meanwhile unconfirmed reports circulated that President Truman had withdrawn United States support for economic pressure to stop the Holy Land war.

Authoritative sources here said the President told State Secretary Marshall the United States would not support a British-Chinese resolution calling on the Holy Land combatants to withdraw to positions held before the last rupture of the United Nations' truce.

A United States press spokesman said he knew nothing of this report.

(In Washington, the United States State Department would not comment. Similarly, aides of the President, in New York on his campaign tour, declined to comment.)

The sub-committee to study the sanctions resolution from Britain and China was set up without a formal vote, but with Russia and the Soviet Ukraine abstaining. The sub-committee plan had been proposed by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada.

Would Force Withdrawal

The Anglo-Chinese resolution would have the effect of forcing Israel to withdraw from positions in the Negev desert she won

Labor Publishes New Steel Bill

LONDON, Oct. 29—(CP)—The Labor government today published a Nationalization Bill under which 300,000 workers in 107 of Britain's greatest iron and steel firms will become state servants and £300,000,000 worth of invested capital will be brought under state control.

The Attlee administration faces perhaps its biggest parliamentary battle since it took office in 1945, but political observers say the bill is sure to pass because of Labor's huge majority in the House.

Companies to be taken over by the state are those which produce 50,000 tons or more of iron ore annually and those producing more than 20,000 tons of pig iron, ingot steel, or hot-rolled products.

Shareholders are to be compensated by the issue of "British Iron and Steel Stock" equal—in the opinion of the treasury—to the value of steel shares on the general date of transfer. The market value of government securities around that date will be taken into consideration.

Under the steel bill, existing managements will remain in charge of nationalized firms, working under a government holding corporation. The firms will retain their own names.

Britain Ready To Grant Aid

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 —(CP)— The New York Times says in a news story today that Britain is ready to grant financial aid to other European countries beyond next July when her present payments agreements with those countries run out.

Michael L. Huffman, writing from London, quotes Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, as his authority. The story continues:

"Under such a program, he said, Britain would expect to grant financial aid to other participants in the European Recovery Program in sterling, in the same manner that the United States granted aid to Britain and other participants in dollars.

"He emphasized, however, that, just as the United States expected recovery to reduce the need for dollar aid, Britain expected her partners in the E.R.P. to manage with progressively less aid from Britain."

Hoffman said that under the first European payments accord that takes effect Nov. 1, Britain will make grants to a net amount of £71,000,000 ($284,000,000) to other European countries.

Driver Dies Instantly As Car Strikes Pole

TILBURY, Oct. 29—(CP)— Arthur Joseph Montpetit, 36, was instantly killed when his automobile grazed a telephone pole, rolled over and came to rest on its top, off Highway 2, near Comber sideroad today.

Mrs. Olive Hamlin, also of Tilbury, is in hospital suffering from a possible skull fracture, a broken leg and arm. Her condition is not critical.

Ernest (Nails) Daigneau, and Mrs. Mary Palmer, 23, both of Tilbury and also in the car, escaped with superficial cuts and scratches.

Montpetit's car was wrecked beyond repair.

Avoided School After Injury

GALT, Oct. 29. — (CP). —Mrs. E. M. Holtzhauer, mother of the slain Mrs. Emma Pohl, whose strangled body was found near Ayr., Ont., Monday, told today why her daughter was unable to read or write fluently.

She said a year after the family moved to Preston, from Neepawa, Man., the girl had her right foot injured when it was caught in a wheel, and two toes were amputated. (This peculiarity was the means of her identification when her badly-decomposed body was found.)

Mrs. Holtzhauer said that as a result of her injury Emma missed a good deal of schooling and became discouraged because she was so far behind her companions. She finally refused to attend school at all.

Oshawa Prophet Ignored By U.N.

OSHAWA, Oct. 29—(AP)—A 56-year-old carpenter who believes he has the key to the world's problems returned home Thursday after the United Nations refused to listen to his plan for a new world.

But David Boire remains undaunted. It isn't the first time he's been rebuffed by world leaders.

He flew to Paris to try to interest the U.N. Assembly in his plan for partitioning Palestine into nine subdivisions with a 50-square-mile area for the "Lord's seat of government" in the centre of the country.

Now he is awaiting a visa to visit Israel to present his plan to the Israeli Government.

He has claimed the title of "King David I" ever since a vision he received 23 years ago. As a result of the vision he says it is "my mission to show the world how it can live at peace."

King Studies Strange Rites Observed In Australia

LONDON, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Strange rites and customs observed by native races of Australia and New Zealand are being studied by Buckingham Palace officials in preparation for the Royal tour of Australia and New Zealand next year.

The King has asked for a comprehensive report on current conditions in the two countries and of any native customs and ceremonies requiring special recognition.

Similar data was prepared for the Royal tour of Canada in 1939 when representatives of many Canadian Indian tribes were presented to the King and Queen.

Preparations for the tour, starting Jan. 27 when the King and Queen and Princess Margaret sail from Davenport aboard HMS Vanguard, involve vast clerical work, laying radio land lines, learning native languages, planning routes, issuing postage stamps, ordering clothes and choosing personnel.

Four marine sergeants—burly six-footers—have been chosen as the King's "shadows". They will travel ahead of the Royal party, checking arrangements and seeing that the route is kept clear.

Chef Recalled

Special menus will be prepared en route by Mark Pinfield, a former chief steward of the Royal Navy, who has been appointed caterer for the tour. Pinfield was recalled to the navy at the request of the King and Queen, for whom he acted as caterer during the South African trip.

Cooking will be done by a highly-qualified staff including two former hotel chefs, an exminer and four ex-barmen members of the Royal Air Force.

Radio-telephone units are to be used on Australian railways for the first time during the tour. Receivers and transmitters will be installed on the Royal train and on the accompanying pilot train and there will be intercarriage communication throughout.

Cancel Monday Layoff Of 3,500 At Oshawa

OSHAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP) — A general lay-off of 3,500 men at the Oshawa plant of General Motors, expected Monday, has been cancelled, it was announced today by J. B. Highfield, general manager of the manufacturing at the plant.

The proposed layoff was blamed on a shortage of parts supplied by McKinnon Industries in St. Catharines. A basis for settlement of the strike, which has lasted five months, was reached today by the policy committee of Local 199 of the UAW (CIO) and management. Settlement proposals have still to be approved by union members.

Mr. Highfield said today the Oshawa plant will operate as much as possible with the stock on hand, and has postponed an inventory-taking period.

Arab Pressure Grows

TEL AVIV, Oct. 29—(AP)— The Israeli army said today the force of Arab attacks on the central and northern Palestine fronts had increased in the last 24 hours and the Jews have given up some ground.

St. Laurent Doesn't Care If 'British' Used Or Not

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent said today that while all countries of the Commonwealth recognize allegiance to the King "it doesn't make much difference whether we have the word British or whether we don't."

He told a press conference that Canada—actually himself—made no objection to omission of the word from the final communique on the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London.

His expressed views arose out of a series of questions that began with one about whether he throught India would remain in the Commonwealth.

Mr. St. Laurent said he didn't like to take the role of prophet but he hoped "that the close association of those of us in the Commonwealth will continue."

After talking with Prime Minister Nehru in London, he felt that Mr. Nehru "shares the hope that it will be possible for the autonomous Asiatic nations—India and Pakistan—to remain close to the members of the Commonwealth."

Mr. St. Laurent said that until now the Crown had been the symbolic link. There had been suggestions that some countries could have a republican form of government internally while their presidents could be the representative of the King for external purposes.

Whether such a proposal would be satisfactory to India "I can't say."

From there the subject turned to the word British. Mr. St. Laurent said the topic had never come up in his presence at the conference.

The communique had been drafted and read to the delegates by Prime Minister Attlee. "We all agreed to it."

Ex-Royal Rifles CO Dies Of Hunting Injury

RIMOUSKI, Que., Oct. 29— (CP)—Lt.-Col. J. A. Sullivan of Quebec, 52-year-old former commander of the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Rifles of Canada, was fatally wounded Thursday night as he started out on a hunting trip.

The accident occurred near Lake Le Chasseur, in Matapedia district, while Col. Sullivan removed his rifle from an automobile.

Companions drove him to a nearby camp for attention by a doctor but Col. Sullivan was dead of the stomach wound by the time the camp was reached.

Gas Tanks Explode Driver Hurled Out

OAKVILLE, Oct. 29 — (CP).— Jack Swerdsegger, 27-year-old Woodstock truck transport driver, was hurled from the cab of his truck by the explosion of two gasoline tanks following a collision early to-day on the Queen Elizabeth Highway with a second transport.

Dense fog covered the highway at the time of the accident. Driver of the second transport, Thomas Williams, 65, of Toronto, was turning on to a sideroad when the accident occurred. Swerdsegger was taken to hospital here with severe facial cuts and a possible skull fracture

Say Stalin Attack On West Prompted By Fear Of Harsher World Opinion

3 Powers Deny Charges Berlin Agreement Violated By Representatives; France Only Power Not Target Of Attack

PARIS, Oct. 29—(AP).—United Nations sources said today Prime Minister Stalin's attack Thursday on the Western Powers may have been promoted by a fear that world opinion is turning against the Russians more than ever since the Berlin blockade. The three Western Powers denied Stalin's charge that an agreement on the Berlin case had been violated by British and United States representatives. The charge was seen here as an attempt to shift the blame for East-West disagreements on to the West.

The United States and France officially denied any agreement on Berlin ever had been reached. A British spokesman in London also entered a denial.

Stalin charged there had been two distinct violations of agreements for settlement of the Berlin issue. Then he launched a lengthy attack on the policy of present British and United States leaders. His remarks were made in answer to questions by a reporter from Pravda, official Russian Communist party newspaper.

A French spokesman said he did not know why France was not a target of Stalin's attack. Western power delegates made it clear all three powers had worked in complete accord on the Berlin case and other issues now befor the U.N. General Assembly.

Some U.N. delegates commented that the statements were the mose defensive ever to come from Stalin.

The delegates added that western policies in U.N. debates apparently were having some effect in the Kremlin.

The Soviet leader has in the past attacked individuals in western countries as war-mongers. His statement Thursday struck at policy leaders.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, United State's deputy in the U.N. security Council, called a special press conference to answer Stalin's charges that agreements on Berlin made this month in Paris had been discarded by Britain and the United States.

Jessup declared flatly "no such agreement existed."

WATCH YOUR HANDS BOYS! That would seem to be sound advice to these two Bonarlaw trappers, Charles Gordanier, Left, and E. C. Colden, Right, who captured these two half-grown brush wolves. The two animals were trapped near Campbellford by Gordanier and his partner Colden who are old hands at bagging wolves. Within the past six weeks they have caught 15.

Craft Admits Firing Two Revolver Shots

KINGSTON, Oct. 29.—(CP).—Austin Craft, 47-year-old Kingston penitentiary convict, on trial for murder in the April 26 prison-break shooting of penitentiary messenger John D. Kennedy, today admitted he fired two revolver shots at the time of his escape but "did not aim at anyone."

Today Craft told the court:

"When I was at the main gate, just before we drove the (Kennedy's) car out, I fired two shots but didn't aim at anyone. In that narrow space the bullets should have hit the wall, but I did not hear them strike."

He said that when he and Urquhart were a few blocks away he put the gun between his legs and fired a shot into the floor boards. Asked by Urquhart why he had done so, he said he was testing the gun to see if anyone had taken the powder out of the cartridges. "The bullet tore a hole in the floor."

Claims Responsibility

Thursday he testified: "I alone am responsible for this accident. But I know in my heart I am not guilty of murder."

He said he had been certified insane during a previous penitentiary term. "There are times when I think there is no question about me being insane," he said.

He told the court he had lived in an orphanage until he was 10. At 15 he was sentenced to 10 years for car theft in the United States and later served two penitentiary terms in Canada.

He got the gun used in the escape "by writing a letter," he said, but did not elaborate.

"I felt if one man could get guns in the penitentiary so could I. Why I wanted a gun, I don't know. I had no plans. I just wanted to be as good as the next guy."

He said the gun was to be used only as a "scarer, to look dangerous."

It was loaded when he received it.

Telegrapher On Trial For Slaying Wife

KAMLOOPS, B.C., Oct. 29 — (CP). — Trial began here Thursday of Harry F. Kissell, 65-year-old retired telegrapher, accused of the June 2 hatchet-slaying of his 85-year-old invalid wife at their home a block from this city's police station.

Two "confessions" made by Kissell while he was being treated in hospital for knife wounds in the throat and wrists were admitted as evidence by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

Constable D. G. Williams testified Kissell had voluntarily said that for the last two years his wife had been asking him to hit her over the head with an axe.

Ontario Government Fixes By-Election Date

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP) — The Ontario Government Thursday fixed Dec. 6 as the date for a by-election in Parry Sound constituency—then called it off when it learned that municipal elections will be held in the area that day.

The cabinet will meet today to reconsider the date for the by-election, caused by the death of Charles Cragg, Progressive Conservative member elected last June.

Premier Kennedy said the Cochrane North by-election, caused by the death of John Carrere, Progressive Conservative, would not be held until next June.

in recent had fighting against the Egyptians.

The resolution calls upon the council to consider the use of economic and political measures against Israel and Egypt if either refuses to withdraw troops in the Negev to positions held Oct. 14, the date the fighting was renewed in the Negev. Egypt, which lost territory to the Jews in the fighting, has agreed. Israel refused.

Britain and China introduced the resolution Thursday with approval by Canada. It was advanced under article 41, chapter seven, of the U.N. Charter, which sets forth U.N. actions "not involving the use of armed force" in combatting aggression. These include breaking economi and diplomatic relations.

Alexandre Parodi of France said he saw no reason why article 41 should be specifically included in the resolution.

U.S. Uses Tanks AgainstGermans

STUTTGART, Germany, Oct. 29.—(AP).—United States Army constabulary forces used tanks and cavalry against Germans Thursday to break up a riot that began when thousands demonstrated against the high cost of living in this American zone city.

It was the first time since the war that Germans had fought with United States troops. Two American military policemen were reported to have suffered minor stab wounds. Twelve demonstrators and at least two German policemen were injured.

The riot followed a meeting of 40,000 workers in a two-hour protest strike. The meeting itself was quiet. But when it broke up, a crowd assembled.

An estimated 100 German policemen tried to stop the outbreak and were met by a barrage of sticks and stones.

An American military police unit which was stationed outside the meeting area moved into action. It was too small, so it withdrew and called for reinforcements.

The constabulary responded with three platoons, including 12 tanks and a cavalry outfit. Their weapons included machine-guns and tear-gas. They succeeded in scattering the demonstrators from the streets without using the weapons.

Divorce Evidence Laws Ensnare Girl

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—Ontario's laws of divorce evidence have made life distressing for a 20-year-old woman now embroiled in crown charges against a Toronto man. She is Mrs. Audrey Watt, tall, slim, and attractive Port Hope girl. She is key witness for the crown against James Craig, Toronto private detective. Craig was committed for trial this week on eight charges of fabricating evidence and inciting witness to acts of collusion in divorce proceedings.

The court case leading to the charges and the preliminary hearing against the detective have had repercussions on Mrs. Watt's life; she lost her job this week, says that appearing in public has been miserable because people stare and she can hear them whispering behind her back. On the street, she notices that people turn to take a second look. The publicity has made her a "marked woman" to the public.

She is "furiously ashamed of herself," he told reporters, and is horrified at the way the evidence she has had to give has wrecked her life.

Wanted "Easy Money"

The reason for her actions in collaboration with the accused detective, she admits, was "easy money." The glitter and glamor of that type of wealth has long since faded for the distressed young woman.

This is the background of Audrey Watt: She was born in Port Hope. As a girl in her 'teens she went to England in care of her family. During the war, she joined the Auxiliary Territorial Service—the women's branch of the British Army. After three month's service, she was invalided out. The barracks in which she was quartered were bombed. Several of her comrades were killed. Audrey wasn't in the barracks at the time, but she helped get the wounded out of the place.

was for some time a patient in a rest home. While she was still under medical care, she met a Canadian serviceman. He was years older than she, but there was glamor in the uniform. They were married.

The marriage didn't work out. In Canada, he was a farmer, a staid, sober, hard-working person. She wanted glamor, excitement, quick money. She refused to live on the farm. Instead, she took jobs modelling, or at whatever else came to hand that promised to be new and different. That way, she became associated with Craig. That way, it looks to Audrey Watt, she lost her chances of a fairly well-paid and interesting career for a few dollars "easy money."

Ignorant of Law

There was nothing mysterious about all this. Mrs. Watt says, in a rather hopeless way, that she was too ignorant of the law to know she was committing perjury when she made affidavits that she had illicit relationships with men seeking divorce. She knows that now. Then, she had been told "she wasn't doing anything wrong." Her involvement, she says, resulted from sheer lack of knowledge, rather than from an effort to cloak an illegal act with secrecy.

Mrs. Watt is far from nonchalant. She describes herself as "high-strung," which is an understatement of her nervous condition. She is bitterly ashamed of the uncontrolled life she has had to parade before the court. In this respect, she says, her concern is more for her family than herself. Her chief personal concern is: How is she going to earn enough money to eat and pay the rent and the doctor? Some day—it seems a long way of in the future—the case of James Craig will have been heard, and she may be free to go her own way. She can then go—she hopes—to some place in which the name of Audrey Watt has never been heard. But meantime, it's going to be a bit tough in Toronto.

U.S. To Reject Russ Demand On Tokyo Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. — (AP).—The United States will reject Russia's demand for an official report on Gen. MacArthur's military conferences at Tokyo with other American commanders.

The State Department made this clear Thursday night in a statement declaring that such talks are held by MacArthur in his capacity as a top United States officer and "are purely routine matters of sole concern to this government."

At the same time, the Department denied that the former Japanese navy yard at Yokosuka is being converted into a modern naval base for American forces in the Far East.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin voiced his demand for an American explanation at a meeting of the Far Eastern Commission Thursday.

The State Department comment, however, was in the form of a public statement, rather than a diplomatic note. So the formal rejection will not be made until the Commission meets again next Thursday in its role as adviser on Japanese occupation problems.

Uses Press Reports

Panyushkin based his demand for information on press reports of a conference MacArthur held in Tokyo Oct. 12-14 with Lt.-Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commanding the Alaskan defences, and Vice-Admiral John L. McCrea, deputy commander of the Pacific fleet.

The Russian ambassador said the subject discussed was "the question of increasing American occupation forces in Japan and that of preparing measures against a surprise attack on Japan —although it is known by everyone that nobody threatens Japan."

In addition to terming the conference of sole interest to the United States, the State Department described as "wholly without foundation" Panyushkin's "implication" that American use of the Yokosuka base is violating Allied agreements.

The base is used only to carry out the objectives of the Allied occupation, the Department said.

Later a navy official said the only thing that has been done to Yokosuka base was to clean it up and make it more sanitary and livable.

thievery as prowlers took advantage of the obscuring fog to break into houses and even to pick pockets.

Several Robberies

A thick blanket of fog over the Toronto area aided crime last night.

A Chinese fruit merchant, George Soo was slugged and robbed of $200 in a lane at the rear of his store.

Thieves forced the bars from a north-central jewellery store and escaped with merchandise to an undetermined value.

In another jewellery store theft, smash-and-grab thieves made off with lighters, cigaret cases and electric razors valued at $150. Two weeks ago, the same shop, owned by Ben Walters was raided by the same method with the loot an estimated $400.

A radio, an electric razor and $50 cash was stolen in another smash-and-grab raid at the Keystone Electric Company by thieves whose getaway was aided by the fog.

Runaway Girl Returns Home

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Lenore Shanhouse, who vanished from Smith College last Monday, collapsed in her mother's arms Thursday shortly after arriving here by plane from Montreal.

The dark-haired, 19-year-old student uttered not a word as she was hustled by her mother and an airline hostess to a waiting automobile that whisked her away.

She was pale and appeared on the verge of tears as she hurried along, stonily ignoring reporters' questions. Once in the car, she collapsed on her mother's lap and broke into sobs.

Earlier, during a plane stop at Syracuse, N.Y., she told reporters "I left college and took a train," she added in a whisper. "I didn't know where I was going. I didn't care."

Miss Shanhouse disappeared from the Smith College campus at Northampton, Mass., Monday. Police in Montreal found her penniless and in tears in a city park late Tuesday night.

Why she left the college was unexplained.

Set Ceilings For Imported Vegetables

New Prices Effective On November 1, Wholesalers Pleased

OTTAWA, Oct. 29—(CP)—Price ceilings for imported tomatoes, lettuce, celery and spinach were announced Thursday night by the prices board. They are effective Nov. 1.

For lettuce, celery and spinach, importing wholesalers may add to their laid-down cost up to 15 per cent on sales to retailers and eight per cent on sales to wholesale distributors and wholesale buyers.

Non-importing wholesalers buying from importing wholesalers may add up to eight per cent. Retailers buying from wholesalers may add 25 per cent. Direct importing retailers may add 30 per cent.

The profit margins on tomatoes: Importing wholesalers to retailers, 20 per cent; importing wholesalers to wholesale distributors or wholesale buyers, 11 per cent; non-importing wholesalers to retailers direct from wholesalers, 30 per cent; direct importing retailers, 35 per cent.

For all these commodities, the announcement said, wholesalers may add four per cent on sales of broken case lots.

"When tomatoes are packaged in consumer packages weighing less than two pounds, an extra one cent a package may be added to the broken-case-lot price. The retailers' mark-up (margin of profit) on these consumer-style packages is limited to 25 per cent. Such packages must be marked with the net weight."

The board said that, to determine average laid-down cost, wholesalers must average the cost of shipments and report in advance to the nearest foods officer of the board.

A spokesman for one large wholesale house said the markups were satisfactory to the trade and permitted a fair margin of profit.

"The ceilings announced are workable and most wholesalers are satisfied," he said.

ONE OF FRANCE'S almost forgotten men is making brief appearances in the spotlight again with the trial of France's Cagoulards (an extremist "ism" wing). He is Edouard Daladier, who was prime minister of France before the war and who was one of the makers of the appeasement pact of Munich. Daladier is a witness at the trial in Paris, where he is shown during one session of testimony.

Few Appeals Entertained At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 29. — (ENS).— Campbellford Court of Revision was held Thursday morning in the council chambers, with Councillors Anderson, Locke, Palliser, Burgess and Nicholas as members. Reeve J. C. Anderson was made chairman and Assessor T. Townsend secretary.

W. A. Peloquin, representing the Campbellford Cloth Co., claimed the assessment on the factory should be reduced from $142,400 to the 1942 level of $116,800. He based his claim on the fact that the building was of the old type. The court recognized the value of the company to the town, but thought the company's assessment was very low in comparison with other properties. On motion of Palliser and Burgess claim was dismissed.

Miss Jessie Lisle claimed her assessment was too high for the conveniences she was getting from the town. She complained of irregular garbage collection, inadequate fire protection and an almost impassable hill leading to her home. The court decided on motion of Nichols and Burgess to leave her assessment as it was in 1948 but to recommend to the council that these conditions be improved.

The court heard complaints from K. A. Robbins similar to those of Miss Lisle's, only Robbins wanted his 5 acres brought under farm assessment. On motion of Burgess and Locke, claim was left standing.

A. D. Tremble told the court he had purchased property under the Veterans' Land Act. The act had compelled him to buy 2 acres, which was more land than he needed. He asked the court to place his land under farm assessment. Claim dismissed.

C. West, proprietor of Woodlawn House, claimed rooming houses of his type were not subject to a business tax. He also claimed he was paying a business tax on a vacant lot, adjacent to his property and owned by him. On motion of Palliser and Locke, the business tax remained on the house but the vacant lot was exempted.

Accountants Hear Splendid Address

Mr. J. Kidner, Comptroller of Canadian Oil Companies Limited, spoke to the members of Peterborough Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants at their meeting this week. His subject was "Cents Elimination."

The speaker pointed out the labour savings and work simplifications which arise when cents are eliminated from certain phases of accounting records. He explained that while it is not practical to extend the practice to all accounts, particularly payables and receivables, many firms have carried the plan successfully to the point of elimination of cents from plant, depreciation, and expense accounts, and from most statistical statements. He outlined the experience of his company in this respect.

Legal To Keep Source Secret

LONDON, Oct. 29 — (CP) — The newspaper man's right to refuse to answer questions about the source of information he had published has been upheld by the Court of Appeal.

The court dismissed an appeal against a lower court decision that immunity based on the right of fair comment was an "umbrella" which protected not only the proprietor of a paper but the writer of a signed article.

The case in question involved a suit for libel against Odhams Press Ltd., sports writer A. J. F. Hoby and Stuart Campbell, managing editor of the sunday newspaper, The People.

The suit was brought by F. T. Lawson and G. F. Harrison, in connection with artticle by Hoby Their statement of claim said he suggested a boxing tournament they were promoting was not genuine, an allegation they denied.

At the initial hearing the judge Permitted Lawson and Harrison to ask: "from whom did you obtain the information on which you relied in writing the said expressions of opinion?"

The defendants appealed to a higher court, which ruled in their favor a decision which was upheld by the Court of Appeal.

9 More Germans Hanged For War Crimes

MUNICH, Oct. 29 —(AP) — Nine more Germans convicted of war atrocities were hanged today.

Today's executions brought to 29 the number of Germans sent to the gallows at Landsberg prison since Oct. 15. A 10th man scheduled to die today won a last-minute stay of execution.

Convicted of slaying fliers were S. S. Lieut. Karkl Hunsisker, 41, S. S. Col. Willy Stemmler, 48; S. S.Co. Heinrich Franue, 49, and S. A. Co. Ludwig Kluettgen, 39.

S. S. Pte. Mathias Frindt, 24, was hanged for atrocities at a Mauthausen sub-camp.

An unusual case among those hanged was that of Julius Straub, 41, a prisoner at a concentration camp who became an S. S. man.

Other hanged for concentration atrocities were S. S. Capt. Kurt Schmutzler, 52, S. S. Sgt. Alois Hollriegel, 39, and S. S. Sgt. Dudof Kein, 27.

The man who won a reprieve was Hermann Dammann, 54, a home-guard leader accused of beating with a rifle butt an unarmed flier who later was given a "mercy shot" by another German.

The army announced that the Judge Advocate General of the European Command felt a late petition filed on Dammann's behalf was "of sufficinet merit" to warrant further investigation.

Cobourg Man Misses Skunk So Animal Ousts Customers

COBOURG, Oct. 29 (ENS). — One of Cobourg's leading duck hunters "led" too much as he fired at and missed a skunk back of his store last night. The storekeeper in question noticed an animal back of his place of business, saw the tell tale white streak and ran for his shotgun. He failed to realize however that due to the great difference in speed between the two, the shotgun "lead" on a skunk is practically nil as compared with a duck. At a range of ten feet he missed by three and the skunk ran for safety underneath the lunchroom kitchen of his store. The ensuing stench particularly in the foggy air which prevailed, rose slowly underneath the entire store and in spite of front and rear doors being left open, customers were unable to weather the gas attack. "It's bad enough withstanding all this smell," said skunk hunter John Ewart, "but what will my duck hunting friends say?"

Dismantling—Or Loot?

The dismantling of German industrial plants as a precaution against German re-armament or as reparation has long needed reconsidering. Britain, France and the United States, the three occupying power in western Germany, have now agreed to a full review of the reparations allocations of German industrial plants. It is one beneficial result of the union of the three zones into one administrative unit.

• • •

The whole matter of reparations, and not only the dismantling of factories, is vexing. France has been stripping and exploiting her zone with a thoroughness scarcely surpassed by the Russians in eastern Germany. France has two motives—the one is to ensure that Germany will not have the industrial capacity to re-arm. The other is to make Germany pay something for what the war cost France—for instance, to re-equip French industry destroyed during the war with the machinery of German factories. The Germans in the French zone have been reduced to sullen desperation by the French policy, according to R. H. S. Crossman, writing in the New Statesman (London). Out of a total revenue of 730 million marks this year, 490 million will be paid to the French in occupation costs and other charges. Large quantities of the food produced in that zone are being handed over to the French—as much as 40 per cent. in some foods. Many small factories which give German people employment and make export possible have been dismantled.

• • •

The Americans have been less and less anxious to have Germany's industry disrupted any more than it is. If the factories are operating, the Germans will be able to pay for some of E.R.P. (by shipping scientific instruments to the U.S., for instance) or at least to partly support themselves. Further, with war-clouds gathering, German heavy industry may be useful to the western democracies, even essential. The British have been sitting on the fence, sympathizing with the French point of view but realizing that a West Germany that is reduced to industrial nonentity will never be self-supporting.

• • •

Another aspect of the situation is commercial—of importance to "big business". Before the war German factories were in competition with British, French and American industry. During and since the war these producers have been free of German competition. In fact, new industries have sprung up or been revived in Britain, France, the U.S.A., and even Canada, to replace German imports. If German industry and trade revives not only will the old competition come into play, but the new industries will be thrown from their cushioned position. Though the British Government has repeatedly stated that British dismantling policy must not be influenced by such commercial considerations, the British Clock and Watch Manufacturers' Association reports that negotiations of one of its principal manufacturers have resulted in "agreement that the German industry is to be reduced to 50 per cent. of the 1938 level".

• • •

Much of the dismantling that has been going on seems to be outright looting, particularly in the French zone. It is high time that the situation was fully assessed.

The Eastern Sun Is Red

The spread of communism in Europe is but a blotch compared with the surge in the Orient. The China of Kiang Kai-Shek is being eaten away by the Chinese communist armies which have made notable territorial gains in their autumn offensive. Burma, an independent nation since last January, is in the throes of civil war — the communists against the national government. Indonesia secured a measure of independence from The Netherlands only to have its nationalist government threatened by communist uprisings. French Indo-China is torn between colonialism and nationalism—and the nationalists are pink. Russian soldiers are being withdrawn from North Korea by the beginning of the year, but already a communist North Korean government is firmly established. South Korea has a newly formed anti-communist government, but it is so dependent on American support that 30,000 American troops are still in occupation.

How largely is oriental communism Russian-inspired and sustained? Are the communists in the east merely nationalists wanting their countries freed from western controls or are they truly communist? If they are communist, what brand—Marxian or Russian? The communist uprisings in Burma and Indonesia against their own nationalist governments show that oriental communism is not merely nationalism. The ability of the communists in China, Korea and Indonesia to secure arms and to wage long campaigns shows that they are getting support from outside—Russian support?

Communism is spreading through the Asiatic half of the world. Is Russia beating the drum in Europe so that our ears will not hear the rumblings in Asia? Is the Berlin blockade a side-show to distract our attention from the Orient?

The Presidential Contest

A great many observers seem to take it as a foregone conclusion that Mr. Dewey will win the presidential election next Tuesday, and have already begun to discuss the probable changes in the domestic and foreign policy of the U.S.A. which will follow his inauguration. Perhaps we are stupid or ill-informed, but we have not yet been convinced that Mr. Dewey will have an easy victory, and it seems to us possible that he may not have a victory at all. It is expected that the Wallace faction will absorb many votes which would otherwise go to Mr. Truman. But will these votes, in so large an electorate, make a great difference? We cannot tell; nevertheless we feel that it is unwise to write Mr. Truman off as a total loss until the ballots have been counted.

It is a fact, however, that since the end of the war conservative governments have been enjoying remarkable luck. The world wants stability, and (perhaps mistakenly) electorates think that stability can be found under the direction of governments which profess extremely cautious policies.

The new president of the U.S.A. will take on that office at the most fateful time in the history of his country since the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln. The United States is the leader of the democracies and the treasurer of the democratic world. To say that Canadians will watch the election on Tuesday with anxiety is to understate the case.

Washington's False Teeth

In an editorial published during Dental Health Week we referred to George Washington's false teeth, which are preserved for visitors to see at Mount Vernon. We have just received a transcript of a letter written to Washington by his dentist, which is in the possession of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, and which has been sent to us by a clerical friend:

"December 28, 1789.

"Sir: I sent you the enclosed to setts of teeth, one fixed on the old Barre, and the sett you sent me from Philadelphia which when I received it was very black, ocationed either by your soaking them in port wine, or by your drinking it, Port wine being sower, takes all the polish and all acids have the tendency to soften every kind of teeth and bone.... If you want your teeth more yellower, soak them in Broath or pot licquer but not in tee or acid. Porter is a good thing to color them.

"You will find I have altered the upper teeth you sent me from Philadelphia. Leaving the enamel on the teeth don't preserve them any longer than if it was of. It only holds the color better. But to preserve them they must be very often changed and cleaned for whatever attacks them must be repelled often or it will gain ground and distroy the works.

"The two setts I repaired is done on different plan than when they are done when made entirely new, for the teeth are screwed on the Barrs, instead of having the Barr cast red hot on them, which is the reason I believe they distroy or dissolve so soon, near the Barrs.

"Sir: After hoping you will not be obliged to be troubled very sune in the same way, I subscribe myself,

"Your very humble servant,
JOHN GREENWOOD."

We think that the directions for colouring false teeth will be of interest to many of our readers, who have been accustomed to keep theirs in nothing more potent than a glass of water.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

QUESTION: Why is Buckhorn sometimes called Hall's Bridge? Was there a Hall?

ANSWER: Until about six years ago, Buckhorn did not exist officially as a postal address. People who lived in Buckhorn had their mail addressed to Hall's Bridge (the same place, of course). The reason for the former dual nature of Buckhorn is this. By the 1850's lumbering in Harvey township was sufficiently important to warrant a saw mill at the place which is now Buckhorn (one already was in existence near Bald Lake). Mr. John Hall, who operated the first grist mill in Peterborough (1827), had moved to Harvey Township to engage in the lumbering business. He built the saw mill and put up a bridge across the stream (where the canal is now). This was "Hall's Bridge". When a post office was established in this district, Mr. Hall, by then a man of substance, (Dr. Poole puts "Esq." after his name) became Post Master. Therefore, the village became officially "Hall's Bridge" though even in 1867 it was known generally as Buckhorn. In recent times some attempt was made to distinguish between Hall's Bridge and Buckhorn — the former as the part of the village west of the canal, and the latter the part east. It was a distinction without a difference. Now "Hall's Bridge" is officially off the map, and Buckhorn on it.

QUESTION: Your notes on barbering in the recent columns have interested me. I have a vague recollection that Professor Roy of Queen's said once in a lecture that Sir Walter Scott always had his hair trimmed by his wife. Is that true?

ANSWER: Yes, as far as my recollection serves me (not of Professor Roy, but of Scott's Journals). Lady Scott was her husband's barber, not because of her skill with shears but because cutting her husband's hair was an intimate privilege. Once when Lady Scott was ill, Sir Walter allowed his manservant to cut his hair. Then he was dismayed lest when his wife saw him with his freshly-cropped head she think that her husband had indeed given up hope of his dear Charlotte ever recovering her health and her barbering-rite.

ALPHA: What do you think of the Berlin crisis?

ANSWER: I don't. Instead I sing Handel's "All we like sheep have gone astray".

TO THE READERS: I much prefer questions of local interest to questions like the above, though am glad to have any that are reasonable. Please do not think because many of the questions in these columns are pointed and perhaps starchy, that you must be brief and bright in asking yours. As the people know who have made queries, I take literary license, and usually condense and re-phrase the questions so as to make them succinct and of general interest. Though the name of the questioner is not published, I like to have it as a guarantee of good faith.

No answer is given anonymous writers who think they are witty by asking such questions as "Please explain the binominal theorem". I might have said to that obviously impertinent pup, "Consult Mr. C. S. Browne, Principal of the Peterborough Collegiate, one of the most lucid teachers of algebra in the province". But such a questioner is beneath my, and certainly Mr. Browne's, contempt... I regret that I have been able to get no further information about the negro mayor of Peterborough. Mr. Ireson (a local antiquary) has come forward with some leads, but in following them up, I have thus far arrived at dead ends.... By the way, does any reader remember "Dummy Sheean" who fell into the Jackson Park creek on spring day in the '70's or '80's? I have been asked about him. He was a deaf mute who did odd jobs about town.

WERE Jews ever denied entrance to Canada?

ANSWER: Jews were not allowed to live in Canada or to come to Canada from the time of its discovery until 1763—that is, during the entire French regime. (The French excluded the British, too!) Some managed to get in, however. The first Jewish resident stayed a whole year before being deported. She was 20-year-old Esther Brandeau who arrived in Quebec in 1739, disguised as a man under the name of Jacques la Fargue. She was the daughter of a Jewish trader in France, and had run away from home when aged 15. She acted as a male messenger for the unsuspecting Recollect (Franciscan) monks. When her sex was discovered, she was deported as a Jewess by the Quebec authorities.

I KNOW that LL.D. means "Doctor of Laws", but why are there two L's in the abbreviation?

ANSWER: LL.D. is the abbreviation for 'Legium Doctor'. Abbreviations are pluralized in Latin by doubling a letter of the plural word—hence L. is the abbreviation for 'of Law' (Legis), and LL. for 'of Laws' (Legium). Another example is Litt.D.—the honourary degree of Doctor of Letters (Literarum Doctor). Some people mistakenly think that Litt.D. or D.Litt. means Doctor of Literature, because the degree is generally awarded to literary people . Some American universities do give the degree of Doctor of Literature. That is abbreviated into D. Lit.

This method of pluralizing comes into many common abbreviations. For instance, 'q.v.' ('quod vide'—'which see') becomes 'qq.v.' ('quae vide') when the reference is to more than one thing; pp. for pages; vv. for verses, et sqq. for 'and the following' (when more than one thing is listed; the singular is 'et seq.'). Sometimes you see 'f' or 'ff' used to mean 'the following'. The 'f' does not come from the English word 'following' but from the Latin 'folium' (leaf) and so 'f' means 'the following page' and 'ff' means 'the following pages'.

There are three kinds of D.D.'s, none of them plural. There is D.D.—the Doctor of Divinity. There is the book or tablet that is D.D.—in other words given as a gift ('dono dedit'). Usually of a book it is D.D.D.—dat, dicat, dedicat (gives, devotes and dedicates). And there is the delicate creature who writes d——d instead of damned. If there is a period between the repeated letters then you have not got a plural. D.D.T. is of course a delousing formula.

FOR THE RECORD: The boom is still booming in Canada and Peterborough. There are more people employed across the country than ever before (5,042,000). The cost of living is higher than ever before — the index stands at 158.9, that is 58.9 points higher than the average for 1935-39. Food is higher than ever before—its index is 203.9. Peterborough is sharing in the painful boom. An indication is that 7½ million dollars' worth of building is rising or has risen in the city since the beginning of the year.

TO THE VERY FOUNDATION

Mr. Hull On Mr. King

(WINNIPEG FREE PRESS)

WHEN Mr. King is conferring in Europe with the leading statesmen of the world it is timely to note the judgment of a great United States' leader on the career of the Canadian Prime Minister. In his memoirs, published this year, Mr. Cordell Hull, former United States Secretary of State and one of the giants of our era, recalls a long secret conference with Mr. King in Washington on March 5, 1937. Of Mr. King Mr. Hull writes:

"I already thought a great deal of the Canadian Prime Minister from what I knew of his work, and I was to think even more of him as succeeding years brought us into close co-operation and friendship. In later years he used to make it a point, whenever in Washington, to come to my apartment for a quiet, informal luncheon or dinner with Mrs. Hull and myself alone, so that we could have long, uninterrupted conversations.

"I found him a very serious-minded person, thoroughly agreeable in his relations with others, philosophical, unpretentious, and sanely liberal. He possessed great vision and constructive ability. Not an impassioned orator, he was nevertheless a fluent, forceful and captivating speaker. I never knew a more unselfish patriot or a man who loved humanity more."

These words stand out with particular emphasis in Mr. Hull's great book since the author throughout is exceedingly cold in his judgments of men and quite impartial as between his countrymen and foreigners.

The occasion of his tribute to Mr. King was a little-noted but important incident in the history of our times. Mr. Hull had been trying for some two years to negotiate a trade treaty between the United States and Britain. Unable to move the British Government, he called in Mr. King as a kind of unofficial intermediary.

Mr. King wanted a new trade treaty with the United States but it involved inevitably Canada's existing agreement with Britain. The three great trading nations, the United States, Britain and Canada, were all equally involved in any change in the trading relations between two of them.

It is clear from Mr. Hull's secret record that Mr. King went to the Imperial Conference of 1937 as the interpreter of the United States to the British Government in trade matters. Out of that conference and subsequent negotiations came a new trade treaty which, though inadequate for the larger objectives in view, did substantially reduce trade barriers.

It may be thought that Mr. Hull's private conversations with Mr. King are of historical and academic interest only. In fact, they are as timely as today's news. For once again before the menace of a foreign power, the free nations are endeavouring to build up the world economic community by freeing trade everywhere and in this project Canada, as one of the great world traders, is a key factor.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For the Lord will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet choose Israel, and set them in their own land....

And it shall come to pass in the day that the Lord shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou wast made to serve, that thou shalt take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say, How hath the oppressor ceased! the golden city ceased!....

How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. Yet thou shalt be brought down to hell, to the sides of the pit. (Isa. 14: 1, 3, 4, 12-15.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The customer was ordering a new suit. His tailor however, told him it would not be ready for six months.

"Six months!" cried the customer. "Why, the whole world was created in six days."

"True," said the tailor. "But have you taken a good look at it lately?"

Just out of law school and looking around for a good place to begin practice, a young lawyer decided to make a tour of all the province's county seats. Pausing before one court house that stood in the very centre of a small town, he questioned a white bearded old codger who sat drowsily on the front steps.

"Do you have a criminal lawyer here?"

The old man squinted up at him and chuckled over his reply.

"We think so, young feller, but we ain't exactly proved it on him."

◇ ◇ ◇

A Shakespearean theatrical company found themselves stranded one morning in a small town in the United States Middle-West. The small sum of money they possessed had only just covered their hotel bill. There seemed only one thing to do, so they decided to risk a performance in the local town hall.

Bills were displayed advertising "A Midsummer Night's Dream—by William Shakespeare," and in the evening the wooden hall was packed to capacity with hard-bitten, gum-chewing cowboys.

The audience behaved very well during the play, and when the curtain descended on the last scene, members of the company were in the wings, nervously waiting to hear how the cowboys would acknowledge the performance. To their amazement, the audience rose as one man, cheering, clapping, stamping, and yelling: "Author! Author! Author!"

The Westerners became noisier and noisier, and the problem of how to produce the author became more acute. At last, the company told the manager that he would have to appear. He refused at first, maintaining that to pretend to be Shakespeare—even before such a rough audience—would be shameful. But at last he relented and solemnly walked on to the stage. The cowboys shot him.

A BRITISH OPINION

US Presidency Hard Job Pay Relatively Small

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (CP). — The Presidency of the United States is one of the hardest jobs in the world and the pay is comparatively small.

A good corporation lawyer, sports promoter or restaurant operator can make more money and have more fun doing it.

President Truman gets $75,000 a year and that is what the job has paid since 1909. That's all the next President will get during his term of office.

The salary looks good in the gross but when the President has paid his income tax and all the expenses of his personal staff and household, he has about $10,000 net salary for his personal and family needs and to provide for his future.

Take the plain physical labor alone: the President has to write his name on documents at the rate of more than 400 every day of the year.

Hand Shaking Tough

He has to shake hands with a score of people every day, from 1,000 to 2,000 people on reception nights which take place half a dozen times each winter, and that can be multiplied many times in an election year.

The President is supposed to know all about every major administration problem at home and abroad. To keep him posted he gets reports directly from 61 departments or divisions of government through about 250 secretaries, directors and administrators who have direct access to him.

The President must sign every Legislative Act before it becomes law.

He is the Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces. He is presumably the chie fauthor of foreign policy.

The President is titular leader of his political party while in office.

Must Remember Voters

Often he must break into consideration of such vital problems as the Berlin blockade or the war in Palestine to shake hands with good old Joe Doaks from out West whose influence is essential to the party's welfare.

Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-President, knows all about the job from his own experience and from studies he has made in recent months.

Hoover, who was the last Republican President—defeated by Roosevelt in 1932—is head of a commission studying possible ways of easing what he calls "the vast and intolerable labor" a President must perform.

Ford Silent On Renewal Of Contract

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—Glenn Ford and Columbia are having their own private war of nerves.

The hard-working native of Quebec City has a year to go on his Columbia contract and the studio is anxious to sign him again. So the studio is sending out feelers via the press and elsewhere in an attempt to discover what Glenn wants. The actor remains mum, indicating he will talk terms when the pact is over.

Glenn continues his tight schedule. Now in "Bonanza," he is being mentioned for the lead opposite Paulette Goddard in "Anna Lucasta."

Shirley Temple is still resisting attempts to persuade her to make a stage debut. For years Selznick has tried to talk her into doing a play, but she has always said no. And why not? Shirley has done all right without having seen a footlight....

Bevin Believes War Danger Has Lessened

LONDON, Oct. 29 (Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Bevin said Thursday night "I am not one of those who believe that war is inevitable."

Speaking to the Woolwich Chamber of Commerce, Bevin said that 18 months ago things looked "very much worse than they do now, in spite of all the excitement today."

"The outlook of the United States 18 months ago was very different," he said.

"There is a great change now. That part of the world whose spiritual life and outlooks is very much like our own is organizing consciously.

"Tremendous new conceptions of duty have emerged.

"In our own development and in the development of Western Union there is a growing solidarity not to be aggressive but United for defence."

Peace Possible

Bevin said he believed that "with wise guidance....exercising patience and sometimes grim determination to survive, a condition in the world can be created in which peace is not only probable but possible and certain."

Speaking of the growth of the Western European alliance into a North Atlantic mutual security organization, the foreign secretary said that "if that unity is produced, those who would wish for war ....would have to think twice or thice because of the potential dangers that would await them."

"I think there is power in the world which would make attack impossible and threatening cease."

One of the great weapons for defence, Bevin said, is "to make people feel they have something to defend, a stake in their country."

Judge Admits Statement Describing Knife-Slaying

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 29 — (AP). — The jury trying Arthur Hooey, 23, on a charge of murder has before it today a statement which quoted Hooey as saying he knifed 23-year-old Allan Crowe early last March 6.

After hearing lengthy legal argument, Mr. Justice G. A. Urquhart of the Ontario Supreme Court yesterday admitted the statement, in which Hooey was quoted as telling Sgt. Mervyn Moore of the city police:

"They tried to barge in and I let him have it."

Sgt. Moore said he asked Hooey, "what with?" the statement quoted Hooey's reply:

"With my knife."

The "barging in" reference was to a visit Allan Crowe and his brother, Sidney, paid to the home of William Cameron, where they encountered Hooey. Sidney Crowe told the court he and his brother were accompanied by a friend, George Currie. His brother had been drinking wine.

"When we arrived at the Cameron house, one of the other two said, 'this is the house' and I knocked on the door," Sidney Crowe said "Someone from within said, 'who is there?' Al (the victim) pushed me aside and said, 'It's me—Al.' Arthur Hooey opened the door."

Repeats Conversation

Crowe then repeated the following conversation he said was held between his brother and Hooey:

"Hello, Art."

"Hello, Al."

"Can we come in, Art?"

'No, Al."

"It's all right. I've got my brothers Sid with me."

"When they started to talk, I stepped back. Then, after the conversation stopped, I wondered why. I followed Currie through the door and found my brother leaning against the wall, so I grabbed him and got blood on my hands. At first I thought he had a nosebleed.

"I took him out and laid him across the sidewalk and then tried at several homes to phone a cab. When I couldn't get to a home I asked if it were all right to bring Allan in. I carried him in and saw the wound in his neck and laid him on the floor. The police arrived soon after."

DETROIT, Oct. 29.—(CP). — Henry Ford left an estate valued at approximately $70,000,000. This was indicated by a probate court accounting filed by his widow, Mrs. Clara J. Ford, and a valuation of his Ford Motor Company holdings for tax purposes.

SWEET-TOOTHED BEAR

The common black bear or sloth bear is found throughout India in rocky hills and forests. Its food consists of ants, honey and fruits.

BLONDE, PRETTY Lois Schenck, Broadway dancer, has taken up shoe-shining in the heart of New York's Times Square district to keep herself in coffee and cakes while she makes the rounds of theatrical booking offices seeking other engagements. Working less than four hours a day, she averages about $4.50 an hour. But she admits herself that much of her patronage comes from generous males who like the idea of having their shoes shined by a good looking girl.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Seeing as tomorrow is Hallowe'en, let us speak briefly of it. All Hallow Evening precedes All Saints Day, and 'tis thought that Robbie Burns first dubbed it Hallowe'en. "Hallowed" means to make holy, as in the Lord's prayer. Milton wrote: "His secret altar touched with hallowed fire." And Lincoln at Gettysburg—we cover a lot of territory on this job, huh?—remarked: "We cannot hallow this ground." In any case, it's a night for fun particularly by the younger folk, bedecked in odd garb, wearing false faces and toting a handout bag abulge with sweets. While witches ride high and peculiar noises assail the ear far into the night. For the older folk, Hallowe'en is a night of memories.

Now, the gridiron in Nicholls Oval won't be hallowed ground tomorrow, but it will be mighty important territory yard by yard. The good earth. On account of Orillia Bombers and our Panthers will be battling it out from 2.30 on, tomorrow, in the first of their home-and-home ORFU intermediate group finals. Points to count. Sure to be a rugged and exciting struggle between two classy and well-matched clubs. They've each had a decision to date over the other, but this time it's for keeps. Yeah, we look for a swell scrap and it ought to draw the biggest grid crowd of the season.

Beauty And The Beast

It seems that a Hollywood producer was in Toronto recently to talk to Whipper Bill Watson, the pro grappler. His manager, Phil Lawson, was telling us Wednesday that this producer was quite interested in the Whip's chances on the screen in a piece called "Beauty and the Beast". We read that story and it concerns a lovely college girl who inherits scads of dough and a wrestler. Naturally, he had to be a handsome hunk of a man, since he later turned out to be a professor with a touch of amnesia and a crush on the colleen. So, Watson may make the screen yet and it couldn't happen to a finer chap, in our book.

From Maurice Podoloff, prexy of the American Hockey League, comes a copy of the 1949 National Hockey Guide. Edited by Jim Hendy, it also includes this year the Who's Who of Hockey, and is a valuable addition to the sports' library. Hendy has been putting the Guide out for 17 years and has done a whale of a job over the years in building up the AHL. This league is selling hockey throughout the States, even more so than the National League. The AHL packs 'em in every game in a large number of cities and in time may step up to big league standing on a par with the NHL.

King George Wins It

King George junior soccer squad edged out King Edward 1-0 yester aft at the Oval in overtime to win the Public School League championship in a fine struggle. The losers scored once, too, but it was offside, so King George captures the title and the G. N. Gordon Trophy. Congrats to them. All the junior playoffs in this loop were good. Senior playoffs remain to be staged. Other soccer listed for King Edward Park on Saturday has CGE playing O'Halloran's at 1.45, George Downer the referee, and Lindsay meeting Legion at 3.00, with R. Strong in charge. Both games are Mayor Ovens' injured players cup affairs.

* * * * * *

The Western Mustangs, with Jack Matthews aboard this season, have been undefeated in their last 25 games and have a chance tomorrow to tie a Canadian record when they play Queen's. Oddly enough, Queen's hold that record, when the Gaels of Kingston won four consecutive intercollegiate titles, added three Grey Cups, and hung up a mark of 26 straight victories starting in 1922. Western's streak started back in 1939 when they won four consecutive intercollegiate championships. There was a five-year wartime layoff till they resumed in 1945 with a short schedule. They went on then to take three more titles, though Varsity held them to one tie last season. Truly a great gridiron squad.

They Enjoy The Game

Ted Reeve remarks: "Out in Oakville several of the boys wanted to play football so they applied for a berth in the intermediate ORFU series. Each potential player threw $10 into the pot to cover preliminary expenses and then they started to dig out from the attics and cellars various hues of sweaters and discarded football togs. Not all of them have good night vision so their practices are carried on with the aid of several car owners who come to the field and leave their headlights on. Furthermore, all travelling expenses to Peterborough, Oshawa and Orillia are borne by the individual members of the team. While they have not won a game this year, their optimism is continuously growing and they claim that from this year's experience another season will find them really going places. At least one of the chaps on the team is a farmer. That's the way to enjoy a variety of fall plowing."

King George's Capture Junior Trophy

King George junior soccer eleven won the G. N. Gordon Cup, emblematic of the public school championship by a 1-0 count over King Edward, Thursday afternoon, at Nicholls Oval, in a 10-minute overtime period. Outstanding were Pagett, Roode and D. and J. Sutherland for the losers, while Ash, Wyllie and Roote were effective for the winners.

Right from the kick-off, King George hemmed the King Edward boys into their own territory, with Pagett, at centre-half, along with Roode and Tarkington intercepting and blocking Ash, Wyllie and Roote to perfection to hold them off the score sheet through the regulation time. In the first period of the overtime, Ash accepted a pass from Roote right up the centre where the full-backs closed in on him as he missed the upright from five yards out. Just three minutes to go and Wyllie scored but on an offside pass. Again King George half-back line of Barclay, Ellis and Bell, outplayed their attacking force, with Roote outplaying three men in succession to send a terrific drive into goal where King Edward goalie partially cleared to Ash who made no mistake to get the only goal of the game.

King Edward — R. Halcrow, goal; R. Roode and R. Tarkington, full-backs; J. Smith, A. Pagett and P. Dugan, half-backs; A. Curtis, J. Sutherland, D. Sutherland, J. Johnson, and A. McArthur, forwards. Subs, F. Rusaw, V. Smythe, B. Lauchlin, G. Hunt, A. Phillips.

King George—M. Innes, goal; H. Pollard and P. McIlomyle, full-backs; D. Barclay, J. Ellis and B. Bell, half-backs; B. Faiers, D. Baptie, D. Ash, R. Wyllie and D. Roote forwards. Subs, J. Cusimano, G. Harding, R. Lethangue.

Referee— Mr. McNeill.

Capitals Down Cleveland 3-2

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals edged out Cleveland Barons 3-2 Thursday night in an American Hockey League game for their fifth straight victory on home ice.

Two last-period goals by Johnny Mariucci and Barry Sullivan gave St. Louis Flyers a 4-4 deadlock with New Haven Ramblers.

The Caps took a two-goal lead in the first period, Cliff Simpson scoring the markers. Goals by Freddie Thurier and Pete Leswick tied for the Barons but late in the third period Pat Lundy accounted for the winning tally for Caps.

Ken Davies scored twice for the Ramblers, his opener coming midway in the first period sending New Haven into the lead. Steve Black evened the count for the Flyers before the session ended.

In the second stanza Norm Tustin and Fred Brown tallied once apiece for St. Louis. Davies got his second counter and George Johnston scored New Haven's final goal.

THE POINT OF THIS STUNT is not to wreck the cars. They are wrecks already. The stunt is done as part of the good, clean fun of the amateur motor car races at Pinecrest, where, in "souped-up" jalopies racing enthusiasts risk their necks just to show that the spirit of competition is not dead.

AROUND AND AROUND THEY GO, at Pinecrest, setting no world records but having lots of exciting fun and giving spectators a thrill. Auto racers earn their reputation as being among the few amateur sportsmen in the game for the glory and not the pay-cheques.

THE RUGGED AMATEURS of the Pinecrest and similar auto clubs in Canada, are the "poor relations" of highly regarded auto races of Europe, where thousands of enthusiasts follow and cheer their favorites, just as Canadians root for their hockey and rugby heroes. Above are some of the U.S. midget racing cars which competed at Walthamstow, Eng.

THIS ISN'T AS TOUGH as it looks, say the motorcyclists of the Pinecrest club who have tried this stunt. "Just the thing to work up an appetite for breakfast, in fact."

It's Adventure Driving With Pinecrest Racing Club

According to members of the Racing Club of Pinecrest, Ont. (near Toronto), all that is necessary to qualify for admission to the club is to have strong nerves, a "hot rod" and a tendency to weak-mindedness. The idea is that a person would have to be weak-minded to drive a car in the club races where spills are frequent and life and limb considered unimportant. The races are held whenever the weather allows and most of the mechanical entries are standard model automobiles or motorcycles called "hot rods," doctored by their owners to get more speed. A good time is had by all except those who end up in hospital!

There are clubs like this throughout Canada. The lads who ride cars and motorcycles aren't in it for the money, but just for the "sport" of it all.

The club group at Pinecrest most of the young leaders are ex-service boys, estimates that it has spent, up to now, better than $10,000.

The drivers feel that their "tinkered-up baskets of metal" would stand up well on the highway against any up-to-date streamlined jobs of the big automobile manufacturers.

Some of the "little toys," and they're extremely light, will do 120 mies per hour. And if you ask the racers what happens if they have to stop suddenly on such a pilgrimage, they'll grin and answer: "Kaput. Good morning, St. Peter. Also Toodle-oo." Just like that—but to them it's sport. And they probably wouldn't give you a nickel for a nice peaceful Sunday afternoon drive in the family limousine.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League Thursday summoned defenceman Bill Juzda from their American League farm club, Pittsburgh Hornets.

Juzda, former New York Ranger, was picked up by Leafs in an off-season trade. The 28-year-old Winnipeger first joined the Rangers in 1940.

Leafs managing director Conn Smythe said Thursday that Juzda had been called up because defenceman Garth Boesch was suffering from a recurring groin injury. Juzda is expected to arrive at the Leaf camp today.

Smythe said defenceman Bob Dawes would go down to Pittsburgh to replace Juzda.

Toronto Maple Leafs may do part of their National League fall training in Toronto next year with the public admitted to training sessions for a nominal fee, Leafs president, Conn Smythe said Thursday.

He said if the idea went through, Leafs would continue to train at St. Catharines, returning to Toronto for a week or 10 days of daily practices.

Gene Bearden, tall southpaw for Cleveland Indians, has been voted the American League's rookie of the year, it was announced in New York Thursday. The 28-year-old knuckleball artist, thus joined Alvin Dark of Boston Braves as the freshman standouts of their respective circuits.

Both received the accolade in an Associated Press poll of 220 baseball writers throughout the United States. Bearden had strenuous competition from the Red Sox's Billy Goodman. Bearden was named on 90 ballots to 88 for the Sox's young first baseman.

Del Bissonette, one of the all-time Brooklyn greats and manager of Boston Braves for a brief period, Thursday was named manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League. Bissonette, 48, of French-Canadian descent, was named by Philadelphia Phillies, Toronto's parent club, to replace Dick Porter, who resigned earlier in the week.

Coach Lew Hayman of Montreal Alouettes Thursday confirmed reports that he will be married. The event happens next Monday, Lew said. The bride-to-be, Miss Joan Spencer, now a resident of Toronto was formerly of London, England, where she met Lew in 1942.

Beau Jack, former Augusta, Ga., bootblack, stopped Eric Boon of London by a technical knockout in one minute and 21 seconds of the third round of a scheduled 10-round boxing match Thursday night at Washington. Jack weighed 143½, Boon 144.

Lewis L. Bredin, State Racing Commissioner, charged yesterday that the Detroit Racing Association never has paid proper odds to customers of the fairgrounds track. Bredin said in circuit court in Detroit that since 1933 the race has accepted "future bets" from favored customers — bets made before the windows opened to the general public. These bets were kept in a separate pool, he alleged, with separate odds and separate payoffs from those made to the public.

Playoff Spots In Balance For Football

By The Canadian Press

Canada's football clubs will shove a big stack of blue chips into the playoff pot this weekend.

Two of the seven scheduled senior tilts will decide playoff positions in the Ontario Union and the Western Conference, both of which wind up their schedules Saturday.

The week-end may also mean the elimination of Toronto Argonauts from the playoffs after their three-year reign as kings of Canadian football.

Sarnia Imperials and Toronto Beaches Indians battle it out tomaining playoff berth in the night for second place and re-ORFU. Saskatchewan Roughriders invade Winnipeg to meet the Blue Bombers. Defeat means elimination for the Winnipeg club that has won the western championship annually since 1936.

The week-end also gives the mighty Mustangs from the University of Western Ontario a shot at their 26th consecutive undefeated game. If the Mustangs bea the Queen's University Gaels the; will tie the unbeaten record set by Queen's in thte 1920s.

Argos must beat Alouettes in Montreal Saturday to keep even a mathematical chance at the playoffs. But even then, Alouettes must be beaten by the last-place Hamilton Wildcats the following Saturday for Argos to make the grade.

The Wildcats, who pushed Ottawa to the limit last week-end, try to stop the Rough Rider machine in Ottawa.

Hapless Hawks Drop Fifth 5-1

By The Canadian Press

It wasn't very close, but it was the closest Chicago Black Hawks have been to winning this year.

The hapless Hawks led for five minutes Thursday night—the first time they've been ahead this season—before dropping their fifth straight, a 5-1 defeat to the unbeaten Boston Bruins.

The win—fourth in a row for the Bruins—put them all alone in second place in the National Hockey League, one point behind Detroit Red Wings and two ahead on Montreal Canadiens.

It also put Ed Sandford and Grant Warwick well ahead in the league scoring race.

Sandford picked up two assists, his eighth and ninth scoring points of the year, leaving him two ahead of Warwick who collected an assist. Montreal's Elmer Lach is third in the race with six points.

More than 16,300 fans watched the game, home opener for the Black Hawks. Originally scheduled for Wednesday, it was set back a day because of United States election campaigning.

Gus Bodnar's goal from Jimmy Conacher put Chicago ahead in the second period. But Johnny Peirson tied it little more than five minutes later and the Bruins piled in four more more in the final frame.

Pete Babando, one of the few Americans in the NHL, led the parade with two goals — seven minutes apart—in the final period. Ken Smith and Jim Peters each got one.

Irish Edge Kroehlers 3-2 In Penalty-Ridden Tilt

By The Canadian Press

Age has come to the aid of youth.

Toronto Marlboros, with hopes of scrambling from the senior Ontario Hockey Association cellar position, picked up added strength Thursday when they signed 36-year-old Flash Hollett.

The former National Hockey League star, playing coach of Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen in the 1947 season, came out of a short retirement to take up defensive duties with the locals.

Joe Primeau's squad—one of the youngest in the league—has been on the short end in their first three starts this season and with Hollett's experience hope to make a good showing against the third-place Owen Sound Mercurys when they make their first Toronto appearance tonight.

In the only OHA game Thursday night, St. Michael's College Majors took a 3-2 overtime win in a penalty - riddled junior tilt against Stratford Kroehlers.

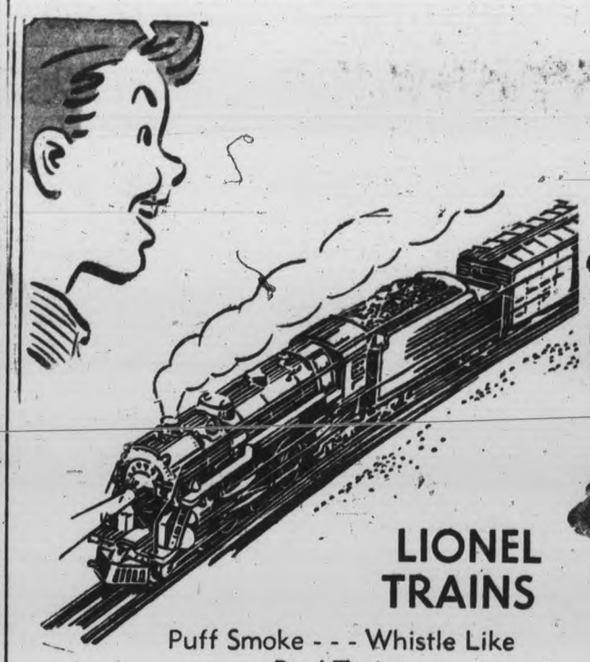
It took until the 6.36 minute mark of the overtime period to break the tie, Conrad Bonhomme lifting the rubber over Boat Hurley during a goal-mouth scramble

Opens Scoring

Rugged Tim Horton, Irish defenceman, opened the scoring for St. Michael's in the first period, when he went in alone on Kroehler netminder Hurley.

A parade of penalties featured the second period, when Kroehlers drew five of the nine handed out. Dinny Flanagan notched the equalizer for Kroehlers on a pass from Bibber O'Hearn.

Kroehlers went one up early in the third period when Doug Houston scored at the eight-minute-mark.



The Irish roared back and Don Rope evened up the count three minutes later.

All told, 16 penalties were handed out, St. Michael's drawing nine.

In tonight's other senior game Stratford Indians meet Hamilton Tigers.

Three games will be run off in the junior circuit. The league-leading St. Catharines Teepees play host to Oshawa Generals, Windsor meet Guelph Biltmores and Toronto Marlboros clash with Barrie Flyers.

FOR THE FIRST time in history, Royal Canadian Navy ships this summer ventured into Hudson Bay. Accompanying two destroyers to the mouth of Hudson Strait on the operation was the aircraft carrier, HMCS Magnificent (Top). This RCN photo shows the Magnificent riding at anchor at Wakeham Bay, Labrador, most northerly point reached by the carrier during the cruise. Air transport of arms to Canada's far-flung hinterlands may be of crucial importance in Commonwealth defence. Find Canada Bolstering Her Defences

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTADA, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Equipped with a meagre people and confronted with an embarrassment of geography, Canada has reacted to the decaying international situation with a gradual but not spectacular tightening of defence preparations.

Faced with Russian hostility on her northern flank, with a land mass she couldn't hope to defend alone, and caught between the concepts, she has become, apparently successfully, an advocate of American and British military collective security.

Although there have been official fears that the huge US rearmament program would provoke wide demands for a sweeping Canadian counterpart, the Government has adhere resolutely to its basic three-point program:

1. To provide a standing force to defend the country against any diversionary attack that is seen as the only immediately threat. This would include a 7,000-man airborne brigade and an interceptor wing of aircraft. There also is a small primarily anti-submarine, two-ocean navy with an aircraft carrier and cruiser.

2. To provide the nucleus that could be expanded into the same sort of expeditionary forces Canada sent overseas in the two World Wars. Any war in the comparatively near future is seen as another long slugging match.

3. To combine with other nations to preserve peace and resist aggression. This will culminate in an Atlantic Security Pact, involving Canada in her first formal guarantees of foreign soil and in steps to help arm Western Europe.

Hasten Effort

Recent months have indicated a steady hastening of effort within a $252,000,000 budget for the 1948-49 fiscal year.

A Civilian Defence Chief has been appointed. Coastal artillery training and army winter training are being expanded. A northern radar network is under study. Plans for mobilization have been drafted. A special advisory board is preparing the way for industrial readiness.

The Air Force says it is just getting its air crew training into full stride. The Navy, only one of the three forces ready for immediate organized action, has been exercising with British and American ships. The staffs of the Army's five regional commands have been training to become combat divisional staffs.

Canadian - American co-operation is at an unprecedented peacetime level, enough in fact to indicate a considerable degree of basic reorientation of military policy. The Joint Defence Board continues.

While Ottawa presses for standardization, soldiers are being taught both British and American techniques, more than half Canada's warplanes and some of her artillery are of American design and similar communication systems, battle procedure and orders have been adopted.

Special Work

Two-way co-operation allows Canada to concentrate on certain phases of preparedness because she knows she will never fight alone. In a vast tract of Alberta badlands, British and American scientists join Canadians in studying chemical and bacterial warfare.

In addition, Canada prides herself on having carried unification of her forces farther than any other country, on unsurpassed officer training, on getting on a full peacetime basis ahead of others a year ago.

Contacts with the civilian world are plentiful. The Atomic Energy Pilot Plant at Chalk River, Ont., is working only towards peaceful objectives, but would be a vital segment in war. The government has said Canada could make atomic bombs. A small aircraft industry is functional. A program of shipping construction is coming up. Financial aid for training civilian pilots has been offered by Ottawa. The Polymer Artificial Rubber Plant is operating and five wartime arsenals are kept ready as a nucleus for war industry.

Services co-operation has seen two Cadet Colleges open on a tri-service basis, a combined operations school for paratroop and invasion training set up on the Prairies at Rivers, Man., a staff college established to train not only officers but key civilians.

Labor Council Asks Sazthowicz Remain

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP). — The executive of the Toronto Labor Council (CCL) last night asked that David Sazthowicz, an "anti-Nazi who has spent one-third of his life in concentration camps," be allowed to remain in Canada.

A council statement said Sazthowicz was about to be deported to Germany. He now was employed in the fur trade and living with friends and "considering that pro-fascists have been allowed to stay in Canada, despite false passports, we feel that David Sazthowicz should be allowed to remain."

Turkish Republic 25 Years Old, Tied To West

By EDWIN B. GREENWALD

ISTANBUL, Oct. 29 (AP). — The Turkish Republic, spawned of a revolution more violent in its social, cultural and political upheaval than in blood, is 25 years old today.

By force of his great personality and his well-armed compatriots, Mustafa Kemal Ataturk lifted his defeated and disillusioned people from despair and created what now has become a strong, vital country tied firmly to the West.

Seizing the country, setting up his own government and forcing the Western Powers to bow to him was only the first step.

Ataturk uprooted almost overnight customs and traditions that had come down through medieval centuries. He not only did away with the Caliph and his control on government, but with religion itself. He changed from the Arabic to the Latin alphabet. He abolished the veil of the women. He abolished polygamy, wiping out the harems of the Pashas. He emancipated women.

The Kurdish tribes rose in revolt in Southeastern Anatolia. By the time Ataturk was through with them, several thousand were dead and a majority of the living resettled. Only two years ago was martial law finally lifted in that area.

Ataturk declared the new country to be a republic and submitted a constitution based on Swiss, Italian and German codes. But of necessity he ran Turkey strictly as a one-man distatorship.

Turkey stayed out of the war until only weeks before Germany asked for an armistice, and by so doing brought down upon Ankara considerable criticism. But President Ismet Inonu replied the country was compelled to stay out when the Allies failed to turn over adequate equipment which he said had been promised.

In December, 1945, the government permitted creation of opposition parties, and the republic held its first free general election the following July.

Just one year later, Inonu issued his famous declaration in which he called all men equal and entitled to the same rights.

Stress Senate Reform

SASKATOON, Oct. 29 (CP).—Need for Senate reform was stressed Wednesday night at the Saskatchewan Social Credit League's annual convention. "People should elect their senators where a vacancy occurs instead of the present system of appointment as a reward for party loyalty," the convention said. Responsibilities of the Senate should be enlarged to make that body "a more effective instrument of democracy."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

Chinese Speaker Outlines Country's Woes

An outline of the work being done by the YMCA in China and the present-day problems of that country was given to the Y's Men's Club on Thursday night by K. Z. Loh, general secretary of the YMCA in Shanghai.

His present tour of Canada is a goodwill visit as well as being on behalf of the World Service Program of the International Committee of the YMCA. The World Service Program is the organization through which Canadian and United States branches raise funds to send money and men to younger movements throughout the world, including China.

Although the YMCA has been established only about 60 years in China, he said that it is becoming increasingly influential.

"It has a great influence in our community and the life of the nation," he said. "It is greatly respected by the people, particularly the intellectual youth."

"Many of the Christian leaders in China have come through the YMCA which has pioneered in many things: religion, education, science, health and international understanding," he said.

He expressed his personal gratitude to Canadian branches for helping to make the World Youth Fund possible. During the war he claimed that about 50 per cent of the city associations were destroyed, disbanded or closed down. The Youth Fund was helping them on the road to rehabilitation, he said.

The Shanghai YMCA, of which Mr. Loh has been general secretary for the past 16 years, is said to be the largest in the far east and one of the largest in the world. It has five centres, the most modern equipment and about 21,000 members.

"The life spot of Shanghai," Mr. Loh describes it.

"The young people of China are far more interested in the Christian religion than before the war," said Mr. Loh. "We have a great challenge in our field and a greater future for our service in the Christian cause."

"China has been trying to build a new nation on the democratic pattern, somewhat like the Anglo-American nations," he said.

The country was under monarchial rule for about 4,000 years, he said, and during that time the people had no voice in affairs. He explained that the Chinese republic was only 37 years old and therefore was relatively young in that form of government.

Since the revolution of 1911 he said that China has had not only the difficulties of trying to remake the country to a democratic pattern, but also had to contend with exterior aggression.

He reminded his listeners that Japan occupied Manchuria in 1930 and war began in 1937, continuing until 1945. Despite this he said that the Chinese people are willing "to forgive and forget."

Referring to the military struggle in China between the Communists and Nationalist forces, he said, "This is not only a civil war but part of a world struggle."

"If it were only a civil war China could solve it herself," he said. "But it is not, and therefore she cannot settle it alone."

He mentioned no names but said the so-called civil war was a conflict of ideologies; and because of this it required more than just armaments to settle.

"There is much talk about liberty and democracy," he said, "but little about righteousness and justice. A vacuum has been created; something is lacking. If we don't fill that vacuum somebody else will."

After citing the words of Christ, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God," he said that what was needed was the union of the world's Christian forces to fill the vacuum.

"This world needs more understanding, fellowship and goodwill," he concluded. And he said that the YMCA "as a great world-wide movement has been working among youth for that purpose."

Lumber Mill Worker Hurt At Haliburton

Study Bailey Bridges

TORONTO, Oct. 29.—(CP).—Toronto will consider the use of Canadian army Bailey bridges to solve the problem of transportation to Centre Island in Toronto harbor, Mayor Hiram McCallum told Board of Control last night. He said the Ontario Hydro Commission had offered two bridges for use during winter months when the harbor ferries were icebound.

Acreage Sowed In Fall Wheat Below 1948 Crop

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Extremely dry weather in Ontario during September and the first week of October provided good conditions for harvesting of fall crops, the Provincial Agricultural Department reported today in its monthly crop report.

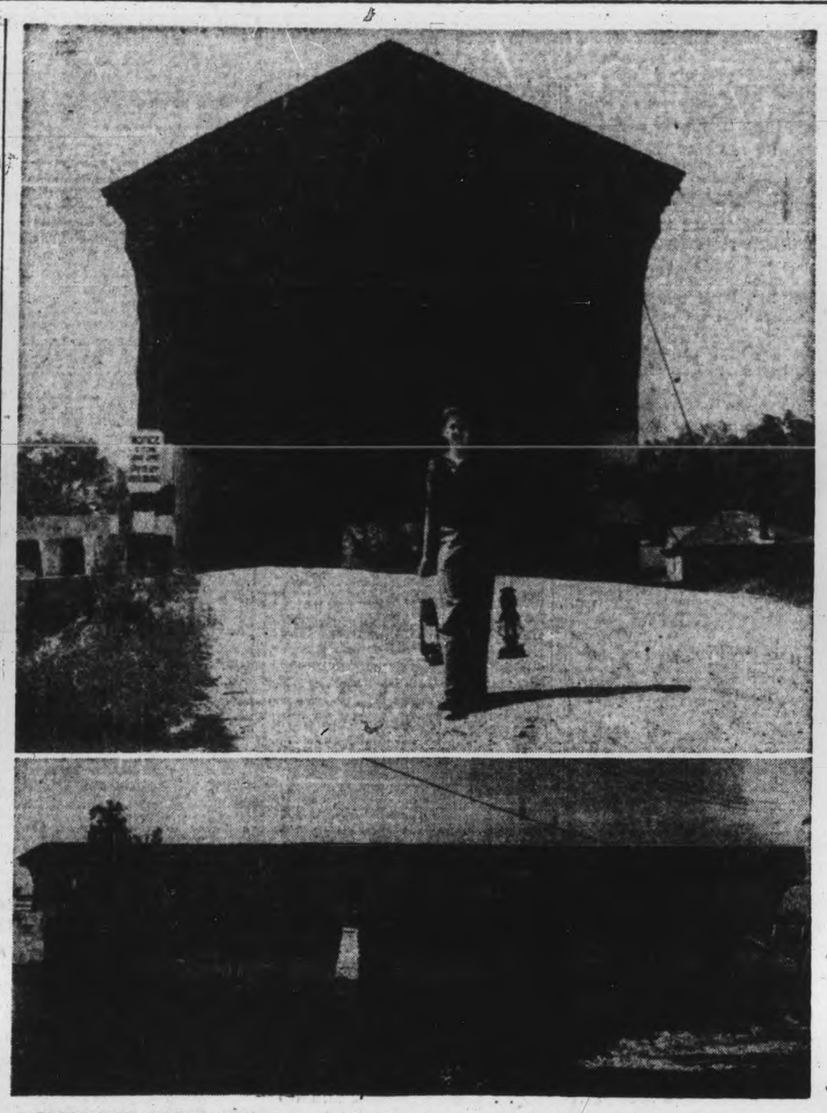
Weather conditions, however, wer unfavorable for tillage operations and for growth of pastures and fall forage.

Milk flow declined substantially because milk cows generally were given suppementary feeding after pastures were burned out by the dry weather. Total quantity of whole milk used for production of creamery butter and cheddar cheese during September was 10.1 per cent, less than in the same month a yea ago.

Heavy recent rains may prevent serious loss in new seedings of hay and clover crops, which suffered severely from the long and continued dry weather.

Acreage seeded to fall wheat and fall rye is below last year because of dry conditions. The department estimates that acreage of fall wheat is down 40 per cent in Elgin County; 60 per cent in Huron; 50 per cent in Perth and Wellington; 40 per cent in Waterloo; 25 per cent in Northumberland, and generally lesser in other counties.

Plowing Cpditions Good



Fair plowing conditions are favorable and absence of killing frost up to mid-October had permitted maturity of all late crops.

Turnips, mangold and buckwheat yields were reduced but corn, both for husking and fodder, soy beans and sugar beat yields were satisfactory.

Considering adverse weather conditions, many vegetable crops are displaying good conditions and yields, says the department. A heavy crop of onion is practically all under cover now, and root crops of carrots and beets, after staging a good recovery from draught, is being processed.

Cabbage and cauliflower, gourd and vine crops, were more seriously affected and both yield and quality have been reduced in most areas. A fairly satisfactory yield of potatoes now is being dug after a period of high mortality in western Ontaro, while eastern Ontario reports exceptionally good conditions and quality.

Harvesting of apples is well under way, but quality and quantity is described as spotty. Grape cutting, too, is well advanced and a heavy domestic and export movement is in progress, with size and quality lowered by previous drought.

ALTHOUGH THERE ARE many covered bridges in Eastern Canada, particularly in Quebec, this is understood to be the only one in Ontario. At West Montrose it is often called the "kissing bridge" because of the privacy it afforded during the horse-and-buggy days. Caretaker is 14-year-old Lloyd Hartwick, who each night lights the two oil lanterns and takes them down in the morning. Even during daylight it is dark, as there are only two small windows on each side.

"The roads are terrible – but this flavor is gorgeous" said Uncle Ned

1 A jaunt in Uncle Ned's gas buggy of the Nineties was quite an adventure. And another big thrill of that time was the appearance on breakfast tables of that new cereal treat Grape-Nuts.

2 Every time his horseless carriage stalled near a grocery store, Uncle Ned couldn't resist the temptation to get himself more of that malty-rich, nut-sweet flavor — just as folks today can't resist that same deliciously-different taste in POST'S GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES as well as Post's Grape-Nuts.

3 There's double reason for the double goodness of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes. They're made of two golden grains—not just one. Wheat and malted barley are blended a secret way, baked and then toasted to bring out all that distinctly-different flavor of these honey-golden, delightfully crisp flakes.

4 And Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes really set you up for a good morning, with carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials. Treat your folks to a big economy package of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes soon.

U.S. Gold Pile Now 24 Billion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP). —The United States government's mounting gold pile appears on the verge of topping the $24,000,000,000 mark, after rising about $1,700,000,000 the last 12 months.

The most recent report, for Tuesday, showed $23,996,169,474.59.

Never before has any country ever had so much gold. The United States board represents over three-fifths of the world's known supply.

Mining in the United States accounts for only a small part of the increasing gold stock. Most of the gain results from foreign countries' digging into their dwindling gold supplies to pay for purchases here not offset by sales or American aid funds.

Although officials wish the golden inflow would stop, the United States stands ready to buy an unlimited amount of the rest of the world's $14,000,000,000 or so of gold at the standard price of $35 an ounce.

One explanation for this situation is that if the United States stopped buying, the rest of the world might quit regarding gold as worth its present price — and the United States stock would lose value.

Mineral Wealth Said Untrapped

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP). — A famed Canadian geologist, who believes the Dominion hasn't begun to tap its mineral wealth, celebrates his 90th birthday Monday at his home at nearby Agincourt.

Dr. Joseph Burr Tyrrell said the search for minerals has only covered five per cent of the potential ore-bearing ground "and the last productive five per cent at that."

"We have been able so far to explore and prospect only those places where the hard rock outcroppings have given us clues," he said in an interview.

But the real mineral wealth lies below bogs and marshes, so far untouched, he said.

Dr. Tyrrell, holding a long list of honors from geographical societies, spent many years mapping and exploring the north. He has walked 600 miles across the barren lands from Lake Athabasca to Hudson Bay and spent seven years in the Klondyke.

Twice doctors have told him he was the victim of deadly diseases. Each time he returned to the north and recovered.

Boy Of 6, Dies Of Rare Malady

The funeral service for Arthur Kneale Magee, six year old son of Dr. Agnes Moffat and Dr. Russell Magee, which was held on Friday at 3 p.m. at the family residence, 597 Weller St., was largely attended by friends from the city, Toronto, Weston, Brampton and London.

The service was conducted by Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church who read the 23rd and the 100th psalms. Soft music, children's hymns, and passages of poetry suitable to childhood were rendered.

The large offering of flowers surrounding the casket and throughout the rooms, bore testimony to his popularity, and sympathy for the parents and sister Kathryn.

A rare malignant growth for which medical science, to date, offers little hope of cure, claimed his life, just four months after the earliest symptoms appeared, and was the cause of much sympathy from a wide circle of relatives and friends.

Interment took place in Little Lake Cemetery. The pall bearers were four young men, friends of the family, James Moffat, Jr., of Weston, Brackley and Charles Shaw of Omemee, and Ralph Burgess of Toronto.

Duke Gets Divorce

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(AP). — The Duke of Leeds obtained a British divorce Thursday from the Duchess on grounds of adultery. The Duchess obtained a Reno, Nev., divorce June 20, 1947, and married Frank Atherson Howard, a New York lawyer and former oil company executive, the next day. Britain does not recognize American divorces.

Besides, she's seen queerer-looking chapeaux than her own.

Cattle Market Shows Slump As Prices Drop

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP)— The Livestock Market here this week fell considerably short of last week's performance as steers and heifers dropped 50c-$1 and cows and bulls remained barely steady. Hogs lost 50 cents and good calves were steady, but the heavies were 50 cents lower. Sheep and lambs bucked the trend and ended 50 cents higher. The cattle run of 10,526 head included 2,000 stockers. There was a heavy holdover of 2,000 head.

From another angle though, action this past week does not look so bad. There were some 8,000 cattle sold, which is about 1,000 more than the weekly average before the embargo was lifted and prices, although down as much as $1, were higher by a couple of dollars over August 13 when the embargo was lifted. In light of these figures it looks as if the cattle trade might be evening off at a reosaonable level.

Top for weighty steers was $24.50 for choice with the other grades from $23 downward to $18. Butcher steers slowed ot $16-$21; a long string of boners sold at $13-$15.50. Heifers closed at $16-$20. Fed yearlings were $19-$25 with tops at $28. Butcher cows closed at $12.50-$16.50 with a few at $17. Canners and cutters were steady at $8-$12. Plain to medium bulls were mostly $15-$18, with good bulls up to $19.50. Stockers moved slowly at $15-$18.50. Good feeding steers sold at $19-$21. Ordinary quality milkers and springers sold at $135-$175 each.

2,637 Calves

Calves totalled 2,637 head. Good to choice veal calves sold steady at $27-$29 and other kinds were slow and lower with Western heavies closing at $16-$19 a hundredweight. Grass calves sold for slaughter at $13-$15.50.

Hogs were $2,418 head. Grade A closed 50 cents lower at $31, with Grade B1 at $30.60. Sows were steady at $23.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were 3,944 head. Good ewe and wether lambs were mostly $22.50, with some off cars at $22.75. Bucks sold at the usual $1 a hundredweight discount and culls were $13-$15. Sheep sold at $8-$9.50 for locals with light Western ewes at $10.

Find Toronto 'Hams' Pierce Iron Curtain

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Russia's iron curtain is being penetrated regularly by Toronto amateur radio operators — but the "hams" themselves say it is far from demolished.

Conversations between the Canadians and the Russians are handled entirely in dots and dashes. They consist solely of reports on signal strength, readability and tone. Later, some of the operators exchange cards, limited to reports on signals together with the time, date and place.

Roy D. Carter, a Toronto operator, said he feels Russian radio amateurs either do not understand English well enough to conduct anything but the laid-down talk on technical details or else they are afraid to say more.

Drivers Report Fog Conditions Worst In Years

"The fog at Cobourg Thursday night was the worst I've seen in 35 years—since I left England," John McLaren of Peterborough remarked to the Examiner this morning.

"It seemed to be worse on the pavement. Your lights were practically no use to you. I couldn't see the white strip on the pavement. You were helpless. Traffic was at a standstill.

Leaving Cobourg I got as far as the House of Refuge turn. I know that road as well as any. I was just crawling along. You say there was almost no visibility. At the turn I went off the pavement, and that was enough for me. I made it back to Cobourg and stayed there for the night. Many others were in the same boat, grounded for the night. Many Coming home this morning the fog was still bad in the country, but by going slowly I made it all right."

Huge Area Affected

The thick fog that cut driving visibility to 10 feet enveloped central Ontario, and motor traffic between Peterborough and Toronto and Belleville and Toronto was slowed to a 20 mile-an-hour pace.

The soupy mist moved in from the northern rim of Lake Ontario shortly after dark, and was so heavy it dripped from windshield wipers like a light rain.

Between Peterborough and Welcome, along highway 28, traffic poked along, as drivers peered through misty windshields guided by the white lines along the centre of the highway. On highway No. 2 to Oshawa, the traffic was in long streams. Transports westbound were a boon to passenger traffic which lined up behind the big trucks, and used the latter as trail blazers. It didn't seem to matter that the speed was below 30 miles, they all stayed in line.

Hotels and tourist homes in the cities and towns east of Port Hope did a land-office business as commercial men and other motorists took one look at the fog-shrouded roads and decided to stay where they were for the night.

It was the second night in a row that the transport drivers faced nightmarish driving conditions, and many of them pulled into service stations along highway No. 2, and went to sleep in the cabs, hoping a night wind, or a change in the weather would dissipate the curtain before early dawn.

Build City Garage

Oshawa board of works is spending $25,000 on a garage building. Peterborough council has occasionally thought of a similar accommodation for the city works department. It has also been suggested that auto repair shop be included in the building for upkeep of all city trucks and cars. Repair bills from private garages some times sharpen that wish, but is halted by the larger expenditures the council has to meet.

Suggest Making Old Church Memorial To Traill, Moodie

By NICK NICKELS

To twenty Lakefield people, Thursday was a day of special significance. They met at the Grove School to travel to historical points in the village of Lakefield and Young's Point, to pick up the threads of the past, to recall pioneer days so admirably recorded by those two grandmothers of Canadian literature, Mrs. Susanna Moodie and Mrs. Katherine Parr Traill.

To several the trip brought vivid recollections of family histories; the three Misses Atwood are granddaughters of Mrs. Trail, Mrs. Graeme Gorrie of Brockville, great-granddaughter of Mrs. Moodie, Mrs. Hubert Eisdell, great-grand niece of both ladies. Not of family connection, but descendants of the pioneers of Young's Point, mentioned in their writings were Capt. Patrick and Fred Young and their sister, Mrs. D. J. Foley; another sister, Miss Irene Young, was indisposed and unable to attend.

Information in the minds of these people might not have been publicly revealed had it not been for the spark of J. A. Edmison, KC, of Toronto whose relatives lived in the village and who knows district people and the countryside intimately. He says that his hobby, to offset a busy legal career, is to develop the fund of "Moodiana." It was he who organized the group and put the inspection tour in motion. With the ability to assemble first-hand stories from descendants and, with the great assistance of George A. Douglas, he believes that much more than mere recording can be accomplished.

Visited Former Home

The group left the Grove in five cars to first visit the home of Mrs. Traill, now owned by Reeve W. C. Grant, and situated on the west side of the canal and north of the bridges. "Westove," as it was named by its famous owner's husband's home in the Orkneys, was land given to Mrs. Traill by grant of Queen Victoria in recognition of her literary achievements.

The second stop was to view the little stone church of St. John on the main street. It was here that the late Rev. M. R. Hunt had ambitions of improving and landscaping the grounds and especially to restore the old graveyard where most of the district's pioneers are buried; through neglect, it had been turned into a weed-grown cow pasture of broken gravestones.

Mr. Edmison said that there was no reason why the grounds and buildings should not be refurbished by public and government funds to provide a fitting literary shrine to the famous Strickland sisters who had done so much to record Canadian pioneer life. He thought it was possible to develop the building into a site for the village's public library to house memoranda of the past.

As the cars swung along Highway 28 north on the Young's Point Road another stop was made to view the site of Mrs. Moodie's original home about a mile north or the Grove School and overlooking Lake Katchawanooka. It was here that Mr. Douglas was on firm ground adjacent to his own home further up the shore of the lake. With maps and photographs taken for his own pleasure, he took the party to the old limestone well, now choked with field stone, pointed out the last original apple tree that was in the Moodie yard, the stumps of giant lilac bushes and the site of the cabin.

Perfect Weather

The Indian summer haze of which Mrs. Moodie wrote so well hung over the panorama of hillside and lake and softened the rice marshes, Moodie's Island and the far Smith shore. The artistic setting has changed little and it was easy for the assembly to picture the surroundings that were recorded so faithfully in "Roughing It In the Bush."

As the sun was setting over Polly Cow Island, south of Young's Point, the party halted at the hamlet to meet the famous Young family, whose forefathers were good neighbours of Mrs. Moodie's. A photograph of historical interest was taken of immediate descendants beside the Young family cairn, erected by the late P. P. Young, in memory of his grandfather's founding of the hamlet. Before the cars returned to the Grove for Chapel and buffet supper, they stopped at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mackie of Toronto for the touring party to warm up by a cheery fireplace and have a cup of tea.

It was dark and ten minutes within Chapel time when the party arrived back at the Grove School. Led by Headmaster G. Winder-Smith the visitors joined the student body at evening prayers. Following this a buffet supper was served in the Head's sitting room while guests examined some original china plates, some priceless old books and original letters and a painting of asters done by Mrs. Traill when she was very elderly; they are the property of Mrs. Gorrie.

The group was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Graeme Gorrie of Brockville, Mr. and Mrs. G. Winder-Smith, J. A. Edmison, KC, of Toronto, the Rev. L. Delaney of St. John's Anglican Church, the Misses Atwood and their sister Mrs. Katherine Todd, George A. Douglas, Mrs. Hubert Eisdell, A. K. Kember, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mackie, Capt Patrick and Fred Young and their sister Mrs. D. J. Foley and Mrs. H. F. Ketchum.

Arena Donations Top $31,000, Canvass Goes On

House - to - house canvassers cleaning up divisions which have not been canvassed in the Civic Arena Campaign, continue to bring in considerable donations this week which has helped to swell the total amount received for this campaign, just ended, to well over the $11,000 mark.

Total donations for the entire Civic Arena Fund since its inception last winter now show slightly over $30,000 received. Additional pledges which are not included in the grand total would bring this amount up to at least another $1,000.

This means that the Civic Arena Committee is still short of about $9,000 from their primary objective of $40,000. It is hoped that the next few weeks will produce this amount.

Donations from the Garage Operators' Association exceeded $319.00 on Tuesday. Individual donations brought the day's deposit up to $600.

On Wednesday night the Y's Men's Club brought in their collections canvassed for the week. This along with other collections handed in by Elmer Hickey and Percy Killingbeck brought receipts up to $348.50 for the day.

Some of the individual donations received during the past few days are as follows: Gordon Matthews $50.00, Boorman's Beverages $25.00, Hamilton-Peterborough Freight Lines $35.00, Beatty Bros. Transport $35.00, St. Peter's Rectory $50.00, Hec Gray $25.00, Reuben Wilson $25.00, Williamson Bros. $50.00, Peterborough Automotive $75.00, Les Groombridge $25.00, E. L. 30 Years Ago This Week, Many Died Of Flu Ambrose J. Small Irked By Theatre Closing

Just 30 years ago this week, local theatres were ordered closed by the Medical Officer of Health. The Spanish influenza epidemic was at its height here then and churches discontinued Sunday services for a time, schools closed temporarily and even public funerals were forbidden. Dozens were dying almost daily, and the Oriental Hotel was turned into a temporary hospital for flu victims. It was a sad time in Peterborough, the autumn of 1918.

Indignation at the closing of the theatres was expressed by the owner of the Grand Opera House on George St. He held controlling interest in the Trans-Canada Theatres, including the local "Grand". He expressed the opinion that such a ban was unfair to business and the act was of little or no importance in halting the spread of the disease. Three years later, a few days before Christmas, this same man walked out of his Toronto office and disappeared. Nor has he ever been found since. He was Ambrose J. Small.

Suggests Bomb For Fathers Who Neglect Their Sons

Bert I. Burgess on Thursday night was re-elected president of the Peterborough Boy Scouts' Association. The annual dinner and election of officers was held at the Empress Hotel.

Elected were: Mr. Burgess, president; P. J. LaBranche, 1st vice-president, and P. Moore, 2nd vice-president; W. G. Shiner, secretary, and E. J. Macdonald, treasurer.

The eight executives for the year 1948-49 are Max Board, Frank Buckland, F. P. Burke, Dennis Fitzgerald, W. H. Frise, C. S. Johnston, B. Ottewell and J. Perry.

Ernest Wolff was unanimously elected district commissioner.

"I'd like to put a bomb underneath a lot of fathers who do nothing themselves and yet expect churches and schools to do everything with their sons," said Provincial Commissioner W. J. Tisdale, who was addressing the Scouts.

He suggested that fathers should take an interest in their boys' hobbies, acquiring of badges and other activities. "I know you can get closer to your boy through scouting than practically any other way," he said.

As a means of getting a smooth-functioning group committee he suggested that it should be composed of fathers who are interested in their sons. "Put them on a group committee and give them something to do," he said.

Not Spectators

Commissioner Tisdale emphasized the point that Scouts are trained to be participants not just spectators. "They learn how to do things," he said, "have self-reliance and know how to entertain themselves.

As yet, he said, commercialism has not invaded the scout movement: it remains a hobby and services are voluntary. "We can keep commercialization out of scouting," he said. "Let's keep it that way."

At the present time, the commissioner said, there is a drift away from the home, the church and the school. He advocated a chaplain for every troop and said that better use could be made of schools in the scouting movement.

"When you have that in the home, school and church, you have helped to mould a citizen in the most progressive years of a boy's life," he said.

"Scouting has never been so strong financially as today," he said. But he regarded this as a mixed blessing. In many instances, he contended, camp amenities and equipment came too easily to the boys.

"We don't want things handed to them on a platter," he said.

The local association was complimented by the commissioner on its business efficiency, and the international trips made this summer by several scouting groups came in for particularly high praise.

"These international visits are one of the happiest things about scouting," he said. "It can go far in the direction toward the brotherhood of man."

He cautioned the association that many prospective Scouts were lost to the movement when they reached the age of 11 or 12 years.

"Too many of our boys are being lost at 11 and 12 years because other interests have begun to creep in," he said. "Often it is because of lack of interest on the part of the Scout leader."

Reporting on the Scout section of the local association, Albert Hope said that at the moment there are 12 active troops, two non-active and one organizing, making a total roll of 276.

He said there had been a marked increase in hiking and camping activities during the past year. And he said that providing financial help to leaders who would have lost their pay otherwise, had proved of great assistance.

G. E. Groombridge reported that there are 11 active cub packs in the city and five more are reorganizing. Present cub membership is 360.

WIDEN WALLACE POINT RD.

A two-mile stretch of the county road leading to Wallace Point is being graded and widened. The main objective is to reduce a number of the sharp turns. Two graders, three or four trucks and several loaders are being used.

Call Meeting Big Users Next Monday

Peterborough gloom thickens today by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission reducing Peterborough's power quota to 229,700 kilowatt-hours (from 240,000) beginning Nov. 1.

The notification contributes the following light of explanation: "Gatineau power deliveries now reduce by 14,000,000 kwh and MacLaren-Quebec deliveries by over 5,000,000 kwh.

This is a total cut in excess of 19,000 kilowatt-hours per week. The Commission has therefore no alternative but to reduce your present quota to 229,700 kilowatt-hours beginning Monday Nov. 1".

Peterborough has been keeping close to the 240,000 kwh. mark Wednesday and Thursday the total was 244,000 kwh. each day, with 240,000 on Tuesday and 146,000 kwh Monday. After that accomplishment, as it appears, the Utilities Commission is calling a meeting of the large power users to be held in the council chamber Monday at 3 p.m.

This is a meeting of compliance. In the words of the Hydro, there is no alternative. Utilities have to make some shifts and the public has to find "ways and means" of turning off more offending switches.

Millburn School Pupils Mark Pioneer's Night; J. A. Edmison, KC, Attends

The children of Millburn's School on the Chemong Road received Thursday night an unforgettable lesson in the social life of their community from the first settlement of Smith township in 1818, in a program made memorable by the enthusiastic interest of Mr. J. Alex. Edmison, KC, Toronto. It was more than a sentimental tribute to the pioneers, and an appreciation of their hardships and labors in clearing the virgin woods for agriculture and all its rewards. The occasion recalled the British racial roots of the people who came into this province 130 years ago with the heritage of ideals and institutions which had been developed for them through the preceding centuries. And, particuladly, it stressed the continuity of family survival and of occupation of the land that has been a dominant influence in rural life.

Pioneers' night also left a suggestion, although it was not expressed, that local history should be preserved, and that a community owes to itself the keeping of the annals of its people and their affairs.

To enable the children to identify themselves more distinctly with the homeland of their forefathers, Mr. Edmison had arranged for a letter that recently came by air mail from Mayor W. Carmichael of Berwick-Upon-Tweed to Mrs. Iona Laidlaw, teacher at Millburn's School. It provided a present link between the younger generation of that section of Smith township and the Northumberland port from which their great-grandparents sailed in 1818.

Given Souvenir

And as a further remembrance of the past, each of the children received a copy of a de luxe edition of that literary classic of old Upper Canada, "Roughing It In The Bush," written by Mrs. Susanna Moodie, a narrative of the experiences of the first settlers of this part of Ontario. This gift was presented personally by Mrs. Graeme Gorrie of Brockville, great - granddaughter of Mrs. Moodie, who had spent the afternoon at Lakefield in the footsteps of her forbears and also as a guest at the Grove School.

Mr. Edmison also had a booklet present for the pupils of Mrs. Laidlaw, a copy to each of them of Blanche Hume's story of the talented daughters of a celebrated Suffolk family, "The Strickland Sisters," Catharine Parr Traill and Susanna Moodie.

An interesting aspect of this rural school event was the fact that it was an elaboration of a social study project which began in the course of school work, inspired by Mrs. Laidlaw, and, by chance, expanded in its significance an appeal by the painstaking co-operation of Mr. Edmison, a fourth generation representative of that section of Smith.

Mrs. Laidlaw recalled the incident in her introduction and outline of the purpose of the meeting of which Mr. Howard Clark, head of the trustee board of the school, was chairman. In its social studies the senior grade began a project relating to the life and times of the pioneers. At a teachers' convention she met Mr. Edmison who mentioned having an old picture of Millburn's school with its teacher and pupils of 1885. He said he would like to present an enlarged copy to the school.

"I told Mr. Edmison we would like to have him come some time, not knowing that he lived so far away as Toronto. In the meantime our study of the pioneers made a wonderful project, and gradually it developed into this evening's program of Pioneers' Night."

Greetings From England

Mrs. Laidlaw then read the letter from Mayor Carmichael of Berwick-Upon-Tweed. Its text was in part as follows, dated Oct 15:

"The town clerk informs me that he has learned from Mr. J. A. Edimson, KC, executive secretary of the John Howard Society of Ontario, that your small school is paying honor during the last week of this month to a group of pioneers who, in the year 1818 left this town and adjacent parts in Northumberland for Upper Canada, thus becoming the first settlers in the township of Smith in the county of Peterborough.

As Mayor of this ancient Borough of Berwick-Upon-Tweed, therefore, it affords me the greatest possible pleasure to send you a greeting on this happy and memorable occasion, and I would like to assure the students of your school that the home town has not forgotten its sons who endured all the hardships of pioneer life, and who contributed so much to the development of Canada.

It is pleasing to observe, too, that the school is named after settlers who were among those who went from Berwick-Upon-Tweed to Canada so long ago.

You have my best wishes for the success of the occasion, and I would like you to inform your pupils that we here in this far-off town of their origin will be thinking kindly of them."

Diary of Pioneer

Part of the program was provided by the pupils. They sang several choruses. Douglas Clark read an imaginary diary of the pioneers setting out from Berwick and after six weeks at sea landing in Canada, arriving eventually at York, sailing back to Cobourg and making their way into the centre of Peterborough county. Here and there Master Clark's account, that sounded as if it might have been factual, struck cue words that invited choral interpolations, old songs suitable to the theme.

Four girls debated the respective merits of early settlement times and today, and the decision went to the moderns, Kathleen Newnham and Leila Sanderson. Their opponents and advocates of a century ago were Doris Bell and Marie Moncrief. Their presentation clearly indicated that they had made considerable study of the way of life contemporary with "Roughing it in the Bush."

In his turn, Mr. Edmison congratulated Mrs. Laidlaw and the pupils on their program ability, and in simple words suggested to them that they should have some place in their studies and interests for the background of their families and community.

He told them their school was built in 1878, and asked them to imagine at times all the pupils like themselves who had occupied the seats in which they were sitting and which they would vacate. The first school in the area was built in 1831 on Isaac Millburn's lot. Mr. Edmison showed the children a copy of the death notice of his grandfather, John Edmison, who died April 21, 1887. His home was on lot 11, concession 3, where Alex. I. Edmison now lives. And John Edmison was 99 at his death.

Mr. Edmison suggested to the children that they should try to be observant of things in their own district that were connected with the past. He had asked them the date of the building of their school, and told them it was set in the front wall, something they could see every day, and should know.

Questioned Pupils

Mr. Edmison said Peterborough could claim many persons who had become notable and deserved to be kept in memory. If Mrs. Moodie and Mrs. Traill had lived in the United States their names and works would be honored with monuments and literary shrines.

In his mode of questioning, Mr Edmison elicited from the children that predominant characteristics of the pioneers were their courage and their industry and perseverance.

"We need those qualities today, and you will need them. Now and then we should think of our great grandfathers standing on the dock at Berwick, leaving behind them the comforts of the old English town for the hazards and the hardships they had to face in the wilds of Canada.

I am leaving on Saturday by plane for London and Paris, Vienna and Munich. One month from tonight I shall be in Berwick. I have a date with the Mayor and the town clerk and I shall be happy to tell them what happened here tonight in Millburn's School. And I shall be thinking of Mrs. Laidlaw and her class.

I know you will read Mrs. Gorrie's gift book with keen interest, and I am offering three prizes of five, three and one dollar for the best essays on that book written before next May. I sincerely hope that you will grow up to think well and speak well of your community."

Presented Group Picture

In presenting to the school the old group picture of 1885, enlargement of a tintype photograph, Mr. Edmison said he had identified most of the children of that time. The names were written on the back of it, and possibly the several blanks would be filled by elders who would see the picture.

The names he read were: Roscoe Brown, teacher; Bella Mahood, Maggie Millburn, Carrie Edmison ("my father's sister who died last year") Tillie Mahood, Minnie Scott, Lottie Scott, Maggie Edmison, ("my aunt") Eunice Millburn, Ida Bell, Katie Bell, Wes Millburn, Willie Bell.

secretary of home missions of the Presbyterian Church; his grandfather was John Edmison, and great grandfather was John Edmison, Sr., who died in 1887 at the age of 99 years. Those men of four generations are buried in the Little Lake Cemetery

The program included brief remarks by Mr. Leo Copp, principal of the Normal School; Mr G. Winder Smith, headmaster of The Grove; and Mrs. Graeme Gorrie who was accompanied by her husband.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Edmison was moved by the chairman, Mr. Clark, on behalf of the assembly, the trustees and the pupils and their teacher.

PIONEER NIGHT at Millburn School, Smith township, developed from a project in social study in which a school debating team and oral essayist traced the lives of pioneers in their immediate neighborhood. As the program's finale, Mrs. G. Gorrie of Brockville, great-granddaughter of the late Mrs. Susanna Moodie, presented each pupil with an autographed copy of her ancestor's famous book, "Roughing It In The Bush." Shown above, studying their copies, are, Front Row, Left to Right, Leila Sanderson, Mrs. Iona Laidlaw, teacher, Marie Moncrief. Second Row, Kathleen Newnham, Douglas Clark and Doris Bell.

—Examiner Staff Photo

TAKEN ABOUT 1885 this picture of the Millburn School and pupils has been presented to the school by John Alexander Edmison, KC, Toronto, a great-grandson of John Edmison, one of the Smith township pioneers (1818). Russell Lucas of Lindsay was fined $10, and $2.50 costs, in Police Court to-day when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. Evidence was given by Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis that the accused had been involved in a car collision in the village which caused about $50 damage to both cars. Lucas' car had been on the wrong side of the road, the Chief said.

New York Host To Three Pres. Candidates

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 —(CP)— The huge metropolitan area of New York, with a population almost as large as Canada's, drew the three major presidential candidates today in a final drive for its millions of votes.

Madison Square Garden, home of boxing, hockey, rodeos and circuses, is host in this last week of the campaign to President Truman, Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Henry Wallace.

Wallace and his Progressive party had a rally in the great arena Tuesday night. Thursday night Truman topped off the greatest day of his campaign from the point of view of crowds with a speech there. Tomorrow night Dewey winds up the long, strenuous trans-continental campaign with a final appeal to the electors.

Today Truman scheduled a busy round of speeches in the metropolitan area. Wallace planned to do the same, with a major speech scheduled for tonight in Harlem, the United States' largest negro district. Dewey was to arrive in the city this afternoon.

Dewey spoke Thursday night in Boston, third city in a row in which he has followed Truman by 24 hours. Truman, in his New York speech, seized the opportunity to refer to his Republican rival as his "shadow." But he charged the New York state governor was afraid to follow him in discussing such domestic issues as social security, housing, minimum wages, and labor legislation.

But almost at that moment Dewey was telling his Boston audience that if he is elected president Nov. 2 he will increase social security benefits, boost the minimum wage and provide a "stronger and expanded public health service."

Young Doctor Dies Of Disease He Cured

CHARLESTON, S.C., Oct. 29 — (AP). — The death Tuesday of a young surgeon ended heart-valve research which he had hoped would save his own life.

Dr. Horace G. Smithy, 35, his heart weakened by rheumatic fever in his youth, died of pneumonia and a heart condition similar to that which he relieved in operations on others.

His operation on Betty Lee Woolridge, 21, of Canton, Ohio, last Jan. 30 made medical history. He overcame two surgical difficulties encountered in the last previous unsuccessful attempts in the 1920s. The difficulties were to keep the heart beating and to see the valve. The Smithy technique cut away scar tissue in the valves that interfere with blood flow in the heart chambers.

Doctors at Roper Hospital, where he had been a patient the last month, said Dr. Smithy had planned to undergo an operation this fall to save his life.

Attacks IODE Move

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—(CP). — Efforts of national officers of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire to have the Dean of Canterbury barred from Canada were attacked Thursday by Rev. J. The IODE move is "an abuse of international goodwill," said Mr. Lee, chairman of the Ottawa committee arranging for the visit of the "Red Dean," Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson.

CCL Prepared To Readmit Mine Workers

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 —(CP)—A Canadian Congress of Labor spokeman said Thursday night the Congress likely will formally readmit the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers into its fold next week.

The union was suspended from the Congress two months ago for printing in its union paper what the C.C.L. termed "false and malicious" information, aimed at discrediting C.C.L. chieftains.

Delegates to Congress' annual convention in Toronto two weeks ago upheld the suspension move made by the Congress executive.

At that convention, John Clark of Chicago, International Smelter president, said an article in the official Smelter paper last July 19 was "erroneous and malicious," offered a "sincere apology" and appealed for reinstatement of his union.

Pat Conroy, Congress national secretary, criticized the apology as insufficient and warned against persons seeking to "take over" unions "for their own particular purposes."

Avoid Naming Reds

It was felt by some C.C.L. officials that the Smelters Union was Communist-dominated, but Mr. Conroy did not mention Communism by name. He said the writer of the article, which "slandered" Congress president, A. R. Mosher and another C.C.L. official, was a member of the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party who had been responsible for other charges that labor leaders were "selling the rank and file down the river."

(The article said that Mr. Mosher, also president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, tried to settle for less than the railway union's original wage demands during railway negotiations last summer.)

However, at a post-convention meeting, it was understood that the executive finally settled as its price for the union's readmittance a formal apology to be printed in the union's paper.

This, said a C.C.L. spokesman Thursday night, was done Oct. 11. There was nothing, now, he said, to prevent the Smelters Union from regaining its membership. He declined to comment on the Communism issue.

An official announcement by the Congress is expected Monday.

Canada Not Ready For Berlin Air Lift

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP). — Indications here are Canada is not yet prepared to take part in the Berlin air lift.

Government sources decline to comment on the Berlin situation but it is believed that Canada feels she would have no legal right to take part in the air carrying of supplies to the German capital.

Only the four occupying powers legally have a right within the Berlin area. If any outside country took part in the air lift, this would open the way for the Soviets to protest. There is a feeling among observers here that the western powers would rather not give Russia this opportunity.

Hurt At Station Awarded $5,500

SUDBURY, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Dorell Prosser, 38, of Sudbury, was awarded $5,500 and costs Wednesday by a civil court jury. Prosser sued the Canadian Pacific Railway for more than $20,000 for injuries received in an accident on the platform in front of the CP Express Company office here Nov. 19, 1946.

His left foot fell through a defective covering on an unused stairway, Prosser said, and the injury had been painful ever since.

The jury declared thicker planks should have been over the stairway, and the covering should have been inspected periodically. Earlier, Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly of Toronto had instructed the jury that much depended on whether Prosser was an invitee, a licensee, or a trespasser.

Kidnap Romance Failure Youth Appears In Court

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Oct. 29 — (CP). — Two Crown witnesses, both of whom have charged 22-year-old George Szautner with kidnapping, testified in city Police Court of a wild ride in which each believed death might be near.

The Muenster, Sask., youth elected to defend himself and pleaded guilty to a kidnapping charge laid by 21-year-old Bernadette Webber, nurse-in-training at a city hospital. But he pleaded not guilty to a similar charge laid by Gerald Harvey Miller, salesman from Unity, Sask.

Testimony by Miller and Miss Webber alleged Szautner met Miller on a city street Monday night, chatted, and then forced the salesman at gunpoint to drive his vehicle to the city hospital where Miss Webber was employed.

The girl was forcibly seized about 1 a.m. by Szautner, whom she had known all her life, it was alleged.

At speeds of 70 to 80 miles an hour, Miller was forced to drive the three toward Ormiston, Sask., 45 miles south, he testified. Szautner had called for greater speed and talked of death as the only way out for himself and the girl who would not marry him.

Near Ormiston, they lost their way and from a side road Miller was ordered to walk off. He said he telephoned police from a farm house whose frightened residents had a rifle near at hand and about 4 a.m. he and a RCMP constable found Szautner near the abandoned car. He testified a realistic toy gun was confiscated and Szautner had said the girl escaped into the darkness after asking for some fresh air.

In cross-examination, Szautner asked Miller what the girl had said during the ride and about the way she acted.

"You could feel her knees shaking," Miller replied.

He also said he had given her his rosary when she asked for it. The girl had asked Szautner if he were going to kill her, Miller testified, and the latter had replied: "Well, it looks like that is the only way out; I warned you before."

Miss Webber told the court she had gone to school with the defendant and that only last week, after seeing him in Moose Jaw several times, she "made it clear to him that I wouldn't marry him because I did not love him."

Last Friday they had travelled to Weyburn, Sask., on the train to visit her brother and he had said it would be "nice" if the train crashed and both were killed.

Saturday she received 12 roses from Szautner, she said, and on Sunday he told her he had intended to kill them both on the train and "wished he had."

Halifax Denies Churchill Book

LONDON, Oct. 29 — (CP) — Lord Halifax, pre-war foreign secretary Thursday came to defence of pre-war Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in a letter to the Times.

The letter says that Winston Churchill, wartime prime minister, in "The Gathering Storm," his latest book, "unintentionally does great injustice to Chamberlain" by suggesting that in 1938 "though Chamberlain did not himself have any faith in the durability of his settlement with Hitler he deliberately sought to deceive the British public into a contrary belief."

Churchill wrote "as his (Chamberlain's) car drove through the cheering crowds (at the airport on his return from Munich) he said to Halifax...'All this will be over in three months'; but from the windows of Downing Street ...He waved his piece of paper again and used these words 'I believe it is peace for our time'."

Lord Halifax says there was no connection between the two incidents. At the airport Chamberlain was predicting his popularity would not last—in fact the conversation ranged around the possibility of an immediate general election.

"Chamberlain no doubt had his facits; but economy of truth or lack of frankness was not among them," Lord Halifax adds.

FIRST OF ITS KIND in Canada, a successful experiment was carried out in Galt Thursday when a recording machine was used in court to preserve testimony. Polson is on bench. Between them are microphone and recording machine.

Progressive Orderly Reform Liberalism's Theme Aurora Speaker Tells Women

"Liberalism is a system of government based on human personal freedom and its leaders maintain a questioning attitude of mind—constantly searching for something better" Mrs. Lorne C. Lee of Aurora, president of the Ontario Liberal Women's Association, told women of the Peterborough riding at their rally Thursday evening. "We believe in progressive reform, changing about to cause the least discomfort to the people. When we cease to have a program of reform we become conservative" she continued. "Liberalism includes everyone, and follows a doctrine of optimism and action."

Liberals admit that many departments of government need changing the speaker said but they believe this should be done slowly and gradually to permit their standards of a generous decent way of life. She deplored the state of mind which often boasts of supporting the party that can give the most. "This is an attitude that is perilous as well as pitiful. Political parties have nothing to give. They only have the taxpayers money and to make offers is only bribing people with their own money." The alternative state of mind put forth by the speaker is good and applies to everyone. "To get the most out of the party in power all of us must work harder to take more from the land and produce more, bringing greater prosperity."

Mrs. Lee briefly outlined the policies of opposing political parties. 'Conservatives are the benign parents and as their name implies, have an aversion to reform. They are hesitant to act or make radical changes." Regarding socialism she said "They ignore the personal angle and consider all citizen employees of the state." The rank and file followers of the CCF were described as "mostly young, disgruntled, and discontented working people who are wistful, wishful and hopeful." They invariably feel that any successful politician should be mistrusted because he has not gained his place honestly."

Explaining the organization setup wor women in the National Liberal Federation, Mrs. Lee said the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, with offices in Toronto, is affiliated as a parallel organization with the Ontario Liberal Association and the Young Liberals Association. It comprises 75 to 80 clubs throughout the province who have organized in various ways which brings invaluable experience into an election campaign. She urged efforts to train women who are showing ability in various other organizations for political office. "Though the plans of women were submerged in the volume of business and resolutions brought up at the recent Liberal Convention in Ottawa, they took part in the discussions with men and threshed out disagreements. "We mustn't let democracy sag to a point where the best people do not offer themselves for public service," she cautioned.

The provincial association has laid out six districts in Ontario with Peterborough a part of the Central District, and leaders are anxious to form a women's association with a skeleton executive in the district to work in conjunction with the men's association.

With Mrs. C. M. Scott, president in the chair, business of the Association was taken up. A yearly membership fee was set, and plans made to raise further funds through a social evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Elliott in the near future. It was decided to have a constitution and Mrs. T. H. Doughty was appointed to chair a committee of three to draw it up. A course in public speaking with regard to the party policies and principles will be given with Mrs. Wm. Steinkraus as leader.

Three visitors at the meeting from the men's association spoke briefly. Mr. Chas. Elliott commented on the changes of leadership in the parties, both federal and provincial and referred to the background and experience of each. Of the present power shortage in Ontario he attributed the cause to lack of foresight on the part of the government, rather than to lack of rainfall and light precipitation. Mr. R. M. Glover gave high praise to the effectiveness of a women's organization during election time.

Dr. R. C. Honey contributed considerable food for thought when he stressed the advantage of continuity in an organization and urged organization to reach the young citizens who will have "come of age" before the next election. "We should endeavor to present the tenets of our party and its advantages to youth to those near the age of 21," he said.

convened by Mrs. Lillian Wood and Miss Nellie Tinney. Guest of the evening was Mrs. Jack Lewis of the YWCA board of directors.

Curling Lessons Arranged By Ladies' Club

The Ladies' Curling Club of Peterborough held their first meeting of the fall season at the rink Thursday afternoon. Purpose was mostly to familiarize new members with the activities of the Club. The curling schedule is to commence November 15, which is exceptionally early. Members look forward to a most successful season with the many changes and improvements at the rink contributing greatly.

Mrs. E. Metcalfe, president, was in the chair, as heads of various committees reported. Mrs. H. Bletcher, convener of leads and seconds, announced she has arranged for lessons to be given by three men players, and those wishing to avail themselves of this offer may contact her. Ice will be ready on November 1 and free lance curling may be indulged until the 15th.

New members welcomed at the meeting were Mesdames R. Millen, W. Woodcox, H. Eastwood, P. Sexsmith, L. Reynolds, H. Baptie, D. Anderson, C. L. Upper, E. Purvis, H. Lowes, H. Wilson, Toland, H. Ball, H. A Mitchell, Russell Morgan, B. E. Metcalfe, Earl Spenceley and S. Braund.

An informal tea was convened by Mrs. V. Selkirk and Mrs. J. Fanning, and servers were Mrs. Lionel Brown, Mrs. A. Malby Mrs. T. Welbourn, Mrs. M. G. McCartney and Mrs. L. H. Bearne.

Government Aid Needed Nurses Told

The necessity and value of some government recognition and financial support toward Nursing Education was stressed by Miss Madelene Baker, Registrar Consultant for Ontario, in an address to members of District 6, RNAO. following their annual meeting and dinner in the Empress Hotel. "All other branches of education are being given grants but it has been left to the occupier of a hospital bed to pay all expenses of educating a nurse," she remarked

"Nursing today is a professional challenge and a public responsibility" she said. "Three main factors which require constructive evaluation if we are to grow both professionally and individually and move forward to give best service possible to the people are: nurse training from the educational standpoint, the nursing service rendered by nurses, and relationship of the nursing profession to the community."

The public accepts hospital nursing service more or less as a matter of fact now, but little thought is ever given to the actual mechanics and costs of running the institution, and hardly any to the "School of Nursing" it maintains to educate young women to serve them. Until recently this has been the sole source from which nurses came with basic training. Findings of the University plans now being conducted should alert the nursing profession the public and the government bodies as to the actual cost of conducting a school of nursing the speaker pointed out.

"Nursing service, the product of nursing education, is one of the great needs of the masses of people today, and it would therefore seem reasonable that the public assume some financial responsibility. The rapidly expanding fields of Public Health nursing and the visiting nursing service carried on by the Victorian Order of Nurses is proof of the value of these services" said Miss Baker.

"Nurses in private practice give services of vital importance to the community, meeting emergency of acute illness at whatever hour it may strike. The demand far exceeds the supply, however, and in order to ensure the most critically ill are given precedence for nursing care, there is need for a central registry." In Peterborough the two hospitals keep registries, but when an emergency arises neither knows if a nurse is working at the other one, so many calls are often necessary, frequently disturbing the nurses' sleep. In addition, the potential nursing strength in the community is unknown.

The speaker was introduced by Miss A. L. Thompson, superintendent of Peterborough Civic Hospital, and principal of the School of Nursing.

Birthday Party

APSLEY, Oct. 29 — (ENS) — Murray McColl celebrated his seventh birthday by giving a party to chums at school. They enjoyed games and supper was served at a table decorated with blue and white. Those present were Alian Caton, Gordon Graham, Bobbie Hales, Murray McCormack, Jimmy McDonald, Harry Ross Reynolds, Arnold Brown and Allan Trotter.

Legion Ladies' Auxiliary Feature Raffles at Tea

Raffles were a means of putting a keen edge on the wide interest taken in the Hallowe'en tea given Thursday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary in the Canadian Legion hall. A bouquet of huge bronze chrysanthemums, realistic enough to deceive anyone, and a triangle scarf, hand crocheted of fine white wool, were displayed on a small table where Mrs. S. Sarginson and Mrs. I. Wilson sold draw tickets. The flowers are now the property of Mrs. F. Merrett and the scarf was won by Mrs. A. Mason. A very pretty shell picture was an added attraction on the apron table and the winning ticket draw on it was held by Mrs. P. Castle. A pound of chocolate featured on the home-made candy table was won by Mrs. W. Addyman. However, the winner of the biggest and best prize offered will not be known until early in the new year so ticket holders can enjoy the thrills of anticipation. It is a large hand-crocheted lace tablecloth, the work of Mrs. J. Sanderson. Mrs. R. Ritchie, treasurer for the tea, was selling the raffle tickets.

Pleasing entertainment for the large crowd of guests was given by Mrs. A. Wagstaff who sang two selections. She was accompanied by Mrs. M. Morrow at the piano.

Small witches with lollipop heads, some sombrely attired in black with orange trim, others bright and gay with colors reversed, highlighted the quartette tables, conveniently arranged for serving, and formed a circle on the tea table. A very attractive and fitting centrepiece was of large orange poppies arranged in a black vase, and the effect was heightened with an oval reflector, and flanking black candles.

Tea pourers were Mrs. Harold Scott, Mrs. Harold Yelland, Mrs. Chas. Ray and Mrs. B. W. Harvey and the hostesses were Mrs. F. Patterson, Mrs. S. Windsor, Mrs. B. Rollins, Mrs. A. Wade and Mrs. G. Gynane. Plates were replenished by Mrs. W. Saunders, Mrs. J. Earnshaw and Mrs. P. Castle, and tea was made by Mrs. H. Beresford and Miss A. Jenkinson.

A gracious welcome was extended by the receiving line of Mrs. A. Parrington, president, Mrs. G. Downer, past president, and Mrs. A. Mason, first vice-president. Conveners responsible for the highly successful event were Mrs. A. Mason and Mrs. G. Stevens.

The home cooking display was of highest quality and quantity, and included some preserves. Mrs. M. Dormer, Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. H. Woods were the attendants. The home-made candy fudge was offered in attractive small baskets in the Hallowe'en colors by Mrs. L. Moscrop and Mrs. C. Downer. Cotton print had been made up into pretty aprons and these were offered for sale by Mrs. C. H. Porter and Mrs. E. Houghton.

Proposed Nurses' Registry Would Give Wide Service

Spadework toward establishing a central nurses' registry in Peterborough has been done this week by Miss Madelene Baker of London, Ontario, registrar advisor for the Registered Nurses' Association of this province, who is here on invitation of private duty nurses. Final decision now rests with graduate nurses who will vote on the matter this evening.

Membership would embrace properly qualified registered nurses to attend the acutely ill, nursing assistants—the new term for practical nurses—who would take charge of less serious cases, and housekeepers to cover emergency illness in the home. Standards for admission would be: registry in the province for the former class; some trained assistants, and all properly qualified to do the work required; credentials required from everyone are very thoroughly evaluated. Members would be sent out under their true colors and the employer would get exactly what he is paying for on a standard rate system for each type of service.

The proposed registry office would function under a local board of directors representative of nurses in all fields, the medical profession and the public. It would also carry a "counselling program" through which members would be given advice on personal problems and professional growth; also open to the public to discuss their nursing needs at any time, and to employers of nurses in regard to those properly equipped to do the job. The record system maintained would establish data on the amount of nursing required in the community which will be very beneficial when a national health service is introduced. An educational program would keep all members up to date on nursing procedure, thus ensuring efficiency.

Twenty-four such registries are already in operation in Ontario with backing of the RNA, and they function as separate units and in co-operation with each other most successfully. Miss Baker is the registrar advisor, available to each for consultation. These offices also offer a "call-answering" service to the doctors who may request it when they are to be absent from their own telephone. They are also prepared to take after-hour calls of the VON if desired. A 24-hour service is maintained 365 days in the year, thus meeting the emergency requirements in both homes and hospitals. The office stands prepared to cover emergency service of disaster magnitude which may occur. A community service in the truest sense of the word, the registry would be equally important to citizens, police and firefighters.

DOROTHY DIX

Living With Her In-laws Fatal Mistake for Bride

DEAR MISS DIX: Everyone says that it is not good for a young married couple to live with their in-laws. We are going to live with my husband's mother for about six months until he is out of college and gets a position. His mother says that she will be glad to have us. She seems like a very nice woman. At least I never have had an argument with her.

Do you think it wise for us to stay with his mother for a while, or try to find an apartment?

L. T.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: It is a fatal mistake for any young couple to go to live with their in-laws whether they are his or hers. Any bride and groom who are foolish enough to do this had just as well have a divorce coupon attached to their marriage license. This sounds like a sweeping assertion, but if you will think of all the wrecked marriages at whose autopsies you have assisted you will realize that is it nothing but the simple truth.

Delicate Adjustments

Human nature being what is it, living with Mama and Papa is bound to work out that way. For when a girl and boy get married, they are starting on a great experiment. They are undertaking to get acquainted with each other, to adjust themselves to each other, and whether they make a success or a failure of it depends upon their being left alone to do it, with no interference from the outside.

This is an impossibility if they are living with their in-laws. If there were no on-lookers, John's and Mary's little spats would end in a kiss and no harm done, but with Mother and Father taking sides in the quarrel it becomes a major issue that ends in the breaking up of another marriage.

Add to this the fact that Mother can't help feeling that her son's bride should make herself a doormat for him to walk over, and that Father resents his darling daughter's husband not being a millionaire, and that both of the parents feel called upon to give them advice on every subject in the world and to regulate their every act, and you will not wonder why divorce is so common. You will be surprised that it isn't universal.

If middle-aged couples want to live with their in-laws, let them do it. By that time they have learned to give and take and to get along with other people. But it is too dangerous a risk for the young and inexperienced to undertake. Probably no other one thing in the world causes more unhappiness than sons and daughters bringing their wives and husbands home to live with their parents. In-laws just don't try it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 28 and am very much in love with a fellow of the same age. I have been going with him for six months, but he keeps telling me that we are only good friends and that I shouldn't get any notions.

Please tell me what to do. Shall I tell him I love him? Every time he comes to see me he keeps reminding me that we are only friends and that I should go out with other men. Why does he keep saying we are only friends?

ANSWER: When the lad harps on the "only friends" theme, he is just ringing the alarm bell to warn you that he is not in love with you and has no intention of asking you to marry him. He feels that he is doing the honorable thing in telling you not to cherish any vain hopes about his coming across with a wedding ring.

But I think that when he insists so much upon the fact that you are merely friends that he is whistling to keep his courage up and trying to convince himself that he doesn't think as much of you as he really does. Probably he doesn't want to marry, or he may not be in a position to marry, and he doesn't want to give you any hold upon him, but, all the same he keeps coming to see you, which he wouldn't do so if he didn't really care for you.

My advice to you is not to tell him that you love him, for that will scare him off. Just go on being good friends with him and some day he will abandon the "only friends" myth for being Friend Husband.

WITH OPENING NIGHT but two weeks away, the cast of the 1948 University College Follies is really getting down to business producing the show that will pack Hart House Theatre for three performances on each of two nights, Nov. 12 and 13. Rehearsal shots at yesterday's routine practice saw (left) Jane Young and Barbara Chisholm testing their dance stability atop a piano bench, with Midge Geary a severe critic. Middle is a photographic puzzle as to how it was done, but the girls from bottom to top, are: Marianne Dand, Sylvia Cohen, and Nancy Shafran. The six happy faces suspended in mid-air at the right belong to Joan Langlois, Pamela Franklin, Rachael McKay, Shirley Ash, Ruth Pearce and Jean Slack, all members of the chorus.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, October 30

A lively state of affairs, with all efforts speeded up to exciting and constructive climax either in new propositions or projects, in travel, change, pleasant contacts and agreements. The pursuit of pleasure for weekend holidays might also thrive under a happy stimulus of sidereal forces. However, it would be wise carefully to study and plan all performances, since there is a tricky undertone, calling for alertness and discretion. Look for the hidden factor, then act with finesse and stratagem.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may prepare for a lively and eventful year with much stirring on new propects or in fresh fields of operation. The creative forces and faculties are under excellent stimuli for productive work, although there are suspicious or tricky undertones to cope with, and in a peremptory and drastic manner. Study carefully underlying factors, look for pitfalls and "catches," then proceed on a direct and forthright plan, although using tact and finesse. Subtlety and strategy might pay better than strife or friction. Similar tactics should also prevail in personal complications.

A child born on this day will be earnest, energetic and clever, but might also find it expedient to resort to the "easiest way."

Prices Board Begins Report To Government

By WILLIAM WILSON

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 — (CP). — The prices commission, through the main stage of its public investigation of the high cost of living, adjourned indefinitely Thursday to allow the members time to work on their report to the government.

The report must be presented before the next session of parliament, expected in January.

The commission began its public hearings Aug. 3, after a special committee of the Commons had sat from February until the end of June studying the same question—why commodities in common use" cost more today than they did several years ago.

Since the prices inquiry generally got under way early this year the costs and prices of 11 commodities have been probed. The parliamentary commission studied fruit and vegetables, bread, butter, meat and textiles.

The commission's adjournment Thursday followed a morning session devoted to a re-examination of two textile companies which had appeared before the Commons committee.

Two Witnesses

The commission called two witnesses—C. C. McKellar, general sales manager of Dominion Textiles Ltd., and W. J. Whitehead, president of Wabasso Cottons Co. Ltd.—to try and discover why production of shirt materials has fallen.

They obtained no clear answer so far as the industry as a whole is concerned. Mr. Whitehead said that, because of a lack of labor, his firm's production as a whole is lower than pre-war. Mr. McKellar was questioned for 40 minutes. Finally commission counsel H. A. Dyde dismissed him and said it would be necessary to call another officer of the company. Mr. McKellar had explained that, as sales manager, he was a merchandizing officer, not a production man.

Thirteen association — ranging from the Canadian Chambers of Commerce and the Canadian Association of Manufacturers to women's groups and labor organizations—have been invited to submit briefs. There still is no indication how many of the groups will actually appear during the investigation of consumer credit.

QUEEN'S GRADUATE at its fall convocation on Oct. 30 Warren A. Trotter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trotter, Reid St., will receive a B.Sc. degree in Engineering. An honor graduate at PCVS, he was employed as a draftsman at the CGE for five years and served in the RCNVR during the war.

Seven Admirals Plead Innocent

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 29 — (AP)— Seven former Japanese Admirals, including a grandson of the late Emperor Meiji, today pleaded innocent of charges of robbing, torturing and murdering 800 survivors of torpedoed allied ships.

They are among 43 members of the one-time Imperial Japanese navy on trial before a United States army commission. The defendants are accused of conspirng in atrocities against British, French, Indian, Dutch, Norwegian and American survivors of at least 11 ships sunk in the South Pacific and Indian Oceans by Japanese submarines.

Survivors were machine-gunned in the sea and in lifeboats, and were clubbed with pipes and sledge hammers, bayonetted and shot on submarine decks, the prosecution charges.

The grandson of Emperor Meiji is vice-Admiral Teruhisa Komatsu 60, a former commander-in-chief of the Japanese sixth submarine fleet from March. 1942, to June 1943.

Other admirals on trial are: Vice-Admiral Hisashi Ichioka, Vice-Admiral Tasuku Nakazawa, Rear Admiral Kyugoro Shimamoto, Read Admiral Noboru Ishizaki and Read Admiral Haruo Katzuta.

Revision Court Grants Seven Appeals

Court of Revision on the 1949 city assessment rolls Thursday night dealt with 19 appeals presented. Thirteen of the appeals were for reduction in assessments and seven of these were granted reductions by the court. There were no major properties involved.

The court was composed of John A. Harstone, chairman, T. C. Ephgrave and Fred Finnie. It will meet twice next week—on Wednesday to deal with four specific appeals and on Thursday evening to consider the rest of the appeals.

The following appeals were heard and decided Thursday night:

Property at 962 Monaghan Rd.: assessment of $175 reduced against Dorothy and William Hughey, former owners, and added to assessment of Florence and Clarence Clarke, new owners. Approved by court.

Property at 62 Dunlop St.: Question of ownership presented by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Green, who sold lot to Harry Mitchell for use as gravel pit. Both have been assessed, and neither have paid. Agreed by court that, if no payment made, it is agreeable that the property be taken by the city for taxes arrears.

Property of 485 Donegal St.: Transfer of assessment from William Dulmage to Mrs. Florence Dulmage and Mrs. Fannie J. Welbanks. Approved by court.

Mrs. Annie Sandercock, appeal on assessment on four buildings. Failed to Appear Lillian E. Helson, Sarnia, appeal on assessment of property at 77 Park Hill Rd., assessed at $1,975. Appeal dismissed as appellent did not appear.

John J. Heffernan, appeal on assessment of property at 455 Elm St., assessed at $1,800. Appeal dismissed.

John E. Gaskell, appeal on assessment of property at 635 Montrose Ave., assessed at $2,025. Assessment on building reduced by $100.

Mrs. Edna I. Fairweather, appeal of assessment of property at 147 Hunter St., assessed at $2,000. Assessment of building reduced Bradburn Securities Limited, appeal of assessment of properties at 643 George St., 156 Edinburgh St. and 158 Edinburgh St., total assessment $3,000. Assessment reduced $50 on each building.

Raddon, 282 McFarlane St. asking for change in the rolls from public school supporters to separate schools. Mr. Raddon's appeal was for a tenant in an apartment. Appeals granted.

Appearing for the City Assessment Office were Cyril Agnew and Ralph Rowland.

Given Three Months

Only liquor case before court today was that of John Jordan, 629 Union St., who was sentenced to three months in jail when he pleaded guilty to being drunk in public as a third offender.

Roy Dovell, Ennsmore, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for driving without a license.

Gordon Thompson, Owenbrook, Ont., was fined $3 and $2.50 costs for having no license for a car radio.

Footage Off East Side, City Adds To West As Court Straightens Out Property Tangle

A neat little tangle involving encroachment on land, Counter-encroachment on other land and delayed good intentions was straightened out by the Court of Revision Thursday night.. George A. Jefford, 96 Dufferin St., appeared before the Court to appeal assessment of his land. He was assessed for 50 feet frontage and claimed he had only 40 feet.

The complicated story emerged after Mr. Jefford, city assessment officials and City Clerk E. A. Outram had all had their word in to explain. Apparently, some years ago, when the city was extending Ross St. to reach Nicholls Oval, the manner in which the street was laid off cut 10 feet off the east side of some of the lots, including Mr. Jefford's.

To make up for this, the city purchased a lot adjoining, which gave the effected householders a compensating 10 feet on the west side.

Only snag, as Mr. Outram pointed out, was that the city had not yet made the formal transfer of that 10 feet to Mr. Jefford. As Court Chairman John D. Harstone pointed out, the city could not assess a taxpayer for land which was owned by the city.

When Mr. Outram, for the city, told Mr. Jefford that the deed for the footage should be delivered within a week, Mr. Jefford agreed that the arrangement would straighten out the matter and he would withdraw his appeal.

THE GOOD OLD TOWN

Mayor William Ovens, back from a business trip to Atlantic City, seems content with Peterborough. "Yes, it's nice there," he admitted. "But they can keep their board walk—I still like George Street." It may have been mayoral loyalty which prompted him, but it sounded sincere.—RB.

Bishop Of Lishui At Cathedral

Most Rev. Kenneth Turner, DD, recently consecrated Bishop of Lishui, China, is coming to St. Peter's Cathedral, Sunday, the feast of Christ the King of the World. His mission territory has been raised to the status of a diocese. It is situated in south China and since 1925 has been the responsibility of the Scarborough Mission Society of Scarborough Bluffs.

This society had the honor of sending the first English-speaking priest from North America to the mission field of China in the person of Rev. John M. Fraser who returned to Canada in 1918 and instituted a college at Almonte for the training of priests for work in China.

Bishop Turner has spent eight years there. His diocese comprises a population of nearly three million people of whom only 6,000 are Christians. Of the 23 priests in Lisui, five are native Chinese. There are also 10 Gray Nuns of the Cross who are engaged in hospital clinics and in other works among the poor of the district.

Bishop Berry will celebrate pontifical at 10:30 a.m. Sunday for the solemnity of the feast of Christ the King.

He spoke at a government dinner welcoming the Canadian parliamentary delegation, headed by Gaspard Fauteux, Speaker of the Canadian House of Commons. The party arrived in Athens Wednesday night on a four-day visit.

Stagger Hours In School, Ease Crowding

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 29—(ENS) —Staggering of school hours for pupils in the two junior rooms of the Lakefield public school, to relieve overcrowding, was decided this week when the Board held an emergency meeting. Public school inspector, K. O. Birkin, of Peterborough, was present, as well as all members of the board and Principal E. G. Sloan and staff.

It was felt by the teachers of the junior rooms, that had they fewer pupils, they could give more individual attention and teaching to the children, and by dividing the classes so that half came from 9 to 12 a.m. and the others from 1.30 to 4 p.m. better results could be obtained.

This plan met with the approval of the inspector and board and will go into effect on Nov. 1.

TRAIN CLIPS CAR

About $100 damage was caused to the car of Gerald V. Mahoney, 525 Patterson St. when it was struck by a CNR train at the Townsend St. crossing Wednesday night. The driver was not injured. The engine hit the car on the right side and pushed it 70 feet before it came to a stop. PC Donald Mackay investigated.

Border Water Pollution Inquiry Begins

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Oct. 29 —(CP) — First Canadian hearings in an investigation aimed at eliminating pollution of Canada-United States border waters will be opened at Windsor Nov. 17 by the International Joint Commiisson.

The commission a Canada-U.S. body which has jurisdiction over the use of boundary waters, has been engaged for more than two years in the anti-pollution study dealing with streams lying between Ontario and the neighboring U. S.

Up to now, its work has consisted largely of investigating by its board of technical advisers, followed by recent hearings in Detroit.

Under a joint reference from the Canadian and U. S. governments, the commission is inquiring into reports that sewage and industrial wastes are polluting the St. Clair river, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit river, all in the southwestern Ontario border area, the St. Mary's river between Lakes Superior and Huron, and the Niagara river.

Hearings at Windsor and Detroit will deal with the waters in that area. Sessions will be held at Detroit Nov. 15-16, and the Windsor sittings will be on Nov. 17-20.

From there, the commission will move to Sault Ste. Marie, for a Nov. 22 hearing dealing with the St. Mary's river.

Delinquents Act Change Suggested

TORONTO, Oct. 29 — (CP) — A change in the juvenile delinquents act as a step to reduce juvenile deliquency was advocated on Thursday in a report by the Citizens Research Institute of Canada.

The report suggested that more people should be covered by the act. It said more juvenile courts were needed because nearly half the country's juvenile defenders now must appear in adult courts.

It added that several cities have reduced juvenile delinquency by enlisting schools, police and other agencies in "a broad program to meet the valid recreational needs of growing boys and girls."

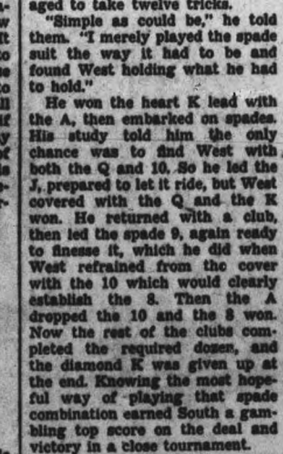
KNOW COMBINATIONS

MOST advanced players have studied lots of different combinations of the cards in order to know the best ways to play them. It would take a good many hours to figure out the advisable course with certain lineups, in order to take all the tricks in a suit, all but one, all but two, etc. But if a player has devoted time away from the game to fixing some of them in his mind, he can save his moments during the game and devote them instead to a consideration of other factors.

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	6 NT



That was not the soundest bidding in the world, but it proved the most profitable on this tournament deal. Other declarers, in a mere 3-No Trumps, simply ran ten tricks after the heart 2 lead, so when they later saw the score returned by South at this table they couldn't understand it unless South had received a diamond lead to build up his K and then had executed a squeeze upon West between spades and the heart J. When this declarer then said the heart K had been led, they couldn't understand how he managed to take twelve tricks.

"Simple as could be," he told them. "I merely played the spade suit the way it had to be and found West holding what he had to hold."

He won the heart K lead with the A, then embarked on spades. His study told him the only chance was to find West with both the Q and 10. So he led the J, prepared to let it ride, but West covered with the Q and the K won. He returned with a club, then led the spade 9, again ready to finesse it, which he did when West refrained from the cover with the 10 which would clearly establish the 8. Then the A dropped the 10 and the 8 won. Now the rest of the clubs completed the required dozen, and the diamond K was given up at the end. Knowing the most hopeful way of playing that spade combination earned South a gambling top score on the deal and victory in a close tournament.

Penitentiary Murderer Sentenced To Hang For Killing Messenger

Austin Craft Goes To Gallows January 24; Says Shooting During Escape Was 'Accidental' Court Told 'No Chance To Learn Of Love'

KINGSTON, Oct. 30—(CP).—Austin Craft will end his life of crime on the gallows Jan. 24. He was sentenced to hang by Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay after a Supreme Court jury found him guilty of murdering Kingston Penitentiary messenger John D. Kennedy. Craft, 47-year-old convicted bank robber, admitted firing the two shots that killed Kennedy as he and 21-year-old Norman Urquhart escaped from the Federal prison last April 26.

But he claimed that the shooting was accidental and he didn't aim at anyone."

Urquhart also must stand trial for the murder. He had been serving a 20-year manslaughter sentence for the 1945 shooting of Meyer Tobias, a Toronto furrier.

After pleading during the trial that he was insane at the time of the shooting, Craft heard the sentence calmly. He told the judge: " . . . I know there is only one sentence you can pass on me—that of death.

Says "No Hate"

"I know that you will pass the death sentence with no hate or anger to me . . . I took none with me into this courtroom and I take none out with me."

Craft was serving 10 years in the penitentiary for the robbery of the Hamilton bank.

He told the court the story of his life as he conducted his own defence in the four-day trial after "firing" a lawyer he said too[illegible]

He had been sent to the orphanage at the age of five, he said, recalling a life that had given "no chance to learn of love."

He was given a penitentiary term in the United States for car theft, judged insane and deported to Canada. Three penitentiary terms—for car theft and robbery—in Canada followed, the third one was interrupted when he was sent to the Ontario hospital for criminally insane.

Crown psychiatrists, however, testified that Craft was not mentally ill.

Craft's only grievance was that the psychiatrists who examined him should "have come to their decision as to my sanity before the trial started." He said he objected to their presence in the courtroom during the trial.

McAllister Trial For Murder Starts Monday

LINDSAY, Oct. 30 (Staff). — Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario open here on Monday. Presiding will be His Lordship Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven. The list, which includes a number of lesser cases, has a full schedule—four major charges.

The Grand Jury on Monday will be asked to bring in true bills on one murder charge, two for manslaughter, and one for attempted rape.

Heading the list is the murder trial of Mrs. Jean McAllister of Kirkfield, who faces the charge in connection with the Labor Day week-end shooting of her husband, John McAllister, at their lonely home near Kirkfield, north of Lindsay. H. E. Richardson of Lindsay is counsel for the accused. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, Lindsay, will [illegible] case for the prosecution.

Both manslaughter cases are in connection with highway fatalities. One charge is against 22-year-old Douglas Lamb of Lindsay.

The other motor manslaughter charge is faced by 34-year-old Alexander B. Grant of Woodville. His car was involved in an accident July 12 in Woodville A passenger, Alexander McDuffy, 65, of Woodville, died on July 19 as a result of injuries received.

A charge of attempted rape has been laid against James Steadman of Lindsay.

New Wage Offer May End Tie-up

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 30 — (CP)—The 320,000 islanders in this Canadian province-designate today awaited a decision on the paralyzing strike that halted railway traffic during the last 19 days.

The railway co-operative board—representing 2,500 workers in 18 brotherhoods—was considering a government offer of a 10-cent hourly increase to low-paid employees and a seven-cent jump to others.

Chairman J. J. Neill of the Public Utilities Board presented the compromise formula Friday in the face of repeated union statements that it would remain off the job indefinitely for a 15-cent hourly hoist. The government previously had offered a seven-cent increase.

Trans-Canada Air Lines bolstered its service to Newfoundland when the railway-owned Cabot Strait ferry was tied up and Maritime Central Airways started a passenger service between St. John's and the island's west coast.

The United States Army Air Force started an "Operation Vittles" parachute drop to supply lonely radio repeater posts. TCA began twice-daily food flights to the mighty Gander airport.

MONTREAL, Oct. 30.—(CP).—Sentences of five years in penitentiary were imposed by Judge Armand Cloutier Friday on Owen Nickerson, 20, and Walter Field, 22, for almost blinding a man before robbing him of $2 and a fountain pen.

The victim, T. S. Brady, appeared in court with both eyes still half closed as the result of the beating he received from his assailants shortly after 3 a.m. Oct. 16.

Police said there was a possibility that Brady might lose his sight completely or partially as the result of the attack.

RISING FROM HIS SICK BED for the occasion, Prime Minister Mackenzie King was given an honorary degree by the University of London in the British capital this week. Prime Minister King, who will sail for Canada this week-end, is shown here as Earl of Athlone, former governor-general of Canada, confers the degree while university officials look on.

Hooey Guilty Manslaughter, Gets Five Years

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 30 — (CP). — Arthur Hooey, 23, of Owen Sound, has been sentenced to five years in penitentiary for the stabbing last March 6 of Allan Crowe, also 23.

Hooey was tried for murder. But the Assize Court jury, which brought in a verdict late Friday after three hours deliberation, reduced the charge.

Admitted as evidence was a statement in which Hooey was quoted as telling police that he stabbed Crowe in the neck with a knife at the home of Angus Cameron.

"They tried to barge in and I let him have it," the statement quoted Hooey.

Crown Attorney C. C. Middlebro said in his address to the jury that even if Hooey had been assaulted, the force he used was "unreasonable."

Defence Counsel Russell McAvoy claimed that Hooey had acted in self-defence.

"He was sleeping peacefully and soberly when three drunken hoodlums came down the street and tried to break into his home," said Mr. McAvoy. "I don't think that three drunken hoodlums are permitted to come into my home or your home in this manner. Hooey was not only protecting himself but also six other persons in the house as well as his property."

Police Drive Pickets Back, Miners Returning To Work

PARIS, Oct. 30—(AP).—French miners went back to work in increasing numbers under police and military protection today as government forces drove pickets from 20 more struck pits.

No figures were available as to how many miners actually are back on the job, but non-Communist union leaders have ordered all their followers to return to work. The non-Communists claim 150,000 of France's 335,000 miners.

Communist union leaders gave no verbal sign of weakening as the strike went into its 26th day, but their followers no longer are resisting police and troops who ousted pickets from the pits.

This lack of organized resistance has boosted government hopes that the costly tie-up is nearing an end.

The national defence minister, Paul Ramadier, said the situation may be so well in hand next week that troops can be withdrawn from the coal fields.

On the other hand, the Communists had about 30 coal ships tied up in French ports, through a dockers' strike, Ramadier said he thought this tie-up would be settled shortly.

The government announced Friday that "an important number" of passenger trains would be suspended as of Nov. 3 because of the coal shortage.

Electricity has been severely rationed. Stores will be forbidden to light advertising signs or show windows. To date the strike has cost about 4,000,000 tons of coal and the dockers' walkout has tied up some 300,000 tons of fuel on ships in the main ports.

Two non-Communist mine union leaders wrote John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America (AFL), Friday that the strike is mostly political.

West's Strength Will Deter War Says St. Laurent

HULL, Que., Oct. 30 — (CP)—Nations desirous of peace can prevent a third World War by keeping a preponderance of military strength on their side, Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday night.

In an address at a dinner meeting of the Quebec Rural Bar Association, he said a preponderance of force on the side of the Western Powers would prevent the Russians from "kicking us" out of Berlin and would deter the Soviet from setting off another war.

Referring specifically to the situation in Berlin, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"At the moment apparently the Russians cannot kick us out. I think the way to stop them from doing it is to keep in a position where they cannot kick us out."

Airlift Gives Excuse

He said Canadian participation in the Berlin airlift would give the Russians an excuse for claiming that the Potsdam agreement had been violated. In that agreement, the Big Four Powers undertook to handle the occupational duties in Germany.

Mr. St. Laurent, who returned last week from the London Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers, said that the international situation is grave.

But the feeling in Europe appeared to be that the Russians did not want war and would do everything to avoid war at this time.

In his speech, Mr. St. Laurent reiterated Canada's support of regional defence pacts. He said he was prepared to recommend to Parliament and to defend publicly Canadian participation in such pacts, which he described as a premium against war.

Canada Not Neutral

Because of her geographic position, Canada could not possibly remain neutral in another war. He felt that the country should do all possible to prevent war. Participation in peace-saving security pacts would be much less costly than participation in a disastrous war.

Mr. St. Laurent said Canada had advocated regional security pacts, when the United Nations failed to act on a Canadian request that members be told what contribution they would be expected to make to an international peace force.

He charged that Russia "deliberately decided" that the United Nations would not be allowed to work.

He referred to the European recovery program and said that it would prove to be useless unless the assisted people were guaranteed security. The best way to guarantee that security was to have forces available to ensure the maintenance of peace.

Four Trainmen Die In Crash

NEWBURY, Vt., Oct. 30—(AP)—A head-on collision of two Montreal-Boston trains in a heavy fog early today killed two engineers and a fireman, and injured six other men.

(In Montreal, the Canadian Pacific Railway said both firemen were killed, making a death toll of four.)

The accident occurred in an isolated area where trains operate on a single track with automatic block signals. A railroad spokesman was unable to explain how the trains collided despite the automatic signals.

The trains were at the halfway point in their opposite runs between Boston and Montreal.

Air, Water Traffic Paralyzed In Haze; May Clear Sunday

By The Canadian Press

A somewhat thinning blanket of fog covered the Great Lakes region for the fifth consecutive day today, posing a threat to week-end traffic that weather forecasters said might possibly be lifted tomorrow.

With the Maritime Provinces now clear of fog, the Great Lakes area is still affected. Points from Quebec City to Timmins and as far south as Ohio state are fogged in today.

Forecasters said there is only a possibility that the wind will strengthen tomorrow to clear the air.

In Ontario, the unseasonable fog was blamed for two deaths.

Belleville Man Critical

KITCHENER, Oct. 30.—(CP).—Albert Alton, 28, of Peffers, was instantly killed Friday night and his brother-in-law, John Morgan, of Belleville, critically injured when the car in which they were driving turned over into a ditch.

Police believe Alton lost control of the car in the fog. Both occupants were thrown out of the car. Alton is survived by his widow, two daughters, Kathleen and Lynda; a brother, Harry, Timmins; and two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Hanake, Belleville, and Marie, Peffers.

Celebrating Hallowe'en

STRATFORD, Oct. 30. (CP) — One person, dressed for Hallowe'en celebration, died early Saturday and a second is in hospital here in serious condition after they had walked into the path of a railway engine Friday night at a downtown Canadian National Railways crossing.

Dead is John Harris, 29, and injured is Mrs. Chester Drinkall, whose right leg was severed at the hip.

Harris was reported to have died in hospital from shock about four hours after the accident.

River Traffic At Standstill

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 30 (CP)—Fog closed in over this community again Friday evening. Motor transports and cars sought refuge within the city limits and the Brockville-Morrison (N.Y.) Diesel Car-Ferry was forced to cancel its 11 p.m. trip from the United States to Canada. It managed to grope its way through the murk at midnight, however, and bring home a crowd of local and district residents who feared that they might have to make an unexpected overnight visit to Morristown hotels.

This morning, with a thick, sluggish fog hanging over the St. Lawrence, river traffic is completely at a standstill, Great Lakes vessels are anchored both above and below this border port and the ferry has yet to make a trip from its overnight berth in Morristown. At a late hour today the heavy murk showed little signs of clearing.

To Contest Seat

HALIFAX, Oct. 30—(CP).—Fred Young, provincial organizer for the CCF, said Friday night his party will contest the Dec. 13 by-election in the Federal constituency of Digby-Annapolis-Kings. The seat became vacant Friday when Acting Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent announced that the Hon. J. L. Ilsley had resigned as Commons member for the riding.

New Hydro Cut For S. Ontario Starts Monday

TORONTO, Oct. 30—(CP)— A new seven-per-cent Hydro cut goes into effect Monday in southern Ontario.

Announcing that the area, now operating on a quota basis, would have to make further adjustments in factory schedules, provincial Hydro officials held out no hope for an easing of the power situation before spring.

The latest reduction has been brought about by the decision of the Maclaren Power Company in Quebec to slash its Hydro deliveries to Ontario by 5,350,000 kilowatt hours a week.

Fog for most of this week added to power commission difficulties by increasing the use of electricity at a time when shortening daylight hours boosted demand and shrinking water supplies limited output.

Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders estimated that lack of rainfall in Ontario during the last few weeks has reduced the province's power-generating capacity by 10,000,000-kilowatt hours a week.

Toronto will have two hour-long power cutoffs each week-day, starting next week. Warning has been given that an evening power blackout also may be necessary.

Compulsory half-hour cutoffs are due to start Monday in Ottawa. The southwestern Ontario village of Mount Brydes saved power the hard way Friday night. It turned off the electricity from 10 to 11 p.m.

It was announced at St. Catharines that the daily quota was being cut by seven per cent to 221,000 kilowatt hours, effective Monday.

Deposed Peruvian President Exiled

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 30—(AP)—Jose Luis Bustamante, deposed as president of Peru by the army left for exile in Chile early today.

The former interior minister, Gen. Manuel Odria, leader of the successful three-day revolt, promised to hold democratic elections as soon as possible in a broadcast from Arequipa, where the uprising broke out.

Brig. Zenon Noriega, commander of the 2nd Army Division, was reported holding the reins of government temporarily. Odria is expected in Lima today to appoint a junta and start a provisional government.

UN Business Held Over Until US Election Held

PARIS, Oct. 30. (CP)—The tumult of the United Elections reverberated in the nearly-empty meeting halls of the United Nations today as the world body prepared for an extra-long week-end holiday.

Discussion of nearly all major issues came to a halt as the delegates waited to see who will be next president of the United States and what kind of Congress the United States will have.

The Security Council voted, with two abstentions, to shunt the touchy Palestine question into a sub-committee until some time after next Tuesday. The Soviet Union and the Soviet Ukraine abstained from the voting.

By a fortunate circumstance the UN virtually was forced to call a holiday for Monday just at a time when discretion called for one. Monday—All Saints' Day—is a national holiday in France and the UN is taking the day off too. The following day is election day in the United States.

Informed British sources said Marshall probably would meet with Prime Minister Attlee and foreign secretary Bevin to discuss co-ordination of the British and American policies on Palestine.

The security council's decision Friday to shelve at least temporarily the question of economic and political sanctions in Palestine came on the heels of reliable reports that President Truman had sent a message to the American delegation.

An informant in a position to know said the president had not sent a direct order but had asked for an explanation of the American position on the British-Chinese resolution.

Previously, authoritative sources had indicated the United States would support the resolution.

The resolution authorizes sanctions against either side if they refuse to obey truce orders in the Negev.

In the UN Social Committee, Britain and the United States presented a resolution calling for governmental contribution of $29,500,000 for the relief of Arab refugees.

Hard Battle Underway In Manchuria

400,000 In Struggle As Communist Thrust Threatens Province

NANKING, Oct. 30 — (AP). — Unofficial but apparently reliable reports here said today that Mukden, Manchuria's largest city, had fallen to the Communists.

Last direct reports here from the north indicated Red troops were on the outskirts of the city and in some places had infiltrated inside.

Fall of Mukden to the Reds would mean the Government's loss of practically all of Manchuria.

PEIPING, Oct. 30 — (AP). — A battle which may seal the fate of Manchuria is in progress.

Reports from both sides today told of fighting on a major scale between Chinese government and Communist troops in the Manchurian Corridor. Some reports estimated 400,000 men were involved.

Pro-government Chinese dispatches described a swift Communist attack within five miles of long-menaced Mukden, Manchuria's largest city. Fighting also was reported in the corridor area between the Port of Hulatao and Sinmin, 35 miles west of Mukden. Details were scanty.

Victory for the Communists would mean Red control of all Manchuria. It would step up their time table for the next probable operation — the battle for North China. And Chiang Kai-Shek's spokesman in North China declared the battles raging now would be decisive in China's civil war.

Corridor Threatened

The Government remained silent on Communist radio claims that the Reds had destroyed five of Chiang's armies in the Tahushan-Heishan area, 70 miles west of Mukden.

If true, it would gravely threaten the Mukden-Yingkow Corridor — which may be the "Dunkerque of Manchuria" — and any Government withdrawal from Mukden. Yingkow and Hulatao, on opposite sides of the Gulf of Chihli, are the last remaining good ports held by the Government. Yingkow is 100 miles south of Mukden.

However, Gen. Teng Wen-Yi, defense ministry spokesman, said in Peiping the Government would make every effort to hold Mukden, Mukden railway zone. Optimistically, he called these sectors "footholds for future Nationalist expansion in Manchuria."

Haliburton Man Killed At Mill

LINDSAY, Oct. 30 (CP)—Hit by a flying timber while operating a power saw in the bush, Max Trumbull, 26, of Eagle Lake, Haliburton, was instantly killed Friday afternoon. An army veteran, Trumbull had been cutting logs at the Lodgson-Jones lumber camp only two days when the accident occurred.

Holds Up Clerk Flees With $254

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 30 — (CP)—A lone stick-up man, with an accomplice who waited outside, held up a hotel desk clerk about 4:30 a.m. today and got away with $200 from the cash till and $54 from the clerk's wallet.

Ralph Sorbara, 26-year-old RCAF veteran, said he was on desk duty at the Hotel Queensway this morning when a good-looking young man, wearing a light gabardine top coat and no hat, walked up to the desk and said, "This is a stick-up."

"I asked him who he was trying to kid, and he pulled a revolver on me. I told him to help himself, pointing to the till, but he told me to give it to him myself," said Sorbara.

"Now what about your own money," Sorbara quoted the stick-up man as saying. Sorbara gave him $54 from his wallet.

An executive meeting of the Board "noted with concern Ontario's rapidly rising murder rate" and said alcohol was a determining factor in most of the murders.

ture.

Mr. Milburn said the junior association expanded its activities this year. The calf club it sponsored had the largest attendance in its records, and its members were rewarded with a bus trip to the O.A.C. as guests of the Kiwanis Club.

"Fellowship is one of the greatest benefits of our association," Mr. Milburn said. "We enjoy doing things together. At provincial conferences, conventions and camps we meet young people from all over Ontario. It was my privilege a year ago to attend the 4-H convention in Chicago. Its theme was working together to make better homes and communities, and it was agreed that, if we are to banish the fear of war from our world, youth must work and live together harmoniously. I hope you will all give that ideal every support in the day ahead.

Two Scholarships

We received from the county council this year two scholarships for a year's tuition at O.A.C., and the two boys who won are now attending. I think a great deal of the credit for that award goes to Warden Humphries."

Warden Humphries said the county council was naturally interested in the young people of Peterborough county.

"It is their wish to help in every way they can. One of our past Wardens, who is here tonight, Mr. Peter Mather, was chiefly responsible for the scholarships, and the council of this year acted on the recommendation of his committee. I think it will be intention of councils that follow us to continue that prize."

In accepting the presidency, Ron Frankish said he appreciated the honor of being head of an association of so many young people like himself whom he could call friends.

"We have had a busy year," Mr. Frankish continued. "Our work has been more intensive. Our directors are widely representative and can extend interest to our various neighborhoods. Our association is doing much to bring our young farm people into line with other organizations, and especially to give them opportunities similar to those of groups and clubs in the city."

Mr. Milburn paid tribute to the assistance given by Miss Elaine Savigny as secretary, and also gratefully of the help by Morris Telford, retiring treasurer.

Mr. F. C. Paterson introduced the guest speaker, after complimenting the junior association on their progress during the last few years.

"I have been a... acceleration of their activities," Mr. Paterson said, "and I have observed the increasing readiness of the members to assume responsibility. That spirit of doing things will be a great help in the further development of their organization. I hope your interest will be extended to all parts of this county. I think you will—soon."

Need 20 Tons Steel

Mr. Russell's sketch of steel was replete with historic and industrial facts. Farmers were among the best customers of the steel mills. "It has been estimated that the average well-equipped mixed farm uses about 20 tons of steel in various ways." The more than 700,000 farms in Canada require around 14 million tons of steel, part from nails, pipe, roofing and other materials used in farm buildings.

"That would be sufficient steel to build enough freight cars to stretch across Canada and back again."

On the average farm, fencing, barbed wire, gates and steel posts require about 15,000 lbs. of steel; an all-purpose tractor 3,500 lbs.; four plows and harrows of various types, 3,000 lbs.; grain binder, hay loader, manure spreader, ensilage cutter and other implements used in farming take from 75 to 2,250 lbs. of steel each. Total weight in farm implements has been estimated at 21,000 lbs. of steel. Add to that for axes, pitchforks, shovels, etc., another 300 lbs.; dairy equipment for a heard of 10 cows more than 1,000 lbs. of steel.

Steel required for other general products was distributed by Mr. Russell as follows: refrigerator 172 lbs.; lawn mower 28 lbs.; washing machine 38 lbs.; automobile 3,545 lbs.; piano 222 lbs.; razor blades 48 to the ounce.

Variety of steel products ranges from 3/16 of an inch shoe tacks, of which there are 15,000 to the pound, to a single structure such as a 200-ton ship casting.

"Vast tonnages of steel are used for common every day produce. Last year more than 2,000 tons of steel were required to supply the United States with the humble pin; 1,500 tons more went into paper clips; and it takes between 3,000 and 4,000 tons a year for bobby pins to keep American hair out of American eyes."

The first historical mention of iron, Mr. Russell said, was in the 4th chapter of Genesis wherein Tubal-Cain was described as "a worker in iron." The oldest concrete evidence of the early use of iron was a dagger blade found in the Pyramids and estimated to be 5,000 years old.

Old Type Furnace

Charcoal brought to a high temperature in burning and mixed with iron was the primitive type of furnace. The hot mass was then removed and impurities and foreign matter had to be beaten out. Some of the suits of steel body armor in the Metropolitan museum, New York, were made 2,000 years ago indicating skill in the processing of iron.

In 1856 Henry Bessemer invented the process that retains his name and a few years later Martin brothers developed the open hearth process. Their affect on the industry "can be gauged from the fact that in the last half of the 19th century more steel was produced than in the whole previous 4,000 years. More steel is now produced in one year than in the 35 centuries prior to the 19th century."

Estimated investment of $15,000 to $25,000 per worker is required to supply him with the machinery and tools necessary to produce steel. Operation of a steel mill must be continuous, by its very nature, and Mr. Russell mentioned one furnace whose fires had not been drawn for five years.

"In the six years, 1940-5, Canadian steel production was more than 16 million tons, or equal to our total output for the 20 interwar years, 1920-39. Rigid steel control was applied during the war, and 90 per cent of Canada's production went into war supplies.

Today, three years after the war, industrial activity is still at unprecedented levels; the national income has reached heights previously believed impossible; and far from postwar lag in employment we have actually a labor shortage. It is not surprising, therefore, that demand for steel is fantastically ahead of the previously pre-war peak year."

Mr. Russell said that only essentials were manufactured during the depression decade, and mostly war supplies from 1940 to '45, resulting in a 15-year backlog.

The amount of money in circulation was of unprecedented proportions, another factor in the steel backlog reckoning.

"It would be difficult to be definite as to the tonnage of steel represented by the backlog, but a figure close to 10 million tons would not be far wrong. Thus, to meet this accumulated demand, plus the current huge demand created by the large volume of money in circulation, was something that could not and should not be expected to be achieved overnight."

A vote of thanks to Mr. Russell was moved by Miss Alberta Anderson in a neat little speech of appreciation. The evening program concluded with dancing.

Bells Of London To Chime Birth

LONDON, Oct. 30—(Reuters).—The bells of London will ring out next month to herald the birth of a child to Princess Elizabeth, heiress-presumptive to the British throne.

In the belfries of Saint Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey, St. Martin-in-the-Fields and a dozen other famous churches, the "college youths"—members of a 311-year-old Society of Bellringers—will set the chimes echoing over the city.

The ancient Society of College Youths, with 40,000 members today, was formed in the days of King Charles I from a group of his courtiers who used to acquire a healthy thirst before drinking bouts by exercising on the bells.

Millbrook Youth Given Suspended Sentence

COBOURG, Oct. 30—(ENS)—Charles Thompson of Millbrook, 16-year-old boy who disappeared after he was in an accident with his father's car on October 7, and absented himself for two days because he was afraid of the consequences, appeared in police court yesterday and was allowed on suspended sentence. He had been charged with driving without a license and with failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

His father, a Millbrook school teacher, told the court that his son was not a bad boy and that the $420 worth of damage which he caused in the accident was being paid off through the boy's earnings at the CGE in Peterborough.

At the request of the father the year's suspended sentence and bond of $100 for good behaviour was conditional upon the boy obeying his father and grandmother and being in at nights by 9 o'clock unless with his father or his brother.

Urges Improved Trade

ST. GEORGES, GRENADA, Windward Island, Oct. 30—(CP)—Improvement of trade representation in Canada was urged at the final session of the Windward Islands eighth chambers of congress here Friday. Drew Predicts Liberal Defeat

MONTREAL, Oct. 30—(CP).—A confident George Drew Friday night told 1,500 supporters of the Progressive Conservative Party here—and Canada at large—that he did not believe the Liberal Party "has a chance of winning a majority in the next Federal election."

Mr. Drew's speech at a party banquet, which also was broadcast marked his first major public appearance in a political capacity since he was elected PC leader in Ottawa early this month.

His reference to the next election was brief and extemporaneous. In what might be called the key-note to his address he declared:

"I believe that the unity of Canada depends on the preservation of the rights and sovereignty of the provinces."

Departing often from his prepared text, the 54-year-old former Premier of Ontario attacked Government centralization and emphasized that "the people of Canada are faced today with the vitally important task of rebuilding Confederation."

Canadian Exports Still Increasing

OTTAWA, Oct. 30 — (CP). — ... still booming and hitting record peaks.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Friday total exports during September amounted to $283,000,000 against $224,100,000 in August and $318,600,000 in September, 1947. Shipments to the United States alone totalled $162,000,000, an increase of $48,000,000 over August and $74,000,000 better than a year ago.

The bureau ascribed the increases to heavy shipments of beef cattle and fresh beef to the United States following the lifting of the export ban and substantial gains in shipments of base metals, non-metallic minerals, newsprint, woodpulp and other wood products.

Conservation Efforts Of Dep't Explained At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 30 — (ENS). — A very instructive address which emphasized the importance of the conservation of fish and wildlife was heard by the Campbellford and District Fish and Game Association on Friday night. Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, chief of the divsion of fish and wildlife, was guest speaker.

He gave an account of the administrative branches of the department and of field work throughout the province. He said that the head office was divided into 11 different departments and each department had its special line of work. Crown lands, dams and water levels, fish hatcheries and bird farms, pollution of streams, reforestation and fire control all came under these departments. The service division was responsible for law enforcements and the personnel division looked after the welfare of the employees. In order to bring about decentralization of authority. Ontario was divided into two administrative areas. This brought the people closer to the work of the department.

Important Work

"Field work is a very important phase of our system," he said. "There are in Ontario 180 conservation officers, 29 fish hatcheries and two bird farms. Each year we release about 30,000 pheasants but predatory animals and birds, disease and famine take a heavy toll. There are only certain areas where pheasants can survive. In an area where the snowfall is over 100 inches pheasants will die of starvation. The snow covers their feeding grounds. Phesants released in open fields have a very slim chance of survival because they haven't time to adjust themselves to their new surroundings. A new experiment known as the "gentle release' is being tried out. The pheasants are brought to the fields in cages as they now are but the cages are left in the fields so they can return to them if they wish for food and shelter."

He stated that his department was trying to stock the streams flowing into Lake Ontario with Atlantic salmon. At one time these streams had teemed with salmon but civilization had made them uninhabitable. He also stated that he saw no reason why prairie chickens couldn't survive in Ontario especially the eastern part where the country is flat. They were already thriving on the Manitoulin Islands.

"Our whole aim is to conserve fish and wild life," he concluded, "and your association can help by sending in recommendations to the department. Laws in respect to conservation are made by the people and unless we respect them fish and wild life will greatly decrease in numbers. It is our purpose to increase fish and wildlife to the extent it will be profitable to the fisherman and trapper and a means of affording enjoyment to the sportsman."

President Walter Wiggins was in the chair. Cliff Gibson introduced the speaker and Ernie Ayrhart moved the vote of thanks.

Michael Cain Is Top Orator

NORWOOD, Oct. 30—(ENS)—More than 60 delegates from Warsaw, Westwood, Havelock, Trent River and Norwood attended the district conference of Women's Institutes on Wednesday, and heard a splendid address on "Community Enterprises" by Mrs. Clarence Hayes of Georgetown.

Mrs. F. E. Birdsall, honorary president of the district, expressed her appreciation and that of those assembled for the splenidd talk.

Tea was served and the only pupils entered in the oratorical contest in the Norwood district, were heard and judged by Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. C. A. Copp and Mrs. T Brown.

Michael Cain placed first with a splendid address on "Western Cana," Noreen Kennedy, second, with her topic, "Pulpwood," and Gerald Johnson, third. He spoke on "Wheat." They are the pupils of Miss Marguarite Lamey of Daisy D, SS No. 6. Miss Lamey was congratulated upon her work and interest in her pupils and the contest, by the district president, Mrs. Harry Mann.

While awaiting the judges' decision Mrs. Wm. Golloher recited "Striking the Rock," which was very much appreciated.

Board Rejects Plan To Engage New Teacher

HAVELOK, Oct. 30—(ENS)—At the postponed meeting of the Board of Education it was decided on motion of trustees Plunkett and Nobes that no action would be taken in the matter of hiring a science teacher for the high school.

Principal L. H. Cooke reported that the high school had a 93 per cent attendance, a very successful Field day had been held, and that the silver cup awards had been donated by citizens of the village. Two-thirds of the students had participated in the field day events. He said fire drill had been held during the week and that the school had been cleared in 90 seconds. The result had been satisfactory but practice was needed. Target practice was being held from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. for Cordova pupils and he asked the Board's permission to have shooting practice for the balance of the pupils on Friday evenings, Saturday mornings and afternoons.

Inspect Target

The target in the basement was inspected by the members of the Board and the matter of shooting fully discussed. On motion by Trustees Mathison and Plunkett the secretary was instructed to write the Department with reference to shooting practice during school hours, all shooting to be stopped until a reply from the Department is received.

Fire drill also came up for discussion. On motion of Trustees Mathison and Plunkett the high school and public school principals are to be notified to use all exits during fire drill. Exits must be made available for each room and the pupils taught to use the fire escapes.

On motion of Trustees Sayers and Plunkett, the manual training credit for supplies was increased to $160.

Noon hour supervision was discussed and the Board requested that the School be supervised all noon hour by the public and high school staffs.

The following account were passed:

Teachers' and caretaker's salaries, $1,977.89; Fire Insurance, 34.80; Sanderson's Hardware, 30.43; Hubbel Hardware, 4.85; Globe and Mail, 3.42; C. C. Snowden Company, 10.18; Gordon V. Thompson Company, 8.51; Express, 1.441.

15th Peterborough.—The Salvation Army are slow in getting a reporter on the job.

PRESIDENT A. F. WHITNEY of the American Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who, during strenuous campaigning to defeat the Taft-Hartley Act, swore up and down that he would spend alll of his treasury's money to defeat Truman in 1948, seems to have experienced a change of heart since he voiced that threat. At least he is shown above (left) shaking hands with President Truman as the latter arrived in Cleveland to make a major speech of his last ditch campaign for the U.S. presidency. Peeking over their shoulders are Democratic mayor, Tom Burke, left, and former Ohio Senator Robert J. Bulkeley, right. Since passage of the Taft Hartley Act, Labor has swung back toward President Truman, now that the latter wants to cancel the Act.

Make The Clergy Independent

For some time a discussion has been going on in the newspapers about the taxable status of Protestant clergymen. Many of these gentlemen feel that they are unfairly treated by the Income Tax authorities because they are taxed on the rentable value of houses which are provided for them free by their congregations; this sum is reckoned as part of their income, or salary. The Roman Catholic clergy are not taxed in this way because they are not salaried men, but receive their income in the form of fees, and are therefore classed with lawyers and physicians.

* * *

The Protestant clergy have a good case, but we think that it may be difficult to evolve a set of regulations which will meet their situation fairly. We are not convinced, either, that the remedy lies in new Income Tax laws. We feel that it lies in the hands of Protestant congregations.

* * *

A great many Protestant clergymen are not paid enough to make it possible for them to live with the dignity which their work demands. They receive, in many cases, small salaries and a number of perquisites which are supposed to ease the situation which the small salary creates. One of these perquisites is a rent-free, furnished house. Now such a system may have worked well in the nineteenth century, but it does not suit the conditions of today, when taxes are high and when the Government exacts every possible penny from every man whose income can be found out. Would it not be better if the manses and parsonages were sold, and the clergy made responsible for their own living quarters, and given better salaries?

* * *

In some ways the Protestant churches have not yet grasped the economic facts of the Reformation. Having deprived their clergy of many of their priestly attributes, and having made it plain that Protestant ministers are teachers and exemplars, and no more, they nevertheless appear to expect these teachers and exemplars to live in a degree of poverty which might be suitable for a Franciscan friar, but which is undignified and often humiliating for a man who is expected, in certain respects, to be a leader. By no means all Protestant clergymen are saints, whose spiritual grace is apparent in spite of rags and coarse feeding; their leadership, therefore, ought to be firmly grounded on a good standard of living, and on the libraries and cultural pursuits which a teacher and exemplar needs. All organized religion, Catholic or Protestant, has an important materialist side; Catholicism recognizes this and meets the situation competently; it is plain that if a Roman priest is ragged, he is so from choice and not from necessity; his Church and his people do not condemn him to poverty. But large sections of the Protestant church combine a determination that their ministers shall be no more than ordinary men with a belief that these ordinary men can live, like Oriental fakirs, on salaries which are little more than alms.

* * *

The dignity of Protestantism is compromised by such stinginess. Not the laws of the land but the customs of the church should provide the cure.

The Lack Of Criticism

Canada's development and Canadian natures are being hampered by lack of criticism—the informed criticism of scholars, specialists and the press, and the public criticism of people generally. Instead of criticism, favourable or unfavourable, we have been getting platitudes or flattery from persons whose job it should be to be informatively critical, and apathy from people who seem to think that man's chief end is to get three squares a day (they do not seem to care about the savour of the food), a bed to sleep in (it does not matter what kind it is as long as it is soft) and a job (where the dollars earned are more important than the kind of work done). From criticism in the arts to criticism of children's speech, new store fronts and home furnishings, this country is distressingly innocent. The result is that mediocrity is too often satisfying.

We saw the other day a travelling exhibit of prints which attempted to outline the development of Canadian painting. Its purpose was primarily didactic. Nevertheless, the accompanying explanations and interpretations were so inclusively benign that untutored viewers of the exhibit would be led to think that every Canadian painter whose work was represented was a genius. There is too large a tendency for Canadian writers on Canadian painters, authors and musicians to pamper and condone and praise. The reasons are not far to seek. A struggling art and a struggling artist must be suckled when in swaddling clothes if they are to survive, and Canada is only now growing up culturally. Further, the writers, painters and musicians are so few that anybody who writes on them is very often an acquaintance if not a friend. The Canadian critic is too kind, and often he is not sufficiently literate and informed to appraise validly.

There are notable exceptions. Some of the university quarterlies, here and there a book reviewer, a dramatic critic, a newspaper, give impartial and informed criticism of the arts, government and letters. A weekly newspaper like the Toronto Saturday Night is doing good service to Canadians, the Canadian Forum is sometimes stimulating, but we have yet no journal of the quality of the London Spectator, the Economist, The New Statesman; no magazines like the New Yorker, no cartoonists like Giles and Low. There is an improvement in the Canadian comment in magazines like Maclean's. But we have far to go still in order to see ourselves clearly. Our most popular public speakers are usually the most flattering and platitudinous. The complacency of the audience is not disturbed.

The 15th Century sculptor Donatello refused to remain in Padua after he had completed his commission there because, he said, he was too much praised by Paduans and felt the need of the continual censure of the Florentines as an incentive to greater excellence. Canadians and their communities are flourishing economically, but there will be few excellencies and no Florence of the north without more criticism of our ways and works.

Radio In Street Cars

A Toronto advertising firm wants to pipe radio programs into Toronto streetcars, and will do so if the C.B.C. will provide programs and the T.T.C. will give it a contract. Not being a Torontonian, and living in Peterborough which has no trams, we are able to view the proposal objectively, without prejudice and calmly. Our quiet opinion is that radio loud-speakers blaring swing and soap in street cars would be an abomination to the ear, abusive to the mind and baneful to the soul. Straphangers have enough to put up with without being persecuted by radio on their daily jaunts.

It has taken forty years for street car travellers to develop a stoic attitude to tram conditions. Is this hardly-learned toleration to be pricked by the worst thorn in the side of all—a horn in the ear of all? How will the tram-farers be able to read their papers, snooze on the next passenger's shoulder or hear the conductors calling the streets, if the crowded confusion of the trams is worse confounded by a strident radio? What of the motormen? Will they swing the trams along to the rhythms of the swing from the loud-speakers and come to a stop only if the red light and the double bar of the music come at the same time?

The vice-chairman of the C.B.C. is reported to have said that the C.B.C. would hate to impose radio on the T.T.C. We should think that the T.T.C. would hate even more to impose it on its customers. Noise is probably the greatest evil and quiet the least procurable good of modern urban life. Are city dwellers to have more noise and still less quiet because of some cruel advertising scheme?

We are not so calm on this matter as we appear to be, for the advertising firm with the noisy intentions is also thinking of putting radios into buses. Peterborough has buses.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr. George Drew, ex-Premier, ex-Toronto, is visiting Ottawa to set up headquarters in that place. Converting "Bracken House" to "Drew Domain"?

A psychologist has told an audience of parents that the old-fashioned woodshed spanking is out of date. Of course; the modern home has no room for such exercises. But it is always possible to wallop a child out in the street, thereby spreading the caution to the neighbour's kids.

Diary Of A Pigeon Hater

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Because I confessed some time ago that I was mildly interested in dolls a man I met today posed the difficult question: "Why are there so few boy dolls? Why are dolls predominantly feminine in dress and—so far as it is granted to dolls— in sex? Could not answer this, but I have seen quite a few male dolls of one sort and another—Highlanders, Tyrolean peasants, soldiers, sailors, Air Force men, priests in cassocks, and even doll cardinals. My own guess is that girl dolls are popular because they can be provided with heads of long hair, and little girls delight in tearing these half off the heads of their dolls, and dragging the creatures about in their semi-scalped condition. Such savagery is impossible with a male doll, whose hair is usually painted on. I once saw a male doll dressed as a rugby player, but the face was the pink, idiotic face of any doll; I missed the characteristic blue chin.

◆ ◆ ◆

MONDAY: Attended a gathering today at which I met a large number of people for the first time, and all greeted me with a handclasp. Or perhaps handclasp is the wrong word; ninety per cent. of them gave me what appeared to be a rubber glove half-filled with cold porridge, and I was expected to do the clasping. Are people with damp, chilly, squelchy hands on the increase, or am I being drawn into circles where they are common? A distressing possibility....Being introduced to women is always a hazard, for the foolish creatures will not adopt a firm policy in such cases, and stick to it. Some of them shake hands like men; some raise a hand, and then snatch it away in fright; some put their hands behind their backs in a marked manner; still others give me a hand to hold, and then appear to forget about it, leaving me to dispose of the thing by putting it in my pocket or feeding it to a passing dog. There was a day when no woman ever shook hands; I wish they would return to that usage, or else shake hands properly. Their present habit of playing put-and-take with their hands is productive of social unease, if not downright neurosis.

◆ ◆ ◆

TUESDAY: The struggle to save electric power is productive of strange vagaries; heard of a woman today who refuses to give up any of the lights which she usually burns in her house, but who has unscrewed the small bulb which lights her refrigerator.... Was talking to a man whose job it is to reproduce antique furniture, which he does remarkably well. When he has made a perfect piece, he then knocks a few bits out of it, scratches it and digs a hole or two in it. This process is called "distressing" the piece, he told me, and it is not to be confused with faking. There is no intention on his part of selling the distressed piece as genuine antique, but he finds that people do not want antique reproductions which look too new. There is some moral obliquity in this matter, but I cannot discover exactly where it lies. The thing which interests me is that mankind does not yet appear to have improved upon the designs for chairs which were perfected in the eighteenth century. What is wrong? Has human inventiveness reached a dead end?

◆ ◆ ◆

WEDNESDAY: Was talking to a young person who attends the kindergarten, and she gave me some interesting details about the teaching of music, as it is done at her school. All the children must sing, and are divided by the teacher into canaries (the best singers), robins (fairly good singers), bluebirds (definitely not choral material) and pigeons (creatures who croak moodily upon one note). The young canary with whom I spoke expressed deep scorn for pigeons. It seems to me that this name has been well chosen. I once lived in a house which was very popular with pigeons, and their croaking was a great nuisance, and caused me to look up a recipe for pigeon pie. Poets have affected to find a pleasing melancholy in the note of the pigeon, but poets are notoriously heavy sleepers, and are not wakened by these pompous, detestable, strutting birds in the early hours of the morning. I never made the pigeon pie, for the labour of skinning and cleaning enough birds daunted me. But to this day I never see a pigeon waddling in the street, eating something disgusting, without wanting to let it have the toe of my boot. Has any reader ever kicked a pigeon?

◆ ◆ ◆

THURSDAY: Had occasion to examine some information about our flag, and discovered that its proper name is not Union Jack, but Great Union; it is only a jack when it is used on ships. Pondered also if it would not be a good plan to remove the cross of St. Patrick from Great Union, in view of the chilly attitude now taken by Ireland to anything resembling a Commonwealth connection. The flag which would be left—the banner of St. George imposed upon the banner of St. Andrew,—would be less colourful, but it might be a better design, all things considered.

◆ ◆ ◆

FRIDAY: November 7-13, I see, will be observed as National Cat Week. It is a good thing to do honour to this noble, dignified and beautiful animal, but I don't imagine for a moment that the cats will co-operate. Cats don't mind being worshipped, but they refuse to be organized. They have always insisted that their lives are their own, to be lived as they see fit, and their attitude toward everything which is symbolized by the American passion for "weeks" of one sort and another is contemptuous, contumacious and insulting. Can anyone imagine cats walking in a parade? Does anyone seriously think that cats are interested in civic betterment? When have cats ever shown a united front on any subject whatever? The great charm of cats is their rampant egotism, their devil-may-care attitude toward responsibility, their disinclination to earn an honest dollar. In a continent which screams neurotically about co-operation and the Golden Rule, cats are disdainful of everything but their own immediate interests, and they contrive to be so suave and delightful about it that they even receive the apotheosis of a National Week. Smart work, cats!

◆ ◆ ◆

SATURDAY: Had to meet some people who arrived by train tonight, and as the engine puffed past the platform I reflected on the great barrier which exists between those who are on trains and those who merely stand on platforms. Everybody on a train looks like an adventurer, a cosmopolitan quester after the fabulous unknown; even little old women who are obviously going to stay with their married daughters, and whose luggage is held together with rope, have this look. Everybody on a platform looks like a bucolic homebody—a stick-in-the-mud. The travellers stare out of their windows with an air of bored distinction; I and my like stare back like peasants peeping through the windows of a palace on the night of a ball. When I am travelling myself I am conscious of this barrier from its opposite side; all people on station platforms appear to be simple, credulous folk, doubtless engaged in very simple, honest, dull work. Even the hats of men on platforms have a more pudgy crown, a narrower brim, than is common among even Canadian men's hats, which are notoriously the least fashionable in the world, surpassing in rustic comicality the bowlers of English bailiffs, or the goatskin headpieces worn by Basque shepherds.

OUT OF THE DEPTHS

"Keep My Name Out"

(ST. THOMAS TIMES-JOURNAL)

THE thing most people seem to think about first when they get into trouble is how to keep the news from getting into the paper. Before they request an editor to keep their names out, they should ask themselves this question: "Do I deserve to have [illegible] If they would answer themselves honestly and act accordingly, it would save most newspaper editors a lot of bother and occasional embarrassment. It is seldom an editor can commit himself to leaving a story out with[illegible] the full facts. These facts almost always make legitimate news and so do the names that go with them. Most people who plead to have their names left out know that this is so, and also that an editor's job is to print the news, not to keep it out of his paper.

Newspapers find all types of people want their names left out, types all the way from well-seasoned stumble-bums pleading they've never been in court before to eminent professional men. Either it is shame that overcomes them, or fear that their good names will be destroyed if their indiscretions come to light.

Some are afraid they'll lose their jobs, some that their businesses will suffer. Some come weeping crocodile tears, a few demand their names be left out and threaten to cut off their advertising appropriations or cancel their subscriptions. An incredible number of sick wives and mothers would die if the news ever reached them. Others fear the ridicule of friends which they've brought upon themselves by some stupid, foolish act. Drunk drivers are often more concerned about their names being in the paper than they are about the mandatory jail terms they have to serve. There are any number of others who say they don't care so much about themselves as they do about the way their loved ones will suffer if the news is published.

These are the people who read with relish the news of others in the news, but who when they come into it themselves through something wrong they've done are the first to think of running to the paper. They ought to think about that beforehand. It might be a deterrent to them if they did.

Few editors are the hard-boiled, indifferent, heartless souls the movies picture them. Most will lend an ear to these and various other tales of woe and folly. But there can be no hard and fast rule concerning names and news, because the factors and circumstances differ in every case. And in not a few instances it is better to have all the facts and names in a court action published rather than have a distorted story circulated by word of mouth. Oddly enough, when names are left out, it is usually because the editor has exercised his own discretion and judgment in the matter, and not because he has been asked to do so. But as a rule, unless a person really deserves special consideration, it does no good to ask to have a name left out. In any case, don't come to the editor without a thoroughly plausible story. Editors' noses are specially trained to smell rats.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt: and the idols of Egypt shall be moved at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of it....And the spirit of Egypt shall fail in the midst thereof; and I will destroy the counsel thereof....

In that day shall there be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord. And it shall be for a sign and for a witness unto the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry unto the Lord because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a saviour, and a great one, and he shall deliver them...

And the Lord shall smite Egypt: he shall smite and heal it: and they shall return even to the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heal them. (Isa. 19: 1, 3, 19, 20, 22.)

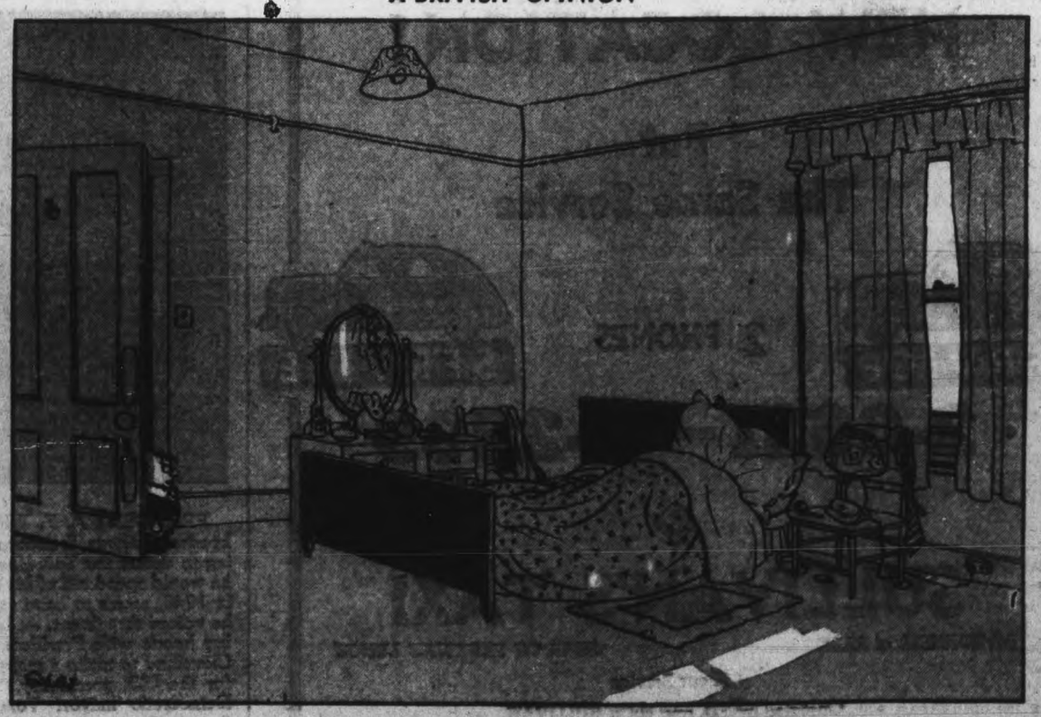
And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another?

When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight.

Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached. And blessed is he whosoever shall not be offended in me. (Luke 7: 19-23.)



BRIGHT IDEA

Once there was a woman who wanted to have her apartment painted while she was out of town. She left a tray as a sample of the special shade she wanted the ceiling painted.

After trying vainly for days to mix the right shade the painters finally hit upon the idea of painting the tray and then the ceiling.

When the woman returned she complimented them upon the perfect match they had obtained.

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

GUIDES ARE WORRIED, outfitters are talking and thinking, Dept. of Lands and Forests officials are in a huddle—and the object responsible for all these things is the lordly moose. The Monarch of the Canadian woods is in danger of extinction, grave danger. In fact veteran hunters believe there are so few moose that they can't even hold their own against their natural predators. Whispers coming out of Queen's Park indicate there may be a closed season in 1949. Surely such a move is overdue. As usual the men on the spot, the hunters, outfitters, guides are quick to discuss their alarm at conditions, but slow to convey their opinions to the men who can do something about it. They realize one of their bread-and-butter items requires attention at once. Attention in the form of a closed season, and more severe penalities for breaches of such a regulation. The time to act is right now; two years from now may be too late.

DECLINE OF MOOSE POPULATIONS like others of its kind is a tragic history of greed, selfishness and wanton slaughter. A story dotted with reference to sportsmen who believe the almighty dollar can buy anything and to the devil with fairplay; a story into which is woven the depredations of the jacklight hunter, and the guide who kills in advance of the season, and sells the carcass to the first buyer. That huge spread of antlers on a noble head is a great inducement to the city hunter to spend freely in the hopes of securing a wall adornment for his office. Too often the question of sportsmanship plays little part in the means used to obtain such a trophy. Because of this, and the fact that too many city Joes have no conception of conservation, a sufficiently heavy fine must be introduced if a closed season is to serve its purpose. Certainly a $50 touch won't deter either guides, pothunters or trophy seekers. It should be $500 at least with consideration of a jail term.

THIRTY YEARS AGO along the Matapedia river in northern New Brunswick, bears were reliably reported to be taking a heavy toll of moose calves. This information came from a veteran bushman. There are no wolves in that province. The hunter, the settler and the bear teamed up to reduce the moose to the danger point. Legislators woke up almost too late, and for 14 years now the season has been closed. Slowly the moose are coming back. But nothing is being done about the bears. Three decades ago, a bearskin would bring ten bucks, because England bought them to make hats for the guardsmen, the police officers and for civilian wear. Bear trapping is a laborious, dangerous pastime, one the trapper shuns if there is no cash inducement. So while New Brunswick did well to close the season, the leaders might well have put a bounty on the bears. They do kill moose calves, far more than is generally believed.

JIM GERAGHTY, local merchant and a hunter of 40 years experience, tells me that in 1914 when the Northern Ontario railroad link to Capreol was built, moose were thick in the Whanapitae lake area six miles east of Capreol. Today, one moose would be an attraction. He mentioned, too, that depletion of the beaver population removed one summer food source for the moose. The big animals like the lily pads and the stems, but won't eat the tough roots. It is not unusual to see a moose completely submerge to get at the underwater delicacies. Often the shores of the ponds are dotted with piles of the roots which the moose deposit there. These beaver ponds also serve as sanctuaries where the animals get some relief from the pesky flies. Now trapping is so heavy that the beaver population is dropping rapidly. South of the main line of the C.P.R. the moose [illegible] ed on it. The outfitters of north-western Ontario blame the improved roads and the aeroplane for the heavy toll. This modern age is not good for the Canadian moose.

ROMANCE CAN MEAN DEATH to the bull moose. Like most males, at such times, he is not too smart about things, and the guide or hunter with a birchbark horn takes advantage of the low smitten bull. Here is the way George Carpenter in Rod and Gun describes a moose hunt: "On river, lake or beaver pond canoes glide silently in the dusk or fog or wait near shore. From time to time a bush-wise guide would raise his birchbark calling horn to send echoing through the hills, his wailing, moaning treachery, the call of a lovesick cow. After each call, a period of tense listening,—until far off, the keenly attuned ear of the guide detects in the cold, still night air, the waves set in motion by a single grunt back in the mountains. Hunters are cautioned to silence, and presently the birchbark instrument of death again sends forth its lying message, this time in the direction from which came the grunt. This time even the "sports" hear the grunt as the bull breasts a rise. He has fallen for the deceit and the game is on.

"THE GUIDE CALLS AGAIN and makes noises in the water with his horn to simulate the movements of a moose maiden impatiently awaiting the arrival of her big moment. The crashes become louder and more continuous. There are no more calls from the horn, which is now used to imitate a moose walking in the water. The crashing ceases and there is a period of reconnoitering, perhaps with a grunt or two from the black bush. Presently the alders swish and crack and the bull steps on to the beach or into the water. The guide's quick senses locate the bull's position, rifles are cocked and ready. The mask is removed from the "dark lantern" (which now becomes a jacklight), and there he stands big as the size of a house. The rifles blaze again and again. The only chance that moose has, lies in the nerves of the killers which sometimes fail them". Vermont and New Hampshire knows moose no more, Maine has no moose hunting. The last moose in Wisconsin was killed in 1865 and a few years later they were gone from Michigan except for a few in the northern peninsula and on Isle Royale. Is Ontario next?

SEVERAL LAKES are getting a population boost in adult fish from the restricted waters of Nogies Creek. This latter spot, has been a sanctuary for several years and in 1947, the first netting and transfer of adult fish was made to adjacent waters. Dept. of Lands and Forests officials discovered that the sanctuary could easily stand another drain this fall, so the transfer was carried out recently. Legal size maskinonge, small-mouth bass and large-mouth bass were transported, and the fish were evenly divided among the following waters: Pigeon lake, Sturgeon lake, Ball lake, Buckhorn lake, Pigeon creek, Balsam lake and Cameron lake. The transfer was carried out under the supervision of J. C. Weir, Omemee, biologist with the Dept. who is doing survey and ansel census work in the Kawartha area.

In other words a Canadian does not need a deer license to hunt partridge. On the other hand he shouldn't be found in deer country with a rifle and try to tell the game warden he is out for birds....J.D.K.—It is not legal to net herring in Kawartha waters.

Hallowe'en Pranks of Other Years Disappearing In This Modern Age

By BOB BUCHANAN

One of the casualties of the advance of civilization and the modern science appears to be "the real fun" which the elder residents loudly proclaim made up the celebration of Hallowe'en.

Old-timers, those not-so-old, persons still young at heart, and the perpetual yearners after "the good old days" are unanimous in their opinion that the noble old observance has degenerated from the "days when I was a boy."

A favorite pastime during the week preceding Hallowe'en is to recount (with embellishments from the imagination to improve a story which might fall a little flat by sticking to straight facts) the many hair-raising and wonderful antics performed. One would assume that the childhood of some of these raconteurs was filled with a mixture of the worst mayhem.

"Kids today are a bunch o' sissies," grumbled one true-to-the-old-gag advocate.

"Dances, and bobbin' for apples, and parades," he snorted. Then followed the customary tales of minor riots in which he participated in his boyhood.

The old-fashioned favorite, according to popular vote (and the number of times it is described with numerous variations) was the system of removing outhouses from accustomed location. With the march of indoor plumbing making these landscape lobbies almost a thing of the past, hob-raising youths are finding it hard to locate such objects.

The heavy industrialization of much of the country has also cut off another form of "recreation" for many aspiring artists. Few folk now have horses or cows, as an inspiration for the neighbours' children to apply paint of all colors with more vigor than taste. Although the incident is reported once in a while from rural suburban areas, it seems to have fallen from style. Many of those interviewed by The Examiner for comments on tricks of the [illegible] were modest about the use of their names) recalled with joy the esthetic thrill of an old Dobbin with a blue body, two red legs, one black, one pink and a white face. If the job were properly done, there was no ill-effect on the animal, they maintained. And it certainly gave a variety to the barnyard.

Modern gates and other outside residential articles do not seem apt to end up on roof-tops or trees as in the past. Some can recall (with guilty chuckles) entire sheds and small buildings being moved hundreds of feet. Despairing householders spent the next day sorting and identifying their property which went in all directions during the night.

Those with a more temperate approach to the festivity maintain that "the modernization of Hallowe'en has taken a lot of the boisterousness out of it—but the spirit still prevails."

Fun-making projects planned on a community scale and designed to provide hilarity without holacaust, merriment without mayhem and variety without vandalism, form a big part of our modern Hallowe'en. Police enthusiastically endorse these, as the fun is there—minus the mischief which causes loss and annoyance to others.

Hallowe'en, by tradition, is the night of the re-incarnation of the phantoms of the past—bold pirates, sultry beauties, lords and ladies of the court [illegible] ins, mysterious witches and demons. This is the night that they return to roam the earth in every city, town and village.

It was originally the celebration of All Hallows Eve, the evening before All Saints' Day, Nov. 1. According to the superstition, evil spirits were believed to return from their haunts at the command of Saman, Lord of the Dead.

In the days of the Druids, cultists of early British history, huge bonfires were lit to scare off the spirits. To appease them, offerings of apples and nuts—symbolic of the new harvest—were made.

Through the years, the superstitious symbols have remained and are still used as decorations in our own festivities.

The practises have changed to suit the advance of civilization. Today, it is a night of revelling in masquerade by children, garbed in weird and ingenious costumes to fool the adults, who are asked to "shell out" the goodies which have become legalized loot for these annual nocturnal prowls.

After the youngsters stagger home under the weight of their booty, the teen-agers and the adults take over. Dances, parties [illegible] theme. Some features have become standard for such gatherings: apple-bobbing, taffy-pulling, and many variations of old games.

The pranksters, as mentioned by the elders, are pretty well a thing of the past, or at least well modified. Such tricks as marking windows with soap, noise-makers at unearthly hours of the morning, petty thievery of tire-caps, flower-pots, etc. are gradually dying out.

And, shaking their heads glumly over the whole performance, some die-hard grey-beards repeat: "It's not like the old days."

Tea Drinkers Fussy About Their Brew Insist On Certain Elementary Rules

Men who served overseas like their pot of tea. So do the women. They acquired the habit and it is a delicious one.

The tea moment is not confined to war veterans. Quite a few people like to have a drink of tea through the day. It refreshes them and put new freshness to the work.

There are offices where some of the chaps slip out every afternoon about 4 o'clock and enjoy a cup of tea, and other offices where tea is served right in the office. Sometimes they have their doughnuts, too, and on occasions will even tote a whole tray of doughnuts to the counter, so they can sip and munch at will.

These tea drinkers are fussy about their brew. They don't take any old thing that somes along. They abhor slops, as they term the mixture that come from a haphazard throwing of a few tea leaves into lukewarm water.

The epicure want his just right and he insists on some elementary rules.

Whatever anyone does in making tea, be sure to take the teapot to the kettle. Never, never, take the kettle to the pot. That is one of the rudiments of expert brewing of tea. It is never the same when the kettle is carried to the pot.

Another rule observed by the experts is never to guess. The amount of tea and the amount of boiling water should always be measured carefully. It spoils the brew to have too much or too little of either.

And, patience is a virtue. It kes at least five minutes for infusion. There is no use pouring the boiling water on the tea and then trying to drink it at once. It must be permitted to infuse, and hat requires all of five minutes.

The water must be boiling and one level teaspoon of tea for every cup of boiling water is a cardinal rule. The tea is not strong enough if less tea is used. Of course, the people who like their tea so strong the teaspoon will stand straight up will use more than a level teaspoon.

During the war, tea experts did not add a teaspoon of tea for the pot. But, with the supply of tea more plentiful, it is possible to go back to Mr. Chips and his insistence that, in addition to a teaspoon of tea for every cup of boiling water, there should always be an extra teaspoon of tea for the pot.

That extra spoon for the pot is an old English custom, which comes down through the years and is one reason why the English people brew their tea so well and why they like it so much.

There are all kinds of teapots some of them are expensive affairs in gold and silver. Some are porcelain, and some are of other materials.

But, when it comes to making a good cup of tea, there is nothing better than the old-fashioned Brown Betty, the good earthenware pot so common to all kitchens.

Women know they should never use iron, brass or copper teapots. These just do not make good tea.

Tea came originally from China and India. It goes away back into the dim past. Some Chinese peasants used to put a single leaf in a cup of water and they got a great pleasure from the drink, weak though it was. In their poverty they could not afford more than a single leaf and they made do with them.

In China the tea growers have not improved their methods of the past five centuries. But, in Ceylan, Java, Sumatra, Japan and British India, tea growers have cultivated their plants and they have improved the quality of tea produced. It is all part of advancing the study of scientific agriculture and using the lessons learned to make better plants and a better finished product.

It usually takes seven years for a tea bush to grow to maturity and used for the leaf. Some bushes mature in less time and they have been brought along to maturity in a couple of years.

Canadians like black tea, do not go in for either green or oolong.

The green tea is made from leaves that are withered and given heat treatment as soon as they are picked.

The black tea is made from leaves that have been put in a dark humidified room for several hours before firing. This brings out the leaf juices and the essential oil of tea.

The oolong tea is made by a process that fits in between the green and the black.

All tea is made from the top three leaves of an evergreen bush that would grow to 20 feet in height if it were not pruned.

It's time for a cup.

Building of Buckhorn Dam Blamed In 1846 For Epidemic of Fever In Emily

By HARRY THEOBALD

The building of the Buckhorn dam, raising the Kawartha waters to the west of it, caused fatal and widespread illness, as reported by William Cottingham of Omemee, in a letter to the editor of the Peterborough Gazette, Oct. 17, 1846.

Mr. Cottingham was hardly an impartial correspondent. The higher level of Pigeon Lake reduced the efficiency of his several mills presumably on the creek south of the present highway through Omemee. But, even allowing for some personal financial interest in effects of the new dams, the Cottingham letter called public attention to an epidemic of fever throughout Emily and other townships, from which few persons escaped.

The letter comprises a forgotten chapter of the trials of the pioneers in southeast Victoria. The physician and clergyman of the hamlet were both among the stricken and there was "wretchedness on every side".

Incidentally from the Cottingham family in later years came a young man to a retail hardware store in Peterborocgh, beginning a career that took him to the presidency of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Company.

The letter of 102 years ago is quoted from the old copy of the Gazette as follows:

"I take the liberty of addressing a few lines to you through the medium of your valuable paper, as I am at present, in consequence of a severe fit of sickness, able to do little else."

"This place has been visited this year with fever so severely and so generally that you might travel miles without meeting one healthy face."

"For several years back fever has been very prevalent through this settlement, and especially near the water cut. I have never seen anything to equal the sickness that has prevailed this season. The fever through this township and those north of it is caused, in my opinion, by the erection of government dams; one at Buckhorn, the other at Bobcaygeon; the latter dam if made perfectly tight, and the waters kept as high as possible in the summer season, would I think, do but little damage, as the banks in general about Sturgeon Lake are steep, the dam at Buckhorn is quite different, as it floods the whole country, from that to this place, a distance of about 30 miles; it also overflows a good deal of land around Pigeon Lake, and Mud Lake, especially at the head of the latter lake."

"The back water rises at this place three or four feet over the usual spring floods, leaving my mills for the greater part of the year almost useless. I have changed some of my mill wheels three times, agreeably to the instructions of the government engineers, hoping to render them fit to work in the back water, government all the while promising to remunerate me in some measure for my losses, but I have spent my time, wrtiing, explaining how I was situated, petitioning for the sume they promised me, and which was but a small part of what I should have received—but from that time until this, I have never received one farthing. (I never thought the British Government would treat any of its subjects in the way I have been treated.")

"Upwards of 25 years ago, my father, and several other old country people settled in this place, and they all can testify that a healthier place could hardly be found. I built a dam across Pigeon River, erected a grist mill, saw mill, carding and fulling mil. The place assumed a thriving appearance immediately. We had a fine settlement all around, and everything was progressing in the best style until the Buckhorn dam was completed I think in 1838 or 1839, the building of that not only destroyed the valuable water privilege of the place as I have before stated Mr. Editor, but worse than that, it has brought disease and death to a fearful extent through a once happy and healthy country. Mr. Editor, had you witnessed the heart-rending scenes which I have witnessed this season, you would be indignant that a thing of so little use to the public as Buckhorn dam, should be allowed to cause so much human misery. I have seen in some houses every member of the family sick at the same time, children lying scattered here and there over the floor, unable to procure a drink of cold water, and numbers have died solely from want of attendance, and that because there were few healthy people to attend the sick, for in no place, I suppose in the world are there kinder people than here. As long as any were well, they went about continually from house to house, performing every kind and necessary office for the living and the dead."

"Our Dr. and his family were all ill, and we were deprived most of the time of his valuable services. Our clergyman and his family were ill and he had been unable for many weeks to hold divine service; in short, Sir, it is pitiable to witness so much [illegible] many parts of the settlement many of the farmers gave half of their grain for putting the other half in the barn, and some are only now getting it in."

"It must be admitted that this season the fever has been of a much worse kind, and has been much more general in its attacks, and has also spread over a wider extent of country than ever before known; it might also be said that the Buckhorn dam never been made there might have been cases of fever and ague, etc., but it must be obvious to any one who considers the matter, that a mass of water three or four feet deep in the spring, over its usual height, evaporating in the hot weather, leaving the old logs, stumps and pond holes crusted with a filthy matter, which again, after every shower of rain, gives forth unwholesome exhalations, must render the country much more unhealthy than it would otherwise be."

"Some people say, keep the water up to the same height all the time and that will obviate all the difficulty but how is that to be done?—Surely if the dam is made so tight that it will remain full during the summer, the water will remain just as much higher in the spring and overflow an additional quantity of land, because the outlet is so small, that there is no possible way of letting off the water in the spring, when the heavy snows begin to thaw and some down in torrents, out of the almost innumerable lakes and swamps in the interior, the waters must spread over the good lands and destroy them."

"In my opinion this dam should be lowered, for if it is left there we never shall have a healthy country, and if, as I understand is the case, the Trent is not to be made navigable then without it we had water quite sufficient for all the business we are ever likely to do on it. Before the building of the dam there was a small steam-boat running on these waters which could some within a mile of this place, but there never has been one since."

Anson House

(Written by Inmate)

A moving panorama opens to my eyes,
When I glance from my windows,
And it reaches to the skies.
I walk around my room and see
The beauty of the trees,
It makes me feel so grateful
That I fall upon my knees.
I thank God for His kindness
In giving me this view,
In letting me at Anson House
See many things anew.

What masterpieces I can see
When I from my windows gaze
I realize why artists stand
In wonder and amaze.
The hills surrounding Anson House
Proclaim God's love to all;
The winding roads, the hamlets near,
The cattle grazing in the field,
The horses at their play.
I think sometimes that some of them
Would like to run away.

I'm very glad I live up on
The top floor of this home,
The trees are swaying in the wind
No need to further roam,
The people in the home are kind,
Their faces beam with smiles,
They've gone through valleys, climbed the hills,
They've reached the golden miles.
Their hair is white, their steps are slow,
They soon will be at rest.
Just a few more miles to travel
To their home among the blest,
Where they will dwell eternally,
And be in God's own care,
Where happiness will reign supreme
In love beyond compare.

In the men's City Bowling League this week, Shockey's bashed the maples for high triple of 3967 and big single of 1484, sweeping games against De Laval. Riley's held onto top spot with a six-point win, hitting 3754. Doug Abraham's threesome of 955 is best for the season so far, while Bill Stanbury had leading single of 343 included in his neat 937 triple. Holly Mowry was clicking well, too, with his threesome mark of 866 taking in one game's score of 339. Some other fine scores chalked up, also, in this hard-smacking pin circuit. Shockey's now nestle comfortably in second spot.

Oldtime hockey fans here claim Fred Whitcroft was probably the best stick-handler ever developed in Peterborough. As he played some 30 years ago in Peterborough, we never saw him, but older folks still praise his speed, shot and stick wizardry. He was with the Colts here in 1901 when they brought an Ontario junior title this way—and in those days there were no junior "A", "B" or "C" divisions. And in 1906, Fred helped bring an intermediate provincial championship to his home town. Along with such other worthies as Ernie Wasson, Rolly Glover, Bill Crowley, Harry Morgan, Chris Graham and Bill Cavanah. In the seven-man game, Whitcroft was the rover, and tops.

Raft Of Puck Aces

Got thinking of this after seeing a Liberty article on the old Renfrew Millionaires of 1910. Some wealthy lumbermen of that centre swore they'd humble the cocky Ottawa professionals as a matter of community pride. So they scoured the hockey hinterlands and came up with one of the sweetest teams ever assembled, 'tis said. Fred Whitcroft was one of them, Newsy Lalonde was another, and there was Cyclone Taylor, and the two Patricks, and some more. The players were paid from $1,500 to $2,000 for the season, huge money in those days.

* * * * * *

Toward the end of the season, they went into a two-game series with Ottawa for the right to meet Montreal Wanderers for the Stanley Cup. And Ottawa won the first game! This was a terrible blow to Renfrew townsfolk. Finally, their wealthy backers offered $50 for every goal Renfrew scored in the return engagement on home ice. Well, it was one for the books. Ottawa served 49 and Renfrew 55 minutes in penalties, but the Millionaires ran wild to win 17-2 and the backers paid out $2,350 that night. Even their goalie scored, and Taylor skated the length of the rink backwards and sunk one. A wild time. Later on New York's artificial ice, Renfrew beat the Wanderers 9-4 for the Stanley Cup.

Those Robust Days

Yeah, those must have been robust days, and we wonder if maybe the Renfrew backers weren't taken for a bit of a financial ride in that series by the classy Millionaires. Ah, well, what's the difference now? Most of those players went on to star for years in the moneyed ranks, Taylor, Lalonde and the Patricks being rated among the all-time greats of hockey. With Whitcroft right up in there, too. He went out later to Edmonton and was a noted player for years, dying out west some time ago. Yes, Peterborough down the years has produced some starry puckists.

Club gym is located in the green building on the south side of Morrow Park, straight in from the gate. Some 50 men and boys belong now, and others are invited. Amateur wrestling, boxing and physicial buildup instructions, with Nick Vichiarelli in charge of the matmen, and Reg Lesurf and Bill Joiner training the boxers. Gus figures there's a place in Peterborough for such a club and is working to put it over in a large way.

This from the Cobourg sheet: "Orillia and Panthers will meet in home games to decide the league winner and there are those from here who think the Petes might win. Some of the Cobourg fans who made the trip there Saturday were amazed at the strength shown by the Liftlock squad and also by the big-time method of substitutions, for the Peterborough bench used two full and complete teams and changed them as units and not one by one. Should Orillia win the league, the Ghosts feel they can whip them, but Peterborough is different and the locals are not going to take any chances from here in, just in case; hard work will be the order for the Cobourg team, who foresee a tough playoff series in the event of Petes coming through against Orillia."

Citation Easy Winner In Pimlico Special

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP). — Citation and Jockey Eddie Arcaro went for a $10,000 stroll on Friday in the Pimlico Special. The great Calumet Farm three-year-old climaxed his sensational 1948 turf campaign by taking the 12th running of this sporting race without opposition.

Arcaro, who has been aboard the son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane 2nd in all of his big races, merely breezed Citation around the 1 3-16-mile distance.

Top 4 In NHL Tangle Tonight

By The Canadian Press

The cellar clubs in the National Hockey League can lick their wounds tonight while the four top teams collect all the bruises.

Detroit Red Wings invade Toronto for their second game this year with the Maple Leafs, while Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens tangle for the first time this season.

Both the fifth-place New York Rangers and the last-place Chicago Black Hawks are idle until Sunday.

Hawks are at home to Toronto Sunday when Montreal visits Detroit and Boston is at New York.

Detroit beat Toronto 2-1 this year in the first clash between the teams that battled it out for the Stanley Cup and the world championship last year.

They'll be displaying two different policies—Detroit with only four defencemen and four forward lines, Toronto with three complete teams that will be shifted as units.

The Montreal game is crucial both for the second-place Bruins and the third-place Canadiens.

Boston, with four wins in a row, is two points behind the Red Wings, with Montreal two points further down the ladder. Canadiens have two wins, two ties and a loss in five games.

The arrival of defenceman Bill Juzda from Pittsburg Hornets permitted Leafs coach Hap Day to try out his long cherished plan of five-man units. Leafs will put six defencemen and three forward lines into the game, each forward line assigned a set of defencemen.

Day hopes the plan will help break in the Leafs' heavy 1948 rookie crop.

Jack Adams' Red Wings, however, use four back-checking forward lines and only four men on defence.

Beaches Indians In Playoffs As Four Touchdowns Oust Sarnia

By The Canadian Press

A four-touchdown attack shot Toronto Beaches Indians into the senior football playoff picture Friday night, ending the who's-going-to-make-the-playoffs speculation in the Ontario Football Union.

Beaches Indians walloped Sarnia Imperials 22-1 and will meet Hamilton Tigers in a two-game, total-points series for the league championship.

The Western Conference story will be told in Winnipeg today where Saskatchewan Roughriders must beat Winnipeg Blue Bombers to makes the western finals against Calgary Stampeders.

Toronto Argonauts, danegrously close to elimination after three Dominion championships in a row, will be out of the picture unless they beat Montreal Alouettes in Montreal today. But even an Argo victory won't guarantee them the playoffs—Montreal must lose to Hamilton Wildcats the following week to give Argos a chance.

Stocky Doug Pyzer and veteran Bobby Porter, back in the game after an injury, was the sparkplugs that fired the Beaches Indians attack.

Pyzer went across for majors in each of the first two periods, following it up with touchdowns by Mike King in the third and Bill Becker in the fourth quarters. Bill Douglas kicked two singles.

Hank Galloway got the lone Sarnia point—a long punt that put the Imperials in a brief lead.

In today's other Big Four clash Ottawa Rough Riders, sure of first place in the league, meet the last-place Hamilton Wildcats.

Intercollegiate interest centres on London where University of Western Ontario can beat a Queen's University record by beating Queen's. With 25 games withouth a loss in its pocket, Western can tie a record set by Queen's in the 1920's by a victory over the Gaels.

But Johnny Metras Mustangs will be without ace halfback Don McFarlane. A sore leg will keep McFarlane out of his first game in five years with Mustangs. Halfback Bob Farley, injured last week against Queen's, also will be out.

University of Toronto Blues are at home to the McGill University Redmen, confident after their 41-0 victory over McGill last week. If Western beats Queen's, the Varsity-McGill winner will move into second place in the league.

Viscountess Presents Trophy To Don Grant

OTTAWA, Oct. 30 — (CP). — Viscountess Alexander of Tunis and a Government House party Friday night watched Ottawa Army score a 6-4 victory over the Verdun Rams in the first half of an Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League double-header. RCAF Flyers knocked off Ottawa 'Burghs 6-0 in the nightcap.

Guest of the Hockey League, Lady Alexander appeared on the ice briefly before double bill got under way to present Army's defenceman Don Grant with the Viscountess Alexander Trophy. Grant was rated the most valuable player in the Ottawa Senior City Hockey League last season.

SEEMS LIKE ONLY yesterday the boys were sweltering in the bleachers. And here it is hockey time again. The New York Rangers rang up the curtain with a battle against the Detroit Red Wings at Madison Square Garden in New York on Wednesday, Oct. 27. The home-town fans were disappointed, for Detroit beat the Rangers 3-2. Here are Eddie Kullman, Edgar Laprade and Tony Leswick, expected to be the backbone of the Ranger sextet this season, chopping up the ice during practice.

St. Kits, Hamilton Win OHA Games

By The Canadian Press.

Don Evans must have looked like a one-man-team to Oshawa Generals Friday night. The fleet forward blasted home all four goals as St. Catharines Teepees defeated Generals 4-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association game. Teepees, with 15 points, lead the second place Windsor Spitfires by sexen points.

In other junior games Barrie Flyers blasted the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros 5-0 and Windsor Spitfires defeated the Guelph Biltmores 4-1.

Hamilton Tigers are back on the winning path. Tigers dropped their last two games when star forward Clare Shillington was sidelined with an injured knee. With Shillington back the Tigers last night ousted Stratford Indians 3-0 in an OHA senior game.

In the other senior game, Toronto Marlboros battled to a 1-1 tie with Owen Sound Mercurys. Barrie went into a third-place tie with Oshawa Generals by their win over Marlies.

Windsor won their fourth straight game and climbed into second place by defeating the luckless Guelph squad.

Toronto Marlboros were seeking their first win of the season, but could do no better than a tie with Owen Sound.

In to-day's junior card, St. Michael's College plays host to Stratford Kroehlers and Barrie meets Marlboros in an afternoon twin bill at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. St. Catharines meet Oshawa, and Windsor clashes with Galt in other games.

Toronto Marlboros play Owen Sound and Hamilton Tigers clash with Stratford Indians in the senior circuit to-night.

KO's Willie Pep, Featherweight Title To Saddler

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 — (AP)—Willie Pep is all washed up after losing his featherweight championship to Sandy Saddler.

That seems to be the consensus following last night's stunning knockout victory for Saddler, lean Harlem speedster, in 2:38 of the fourth round. Pep never looked the part of the fighter who had lost only once in 136 previous starts.

Slow to move an an easy target for Saddler's fast left uppercuts, wily Willie went down and out for the first time in his illustrious career. He had been on the deck twice before he took the full count by Referee Ruby Goldstein.

Rumors of a betting coup that sent the odds favoring Pep fluctuating from 1 to 3 down to 1 to 2 and then back to 1 to 3 at ring time, resulted in a word of caution from Commissioner Eddie Eagan at the noon weigh-in.

"With every contest we get lots of rumors," said Eagan. "We do not believe any of them. You two are honest athletes. We are holding you responsible to uphold the good name of boxing."

Pep had no excuse for his poor showing that disappointed so many of his fellow-townsmen from Hartford, Conn., who had helped contribute to a house of 14,685, and a gross of $55,751.78.

Pep was guaranteed a return shot in four months. He says he still wants it, but there were few rousing cheers around this town to-day at any mention of a return go.

English Hounds Compete In Gruelling 10-Mile Strain Race

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONON, Oct. 29—(CP)—Britain's flagging post-war sports bring many a cry of woe from English tongues, but to north country natives between April and October they matter hardly a wag of a puppy dog's tail.

It's the Hound Trail season.

On the lonely and rugged fells and dales between North Lancashire and the Scottish border, animals of fox-hound strain race over a 10-mile course split with stone walls that would daunt a hurdling greyhound.

The hounds are kept to the course by a scent of aniseed and other oils compounded to a Hound Trail Association recipe. "Drag" men pull an impregnated length of cloth over the trail a few minutes before a race.

Off at a rattling pace, the field encounters in the first mile a series of obstacles that quickly weed out the skilled from the clumsy, the strong from the weak.

As many as 35 hounds start a race which run in 25 to 45 minutes—about 15 miles an hour. First prize is 10 pounds ($40), second 5 pounds and third 2 pounds 10 shillings. Betting is heavy during the big events.

Current champion in the three Hound Trail counties—Lancashire, Cumberland, and Westmorland—is Sunset, who has 119 victories to his credit, and thousands of pounds' prize money.

His physical condition is the outcome of a training schedule which is not revealed. Part, at least, is a secret diet—the only known ingredients of which are a glass of sherry or port whenever he needs a tonic.

Derby County, shaping well for this season's First Division league soccer race, has set an example with its players that, copied by other clubs, may go a long way towards solving transfer problems.

For years most clubs have preferred first-team players to be full-time professionals. Now Derby has given permission to its first team to take jobs outside soccer.

Stuart McMillan, Derby County manager, feels that players with a secured future will be good club men without any desire to move around.

"Football must still come first," he says, "but there is no reason why players' other jobs should not fit in with our training and playing routine.

"There are not enough jobs in football itself to absorb all the players when they finish, so why not let them try something else as early as possible?"

Quick off the jumping mark has been Billy Steel, Derby County's £15,500 ($62,000) Scottish international inside forward. He intends to be a traveller in the hardware business.

Here And There In Sports . . .

The whole Varsity backfield got into the scoring act Friday as University of Toronto intermediates blasted McMaster University 59-0 in an intermediate intercollegiate football game at Toronto.

Bob Garside scored two touchdowns and threw two touchdown passes while Hubie Sinclair added two majors. Touchdowns also were scored by McFadden, Barbour, Bell, Ecclestone and Lawrence while Rich Howson got a touchdown and two converts. Al Stevenson kicked a field goal and three converts and Dave Graham hooted a single convert.

Jockey Jimmie Stewart—leading rider at Toronto's Dufferin race track fall meeting — Friday rode both halves of the daily double and booted home three winners for the third time in six days. He was aboard Eventide, winner of the featured fifth race, as well as Polly Lass in the first and Circus Flag in the second. Polly Lass and Circus Flag paid a double of $31.55.

Parks Department official said Friday at Edmonton that a bill for $115 to repair Clarke football stadium will be sent the University of Alberta Students' Union. The repairs are the result of damage to the stadium before a U. Of.-University of Saskatchewan football game when seats and the scoreboard were painted green and white.

Bernard Docusen of New Orleans Friday night preserved his rankings as No. 1 challenger for the world's welterweight championship by decisively defeating Johnny Bratton of Chicago in a tame 10-round battle in Chicago stadium.

An URGENT MESSAGE to all parents

A survey recently made by the Department of National Health and Welfare revealed the startling fact that 27 out of every 100 of our school children are definitely undernourished. An additional 23 of every 100 children revealed signs of probable malnutrition.

These are alarming conditions!

As the cost of food continues to soar, will these figures increase? The situation calls for serious thinking and action—now!

Hearty meals of abundant, bulky foods are no assurance of a well-nourished body. Proper nutrition calls for the right foods in the right amounts—daily.

If the strain on your table budget forces you to cut down on valuable protein food like meat, make sure that the food values they would have contributed are obtained by some other means. The daily need for PROTEIN, for example, can be supplied—at lower cost—by combining reduced quantities of expensive protein foods with milk.

For a very few pennies, you build up the protein in a meal by including milk-made dishes. At the same time, you provide other food essentials which milk supplies at relatively low cost.

Here's something worth remembering—the words of one of the foremost nutrition experts of our time: "I suggest that you begin your budget-making by setting aside money for a constant milk supply of a quart a day for every child in the family and at least a pint for every adult. And the less money you have to spend, the more, proportionately, you should spend for milk."

Remember this, too! Even if you are not forced to cut down on your buying of expensive foods, your children normally require 4 to 5 glasses daily. If you ARE forced to cut down their servings of certain other foods, keep them drinking milk. It's the cheapest food you can buy—comparative prices reveal the fact that milk has increased less than any other food group!

Name H. Lundy President In Carpetball

The annual meeting of the City Carpetball League was held in the Legion Hall at which H. Lundy of the LOL was elected president for the coming year.

Several items of interest were placed before the meeting and an effort to get new blood into the league is being made.

The retiring president, B. Gracie, refused re-nomination on the ground that he felt it was for the betterment of the league that its leadership be changed to the hands of the various clubs concerned.

The winners of last season were complimented on their good sportsmanship and received the cups accordingly.

The Fighting Parsons, SOE No. 2 came through for the Hope Cup, the members of the team being G. Palmer, A. Price, F. Leether, R. Hocking and F. J. Parsons, and it is good to see this team again in the running with the same lineup.

The Bleasdell Memorial Shield went to Big Bens No. 10, one member of which passed on during the summer months. Team, H. Nokes, A. Bromley, J. Wilson, J. Cridland, A. Nokes (deceased).

This same team also took away the President's Cup for last year. Mr. J. Cridland of this team was elected vice-president at the meeting and has been attached to the league for a great many years, formerly being on St. John's Club.

The Elsie Bennett Trophy was awarded to H. Lundy and his men of the LOL No. 4, G. Foster, W. Wilson and S. Cummings.

The Wm. Gracie Memorial Trophy was taken by A. Sims, coupled with J. Wilson.

It is the hope of the executive to get the league underway again within the next few weeks and anyone interested is invited to phone 3067 for full particulars.

Teams posted to date: BESL, Bill Gracie; SOE, F. J. Parsons; LOL, H. J. Lundy; St. George's, A. Simms; Red Patch, no name of skip. No further entries have been received to date.

PRINCE BERTIL of Sweden, sometimes called the "Motor Prince" because of his devotion to automobile racing, is shown (right) chatting with two mud-caked drivers who participated in a dirt track race in Stockhole. NB Getting Face-Lifting With New National Park

By RAE CORELLI

ALMA, N.B., Oct. 30 (CP). — Engineers have finished their first year's work to give Mother Nature an estimated $3,000,000 face-lifting near this southeastern New Brunswick village.

When the biggest part of the job has been completed at the end of five years, Canada will have her newest national park—an 80-quare mile garden complete with nine-hole golf course and athletic field.

To provide New Brunswick with this scenic playgrounds—she is the last province to obtain a national park — constructions crews have literally moved mountains.

Site for the golf course commands a sweeping view of the Bay of Fundy and Devil's Half Acre — a 1,200-foot razorback crest in whose hollows ice and snow never melt. The area is fog and mosquito-free.

Promise Adventure.

Craggy, steep slopes and rock-mouthed caverns promise adventure for hikers and explorers.

For water-fanciers, a 130-foot swimming pool is being gouged out of the earth and into it will spout artificially-heated water from the Bay of Fundy. Hardier vacationers may find a cooler dip in the waters of Herry Cove.

Wild life will have a sanctuary in the park, and no hunting will be allowed. Fishermen will be permitted to take eight fish a day each from the many small lakes. E. G. Saunders, Park Superintendent, says he doesn't believe much accommodation will be ready by next season, although tourists are expected to flock to the area by then.

"We are going at the job hammer and tongs," he said.

UEFB MOBILIZES TO GIVE BRITAIN STRENGTH

. . . IN COLD WAR TO WIN THE PEACE

REASON FOR UEFB

The Fund resulted from an investigation by groups interested in British relief. By centralizing buying and transportation, including delivery at destination, substantial savings could be effected. The scattered efforts of many could be channelled into an efficient single stream of relief, without a loss of individuality as to persons, groups or organizations. Actual savings of 24 to 30% in shipping and handling cost alone have been estimated —meaning larger parcels of food for the same cost, the elimination of private competition for scarce items, more rapid and efficient delivery.

MORE AID PER DOLLAR

For example: the cost of placing a ready packaged 10 lb. parcel in the hands of a recipient in Britain, exclusive of content purchase price, is approximately $2.50 at present, whereas through UEFB concessions the comparable cost would be 57c to 79c. This economy does not include the very substantial saving which bulk purchasing effects.

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

Other organizations are not given this national service nor are they obtaining the very large concessions which the co-operating Governments have assured UEFB. However, the Fund facilities are available to every group or organization at present extending aid to Britain.

GOVERNMENT AID

The Canadian Government is placing at the UEFB disposal, as far as they can, warehouse and other facilities. The Government, the railways and several members of Provincial Transportation Associations are co-operating in giving UEFB a preferential freight rate to Canadian ports.

The gallant people of Britain are suffering today because they are determined to win the cold war. They are the only nation in Europe fighting with body and mind to vanquish the spectre that haunts the Old World.

The people of Britain are not complaining. But their health is being weakened . . . their efficiency impaired . . . by the tremendous restrictions they have imposed upon themselves. In their determination to win the cold war, they stand in danger of being defeated by undernourishment.

Undernourishment is the greatest danger of every person living in Britain today. Why? Because Britain imports four-fifths less goods than before the war, yet exports more than half as much again as in 1939.

YOU can join with EVERY other Canadian in helping Britain fight this enemy. UEFB offers you the best means of making your aid to Britain effective now.

UEFB is a voluntary organization set up to collect, forward and distribute aid to the undernourished men, women and children of Britain. UEFB purchases supplies in bulk. The British Government supplies free transportation. And through the UEFB British Advisory Council you can be sure that your dollars will buy what is most needed for those who need it the most.

Although UEFB has no facilities at present to handle used clothing, arrangements are being made to put these into operation early next year.

Says the British Ministry of Food:

". . . we are living on marginal nutritional standards, and there is cause for anxiety lest this should be having adverse effects on physique and health . . . Everything you can send us is wanted and urgently wanted."

YOU can't afford to let the British people down. If they go under YOU, and all of us, will feel the effects. We need a strong Britain to help fight the cold war. Give generously to UEFB—TODAY.

Timeless Wisdom in the Bible

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture — Proverbs 1:8; 3:3a; 4:1; 6:27, 28; 8:1-11; 10:1-9; 15:1; 18:9; 22:1a; 25:13a, b; 28; Ecclesiastes 1-3; James 3:13-18

Wise Solomon, King of Israel, advised children to "hear the instruction of thy father and forsake not the law of thy mother."

When a qarrel seems to be brewing, remember that: "A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger."

About the lazy and those that slight their jobs Solomon says: "He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waster."

"A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches and loving favor rather than silver and gold."
MEMORY VERSE—Proverbs 16:20

Christian Faith Makes Appeal To Virile, Manly Among Men

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The centurian which stood over against Jesus said: Surely this was the Son of God.—St. Mark 15:38.

The Roman officer, a man of war from his youth had seen many die but none so bravely. That evening he would sign his report that "The King of the Jews" died on the Cross. His teaching as a pagan had taught him that the gods appeared as a man from time to time. It may interest you to know the Greek idea of a hero. "A hero came into awkward contact with his fellow men. He was despised and hated because he was not entirely a man." You must not think that the centurian believed that Jesus Christ is the Son of God in the Christian sense; the margin corrects the translation: "A son of God."

Many of this generation think that Lord Jesus was a weakling; meek and mild and gentle; making little appeal to the strong men. St. Mark wrote his Gospel for a fighting race to whom only the strong and courageous appealed. St. Mark points first to John the Baptist, the strong man of the desert. Then to the stronger than he, the Carpenter from Nazareth. It is interesting to remember that the fiery James and John, the sons of Zebedee, were first followers of the desert Prophet then left him for the stronger Man, Jesus. The Master went up and down the land looking for men, strong and courageous. He said to each: "Follow Me". Immediately they obeyed sensing His leadership and authority.

Pontius Pilate, the Roman Governor, with years of experience in handling and ruling men, recognized that the Carpenter was no ordinary man. His very insistence upon the title: "The King of the Jews" was a proof that he recognized strong personality, a Man of outstanding courage.

One of His Apostles was Simon, the Zelot, a member of the nationalist party, strong and fiery men who hoped to free their nation from the Roman yoke. He would never have joined had he not been attracted by the strength of the Teacher both in Body and Mind.

Once more look at the dying thief. He is amazed that The King refuses the drugged wine. He hears His prayer for His murders. Suddenly his eyes are opened. He sees the King. "Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy Kingdom."

Finally we have the experience of Joseph of Armathea begging the body of Jesus from Pontius Pilate. "Pilate marvelled whether He were already dead." That morning he had condemned to the Cross a young, strong countryman, whom he expected to linger many fearful hours.

Does this idea of the Strong Son of God make any appeal to your manhood. You must get away from the idea that the Christian Faith is only for women and children. It has always made its appeal to the virile and manly among men. He offers suffering and pain to every one, pain sometimes physical, frequently mental, and a joy which goes with such an experience. He knew He must suffer on the Cross. No weak man could have steadfastly set His Face to go to Jerusalem. Be strong and very courageous is His note of appeal to every one throughout the generations. The Church needs the Noble Army of Martyrs". Will you enlist for this D.S.O. Cross?

THE PAINS OF HELL GAT HOLD UPON ME. THEN CRIED I UNTO THE LORD: O LORD, I BESEECH THEE, DELIVER MY SOUL.

Lake Causeway Nearing Half-way Mark

Fill for the Chemong Causeway now extends nearly half way across the lake. By Wednesday night 1,142 feet of the 2,620-ft. distance had been laid down.

Work on the swing-span has not yet begun. This part of the project must be planned and carried out by the Department of Transport, and negotiations are still being carried on between the Department and the County.

Exact location of the swing-span is not known. It is expected to be near the south end, not far from the formed span where there is a permanent approach. According to the County Engineer, J. D. Keen, the Department said it would proceed as soon as possible, independent of the filling operation being done by the Thompson Construction Co.

To allow the water to flow through the causeway and thus prevent stagnation, three eight-foot-in-diamater culverts will be installed at quarterly distances.

Freezing of the lake will not stop the job of pouring in the fill, weight of the loads which are dropped from dump trucks is expected to break through the ice.

The rock-fill causeway is two traffic lanes wide, and the rate of building is determined by the depth of the lake which varies several feet. Soundings reveal there is only one deep spot between the end of the causeway and the south shore, and it is expected that when this hole is filled progress will be rapid.

The causeway was started early in July, and the contractor believes the job will be completed before the end of February. Thus the bridge will be usable by Spring, if not before.

JOHN McMILLAN, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who is being transferred to Thorold by the Royal Bank, was presented with a gold ring by his colleagues on the Chamber, at a dinner meeting held Friday night.

Jaycees Honor J. McMillan; Elect Les Reid

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee presented President John McMillan with a gold ring mounted with the Jaycee pin at a dinner Friday night. Mr. McMillan, appointed to the post of accountant at the Royal Bank, Thorold, Ontario, retired as president of the Chamber.

Assuming the office of president upon the resignation of Ken Jones, Mr. McMillan capably directed Chamber activities during the past eight months.

Past President El. Jones made the presentation to Mr. McMillan, and described the retiring president as "a leading figure in the organization and progress of the Junior Chamber in Peterborough."

In a short business meeting following the dinner, Les. Reid was elected president, Joe Cooke, 1st vice-president, and Don Craig, 2nd vice-president. All three men have been active in the Chamber activities, serving in the office of 1st vice-president, 2nd vice-president and director, respectively.

The members elected to leave the appointment of two new directors until he regular executive meeting Monday evening.

[illegible] moved that a new appointment, executive secretary, be created for the office held by Doug. Vaisey.

One Man Hurt Car Hits Culvert

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 30 (ENS).—Heavy fog is blamed for an accident at midnight Friday when a car driven by Arden Dracup, of Lakefield, struck a culvert two miles north of Lakefield and overturned in the ditch.

In the car with Dracup was Alex. Dunford, owner of the car, and Fred Binnington, both of the village. They were proceeding south when the accident occurred in front of the residence of Albert Rowe. Binnington received internal injuries, but these are not believed to be serious.

The mishap was investigated by Provincial Constables O'Shaughnessy and Bell, and Chief Constable Samis of Lakefield.

FOG DIDN'T LIFT

The blanket of fog that annoyed motorists Thursday night is a big pain in the neck to duck hunters. They claim the fog did not lift off Pigeon Lake at all on Friday and the hunters who had hoped to gather in a mess of ducks, didn't even leave shore.

Reducing Power A Puzzler To Commission

Utilities Commission tried at their meeting Friday afternoon to think of "ways and means" of effecting the further power quota cut announced by Hydro-Electric Commission from 240,000 kwh to 229,700 kilowatt-hours.

This sharper reduction becomes effective Monday. "Up a tree" is a colloquial expression that might fit the Utilities trio and R. L. Dobbin, manager, in their dilemma.

"We have till 3 p.m. Monday to think up some scheme," said Mr. G. S. Matthews, chairman scanning possibilities and turning up discouraging snags.

It was suggested, for example, that alternate street lights might be cut out, but that offered a saving of only 1,500 kwh.

That dimming proposal did not get far. Mr. Matthews commented that "our street lighting is not so good, and we have to keep in mind the question of public safety".

Some streets, it was said, had barely enough lighting even now.

"I think we feel that our street lights should be left on," was the chairman's summary of that phase of the survey.

Another question was: "What about water heaters?" They are being cut seven hours a day because Peterborough has a control system. Hamilton, Ottawa and various other cities have no such control.

"There are a lot of them," Mr. Dobbin said. "Are we being penalized because we have control? That might be, unless it is reflected in our quota."

"We should have that point cleared up by Monday," Mr. Matthews said.

"I have been enquiring at Belleville today, but I didn't get anything definite," Mr. Dobbin replied.

"What about pulling switches at 4 p.m.?" was another suggestion in question form.

That meant factory work could end at 4 p.m., or as an alternative begin at 8 a.m. instead of seven. The time could be made up for the men on Saturdays. But, a complication arose at that point.

Some plants are already working Saturday as their means of "helping out the situation".

So, the Commission peered here and there without much hope of avoiding something drastic. And that means "pulling switches", turning off the power for all hands. It is being done in other cities, was the comment.

As for the hospitals, it was said they had emergency equipment. The Commission and their [illegible] problem confronting them over the week-end.

At 3 p.m. Monday they meet the major consumers of power at a meeting in the city council chamber.

Hydro Cut-off Annoys Ruralites

Sunday's cut-off of Hydro power, which comes from the sub station at Millbrook and lasted from 9 a.m. until 5 o'clock in the evening caused a great deal of inconvenience to many in the village, especially those who depend solely on electricity for cooking. Quite a neighborly spirit developed and many tea kettles were heated on the wood or coal burning stoves of friends. Roast potatoes appeared on many family menus, cooked in the coals of the furnace. Another lady reports she had a community dinner . . . the roast cooked in one neighbors oven, and the vegetables by another. The stores report a rush on coal oil by those who have old oil stoves and lamps which have been stored away for years but are being made ready for use in case of another cut off.

False Alarms No Joke Jail Term 3 Months

Fire Chief George Smith warned parents today of pranksters who send in false alarms can be jailed for three months, and he urged all mothers and fathers to admonish their children on this point.

Chief Smith explained that the fire hazard is intensified at Hallowe'en because of candles placed in pumpkins on windows. Often the candle flame ignites the curtains. He added that putting fine tissue paper which is highly inflammable around electric light bulbs is also a dangerous practise.

To Argue Potatoes

OTTAWA, Oct. 30 — (CP). — An authoritative source said Friday night a Canadian delegation will leave for Washington shortly to thrash out the position of the Canadian potato on the American market. The Washington conference has become necessary, he said, because of a growing move in some American political quarters to block further shipments of Canadian potatoes to the United States.

Canada's Kids Get Ready For Hallowe'en

By The Canadian Press

It's the moppets' night out tonight as witches, ghosts and goblins, ignored the rest of the year by a practical world, prowl the streets from coast to coast.

But the apparitions will probably look a bit less fierce this year. A Canadian Press survey shows the elaborate false-faces of pre-war Hallowe'ens — in short supply due to import restrictions —will give way to cheaper paper masks and home-made costumes.

Across the country chief constables were issuing their annual warnings in an effort to stop vandalism. In the larger centres extra forces were being recruited.

Even so, the antics of tonight's doorbell-ringers and window-soapers will be a far cry from the practices of franksters in their parents' time who hoisted cows to barn roofs, stacked fences and generally changed the landscape.

Hallowe'en, 1948, will see organized parties of all types, many arranged by service clubs.

Children throughout the country will gang up on stores and private homes chanting "shell out" until they are rewarded in some manner, usually apples, nuts or candies.

Kinsmen and Rotary clubs have arranged monster indoor and outdoor celebrations in Hamilton, Woodstock, Stratford, Owen Sound, Oshawa and Galt.

At Brantford, the front of the city hall will be the base of operations.

Kirkland Lake youngsters will be on their own but Belleville kids will be entertained at the local "Y."

In Montreal, police will patrol the city in 20 special cars to guard against broken street lights. Six special crews will be on duty, ready for emergencies.

Toronto law forces will be at full-strength. All policemen — even those normally off Saturday nights—will work this one. In Winnipeg 40 special constables have been hired.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

A BROKEN AXLE

The large white garbage disposal truck owned by the city was a casualty on Friday at noon. A broken axle stalled the vehicle at Reid on McDonnel, but it didn't even tie up traffic, the truck was moved so quickly.

6,000 KWH'S OVER

Peterbrough in its use of electricity on Friday was 246,000 kwh or 6,000 kwh over the quota. During the week the over quota has amounted to 14,000 kwh. Commencing Monday Peterborough goes on a new quota of 229,700 instead of the present 240,000.

IN TORONTO HOSPITAL

A picture appearing on page 20 of Friday's Examiner showed a nurse, Miss M. Parks, holding an Alberta baby which had a successful operation at the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. The nurse is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Parks, Peterborough. She is a second year student at Civic hospital but at present is at Sick Children's Hospital for three months, which is part of her training at the Civic Hospital school of nursing.

10 Years For Death

CHANDLER, Que., Oct. 30 — (CP). — Arthur Cyr, 31, was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary here Friday when a jury returned a reduced verdict of manslaughter in the case of a septuagenarian beaten to death for his money. The victim was Jean Baptiste Francoeur, a 78-year-old laborer.

Parks Dept. Demolishing Grandstand At Riverside

Peterborough Riverside Ball Park is taking on the New Look very rapidly these days and by early summer of 1949 ball fans will probably see an entirely new layout. Work has been going on since last spring when the old river side bleachers were scrapped and new portable units purchased by the city and installed.

At the present time a fence has been built on the west side which curves out at the rear of right outfield. The old grandstand is being dismantled and not before it was required from a public safety angle as Armar Butcher, parks department superintendent, demonstrated.

Old supporting 12 by 12 timbers at their ground ends had rotted to a rusty powder for a distance of two feet. Cement supporting piers had settled at all angles and rotted sleeper timbers had sagged with them. They were shored up last year in an effort to make the grandstand safe for this season's fans. The lumber from the dismantled stand is being used to build the river side fence.

Mr. Butcher revealed the following new layout for the park [illegible] the diamond changed to make home plate in the north-east corner of the park instead of its present layout in the north-west. This will reduce the number of balls lost in the river. There is to be a combination press-radio box behind home plate and portable bleachers partly filling the north and east sides. There will also be new dugouts and ticket booths and quite possibly new entrances and a netted grandstand section in the corner.

It is also hoped that the board fence will be extended along the south side to completely enclose the park. The grounds have been harrowed, seeded and rolled, and officials hope for a good catch of grass by next summer. Parks Department is being kept very busy moving and erecting portable bleachers, first from the ball park to Nicholls Oval, and Friday they were set up in the Armouries for the Paul Whiteman musical show. After this affair they will be installed at the Oval for the balance of the season's football games.

Friday Night Club Hears YM Secretary

Mr. K. Z. Loh, general secretary of the YMCA in Shanghai, China, was guest speaker at the meeting of the YMCA Friday Night Supper Club. G. H. Roper, secretary of the YMCA, introduced Mr. Loh. Mr. Loh has visited many Canadian cities. He trained in China for his work with the YMCA movement and has held the position of secretary for 16 years. Its work extends over five and a half million people. Working under him in China, he has 58 secretaries, including one Canadian. Mr. Loh attended University in China, and took a post-graduate course at Yale. His talk included different aspects of the Chinese movement in China.

The speaker was thanked by Ken Hotson on behalf of the club.

Police Probe 3 Accidents

Three accidents were investigated by city police since Friday at noon, and in all three vehicles were damaged but there were no injuries.

At 7.45 today, Clifford White, Bridgenorth, was driving west on Wolfe St., and when crossing Bethune, his truck was struck broadside by a C.N.R. train proceeding north. The truck was carried 120 feet, then thrown aside and the driver was unhurt. The rack was smashed, the frame bent and the left fenders crushed.

William Boulter, 288 Charlotte St., reported to police that at 11.40 Friday night he was driving west on Charlotte St. when a car came out of the lane between the Empress Hotel and the [illegible] Boulter claims the stopped, but the other car crashed into his, then backed up and collided with his car a second time. The other driver, according to Boulter, then drove off, "using profane language and making sarcastic remarks." A charge of leaving the scene of an accident will be laid.

The third accident took place at the Brock-George intersection. Jule Lovity, 440½ George St., had parked his car on the north side of Brock near George at noon Friday. Mrs. Evelyn Beatty, 565 George St., was driving south on George and in making a right turn on to Brock, had to pull sharply to the right to avoid hitting a pedestrian. In so doing her car struck the left rear fender of the Lovity car and crumpled it. The pedestrian escaped unhurt.

"YOUR AID TO BETTER TRAVEL"

Armory Auditorium Packed With Almost 4,000 People To Hear Whiteman Concert

A concert of Gershwin music thrilled an audience of almost 4,000 music-lovers on Friday night which packed the Armouries to hear Paul Whiteman and his orchestra play a special program in tribute to the late American composer. Highlight of the concert was the special Whiteman arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue," the piece first played by "The King of Jazz" back in 1927.

A glance at the audience seemed to bear out the famous Whiteman statement "Jazz doesn't die." Those listening with rapt attention included not only the young bobby-sox, jitter-bug age group, but the older people as well.

The music seems to have retained that same hold on young and old alike that it had when first played 21 years ago on the concert stage before an at first sceptical then wildly enthusiastic audience.

The interior of the Armories had been tastefully decorated and this together with the bleachers and chairs brought in to accommodate the large crowd, completely transformed its appearance.

A special stage 36 by 24 feet had been erected to hold the 38-piece concert orchestra and the seven entertainers. A grand piano was brought in from Toronto and set up in the afternoon.

Ian McRae thanked the merchants and others who had assisted in obtaining this concert, on behalf of the Rotary and Kinsmen Clubs which had jointly sponsored it.

At the intermission the Rotary draw for a car was made. Paul Whiteman picked the winning ticket which was held by Miss Margaret Cameron, 738 Stewart St.

The stage was setup in the south-west part of the Armouries and bleachers were raised down the north side and east end. The floor space was occupied by chairs.

Car Misses Curve Damage Tops $800

Magnus Laidlaw, RR 1, Peterborough, was driving north on Fairburn St., at 4.50 p.m. Friday and, due to incoming fog at dusk, [illegible] at the Highland Rd., intersection. The car toppled over into the ditch but the driver was unhurt. Provincial Constable Harry Cook, who investigated the accident, thought that about $800 damage was done to the vehicle.

This accident together with one about two miles north of Lakefield and another case of a nicked fender were all the calls due to blanket fog conditions that the Provincial Police headquarters received on Friday evening. Except for buses and trucks, most private vehicle owners used good common sense and left cars in their garages.

Booster Pump To Be Located In North End

Water mains on Rose and Wilson streets have been completed by the Utilities Commission. House connections are being delayed until the sewers are laid by the board of works.

Utilities men move up to Weller St. Monday or Tuesday. Work there will include connections for the houses that have been built in the Mann Hill subdivision.

Ross L. Dobbin, manager, reported to the Commission Friday that a booster pump will have to be set up in the vicinity of Queen Mary school. It will require a housing of about 12 ft. by 12 ft. and Mr. Dobbin suggested that the Board of Education might provide a location at the south-west corner of the school property.

The pump is required to increase the pressure in the mains of that section of the west end.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO P ANIT

Splatter-Dash Painting Not Difficult To Apply

Let's re-introduce splatter-dash floor painting...not a new idea we know, but always a "sure-fire" treatment that's sure to please with its simple charm, practicability and ease of application.

Neglected in an age rife with new and scientific ideas, splatter-dash finish is right at home in the modern home. Its artistic possibilities were perhaps accidentally discovered by someone splattering wood in a test for a newly-mixed color...or while attempting to clean a brush. Or perhaps some domestic genius might have thought up splatter-dash to hide the tracked-in mud on solid colored floors.

Not Difficult To Apply

The tools for applying a splatter-dash finish are as few and plain as the method is simple. Although calling for a definite technique, a little practice will soon art. While th is more to it than merely pping blobs of paint off in any old manner, still it's a long way from being difficult to apply. In all arts, authorities differ on certain points, and in this case it's whether to hit the stick with the brush or the brush with the stick. But let's start at the beginning...

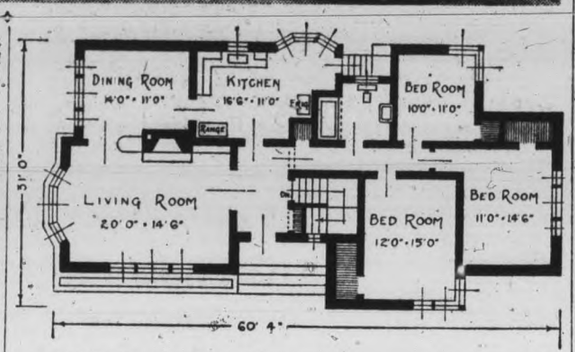
The first thing to do is to fasten old newspapers to the walls with thumb tacks up to a height of three feet. If you want the dado finished in the same manner as the floor don't cover it. Now apply the ground cover on the floor ...blue, gray, green or black all being good ground colors on which to splatter-dash with white. Pumpkin yellow splattered with brown is another possibility. If your floor absorbs the first coat quickly and unevenly then there is need for a second.

After the initial (or second) application is completely dry, lay on another coat of the same color in a section of the floor about 4 feet square. When this coat attains a gluey condition splattering must follow immediate so that it will consolidate in with the base coat and not remain on top to wear off. Don't try to splatter part of the flood that is dry and when you come to apply the final base coat streaks of the second will be seen.



Good Results Using Whisk

Tools needed for the splattering consist of a piece of broom-handle or some similar type of stick about 18 inches long, and a coarse paint brush or long-handled whisk. Dip the brush or whisk in the paint and bring it out so that paint doesn't drip. Hold the brush firmly about two feet above the section of the floor that has been coated last. Tap the brush smartly with the stick. Move over the gluey section and repeat this procedure. Concentration of splattering is left to the individual as tastes will, of course differ widely.

As has been mentioned before, some may want to hit the stick with the brush...we prefer tapping the brush with the stick, but it really doesn't matter. Of course you want to remember that paint splatters up as well as down, so it's a wise measure to wear old clothes or coveralls. Practice is a good precaution to avoid bad results and a dress rehearsal in some convenient spot would pay handsomely in the major undertaking.

Not satisfied with plain splattering, splatter-dash advocates have improved on the original idea by adding decorative designs such as leaves or trees or lightning flashes. This is easy too, because all you have to do is select a suitable simple motif and cut enough of them to cover a section of the floor. Just before applying the final base coat, the one which you splatter-dash, take a number of these cut-outs and tack them in whatever manner you desire on the section to be worked on first. Once you have the designs laid out to your satisfaction, apply the final base coat and splatter-dash in the manner previously described. When the splatter-dash is completely dry outline the design lightly in pencil and take up the cut-outs. Paint in the outline the same color as the platter-finish, or a third color.

The possibilities for variations in the final appearance are unlimited. With a little thought it should be easy to dream up a suitable motif for any room in the house...maybe miniature tea-pot outlines in the kitchen or sail boats in the nursery. Give it a try...you'll find it interesting work and a colorful decorative idea hard to beat.

HOUSE No. 17—A three-bedroom bungalow of grey cedar shingles, designed for modern living. It was built on a sloping corner site, which made possible an easy approach to a low-level garage. Indeed the whole basement plan of this house is particularly good. It includes a large panelled play-room. Bedrooms are well placed for privacy and proximity to the bathroom. Not only is the kitchen-breakfast room unusually bright and cheerful, it is convenient to both front and rear entrances. There are splendid windows in the living-room and the dining-room. Commonwealth Countries Plan To Meet Threats Of War

BY JOHN DAUPHINEE
Candian Press Staff Writer

The countries of the Commonwealth—without exception—are building their defences to meet the threat of war.

So far the process has been just begun.

No unit of the commonwealth can be called even half-prepared.

Each memoer has agreed to take "all appropriate measures to deter and resist aggression."

And the only possible aggressor that any of them see is Russia.

Those are the main features of the Commonwealth defence picture less than 3½ years after the Second WorldWar ended.

Put "Germany" in place of "Russia" and you're back to 1938—but appeasement as a road to peace has been discharged.

Britain, population centre of the Commonwealth, is leading the Dominions along the new course which they hope will lead, through strength, to peace.

She is the only Commonwealth country with peacetime conscription. She has stopped the post-war demobilization and launched a recruiting drive for her regular forces. She is putting warships back on active service, speeding the output of weapons for the army, strengthening the R.A.F. with the latest of jet planes.

Filling Gaps

This series of stories, prepared by Canadian Press and Reuter Staff Reporters, has shown how each Dominion is starting to fill the gap:

Canada—Next door to Russia, Canada is gradually tightening her own defences but must rely heavily on the prospective benefits of collective security moves, particularly among the commonwealth, the United States and Western Europe. No great increase in the regular forces of fewer than 40,000 men is anticipated.

Australia — Main Commonwealth bastion in the South Pacific, Australia has accepted greater responsibility for Commonwealth security there. She is concentrating on weapons research and expansion of war industries.

New Zealand—Allied closely with Australia in regional defence planning, the smallest dominion (pop. 1,700,000) is reported ready to introduce a peacetime call-up.

India—Defence plans call for bigger forces, better service training and more output in defence industry. An "armed forces liasion and procurement organization" has been created in London to keep in touch with British service developments.

Pakistan—Prime Minister Liaqat Ali Khan has said defence "dominates all other governmental activities" and "we shall not grudge spending any amount on the defence of the country."

Main Stronghold?

South Africa—Now that Britain has withdrawn from Palestine and Egypt, South Africa might in another war become the Commonwealth's main African stronghold. The services are being brought to full strength; industry has been given an official hint it must prepare for war production; and communications with the rest of Africa are [illegible]

But while Britain and the Dominions apparently are working closely in preparations for possible war, these reports from Commonwealth capitals have shown up some possible weaknesses in the long-term defence chain.

South Africa decided on early participation in the Second World War by only the narrowest parliamentary margin. Three-fifths of her white population are descendants of Britain's adversaries in the Boer War. Her government represents this strong Nationalist element.

Active Part

In Capetown, there is no doubt that the Union is ready to take an active part in African defence generally.

India is a Commonwealth country now, with full Dominion status. But the constituent assembly has stated that the aim is ultimately to establish a "sovereign, independent republic."

Even with South Africa and India fully in the defence plan, the strategic communications line between Britain and the Antipodes is weaker now than before the war.

Burma has quit the Commonwealth. And Britain has withdrawn from Palestine and Egypt, keystones previously in defence of the Mediterranean shipping lane.

Strike In Italy

ROME, Oct. 29—(AP)—Two general strikes began in Italian provinces today, but one of them was called off within a few hours. A strike in Florence province ended when agreement was reached between union representatives and management of a manufacturing firm. The other strike, at Reggio Emilia province, is scheduled to run from noon to midnight.

Gets On Wrong Train Nearly Misses Boat

LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 30 (CP).—The emergency signal was given and the train ground to a sudden halt.

Accident? No.

Agriculture Minister Tom Williams, en route to Canada, found he was on the wrong train.

At Doncaster Thursday, Williams boarded the train he thought was going to Liverpool, where he was due to sail on the Empress of France. A few minutes after the train pulled out he realized the scenery wasn't right and yanked the communication cord.

Railway officials were sympathetic. A phone call to Doncaster held the Liverpool train and brought a pilot engine out to rush the minister back to the station. Williams stood on the footplate.

5 Canso Flying Boats Toned Up For RCAF

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Oct. 30—(CP). — Five of 32 Canso flying boats, unused for four years, are being toned up for active duty with the R. C. A. F.

Stored at the former air training school south of here, at least five of the craft will return to the R. C. A. F. and it is believed likely the other 10 planes still owned by the Air Force may also be reconditioned. Seventeen are owned privately.

Air Force and private mechanics working under government contract at Moose Jaw's Airport have been able to put two planes into the air for part of the five hours of test flights demanded before ferry pilots take them away—to Montreal perhaps.

It takes about 30 days to whip one of the amphibians into shape. In fighting trim with radar and other equipment, the planes are said worth about $250,000. Their present value, stripped, is said less than $100,000.

War Of Words

LIMA, Perus, Oct. 29—(AP)—Military action against an army revolt in southwestern Peru was cloaked today in a war of words between the government and rebel-seized radios. Doomed to extinction?

A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our waterfowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservational practices are neglected.

Miss Dorothy Graham was master of ceremonies and conducted novelty dances and made draws for valuable door prizes. Judges, Morris Duke and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McFayden, surveyed the costumed guests and picked a 'skeleton" for the most original prize, a creature with one very long took in his false face for the most comical and the cutest was a pierrotte in black and orange ballet dress. Cooper—Nanson

In SacredHcart Catholic Church, Toronto, the marriage took place of Roy Victor Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Cooper of Peterborough, and Martha. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nanson of Edmonton, Alta. The Rev. P. L. Bouvier said the nuptial mass.

The bride [illegible] of pearl grey gabardine with accessories in burgundy shade, and a corsage of yellow roses. She was given in marriage by Mr. Roland Marleau and attended by her sister Miss Helene Nanson. The maid-of-honor was in a green gabardine suit and wore black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Joseph Spencer.

At the reception held in the King Edward Hotel, the groom's mother received, attired in black and white with black accessories. Later the couple left on a wedding trip to Winnipeg, Edmonton, and California. The bride travelled in a Picadilly green wool dress with which she wore grey accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper will live at 647 Park St. S., Peterborough.

FAMILY AFFAIR—Celebrating a golden wedding is quite an affair in any married couple's life but when the mother of one of the couple is also present for the occasion, it becomes doubly important. That was the case this week at Kitchener when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bilitzki marked their 50th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Bilitzki's mother, Mrs. Eva Lemanski, centre, 92, who was present for the occasion is shown with Mr. and Mrs. Bilitzki.

Grade 9 Club Hostesses Hallowe'en Hop

Novelty feature of the Featherbrain Club's Hallowe'en dance Friday evening was "dancing in he dark," and perhaps Hydro officials will take note and credit the amount of power saved. Anyway, lighting in the YWCA recreation room came solely from the windows and open doors while dancing was in progress. Real reason for the darkness? It was Hallowe'en, and whoever heard of a ghost walking in bright light or a witch lurking anywhere except in shadows?

The door prize was a box of chocolates and was won by Miss Mary Hunter. "Spotlight" dance winners were Miss Gertrude Phillips and Miss Helen McKenzie.

Leaders assisting with the refreshments were Mrs. Walter Howell and Miss Lenore Edwards, junior girls' work secretary. Those present were:

Misses Marilyn Bentley, Elaine Rutledge, Marg Ingram, Sherry Playford, Violet Sanderson, Joan Hendren, Gertie Phillips, Carol McKenzie, Shirley Head, Judy Bell, June Rosbush, Janey Myers, Barbara Merchen, Joan Files, Dolly Starr, Marie Thompson, Dorothy Macklin, Barbara Walsh, Gwyneth Blackwell, Fay Harris, Ruth Drury, Helen McKenzie, [illegible], Margaret Stevenson, Flinda Simmons, Mary Hunter, Anne Blodgett, Barbara Hoey, and Barbara Walsh.

Duff-Fife

The marriage of Jean Fife and Raymond E. Duff was solemnized Thursday at St. Paul's Presbyterian Manse by the Rev. C. G. Boyd. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fife, Indian River, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam G. Duff, Myrtle.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of pale blue moire with corsage of pink roses. She was attended by her sister Mrs. Gerald Lester, attired in royal blue with corsage of pink carnations.

After a reception held at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Duff left for Toronto and later took a plane from Malton airport to Buffalo. The bride travelled in a grey gabardine suit with brown accessories. They will reside in Peterborough.

Gay Costume Party Held at Normal

All manner of characters took over the Normal School Assembly Hall Thursday evening when the Literary Society staged its annual Hallowe'en party. All attendants were in costume, and wives of staff members and women teachers formed a judging board to decide which were most original. The prize went to a trio representing "Snap, Crackle and Pop" who actually were the Misses Ruth Avery, Margaret Kelly and Roberta Wright. The best-dressed couples was also selected and they were Miss Anne McCall and Miss Irene Sidey.

Executive members in charge of arrangements were Hugh Hutchinson, president; Vevey Jameson, vice president and Florence Bate, secretary.

The double door of the hall had been converted into a novel face by the decorators, using Hallowe'en symbols for the features and corn tassels for hair. Walls were bordered with black cats and witches and Jack-o-lanterns winked from the corners.

Some guests from the YWCA Friday Night Supper Club and the YMCA were entertained for the evening.

The program included a "shadowgraph" show in which Marion Sloan, Douglas Thurston, Winston Goheen, Frank Wood and Don Terney took part. Miss Ruth Hiscock contributed a pleasing solo. A mental telepathy exhibition was given by Don Torney and John Armstrong and a game of "20 Questions" conducted by Ed Loveday, assisted by Joyce Smith and Ron Macklin. Questioners for the latter were Misses Eleanor Johnston, Marnie Pearse, Gay Webber, Marion Bayne and Messrs. John Armstrong and Don Torney.

Dancing was enjoyed to recorded music supplied by Mr. Jack Comstock. Refreshments, prepared under guidance of the home economics teacher, Miss O. Johnson, was convened by Miss Vevey Jameson were baked apples, pumpkin pie, and coffee, as befitted the occasion celebrated.

WD's Congregate For First Reunion

This week-end more than 1,000 former airwomen from Ontario and other parts of Canada are converging in Toronto, seeing wartime comrades again and catching up on each others' news. A considerable amount of backslapping is probably taking place at this first large-scale reunion of the RCAF (WD) since the war. An attempt has been made to trace all former members in the province to notify them of the event.

Among those from Peterborough attending are Mrs. Doug Vaisey, Mrs. Bruce Campbell, Miss Lila Gerow, Miss Edna Rule, Miss Helen McFarlane, Miss Vi Wilson and Miss Janet Kearns. A contingent is arriving from Montreal and another from Ottawa. A group of ex-WD's from Winnipeg were specially flown in for the occasion in an RCAF plane. Another girl is coming all the way from Labrador and one has made a return visit from Australia.

Highlight of the reunion is the banquet when former Wing Officer Taylor, one of the founders of the WD'S, is the guest speaker. A fair amount of brass is on hand, but need cause no concern to the former airwomen who will all be in civvies. Entertainment afterward will be provided by former members of RCAF shows. On Sunday there is a memorial service and laying of a wreath on the cenotaph and a church parade. Any airwoman who still has a yen to "take a flip" can tour Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls by air from Malton airport in the afternoon. Afternoon tea wil be served from two to six. Storey-Dunkley Wedding Two Ring Ceremony Today

Park St. Baptist Church, decked with 'mums, palms and fern, was the setting for a lovely wedding this afternoon, when Marguerite Beryl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dunkley of Peterborough became the bride of Edward Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Storey of Pleasant Point. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. J. Whan.

Organ music was played by Mr. Adam Hawley. Before the service Miss Mary Robson sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register "Because."

The bride's gown with train was of ivory transparent silk velvet and was designed with sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves on the fitted bodice and the skirt falling in deep folds. Her headdress was a wide braid of the velvet caught at the sides with sprigs of bouvardia and her coronet veil of silk illusion extended to full length. She carried a showered cascade bouquet of red roses and bouvardia. Mr. Dunkley gave his daughter in marriage.

The wedding attendants were Miss Lura Tyler of Woodstock, as maid of honor, frocked in pink; Miss Dorothy Storey, sister of the groom as braidesmaid, in blue; Miss Ardyth Halcrow and Miss Marion Routly, junior bridesmaids, in mauve and yellow. The frocks were in similar style, fashioned of taffeta faille with beandeau hats of braided velvet, and each carried a ring bouquet of baby 'mums.

Mr. William Storey was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Al. Plunkett and Al Simser.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dunkley wore a gown of black silk lace and crepe, a black hat and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Storey, mother of the groom, was in grey crepe with black hat and had pink roses at her shoulder. Both assisted the bridal party to receive the guests afterward in the church hall.

For going-away the bride donned a suit of wine gabardine with black hat and accesories and she carried a black topcoat.

After December 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Storey will reside at 51 McDonnel Street.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Men Err In Believing Good Conduct Sufficient

What makes a man a good husband? The average man thinks he is a good husband if he supports his family, doesn't philander, spends his evenings by his own fireside, and that his wife should be on her knees thanking God for her luck in getting him. But the possession of a good conduct card just of itself doesn't entitle a man to a membership into the Ancient and Honorable Order of Good Husbands.

A man's middle name may be Joseph. He may be so upright that he leans backwards. He may never even cast a glance at a glamour girl. He may feed his wife on filet mignon and swathe her in mink coats and yet be a worse husband than a drunkard, or a no-account loafer, or a woman-chaser.

Dorothy Dix

It takes more things than just being a meal ticket to make a man a good husband. First of all it requires that he shall have a talent for the career before he espouses it, for a man who has no natural aptitude or domesticity can no more be a good husband than a stone deaf man can be an opera singer.

Hence before a man takes a woman's life into his hands he should ask himself: Will a wife cure me of the drink habit? Will marriage keep me from philandering? Will it turn me into a fireside-sitter? And if the answer is NO, then for mercy's sake he should stay a bachelor. Some men are born for marriage and others are not, and every man should find out before marriage to which class he belongs, and stay in it.

Build Partnership

To be a good husband a man should make marriage a partnership in reality, as it is in theory. He should talk over his business affairs with his wife and let her share in all of his hopes and plans and ambitions, and make her feel that the success of the firm is just as much dependent upon her as it is upon him. No man should ever humiliate his wife by making her ask for the money that she has earned a hundred times over by her service in the home.

A good husband tries to understand his wife and to find out the why of her funny little ways, and that enables him to walk high, wide and handsome around most of her peculiarities, instead of barging into them and having a fight over them.

To be a good husband a man has to be also a good diplomat. He does not attempt to correct his wife's faults by showing her that she in the wrong. He does it by praising her virtues. If she is a nagger, he closes her mouth by telling her that she has a Mona Lisa smile. If she is a poor housekeeper, he brags on her cooking until she has to justify it by becoming a cordon-bleu. And he saves on millinery and dress-makers' bills by expatiating on how beautiful she looks in her old hat and dress.

To be a good husband a man must be pleasant to live with. He must make as much effort to keep himself sold to his wife as he would to any man who was his best customer or client. He should make her feel that he was always trying to do something to make her happy, even if it were no more than bringing her a ten-cent bunch of flowers, or paying her a compliment on her new hair-do. He would know that the average wife who does her own housework and baby-tending has pretty dull time of it, and he would try to be entertaining and amusing at home, instead of just a stuffed shirt.

These are a few things that are the earmarks of the good husband. It isn't an easy job or a soft snap to be one, but it pays. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 31

Sunday's horoscope distinctly advances the conventional interests and activities of the church, clergy, all ecclesiastical and cultural vocations or avocations. Not only in a laborious and orthodox fashion but a dramatic and stirring swirl into unexpected spots or adventures may prove revolutionary and novel. The personal, domestic and love life, as well as intellectual and cultural aspirations, may have exciting denouements. New creative drives may enjoy breath-taking climax.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may enjoy a year of novelty, sudden events, thrilling adventure and radical change, quite unpredictable or unprecedented. The higher forces and faculties are under splendid stimuli for exceptional performance, with probable culminations attracting the attention of superiors and public. Out of the ordinary plans or discoveries could find ready ways and means for putting on a flourishing and stable foundation for endurcess. Sudden change may be involved, but all with high romance and thrils.

A child born on this day will possess exceptional creative talents and skills, possibly rising to dramatic or romantic heights.

For Monday, November 1

Monday's astrological forecast shows strange and sudden affairs coming to a crisis or clash which could spell unpredictable separations or estrangements. This not only because of curious excitements, emotional stress or feelings and impulses "on the rampage."

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves deep in a critical period when inner drives or feelings could create havoc on any safe and sane plans or projects for the future. It is a time of separations and estrangements, with little power to rationalize or debate, as the emotions and mentality are disposed toward the unconventional and eccentric. The purely personal life may be subject to unique experiences, lurid or spectacular adventures. Rigid restraint might divert such into fertile creative channels, as for example the writing of a hectic "bestseller."

A child born on this day might be known for certain "eccentricities of genius." Or it might possess rare talents, with experience or adventures boosting high into the public eye. Early direction might not be amiss.

Paulette Finds Movie Villainy More Subtle

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30 (AP).—Whatever happened to the old-style movie femme fatale who murmured to her victims, "Kiss me, you fool"?

Well, she's still doing business at the same old stand, but with more modern methods, says Paulette Goddard.

"Today, villainy must be more subtle," said Paulette, speaking of the cobra-headed temptress who slunk across the early flicker screens.

"There is a good example of the modern approach to vampires in my present picture," she said, referring cagily to "Mask of Lucretia," from the Borgia of the same name.

"Lucretia loves her husband, but is forced to poison him for reasons of State and family," she related. "I had to play a murdering woman and yet remain sympathetic.

"You can imagine how the poisoning scene would have been played in the old days — with much leering and slithering about. Well, first of all, I refuse to hand him the goblet; he had to take it himself. Then I started to cry when he poured the poisoned wine — after all, I loved him. We took a walk and Itried not to let him see my damp eyes.

"When he fell over dead, then I broke down!"

Paulette recalled other shady ladies she has played. In "Kitty," she married three men for their money. "I gave Kitty a sense of humor of keep her sympathetic," she said.

As for the sex appeal of the modern vamps, Paulette opined: "The sexy girls appear to have a more direct approach; they're more boyish, more domineering. Like Lauren Bacall."

Lumber Firms Send Men To Gov't School

DORSET, Oct. 30 (Special).—Ontario's university of the forest, the Ranger School, built and operated by Department of Lands and Forests, has been "discovered" by the forest industry. Nine employees of lumber concerns, scattered from one end of the province to the other, are now taking courses at the big white school, situated on St. Nora's Lake, a few miles from this Muskoka municipality.

Originally, the school was built to give employees of the Department a chance to improve their forest education. Because of its popularity, however, it has steadily increased in scope until now rangers, fish and game overseers, university students and employees of private industry are going back to school.

Taking the course at present, along with the departmental employees, are company representatives I. J. Auer, C. D. Cannon, R. J. A. Caron, E. C. Little, F. G. Priddle, H. L. Neuman, E. U. Fitzgerald, B. J. Merwin, Jr. and R. Renaud. Companies concerned are Minnesota and Ontario Pulp and Paper Co., Kenora; Ontario Paper Company, Heron Bay; Gillies Bros., Braeside; Foss Timber Co., Timmins, and Staniforth Lumber Co., with mill at Kiosk, Algonquin Park.

Method of admittance is this: The company selects the employee which it feels might be benefited by the various courses. It is responsible for transportation and a nominal sum for board, room and instruction. The employee is required to purchase the books and instruments required — cost being around $10.

Courses differ in length. This year university undergraduates from the Faculty of Forestry attended from April 19 to May 8. Guides and outfitter were given a one-week course, while forest rangers and the industry representatives went from May 24 to Aug. 7. There were short courses for students from the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering, engineers and architects.

A second term opened for rangers, including the men from forest industry, from October 1 to December 18, while third will be held early in the new year.

The specially prepared syllabus provides extensive education in forestry subjects. Under surveying is included chaining, the use of the compass and traverse-[illegible] takes in tree identification, regeneration and forest types. Purposes, methods and equipment used in tree measurements are taught. Under cruising comes mapping from aerial photographs; theory; timber types and mapping, soil analysis and saw filing.

Most of those taking the first course, school officials claim, ask to remain for the second, which includes methematics, draughting, forest protection, including the use of telephone and radio and fire crew organization.

For fish and wildlife specialists, indentification, life history, food habits and ecology are taught, along with the migration of predatory and song birds, elementary work in game management and affiliated subjects.

Advanced courses include lot surveying, cut mapping and description, hand levelling and line running, while silviculture provides tree identification and planting, seed habits and seedling development, tree measurement, cruising, more theory and actual plotting work.

Timber management includes instruction in stumpage appraisal and methods, tree marking and selection, camp construction and stream flow measurement, while third terms provide classes in public relations, the Forest Fire Prevention Act and the various forms used by the Department in this work. There is also specialized instruction in sanitation, dam construction, the management of woodlots and layouts for woods operations.

Laundry service is provided along with a daily mail service Recreation includes, in season, swimming, fishing and hunting, table tennis, "barnyard" golf and other amusements, while a playing field is planned for construction. Reading material is supplied.

"We believe the school fills a long-felt need of the north," said Peter McEwen, head of the institution. "Men who come here obtain practical experience along with theory and are better able to conduct their work. They have a broader viewpoint of forestry and all its problems when they leave. By taking the same course as the Department's rangers, the timber company employees learn to talk the same language, to mutual advantage. Financially they gain, since the added knowledge they acquire qualifies them for higher classification with the companies for whom they work. The industry gains in better-trained men."

Diplomas are supplied to those successfully completing the course.

Piccard Makes Trial Dive Into Ocean Depths

By HENRY GHYSSELS

Aboard Piccard-Cosyns Expedition Mothership, Scaldis, off Cap Verde Islands, Oct. 27 (by Wireless).—In the flat glare of navy searchlights, the bathyscaphe heaved dripping from the depths at 10:18 Tuesday night to complete the first man-carrying dive of the strange underwater balloon.

"The bathyscaphe is not yet in perfect shape," said Prof. Piccard, who experimented with three different types of stratosphere balloon before hitting on the one which carried him 55,000 feet into the upper atmosphere in the early thirties. "The apparatus will have to undergo a major overhaul," he said, after this first 18-minute dive to a depth of 82 feet.

The Belgian Government, which had loaned the Scaldis to this expedition only up to Monday—by when it was expected that the whole undertaking would have been completed, the recent accumulation of delays not having been foreseen—has advised Professor Piccard that it is extending the loan of the ship to enable us to make the subsequent dives to depths of possibly two and a half miles as originally planned.

Work began early on Tuesday morning in preparation for tonight's dive. The two heavy batteries were hooked up to the electromagnets and then held in place by ropes until the craft was lowered into the water, to prevent a repetition of Sunday's accident which cost us a battery. The solid ballast was then attached to the outside of the hull.

Entered Small Cabin

At 2:45 p.m., Professor Piccard entered the small cabin. He then reached out to receive sandwiches and a flask of hot coffee. He asked also for the old sweater he wore when he first conquered [illegible] was bright and hot; the sweater was going along just to bring luck, not warmth. Zoologist Theodore Monod, in shorts, followed Piccard into the cabin.

Twenty minutes later the last bolts were tightened from the outside, sealing the two men into the six-foot-wide steel sphere.

At 3:30, ropes tightened from the mast, winches turned slowly and the bathyscaphe was gradually lifted out of the ship's hold. Hoses are promptly coupled to the great float, to carry gasoline to the containers inside. A French navy diver goes overboard with a submarine movie camera to follow the action from below. A message is scrawled on a board and passed down to him to be held up in front of the cabin's port for Piccard and his companion to read. "Everything is going well above," the message says, "how is it with you?" Piccard and Monod nod that they're fine.

It's now 6:45 p.m., and the pumping job is over. A man goes overboard to stand on the top of the float, now awash, to fix the "breather" — this is a one-way valve allowing fresh air into the bathyscaphe's cabin when it returns to the surface an dis rolled gently by the waves.

The sun is already going down behind long, low clouds on the horizon.

The diver comes up to report that Piccard and Monod are unconcerned; they're deep in a game of chess.

Searchlights are mounted on the Scaldis and also on the corvette Elie Monnier standing in close.

A motor launch from the corvette now takes the bathyscaphe in tow, to keep it clear of the two large ships.

Then begins the final loading of loose ballast. Sailors from the Elie Monnier paddle up in rubber rafts with bag of tiny steel pellets, over 3,000 pounds of them in all, which are poured into downpointing conical containers whose vent is electrically controlled from inside the cabin. The job takes two hours because we've never before been able to weigh the bathyscaphe precisely in counterbalance with water displacement.

A seaman in bathing trunks gets atop the orange float, up to his ankles in water, to open the "breather" valve — and quickly dives away into the sea as the bathyscaphe sinks rapidly under his weight. Then, relieved of his weight, the craft hulks briefly [illegible] to sink back again more gradually toward the shallow bottom. The time is exactly 10:00 p.m.

All eyes are fixed on the small buoy which, this time only, is left to indicate the location of the bathyscaphe to which a rope links it.

Everybody is at the ship's rails; hardly a word is spoken. For a moment, as the buoy drifts toward the Scaldis, there is concern — felt as barely perceptible movement in the crowd almost more than as breathed sound. Will the bathyscaphe come up and strike the underwater hull of the Scaldis? Is this very first real dive to be a tragedy?

But the buoy drifts away again and this time there is noise as men relax from motionless poses of tension and, relieved, begin to chatter happily of nothings.

After exactly 18 minutes under water, the top of the bathyscaphe breaks the surface, bobbing in the waves. Nothing looked so good as that drift orange in the glare of the searchlights.

Then began the long job of pumping the gasoline out and lifting the bathyscaphe back into the hold of the Scaldis.

By 2:30 Wednesday morning, the bathyscaphe was out of the water, hanging from a boom, and the winches are slowly drawing the 20-ton monster up and over toward her resting place aboard.

Piccard, still inside the cabin which he had entered some 12 hours earlier, switches on the bathyscaphe's searchlight and comes to the port to watch the operations.

At 3:00 a.m., the bathyscaphe was once more back on her cradle in the hold. We all rushed down to find out what Piccard and Monod had seen.

Monod came out first. "Waiting to be hauled aboard after we'd gotten back to the surface was the toughest thing," he said. Then Piccard came out. He was full of talk. But the expedition's co-leader, Prof. Max Cosyns, grabbed him before he could say a word.

"Go off and get some rest," Cosyns said. "We can talk tomorrow."

Is Heaven a place, or just a state of mind? Who is there? What is there? Where is Heaven? How big is Heaven: can it accommodate all Christians? Will we know our loved ones in Heaven? Who will be there?

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FORCING PASS LETHAL

ONE of the most murderous of bridge weapons is the forcing pass. It gives your partner an option between doubling an opponent's bid and making a bid of his own. It is difficult for some players to know just when a pass is forcing. The situations vary, but generally are marked by knowledge of the passer's partner that the passer could have made a perfectly safe bid or double and did not. His reason for not bidding could be only for the purpose of giving his associate the lethal option.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♣	2 ♠	3 ♥	Pass
Pass	Double	4 ♠	Double
4 ♥	Double

South of course heard North make his "free bid" of 2-Spades over West's 2-Clubs. It was therefore a certainty to North that South could have made some perfectly sound bid if East had passed—either 3-Spades or something else. Why, then, did South pass East's 3-Hearts? There could be only one possible answer. It was because he wanted to see if North would rather double it than go on with his own side's bidding.

Under the natural meaning applying to such a forcing pass, North was obliged to bid or double. If he did not wish to double, he must make some bid—even though his first call of 2-Spades had indicated the maximum his hand contained. A bid in that situation would not have disclosed surplus strength; it would have been based on the surplus strength in South's hand as revealed by his forcing pass.

But North did want to double, most emphatically wanted to. When this scared East into trying an escape with 4-Diamonds, South took a crack at him. West naturally shifted then into his partner's first suit of hearts, since he supported the suits equally. The result? Down four for 700 points, where even three down would have beaten any score by North and South at a contract of their own.

• • •

Your Week-End Question

Why is a singleton in your hand, after your partner had bid both a major suit and No Trumps, a factor encouraging you to favor a suit contract? Is it because it is a liability at No Trumps or because it is an asset at trump play, or both?

6—In Memoriams

GENGE—In loving memory of my husband, Lorne Genge, who died October 30, 1946.
Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast
Within our home where all seemed bright
And took from us a shining light
We miss that light and ever will
His vacant place there's none to fill
Down here we mourn but not in vain
For up in Heaven we will meet again.
—Lovingly missed by his wife Dorothy and three daughters.

GENGE—In loving memory of Lorne Genge, who passed away October 30, 1947.
Come to My Heavenly garden
And see in perfect bloom
The flower you loved so dearly,
And thought that I plucked too soon.
Then will you know My reason,
Though you will know it not today,
Why in his promising manhood
I took your son and brother away.
We little thought when leaving home
He would no more return —
That he in death so soon would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we'll meet again.
—Lovingly remembered by dad, mom, brothers and sisters

MANLEY, Wayne—In loving memory of our son Wayne, who passed away on October 31, 1944.
The memory of his wee ways,
Will linger with us all our days,
Sweetest flower, too sweet to stay,
God took him home to show us the way.
—Ever remembered by parents and brothers Terry and Larry.

Timeless Wisdom In Bible

Scripture — Proverbs 1:8; 3:3a; 4:1; 6:27, 28; 8:1-11; 10:1-5; 15:1; 18:9; 22:1a; 25:13a,b, 28; Ecclesiastes 1-3; James 3:13-18.

This is a temperance lesson, and we see as we read the references we are given, that some ancient men really were wise, and even in this very modern day, we would do well to heed their advice.

Nearly 3,000 years ago, few men and women were what we of today would call "educated." Few could read and write—only the so-called upper classes—and their "learning" we would find quite crude.

However, wisdom belongs to no time or place. The men who have recorded their views for us in our Bible, had lived, suffered, rejoiced, sinned and repented—in fact, they had known all the vicisstudes that are known in this modern world.

Out of their experiences they wrote so that down through the ages men might read and profit by them.

Last week we touched upon King Solomon's life, and know that he was renowned for his wisdom. He also sinned, but the best of his thoughts on life are set down in Proverbs, as his praises to God are recorded in the Psalms.

MEMORY VERSE

"He that giveth heed unto the word shall find good; And whose trusteth in Jehovah, happy is he." Proverbs 16:20.

"My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother." There is a great deal said these days about neglected children, problem children and juvenile delinquency.

Sad to say, there are all too many youngsters who are neglected, misunderstood, improperly treated, and juvenile delinquency is a serious problem.

On the other hand, there never was a time when parents tried harder to understand their children's physical, moral and spiritual needs and endeavored to supply them. In spite of statistics, there are more good homes than bad ones, and upright men and women obey Solomon's adjuration, and heed the instruction of their good parents.

How much bitterness would be averted if people would remember, when they are angry with others that, "A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger." Jesus is recorded to have been angry in the record of His life on earth, but His anger was just, only roused by flagrant wrongs.

Again we read: "He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a waster." Laziness and lack of interest and pride in work is another complaint about workers in our day.

True is is that work well done, whether it is children's studies and small chores or adults' jobs by which the family living is made, brings a deep and abiding satisfaction.

Ecclesfastes, called the Preacher, is also purported to be written by Solomon. It relates the story of a man who tells of all the ways in which he tried to find happiness and satisfaction on earth, and decided that "all is vanity."

He "gave his heart to seek and search out wisdom, he saw all the works that were done under the sun, and found all vanity and vexation of spirit."

He tried mirth and gaiety—good times, as we say—but of laughter he said, "It is mad," and of mirth, "What doeth it?" Then he tried strong drink—wine—but, as one would expect, that failed to give him happiness—only brought misery.

He grew very rich and powerful, commanding many servants and owning great possessions, but to go back to Proverbs, he discovered that "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor than silver and gold."

"He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down, and without walls."

That is the secret of a successful life, whether it lead to riches and fame, or just plain, happy living: to rule one's own spirit. If this lesson is learned young, so much the better for the individual.

A word explaining the picture used to illustrate the Memory Verse may be in order. It represents the Trojan priest Laocoon who with his sons was killed by two serpents, as a punishment. Its meaning for us is that it represents the struggle between wickedness, such as drunkenness, and other excesses and the manhood of the world.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

New Farm Radio Forum Season Opens Mon., Nov. 1—
Bruce McNevin of Reaboro Disperses Holstein Herd—
Ayrshire Fieldman Favorably Impressed At Maple.

National Farm Radio Forum begins its ninth season Monday, Nov. 1 at 8:30 p.m. with a Trans-Canada broadcast of the opening discussion entitled: "Boy Meets Girl."

This is a social subject that will be presented over the air to every Forum across the nation. According to Forum practice and program each listening group is expected to take up the discussion among its attending members and arrive at some pertinent conclusion.

If the title appears shop-worn from too frequent and familiar use, it expresses still a fundamental of life which in its rural presentation is bound to range widely over farm questions which particularly affect its youth.

One of the popular broadcasts last season was: "The Farmer Take A Wife". The first discussion next Monday night is apparently going back farther in the order of such affairs and is going to find his wife. The topic is suggested in the Forum Guide which affairs that there are more boys than girls on Canadian farms. That being so, according to the last census, its fact proposes another related question, why do farm girls leave home. A general answer to that one is the asserted fact that the income of the average farm home cannot provide its daughters with the wages they can earn in urban employment.

The opening discussion is likely to take up such questions as: boy meets what girl and where; and if they get around to thinking of marriage what chance has the young farmers of establishing a farm and home for himself. That question is heading straight into the broader matter of farm costs and revenues. And there is not much levity on that level even if there is a tone of it in the title.

McNEVIN SIRE $850

At the dispersal sale of the Holstein herd of Bruce McNevin of Reaboro in Toronto Tuesday his herd sire Cedar Dale Rag Apple Pietje Bob sold to the artificial breeding unit at Belleville for $850.

He is by the XX bull Montvic Hiemke Pietje Posch whose dam is the $21,000 Montvic Bonheur Pieje B.

W. J. Murphy of Linsday paid $500 for a three year old cow, and W. F. MacTaggart, Lloydtown, Ont., $450 for a bred heifer. H. H. Robertson of Stroud, took a pair of bred heifers at $400 each.

The joint dispersal sale of the McNevin and Beverly Lane herds disposed of 90 Holsteins for a total of $28,670. Geheral average was $319.

The Lane Farm consigned 54 animals averaging $322. Top price was $1,200 paid by J. H. Malcolm, Sheffield Farms, St. George Ont., for Ourvilla Rag Apple Lady, a three year old daughter of the five times All-Canadian Montvic Rag Apple Marksman. Other high prices included $650 paid by Sheffield Farms for an open heifer; $600 by W. D. Brooks, Brantford, for a four year old heifer; $535 by Bertram Hoskin, Cobourg, for a six-year-old cow; $510. by Sheffield Farms for a heifer calf and $500 by W. J. Murphy, Lindsay, for a two year old heifer.

AYRSHIRE AT MAPLE

The three Ayrshire bulls of the Maple Cattle Breeding Association are fine looking individuals and a credit to the breeders of the area, says J. A. Stewart, fieldman for the Ontario Ayrshire Cattle Club, in his impression of the new artificial breeding centre.

"They are Marcon Bonny Boy, and Annandale Brilliant. It was most encouraging to hear the many highly complimentary remarks of Ayrshire members about the Ayrshire bull battery. The bulls have been well accepted, and everyone is waiting eagerly to see how well those bulls are going to prove themselves through their daughters.

If they can reproduce the type and production that have been bred into their pedigrees, they will make a valuable contribution to Ayrshire breeding in that territory."

The Maple area comprises—York, Peel, Halton, Ontario, Simcoe, Peterborough, Victoria, Durham. It is expected that by the end of this year 14,000 cows of the members of the association will be bred from Maple.

W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner, said the cow population of the area was 191-000 head, of which 75% are grade cattle. He suggested by way of challenge that the Maple unit should be breeding 40,000 cows or 20% by the end of 1949.

INCREASING PASTURE PLOTS

A demonstration pasture plot in every township in Ontario is an objective of the Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture.

Through the Crop Improvement Association the Department will provide seed and fertilizer for two demonstration hay pasture plots each of five acres in each county. Some of the improved strains of grasses recently introduced by OAC will be used in these mixtures. The plan will be gradually expanded into every township.

"We are going to find out the actual feed value of these new mixtures by making a chemical analysis of samples from each plot," Col. Kennedy has announced. "The hay bales entered in the hay contest at the Woodland Grassland Day varied from a high of 21.2 per cent crude protein down to 8.7 per cent. We are going to find out how to produce hay and pasture with the higher feed value, and can only do so by testing large numbers of samples grown on farms from one of this province to the other..."

Since 1944 there have been demonstration plots of five acres seeded on 481 Ontario farms.

"To the livestock producer, pasture is the most valuable crop grown on our farms today," Col. Kennedy said in announcing the project for 1949. "It is by far the cheapest source of livestock feed, and hay and pasture maintain the balance between soil eroding crops and soil conserving crops."

PLOWMEN'S DANCE

Howard Quinn is chairman of the social committee of Peterborough County Plowmen whose annual dance will be Tuesday, Nov. 16, in Canadian Legion Hall. The program will consist of old time and modern dances. The executive Thursday night decided that this dance will be by invitation. Jim Byrne and his Dixie Rhythm Boys are being engaged.

CURRANTS BOOKLET

"Currants and Gooseberries" is the title of a booklet revised in September by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It consists of 20 pages, discussion varieties, methods of propagation, pruning, fertilizers and so on. Interest in these fruits has been increasing, stimulated by better prices "owing to the increased demand for processing in home and factory." This is largely explained by the high vitamin C content. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, has obtained copies from the department which may be had on application.

✦ ✦ ✦

DEPENDENT ON E. R. P.

"Our export food markets are dependent on the success of a bold and daring stroke of international politics.—for E. R. P. is nothing less. They are dependent on internal U. S. politics."

That is a quotation from an article by David L. MacFarlane, Professor of Economics, Macdonald College, in a recent issue of the Canadian Countryman.

Immediatey preceding that statement of fact is this, in the same paragraph,— "Our farm exports are no now dependent alone on negotiations between Canada and those countries which consume Canadian food."

The title of the article is "Can we continue to sell?" It reviews the Marshall Plan or E. R. P. (European Recovery Program) and proceeds more or less in the question and answer form to expand the subject. If Peterborough farm groups are looking for a speaker and a question that is of the utmost concern to them, or should be, they might enquire whether Prof. MacFarlane is available for a speaking engagement.

During and since the war Canadian exports were paid for by Canadian loans to the United Kingdom and other countries of western Europe, and by generous Canadian appropriations to UNRRA.

"During both these periods nearly every dollar of food exported meant one more dollar on our national debt. One can hardly be wrong in the suspicion that this factor, along with our shortage of U. S. dollars, brought an end to canada making outright grants and loans in the face of European needs for our food."

The Marshall Plan was devised to afford credits in the Europe west of the 'iron curtain', to provide supplies, to assist industry toward recovery and generally to restore normal trade.

Prof. MacFarlane says E. R. P. is not without real dangers. "If and when U. S. farmers can produce the food necessary to meet E. R. P. needs, purchases from Canada will be reduced or terminated. In fact, present U.S. legislation authorizes dumping of farm products into E. R. P. as a means of maintaining high prices to American farmers."

Again.—"The people of the States may at some stage feel that European recovery is not worth 15 to 20 billion U. S. dollars. This is particularly true with Republicans nominee. There is some chance that the total approoriations called for by the E. R. P. will not be made."

Those are two of the MacFarlane reasons. His article expresses hope of the success of the E.R.P. It is the kind of discussion to which farmers should devote considerable reading and thinking.

$3,500 FOR 4-MONTHS HEIFER

John Powell of the Holstein Journal staff, Brantford, included the following incident in his report of the All-Canadian Holstein sale in Toronto Monday. "One of the top moments of the sale was when A. B. C. Historic Gerben, lovely little four months old daughter of the world champion butter fat producer over all ages and breeds, Alcartra Gerben, with her record of 1,409 lbs. fat, was in the ring. This little heifer consigned by A. B. C. Farms, Brampton, has a wonderful pedigree. Her two nearest dams are both world record "excellent" cows and her sire's two nearest dams also world record excellent cows. She finally went to Wm. J Murphy, Lindsay, for $3,500."

The following is another detail of the sale. "H. L. Guilbert, Vercheres, Que., received $3,000 and $2,000 respectively for a son and daughter of the grand champion bull Montvic Emperor Ajax. The bull, Eglantiers Gaiety, a nine-month-old son of the excellent cow Glen Valley Rag Apple Alcartra, was bought by Albert Stagg of International Livestock Exporters, Oakville, for a buyer in Italy. The heifer went to R. Thompson, Elroy, Wis."

SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

A purebred Canadian Holstein named Roeland Rag Apple Lilly owned by John W. Greenwood, Maple, Ontario, has just established a new World record for butterfat production in the two-year-old class over all breeds on twice-a-day milking. Although she made her record as a junior two-year-old "Lilly's" production of 827 lbs. fat from 16,593 lbs. milk, average test 4.45 percent butterfat beats any previous record made by either a senior or junior two-year-old.

This record - breaking production tends to confirm the old adage that great daughters have great mothers for the dam of "Lilly" is an outstanding producer in her own right. She is Geraldine Pabst Alcarta whose 305 day record of 866 lbs. fat from 21,956 lbs. milk made as a five-year-old stands second for all time in Canada in the mature class. ARREST TORY HILL MAN IN GUN DEATH

Rain Clears "Death Fog" After 19 People Die, 500 Treated By Doctors

Team Of Chemists Sent In By Government To Test Smoke-Laden Air; Fog Drifts Slowly Away From Town Sunday

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 1 — (AP). — A steady all-night rain washed the air above this Monongahela River industrial town where smog was blamed as an accessory in the deaths of 19 elderly people in 36 hours. The death list was revised downward by one. The town's department of health first reported Gustine Polchak the 20th victim of a cardiac-asthmatic condition that took the lives of the others.

But a later investigation by health authorities disclosed Polchak had died of other causes. He had been under a physician's care for some time.

Meanwhile, chemists studied tests made of the air over Donora Sunday in hope of discovering whether there was any gaseous ingredient in the smothering mixture of fog and smoke which could have caused the deaths and suffering of more than 400 others.

A doctor estimated the town's medical men treated between 400 and 500 cases.

The fog lifted Sunday and the number of sufferers eased off but there were two more deaths — both men. At least 32 people remained in hospital, two of them critical.

The State department of health sent in a team of chemists headed by Dr. Joseph Shilen of the Industrial Hygiene Bureau. The American Steel and Wire Company, largest industry in the town and a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, called on the Independent Hygiene Corporation of Pittsburgh to join with state authorities in analyzing the air over Donora.

Tests Made

Numerous tests were made Sunday and others were planned for today. Dr. Shilen said he hoped to have a report on the first tests this afternoon.

"But it is my guess," he added, "that we will not find anything worthwhile. The greater part of the fog had passed by the time we got into operation."

The Donora zinc works of the American Steel and Wire Company closed and plant superin-

Gets 6 Months For 'Joyriding'

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 1 (CP) — Convicted of wilfully endangering the lives of railroad passengers and of "joyriding" Alvin W. Webb 18, of Trenton, will serve six months in jail.

Two weeks ago Webb drove around Belleville in a car which didn't belong to him. He became lost in the city and drove down a dead-end street and on to the Canadian National Railways track where the car stalled.

Webb abandoned the car a few minutes before a speeding passenger train struck and demolished the vehicle.

Said Magistrate T. Y. Wills: "By your negligence you wilfully endangered the lives of passengers on the train."

Jury Of 10 Can Now Hand Down Verdict

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP) — A Justice Department spokesman said Sunday night that effective today verdicts in any Canadian courts may be handed down by a jury of 10, instead of the usual 12.

In Alberta, where juries are composed of six members, an amendment to the criminal code allows for a reduction of one.

The spokesman said this historical departure in Canadian law procedure provides for the jury reductions in cases where there is illness or death by one or two members during criminal court proceedings. Both the defence and the prosecution must consent to the reduction.

Veteran's Wife Held For Stabbing Husband

PARIS, Ont., Nov. 1 (CP) — James Osman, 44-year-old veteran of the Second World War, today is in hospital with two stab wounds and his wife, Ethel, is in jail charged with stabbing.

According to Paris police Mrs. Osman stabbed her husband with a bread knife following a fracas in their home between 1.30 and 2 a.m. Sunday. One wound was in the side of the neck and the other in the collarbone. He is expected to recover.

Following the stabbing, Mrs. Osman is reported to have gone to a nearby home and telephoned Dr. E. B. Patterson, who attended and called the police.

Police Discount Feud Shooting

OSHAWA, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Four people said Sunday their farmhouse was fired on Saturday night by "between 30 and 50" .22 calibre bullets.

But police, who combed the district three miles north of here, said they couldn't find a single .22 calibre shell near the farmhouse.

Clifford Marnien, 30-year-old farm manager, his wife and two hired hands, Clarence Smith, 18, and Cecil Winacott, 16, told police this story:

They were sitting in the kitchen Saturday night when Smith took a shotgun from the wall, said he would look around because he suspected that Hallowe'en pranksters were in the vicinity.

Smith said he and Winacott climbed a hill where they heard voices so he fired "in the air" to frighten them away.

He said two bullets were fired back at him and "they were shooting to kill. They back us right up until we had to run for the house."

Mr. Marnien said "this is a feud."

Israeli Troops In Control Of Northern Palestine

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 1 — (AP). — Israeli troops are in full control of northern Palestine today. United Nations observers said they had crossed the border into Lebanon.

The Jews said a smashing two-day offensive had cleared all Arab forces from the Galilee area, driving the remnants of the Arab "liberation army" of Fawzi Pasha Al Kaukji across the Lebanese border.

(In Beirut, Lebanon, the government Press Bureau officially declared the United Nations Observers' statements untrue and denied the Jews had entered Lebanese territory.)

An Israeli announcement of the Galilee victory was made at the same time the government notified United Nations truce headquarters in Haifa that it had ordered Jewish soldiers on the northern front to cease firing at 3 a.m., EST Sunday, 20 hours after the cease fire deadline ordered by the United Nations.

Lebanon, which had accepted the original cease-fire, but later was reported to have reopened fire in defensive action, was requested to abide by the same cease-fire time the Jews had ordered.

United Nations observers in the north said the Jewish units "now are inside Lebanese territory." The Jews were said to be moving toward Benat Jbail, 2½ miles beyond the border.

An Israeli spokesman said the core of Kaukji's force of an estimated 5,000 men was broken. "Hundreds were killed and hundreds taken prisoner," he said.

Clear Policeman in Shooting

HAMILTON, Nov. 1—(CP).—Investigating the death of Carl Kobialko, killed by a provincial constable while attempting to escape arrest near Winona on the night of Oct. 24, a coroner's jury today found that the fatal shot was fired in performance of the officer's duty and that the deceased could not have been apprehended in a less violent manner. The jury also found that "the officer shot to stop him and not to kill."

Evidence of Russell Woodley and Provincial Constable D'Arcy Garrett, who fired the fatal shot, that they could see a revolver in the hand of one of the two men riding in a stolen car, which had been overtaken by Garrett's cruiser, and that at least two shots were fired in their direction from behind the stolen car after two men had alighted from it, were flatly denied by William Kobuck, second of the two men in the stolen car, and now under arrest.

Chiang Bombs Hit Mukden After Reds Occupy City

NANKING, Nov. 1—(AP).—Mukden was bombed today by Chinese government planes shortly after the Communists completed occupation of the city. There were many bomb explosions, including several within two blocks of the United States Consulate. Casualties and damage were not known.

The bombing gave immediate point to the words of President Chiang Kai-Shek, who told his Kuomintang (governing party) central committee today that China "must accept the lessons of defeat by the Communists and fight on."

Authoritative sources here said the Communists had occupied Mukden completely at 3 p.m. (2 a.m. EST) and that the last government officials fled from there three days ago. The government had had no radio communication with Mukden since 6 p.m. Sunday (5 a.m. EST) but the American Consulate radio there is still functioning and in communication with American authorities here and in Shanghai.

Chiang praised both the bravery and skill of his North China commander, Gen. Fu Tso-Yi at Peiping. He said Fu "has made ample preparations and been sufficiently reinforced" to hande Red threats to that area.

"No Cause For Worry"

The president insisted the "over-all war situation does not give cause for worry."

Neutral observers recalled that Fu was in a precarious position in North China since the Communists had cut the corridor to Suiyuan and interrupted the normal supply route through which came the bulk of the food for his troops.

Pleads Guilty To Nine Charges

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP)—Dan Keller, former Toronto boxing promoter, pleaded guilty today to nine charges of theft and false pretences involving $28,182. He was remanded to Nov. 4 for sentence.

Keller was arrested at nearby Port Hope last Aug. 21 while making a motor trip from Montreal to Toronto. Police said he had recently returned from a trip to Belgium. Keller, who said at the time of his arrest that he was seriously ill, will undergo a medical examination before appearing for sentence.

Among the charges against Keller is one involving the theft of $6,000 from Lawrence Lavert of Timmins. Police said he faces 10 similar charges in the United States involving some $70,000 and including an $18,000 robbery in San Francisco.

Haven't Decided Election Date

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP) — George Drew, new National Leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said today after a meeting with Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent that the date has not yet been set for a by-election which will pave the way for his entry into the Commons.

After a 20-minute conference with Mr. St. Laurent, the former Ontario premier said that naturally it was up to the government to fix the date for a by-election in the Ontario constituency of Carleton, where he will stand as a candidate.

He recalled that Mr. St. Laurent had stated Friday that the by-election could be held Dec. 20.

"Naturally, I am anxious that the by-election should come on as soon as possible," said Mr. Drew.

He left Mr. St. Laurent's office to confer with Russell Boucher, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons, who decided to resign to make way for Mr. Drew. The Progressive Conservative leader said he planned to discuss with Mr. Boucher the setting of a date for a convention in Carleton.

25 Children, Adults Stand Horrified At Main Street Killing

By BOB BUCHANAN

TORY HILL, Nov. 1—Not fantastic ghosts, but grim death, was Hallowe'en's terrifying climax for the children of Tory Hill Saturday night. Arnold Gill, 20, of Tory Hill, died in hospital at Haliburton at 10:45. About an hour before, he had spun to the pavement in front of the hamlet's general store, bleeding deeply from a shotgun wound in the groin. Another Tory Hill man, Herman Woodcock, 33, is in jail in Lindsay and will be charged with murder. Tory Hill is midway between Kinmount and Wilberforce.

In police court in Lindsay this morning, Woodcock was charged with murder before Magistrate E. A. Gee. He was remanded without bail or plea for one week.

More than 25 residents of the little village—including a number of children in Hallowe'en dress—were horrified spectators to the shooting, which ended a bitter quarrel centering around Woodcock. It took place in the middle of the main street of Tory Hill, which is about 50 miles directly north of Peterborough.

Neighbors told police that the situation had been building up for some time. They said that the children often teased the accused man, called him "Herman the Crow." Woodcock, a lumber camp worker, had been on his way north to the bush to go to work when the shooting had taken place.

Mrs. R. H. Anderson, a nurse, whose home is across the road from Finlay's General Store, was in her home when she heard a shot. She was the first to reach the fallen Gill. She said he was bleeding profusely when she reached him. The wound was too high on the leg to apply a tourniquet, she said.

"I did what I could for him before he was moved," Mrs. Anderson said.

"I was in the store when I first heard a noise," explained Willard Dack of Tory Hill, one of the witnesses to the actual shooting.

"I though it sounded like a shot, but somebody said it was a

Fall Assizes Open At Lindsay

LINDSAY, Nov. 1—(CP).—The Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court were to open here at 1 p.m. today with Justice R. W. Treleaven of Toronto presiding. The grand jury will be asked to bring in true bills of one murder charge, two for manslaughter and one for attempted rape.

Heading the list is the trial of Mrs. Jane McAllister, who is charged with the murder of her husband. Alexander B. Grant, 34, of Woodville, and Douglas Lamb, 24-year-old son of Mayor Charles Lamb, will face separate motor manslaughter charges. James Steadman, 61, no address, will appear on an attempted rape charge.

McKinnon Strike Ended By Union

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 1 — (CP).—The giant plant of McKinnon Industries, Limited, was scheduled to resume production today with the end of a 15-weeks' strike that threatened to shut down Windsor and Oshawa plants of the parent General Motors Corporation.

Nearly 1,500 employees—members of striking Local 199 of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL)—voted overwhelmingly Saturday to accept a compromise wage offer and go back to work.

Both union and company officials said they were happy with the settlement that gave the men wage increases ranging from 12 to 15 cents an hour.

The strike cost the 2,650 employees an estimated $1,775,000 in lost wages and union officials said the UAW spent $200,000 in strike benefits. The union paid strikers $12.50 weekly during the strike, with an extra $1.50 for each child and had met fuel, rent, light and water bills.

Settlement would almost certainly end the company's prosecution against the union. With Ontario Labor Relations Board permission, the company charged the union with conducting an illegal strike and had begun legal proceedings.

firecracker. The kids had been shooting them off the day before."

Had Gun In Hands

A minute later, Mrs. Dack said, she went out to their car, which was parked in front of the store. The quarrelling and shouting was still going on, she said. Seated in the car, she was about 15 feet from Arnold Gill, who was standing less than six feet from Woodcock.

Woodcock had a single-barrelled 12-guage shotgun in his hands, all witnesses said.

The time the fatal second shot was fired was about 9.15 p.m.

"I saw Herman point the gun and shoot. Arnold fell. I heard something rattle under our car. I don't know whether it was shot. It might have been some stones kicked up," Mrs. Dack told The Examiner.

Mrs. Anderson had to push her way through the excited crowd to reach the wounded youth's side.

"I couldn't get anybody to help me at first," she recalled, "and I couldn't drag him myself."

"Everybody seemed more interested in carrying on the argument than in trying to see if Arnold was hurt."

A scuffle followed the shooting. Witnesses said that Allan Gill, father of Arnold, tried to stop Woodcock. He managed to seize the accused by the shoulders and wrested the shotgun from him. However, Woodcock escaped his grasp and ran away into the woods.

Missing All Night

Police searched for the accused through the night. He was arrested about seven o'clock Sunday morning at a small homestead on the outskirts of Tory Hill which had been a former residence of his cousin, David Woodcock. There was no resistance offered.

It is believed that Woodcock spent some of the night wandering through the hilly area around Tory Hill. He had slept the rest of the night in the little shack. The front door padlocked, it had been entered by prying off a large board which had been nailed over a side window. Woodcock's bicycle was leaning against the wall of the dirt-floor room inside.

A few minutes after Gill had been shot, he was put in the car of Willard Dack. Albert McCaul sat in the back seat with the injured youth, who was conscious and in pain, weak with great loss of blood. Stanley Brooking accompanied Dack on the race against the draining wound in Gill's side.

Race Against Death

Nearest medical establishment is the Red Cross Hospital at Haliburton, 17 miles northwest of Tory Hill. Describing that ride through heavy fog with the moaning youth in the back, Dack said:

"I drove as fast as I could, with the road and the fog to deal with ....but it seemed as if we were standing still most of the way."

At the Red Cross post, there was only a nurse on their arrival. Shortly after, however, Dr. Agnes Jamieson arrived from Minden, where she had received the call. Gill was conscious until nearly the time of death, about 10.45. Hemmorrhage from the wound was the cause.

The accused's cousin, David Woodcock, said that Herman had been living at his home since the accused came to Torry Hill—only a few months ago. Herman's home had been in Hamilton, but he added, "He's moved around a lot—I guess you could say he's been all over."

The shotgun belonged to Herman, said David. He said he had sold the gun to his cousin who had intended taking it back with him to the lumber camp to do some hunting.

Giving his version of how the shooting took place, David said:

"We went down to the store and the lads started teasing Herman again. I told them to let him alone or somebody might get hurt. So, there were the three Gill boys there—Arnold and Ken were two of them—and they were teasing him pretty bad. He shot Arnold."

Tells of "Teasing"

David's story agreed with other versions when he said that two shots had been fired. The first, he said, Herman shot while standing on the platform in front of the store. The shot had been aimed in the air and went over the heads of "the boys" who were teasing him. Herman loaded another shell while the arguing went on, David said.

Mrs. Grace Gill, the victim's mother, said Woodcock started an argument with her son but "I don't know what it was about. There were so many kids about I couldn't tell what was going on. I heard a second shot and turned in time to see Arnold falling to the ground. Then I realized what had happened."

At the home of the dead boy, his father, Allan Gill told that he had tried to get the gun away from Woodcock. Arnold was the oldest boy in a family of nine children. There are two girls older than him. Kenneth Gill, 18, a brother, had also made a grab at Woodcock after the second shot, said witnesses.

G. A. Finlay, owner of the general store in front of which the shooting took place, was one of the persons who told police of the "bad blood" which had existed for some time between the parties to the quarrel.

He had closed up his store shortly after nine o'clock and went to his residence, next door. He had watched the shooting from the verandah, he said.

Finlay is also owner of the saw mill where the dead boy, his father and the accused's cousin all work.

Witnesses all told that those involved in the argument—including Arnold Gill and Herman and David Woodcock — had been drinking during the evening.

Tory Hill, with a population of little more than 100, was profoundly shocked as it discussed the incident. Residents could not recall "anything like this" before in the village.

Eleven-year-old Philip Finlay, one of the children who had been in the crowd which saw the whole drama said: "It's awful for us kids. I was pretty scared. Arnold was a good guy."

Mrs. Anderson had called in her son David when she heard the first shot, went to the window and heard the bickering going on. She had seen Woodcock with the gun, but did not see it discharged.

Provincial police investigating were busy collectiong data from members of the group which had been around the front of the store. District Sergeant Price Morris was senior officer on the scene. Provincial constables taking part in the investigation were Bert Howden of Apsley, E. J Milligan and A. S. Watson of Minden, Joseph Hanson and George Stevens of Peterborough.

Rudolph Schwerha, member of the Donora Board of Health, said so far as he knew all those who died had previously been under a physicians' care.

A doctor who asked that his name not be used said the symptoms in all cases were the same. He said:

"They complained of pains in the chest and had a difficult time breathing. We used three methods of treatment. They were injections of adrenalin, use of oxygen tents and doses of anti-histaminic." He explained the last is a drug used in asthmatic cases.

He said all the victims died of heart failure brought on by an overworked heart due to lack of oxygen.

Fire Department Helps

Captain Colin Plant of the Donora fire department told how his rescue squad made emergency oxygen tents out of bedsheets to aid victims of the noxious fog.

Plant's men rushed to nearly a dozen Donora homes to help elderly men and women who were unable to go to the emergency aid stations.

"The people couldn't breath," Plant told a meeting of the board of health. "They just lay there and gasped. But oxygen made them feel better right away. We used old sheets around the house to improvise oxygen tents and they worked fine. We didn't have a single fatality among the people we gave oxygen."

LIGHTLIKE SPEED

Radar's electrical impulses travel with the speed of light—186,000 miles a second.

THERE ARE several "ifs" to the story, but rumor hath it that if Governor Thomas E. Dewey is elected president of the United States, and if he decides to establish a new cabinet post covering social welfare and social security, he will appoint Mrs. Charles W. Weis, Jr., of Rochester (above) to the job. That is, if Mrs. Weis wants it, and possibly, if Mr. Weis has no objection.

Recommend Licence

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Federal Power Commission's legal advisers have recommended that the New York State power authority be licensed to construct its share of the proposed $463,000,000 St. Lawrence power project.

Power Adjustment

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 1 (CP) — In an effort to shift more of Owen Sound's industrial hydro load to the week-end, a proposed schedule has been drafted under which local industries are divided into three groups. Under the proposed schedule, all industries in the city would work two Sundays out of three, with each group shifting to a different two days off every four weeks.

Mary Nolan, Star Dies In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 (AP)—Mary Nolan, whose blonde beauty and dancing feet took her to the pinnacle of show business fame as Imogene (Bubbles) Wilson, is dead.

The onetime toast of New York and the Ziegfeld Follies, later a movie star, and finally known as the "Hard Luck Girl", was found dead Sunday in a three-room bungalow. She was 42.

Her show business career followed her 'teen age modelling in New York. She went into the Follies but at the height of her fame became involved with Comedian Frank Tinney. She sued him for $100,000 damages for injuries she alleged he inflicted in a beating. That affair drove her from Broadway.

She went to Germany and entered film work as Mary Robertson. Hollywood brought her here, where as Mary Nolan she did "Sorrell and Son" in 1927. Her acting won acclaim, but trouble came again.

She sued Edward Mannix, Hollywood producer, for $500,000 in 1935, charging that he beat her. She was jailed for a time in 1937 because of an unpaid dress bill. Illness struck her down, too.

At 31 Miss Nolan was in the Actor's Fund Home at Amityville, N.Y., "sick and broke." Gradually she regained her health, returning to Hollywood in 1939. She lived here without public attention, until last spring she was taken to a hospital suffering from malnutrition.

Air Lift Cost

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP) — The Berlin aid lift cost Britain £2,300,000 ($9,200,000) up to Oct. 26, parliament was told. The figures were supplied by Christopher Mayhew, under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, who said the cost during October averaged £185,000 a week.

No Favorites In Palestine

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.— (CP). — Playing no favorites in the Palestine strife, Canada is making a $250,000 gift of food to both displaced Arab and Jewish refugees in the Middle East.

Fisheries Minister Mayhew said it will consist of 40,000 cases of east coast canned herring. The shipments, made in response to an appeal from the late Count Bernadotte, U.N. mediator, should go forward before the end of the war.

The Canadian Red Cross Society has agreed to assume the substantial shipping costs of the food and, through the international society, to supervise distribution. The food will come out of stocks purchased by the Fisheries Prices Support Board.

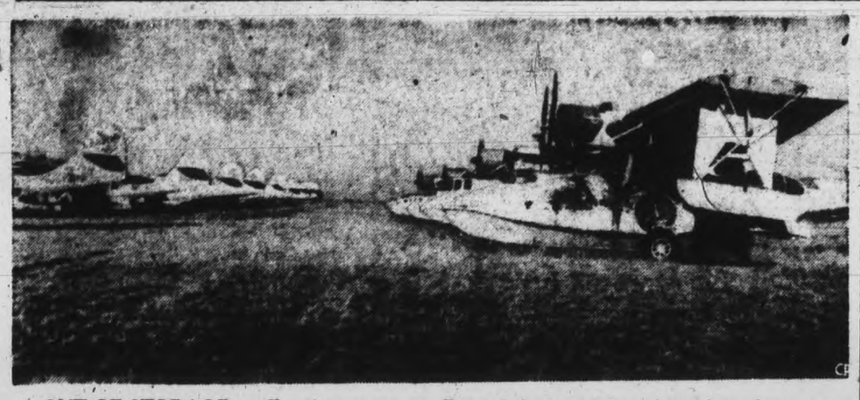
POPPY DAY—NOVEMBER 6th



On this day canvassers will solicit your support of the Poppy Campaign. The poppy—token of Remembrance—honors those who in the past two wars have given their lives in the cause of freedom. The sale of poppies provides help for disabled veterans who are unable to earn their own livelihood. It is our duty to keep faith with those who have sacrificed themselves for Liberty and the preservation of their country. Give earnestly—generously. It's "Good Citizenship"!

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

OUT OF STORAGE — For three years, 32 Canso flying boats have been parked at the Moose Jaw airfield. Recently 17 of these RCAF craft were sold to a private contractor for use by the Netherlands government. Five of the remaining planes have been reconditioned by the RCAF for operational use and it is likely the rest will be returned to service as well. This photo shows two lines of these planes at the Moose Jaw airfield.

Minister, Wife Honored By Congregation

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—Rev. G. N. and Mrs. Maxwell and family were guests of honor at a congregational meeting held in St. John's United Church Sunday School rooms on Friday night. There was a large attendance of members and adherents.

H. M. Donald, clerk of the session, was chairman. There was a short program prior to the presentation of a sum of money to Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell and family. Mrs. Morley Petherick read the address, and J. D. Mills, church treasurer, made the presentation. Also Mrs. Maxwell was presented with a bouquet. Mrs. A. E. Burgis presented Marion Maxwell with a gift on behalf of the WMS as a memento of her work with the Mission Board.

Mrs. Maxwell spoke of her work in Campbellford during the past nine years with special reference to her Sunday School class. She thanked the WA for the improvements on the parsonage during their occupancy.

Mr. Maxwell thanked all present for the gift and exhorted them to make the church noted for its friendly atmosphere.

On Sunday Mr. Maxwell preached farewell sermons, taking for his subject, "Waymakers For God" and "The Divine Benediction."

Cobourg's Power Reduced 2,300 KWH

COBOURG, Nov. 1 (ENS)—Cobourg's power quota was cut by 2,300 kwh by the HEPC it was announced on Saturday. For the past two weeks the town has been going considerably over its power budget with the exception of last Tuesday when it was under. Adding to the worries of Cobourg's Utilities Commission is the fact that expansion of the CGE plant has resulted in an increase of 1,000 kwh per day.

"Industry is doing all it can to help and if we are to meet our new reduced quota it means that domestic and commercial consumers will simply have to make more sacrifices," Manager William Woods told The Examiner.

Receiving his masters degree in 1922 from the University of Toronto, he was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship and went to Oxford's Christ College.

Masquerade At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—More than 40 members of St. John's Adults Club met in the United Church to revel in an old time Hallowe'en party. The church was decorated in the traditional colors of black and orange.

Donald Meyers presided and Ron Hazell conducted several games. The white ghost, Jack Connor, gave a reading with considerdable zest and witchcraft. Mrs. Geo. Nicholas and Mrs. Hendershot played a piano solo, "Canadian Capers," and Mrs. Hendershot also sang a solo with Mrs. Nicholls at the piano. The special event which was greatly enjoyed by all was the masquerade ball.

The display of costumes was most unusual. Basil Robinson was awarded the prize for the best dressed man and Mrs. Lawrence Miller for the best dressed woman. The prize for the comic costumes went to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cochrane.

The program ended on a more serious note with a presntation to the Rev. G. N. and Mrs. Maxwell. Each received a fancy cushion as this was their last meeting with the club before their departure to Montreal. The address was read by Mabel Walroth and the presentation was by Mort Sayers and Basily Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell replied.

The serving of refreshments at a late hour concluded a very happy get-together.

Complimentary tickets were given as awards for both fancy and comic costumes. On leaving the pavilion every child received a generous helping of candies and apples.

Orchestra Heard In First Program Of Concert Association Series

By T. J. ALLEN

The Saidenberg Sinfonietta which presented the first of the community concerts of this season at the Collegiate Auditorium Saturday evening gave good orchestral works played with distinction and grace. It also gave modern arrangements and program pieces played with verve and some virtuosity.

This small orchestra of twenty musicians, under the direction of Daniel Saidenberg, fills a musical void common to communities outside the large metropolitan centres. The smaller cities have no symphonic music except over the radio. They cannot support a large orchestra; they can rarely bring a large orchestra to town for a performance even had they adequate concert halls. The Sadienberg Sinfonietta brought us live, symphonic music and did it with such artistic control and skill that the large audience was moved to lusty enthusiasm. To have the Overture to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro", Gluck's "Iphigenia in Aulis" and Schubert's Fifth Symphony was a rare treat for Peterborough. To have them finely performed was a rare delight, in Peterborough or elsewhere. That part of the program seems hackneyed, but one must not quarrel with the program on that score. They may be well-known to us because of the radio or our visits out of town, but they are uncommon as local performances. They made up the first part of the program.

It is possible to criticise the performance for being too fine, in the sense of delicate and slender. That is not because the orchestra is small; it is of the kind one often longs to hear; of 18th century proportions, without the blaring brass and tinkling cymbals of the big, modern orchestras which sometimes impress by noise rather than by music. Perhaps the orchestra seemed too refined because the woodwind and few brass were back-stage and their sounds disappeared into the loft of the stage and did not come out sufficiently to the audience.

That is not the whole reason for the tendency to dullness in the 'classical' pieces. In the modern stuff ("Dizzy Fingers", "Guaracha" by Morton Gould, and Benjamin's "From San Domingo" and "Jamaican Rhumba") there was more verve and resiliency. The first part of the program, and Wagner's "Siegfried Idyll" which introduced the second part, were given to us in a rather routine (though sensitively studied) manner. For instance, the menuetto movement of Schubert's Fifth seemed slow. The tempo was proper, but some of the attacks were vague and the phrasing sometimes dull. The "allegro vivace" was not vivacious as their Benjamin was vivacious, and the fault was not with Schubert. Though the symphony was written for a group of this kind, the horns and reeds in the first and third movements were disappointing.

These are small adverse criticisms of a pleasing performance. Tribute should be paid, by the way, to the conductor and the gentleman at the percussion instruments for the excellent restraint at the ketledrums; the tympani added much to the soft passages by being so circumspect.

Chief criticism of Saturday evening's program must be directed at the program. Why should the Mozart be put first, as if it were something to get out of the way in a hurry? Why, too, should so much time be given to modern, catch-ear bits (some of them musical tricks)? This good orchestra has a splendid opportunity—because of its composition, size and capability—to give us eighteenth century music as it should be rendered. But we had Gluck and Mozart and nothing else. We could happily have dispensed with "Mountain Whippoorwill" by Alec Templeton, "Dizzy Fingers"; and Strauss's "Voices of Spring", for a Haydn symphony—for instance, his D Major symphony, which would even give the clarinet performance room. It was particularly unfortunate that this orchestra should spend nearly half its time on modern show pieces when only the night before Paul Whiteman with a much larger orchestra could and did give us a more vivid and exciting account of the same sort of thing.

DIRECTORS and ADVISORY BOARD OF
To the Citizens of Peterborough . . .
Skyboro

The directors of SKYBORO feel that you, the public should be informed of the recent developments in the building of the new airport. The east-west runway, which is one-quarter of a mile back of the highway, was graded during the past summer and is now ready for use. The directors feel that with the combined effort of interested citizens the remaining runway should be ready for the 1949 tourist season. In the past few months liabilities amounting to $61,500.00 have been paid. This means the assets of the company amount to $75,000.00. The hardest portion of the work has been completed and a surprisingly small budget will make the new SKYBORO airport a reality. We ask you as citizens of Peterborough to support the SKYBORO airport project and give Peterborough an airfield of which it can be justly proud.

Appease The Germans?

Speaking in the House of Commons last Thursday, Mr. Churchill said that the trials of alleged war criminals should be stopped and that the western powers "should put no obstacles in the way of a reconciliation with Germany". He advocated "drawing the sponge across the crimes and horrors of the past and looking for the sake of our salvation toward the future". Mr. Churchill's reasons are apparent but to throw the sponge on the denazification trials and appease all Germans, even for our own salvation, is not wholly desirable. Salvation by such means is not worth civilization's while.

• • •

We can deplore that the trials of Nazis have taken so long, but if we are ever to advance our humanity, crimes against it must be punished. War leaders are not being found guilty and executed because they were soldiers and obeyed orders. They are condemned because of their inhumanity to man. A couple of weeks ago a dozen German generals were set free; the courts found that they were not guilty of planning or perpetrating war crimes. Last Friday nine more Germans were hanged because each had personally been found guilty of brutal atrocities. There is a distinction between destroying Lidice as a vicious measure of retribution, and bombing cities as a military necessity. The present necessity of defending ourselves against Communism does not justify us in condoning barbarity and becoming comrade-in-arms with the very same persons whom Churchill castigated with burning words in 1940-45.

• • •

Mr. Churchill's patriotism is both realistic and romantic. His advocacy of toleration for Germans whether innocent or guilty seems harshly realistic, a Machiavellian opportunism. Under the menace of communism, he is saying, the western democracies must seek and accept support from every available quarter, without any moral compunction. Mr. Churchill is less Machiavellian than this argument would indicate, or in a Renaissance manner more Machiavellian. Machiavelli was a man of the Renaissance writing in an enlightened age for princes who behaved as princes, in an age when international politics was a game, war an incident, officers gentlemen and soldiers professional. Mr. Churchill is himself a lusty Renaissance figure, a romantic, a humanist. Such a man could feel that in the late war St. George slew the Nazi dragon, that the game is now ended, that generals never, never shall be criminals, that it is time to shake hands with all Germans and to go together to slay a new and bigger dragon—communism. Reason and fact, not romance, tell us, however, that Nazism was not a dragon but a malignant condition infesting society, that officers are not necessarily gentlemen, that Generals can be criminals and that the German rulers were not princes.

U.S. Political Scene After The Election

After tomorrow's United States Presidential election, it is altogether probable that the political scene in that country will be dominated by discussions of the extent and method of future aid to Europe, according to reports from Washington, D.C. The course of these discussions will naturally be affected by the result of the election, but in Washington, as throughout the nation generally, the assumption is that Governor Dewey of New York will be elected President of the United States tomorrow. It must be admitted that most outward signs support this opinion, and if President Truman should win, it is certain that one of his predictions will be overwhelmingly fulfilled—the pollsters and press of the United States will be a red-faced lot on Wednesday.

Commenting on the matter of aid to Europe, assuming that Governor Dewey will win, Washington reports note that the Republican is firmly committed to a comprehensive aid program, but that he has also promised economy in government. The first effective debate on aid to Europe may not begin until January, when Mr. Paul Hoffman, director of E.C.A., will appeal to the U.S. Congress for additional funds to cover aid under the Marshall Plan until the first of July, next year. Granting of these deficiency appropriations is considered probable, but it is also forecast that debate will then begin immediately on appropriations for the following full year, and the division of funds between industrial rehabilitation and armament. Judging from past records, that debate will be prolonged and bitter, for the isolationist Republican group in the House of Representatives, led by Mr. John Taber of New York, hacked and slashed energetically at the first Marshall Plan estimates They will undoubtedly do the same with the second set, and it should be noted that support for their attitude has increased. Mr. Dewey, if elected, will thus be faced with the task of controlling the Taber group and checking any further attacks on the European aid program.

The broad question of how American foreign policy would be handled, if Mr. Dewey is elected, also arises. He would not take office until January 20, and during that time policy would continue to be directed by the present Government. It is predicted in Washington that a British precedent set in a somewhat similar situation will be followed. It will be remembered that when the Allied war chiefs met in Potsdam in 1945, an election was pending in Great Britain. Mr. Churchill took Mr. Attlee to Potsdam with him; if Labour won the election, its leader would be conversant with foreign affairs from that date on, and the provision proved wise. Mr. Dewey's adviser on foreign affairs, John Foster Dulles, has had full access to Government information for some time, and is now in Paris with the United States delegation to the United Nations. It is said that during the interregnum, if there is one, this sharing of information will be expanded to give Mr. Dewey any official information he may need in formulating his own foreign policy program.

Value For Their Atomized Money

The American taxpayers have paid more than $3,000,000,000 for atomic research in the last seven years. It now seems that they are going to get more for their money than atomic bombs, if the bombs let the world live long enough. Dr. Lyle B. Borst, chairman of the Nuclear Reactor Project at the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island (it takes a long time to say that, but that is what he is) told 150 Westchester County women the other day that civilian benefits from atomic research are already important.

For instance, radio-active cobalt material is now being produced at $1,000 per necessary unit and is taking the place of $2,000 worth of radium used for cancer treatment in hospitals. Radio isotopes (defined as "the atomic ash left from chain reaction") are now being shipped to various parts of the world for research in medicine. They are apparently helping to outmode "classical" medical practice.

According to Dr. Borst, the atomic automobile will not arrive in the foreseeable future as it would require twenty tons of steel encasement. The atomic plane is still in the nebulae. Electricity derived from atomic power will come some day when the economic, political and scientific factors are in harmonious conjunction. Dr. Borst's most interesting revelation to us was that scientists do not yet know why the atomic bomb works. The new plant at Brookhaven, where he is at home, will possess within three years a giant machine to produce cosmic rays and help establish the 'why' of the bomb. His revelation confirms our opinion that there is more "know-how" than know-why in this fantastic world.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A biologist says that the human face is growing longer. Keep your chins up, readers! They are knocking on your knees.

There are said to be 1,300 ways of calling a person a fool in English. The contumacious and readily exacerbated Kingston Whig-Standard suggests that supply is still short of demand.

We learn that a new domestic aid, a combination of washing machine, dish washer and ice cream freezer will soon appear on the market. It won't be long until those books called What A Young Bride Should Know will include a short course in engineering.

In our leading editorial of October 28 the composition of the Canadian Senate for 1944 was given as 51 Conservatives and 38 Liberals. A misprint caused this obvious misstatement; the figures are for the year 1934 and were meant to have that significance in the article.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

HOW the principal Shaikh of the 'Amart 'Anaza, which shared the freedom of the North Arabian desert with the Ruwala and the Shammar, received a lasting impression of the might of his Britannic Majesty and became a loyal admirer to his dying day, is related by H. St. John Philby in his Arabian Days. The Shaikh's country, bordering on the Euphrates, was by no means clear of the Turks at that time, and he doubtless maintained polite contact with them; but his visit to Baghdad was taken as a clear sign that the Arabs realized how the war was going. It was the author's job to show this distinguished visitor around and among other things he was invited to tea on one of the gunboats on the Tigris.

DURING tea on the after-deck which was suitably covered with awnings and rugs, Philby casually inquired of the Shaikh if he had ever seen a gun. "Gun?" he said, "why, plenty of them!" 'Do you realize," Philby continued "that you are sitting under one now?" The Shaikh jumped up in alarm, spilling his tea in the process, as if the thing was about to explode on him. Even then he couldn't see it; it was too big—one of the naval 4-inch guns. He had to be shown where it was, how it worked and swivelled about at a gentle touch. Somewhat reassured about our intentions towards him, he began to examine the monster with the deepest interest. "No," he finally said, "I've never seen a gun —before."

LORD Darling the famous and much loved English Judge, who is the subject of a biography by Evelyn Graham—Lord Darling and His Famous Trials—had never visited the United States and had met few Americans; but called upon in the absence of Lord Reading he replied for the guest at the Independence Day dinner of the American Society in London as follows:

"I have read too much history not to know why you are Americans and I am only English. Mr. Campbell Lee in proposing the toast said he would refrain from twisting the lion's tail. He has the best reasons for saying that, for on July 4th, 1781, they twisted it off. It is no credit to you; there is no generosity in it. It was very lucky that it was the English nation that you conquered on the field of.... none of us knows the name, but we know you did it, though we don't know where. It is very lucky that it was the English whom you beat, because if it had been any other nation in the world they would never have forgiven you. But we have done so, and I come here, just as the Romans when they had won a great victory over the English—because you were not the first—brought one of us to grace their festival, and they said, 'This is a specimen of what we have conquered.' I come here merely as that captive kind of latter-day Caractacus.

◆ ◆ ◆

"LORD Reading borrowed more money of you than anybody else ever tried to do, and I don't wonder that he did not care to meet you face to face. It has been pointed out to me how fecilitously you Americans have chosen the site for this particular entertainment. Just outside is a statue of Sir Wilfrid Lawson. Years ago you Americans presented to us a statue which we have placed outside the National Gallery. Could we not return the compliment by presenting to you the statue of Sir Wilfrid Lawson, who may become in time, the patron saint of America? He represents your dearest passion, and further, he represents, I understand, a law which you will never be able to repeal. We like to think of those battlefields across the Atlantic, and we can still drink your health, as you can drink ours, with every hope for our mutual prosperity."

SMUTS and Hertzog were always keen opponents and the latter often made things hot for Smuts. The thing Smuts disliked most was leading the opposition. "Opposite to him sat Hertzog," writes F. S. Crafford in his biography Jan Smuts. As Prime Minister, he had a bench to himself on which he used to lie at full length with his eyes shut, or sit with his head resting on a book on the desk in front of him. From this attitude of feigned somnolence he would periodically leap to his feet and, with characteristic violence heap virulent abuse on Smut's head. Once he harangued Smuts and his party for more than an hour. Journalists in the press gallery counted twenty-five different adjectives with which he coupled Smuts' name. Nearly all were libellous. It was a stupendous effort to which Mrs. Hertzog and Mrs. Smuts sitting side by side in one of the galleries listened quietly. Meanwhile Smuts, without a trace of concern, sat admiringly by. And no sooner had Hertzog resumed his seat than he crossed the floor, sat down beside the Prime Minister, and commenced chatting amicably. In this way he disarmed many a would-be detractor and sometimes cajoled him into silence."

I WONDER if the people who are in charge of Canada's tourist trade have come across the letter Oliver Wendell Holmes, while on a visit to Montreal, wrote to James T. Fields in 1867.

"Don't talk to me about taverns," he wrote. There is just one genuine clean, decent, palatable thing occasionally to be had in them—namely a boiled egg. The soups taste pretty good sometimes, but their sources are involved in a darker mystery than that of the Nile. Omelettes taste as if they had been carried in the waiter's hat, or fried in an old boot. I ordered scrambled eggs one day. It must be that they had been scrambled for by somebody, but who—who in the possession of a sound reason could have scrambled what I had set before me under that name? Butter! I am thinking just now of those exquisite little pellets I have so often seen at your table, and wondering why the taverns always keep it until it is old. Fool that I am! As if the taverns did not know that if it was good it would be eaten, which is not what they want. Then the waiters with the napkin—what they don't do with those napkins! Mention any one thing of which you think you can say with truth 'That they do not do.'

◆ ◆ ◆

"TALKING of authors and eggs, Frederick Locker-Lampson wrote from the Hotel d'Angleterre, in Strasbourg that 'Tennyson does not like his eggs too lightly cooked. Today at breakfast there was a pretty waitress, and he sent his eggs to be more boiled, and then, in the damsel's native tongue, expostulated with her as to the softness of her eggs and the apparent hardness of her heart. It was very pleasant to hear his grave but gallant remonstrance and her merry laugh. He is delightful."

HOME STRETCH

The Exhausted Adjective

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

JAMES Reston, of the New York Times, himself no mean dabbler with words, writes that "the political cliche has made a startling comeback in the presidential campaign". When (he says) Robert Sherwood and Archibald MacLeish were writing speeches for the late Franklin D. Roosevelt "the shining verb gave the exhausted adjective some competition", but today, with Truman and Dewey, "the well-battered phrase is back in all its tarnished glory".

Mr. Reston, suporting his claim, calls as first witness Mr. Truman. Thus:

"Question: 'What are you going to do to them, Mr. President?'

"President: 'We're gonna give 'em hell.'

"Question: 'What is the Democratic Party for, Mr. President?'

"President: 'The Democratic Party believes in the people. It believes in freedom and progress.'

"Question: 'And the Republican Party?'

"President: 'It is the party of powerful, selfish interests. Here is the vital issue: Between the people and the selfish interests.' "

Mr. Dewey, called as Mr. Reston's second witness, "works more copy-book maxims into his speeches than any candidate since Calvin Coolidge". Thus:

"Question: 'What would you say, Governor, this country really needs?'

"Governor Dewey: 'As never before, we need a rudder to our ship of state.'

"Question: 'Anything else?'

Governor Dewey: '...And a firm hand on the tiller.'

"Question: 'Governor, former President Roosevelt said once that the United States had a rendezvous with history. What do you really think of that?'

"Governor Dewey: 'Our country is at the crossroads.'

"Question: 'President Truman has said that the Taft-Hartley Act would encourage strikes instead of stopping them. What do you say to that?'

"Governor Dewey: 'The moving finger of history has already exposed this as baseless propaganda.' "

Mr. Reston has done a fine job for the "shining verb", and perhaps for his country's politicians. Would now that he could come over here and do a similar job for ours (what a field to work in!), and maybe for some of the rest of us. For we Canadians are all too addicted to the "exhausted adjective", to the cliche.

More, Mr. Reston might turn his gifted pen against the cheapening of language through the thoroughly bad habit of exaggeration, an evil that afflicts journalists as well as politicians. Whether it is the Hollywood influence we can't say, but somehow or other we have got to the point where the most insignificant political campaign is called a "crusade", and any document, however, obscure, promoted to the status of a "charter". Almost it's the worst piece of inflation that's upon us.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto Aaron and unto his sons, saying, On this wise ye shall bless the children of Israel, saying unto them, The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: the Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee: the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.

And they shall put my name upon the children of Israel; and I will bless them. (Num. 6: 22-27.)

I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy transgressions, and, as a cloud, thy sins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee.'

Sing, O ye heavens; for the Lord hath done it: shout, ye lower parts of the earth: break forth into singing, ye mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himself in Israel. (Isa. 44: 6, 22, 23.)

Unconsidered Trifles

The constable called at a villa and rang the bell. Inside the house the piano-playing ceased and a rather scared-looking young woman appeared at the door and asked: "Yes? What do you want?"

"Well, miss," said the constable, "we've just had a telephone call to say that there's some fellow called Mozart being murdered in this house."

"A mistake?"

"Yes," explained the guest, "I thought they were real silver."

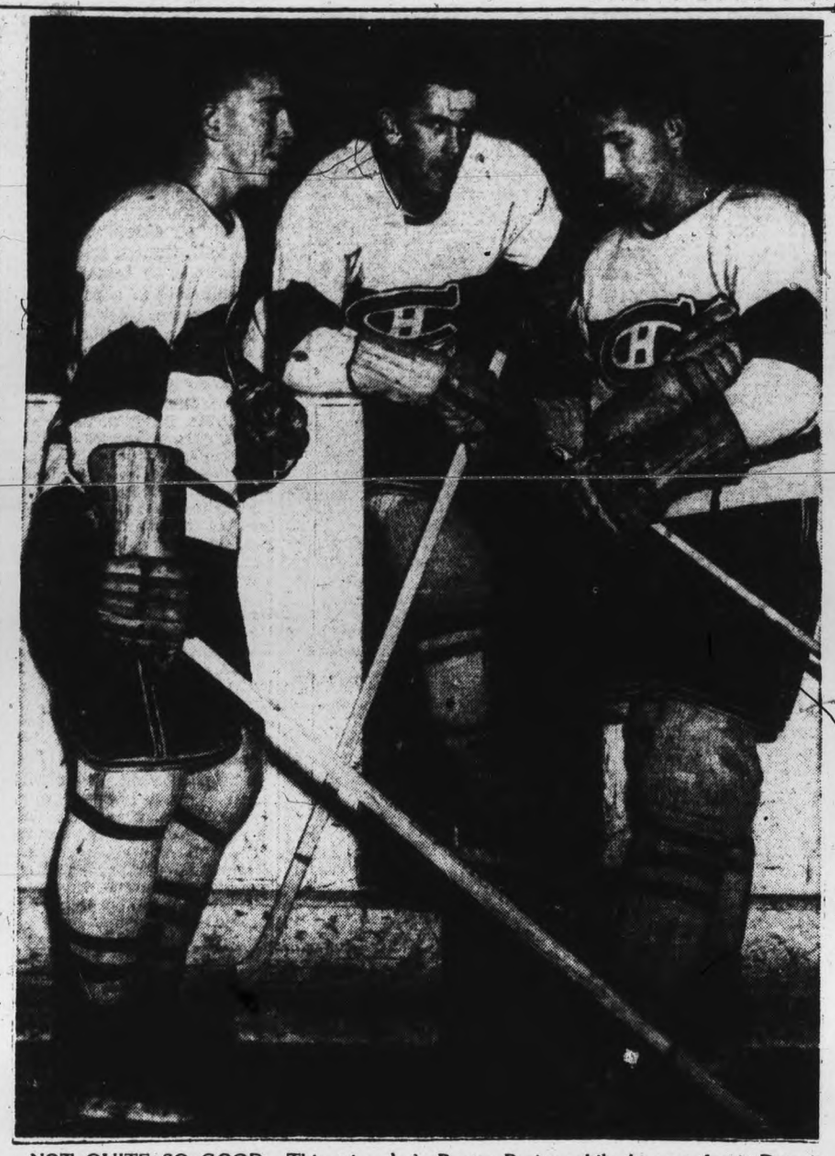
Lindsay Takes Grid Win Over St. Peter's



Lindsay juniors defeated St. Peter's 39-1 at the Oval Saturday morning in the final regular junior football game of the season, prior to the playoffs.

St. Peter's were numerically inferior to their rivals and although tthey battled hard throughout, were outplayed by a better, more experienced team. Lindsay led 16-1 at quarter time on scores by Georgas, DeBois and Burn, one converted, and added two more before half-time as Burn carried over twice and converted both to make it 28-1. Monaghan kicked a single in the first for the Saints. Fitzelle and Burn added major scores in the second half, one converted, to complete the scoring, in a one-sided contest. Burn was the big star for the visitors, accounting for 22 points, while Georgas, DeBois and Fitzelle were prominent in victory behind the very effective front line. For St. Peter's, Monaghan, Armstrong and Picard looked good though all the boys gave their best.

St. Peter's — Flying wing, O'Reilly; halves, Monaghan, Picard, Armstrong; quarter, Richardson; snap, LaPlante; insides, Corkery, Heffernan; middles, Wolff, Hickson; outsides, G. Crowley, Fitzpatrick; alternates, Bacon, Fitzgerald, Ryan, Morrisey.

Lindsay— Flying wing, Maidens; halves, Georgas, DeBois, Fitzelle; quarter, Burn; snap, Bellamy; insides, Magee, Wilson; middles, Pennock, Dawson; outsides, Richardson, McLean; alternates, Logan, Taylor, Graham, Murray, Ward, Algar, Trotter, oFshay.

Referee, G. Creighton; umpire, G. Beatty; linesman, G. McGillis.

NOT QUITE SO GOOD—This trio of Montreal Canadiens don't look unduly elated after their week-end showing. On Saturday at home they were held to a 3-3 tie by Boston Bruins, while the next day in Detroit, the Wings beat them 4-1. Shown here, left to right, are: Ed Dorohoy, rookie, Rocket Richard and Elmer Lach.

Oshawa Gens Trounce St. Kitts 5-2

By the Canadian Press

The not-so-strong Oshawa Generals handed the high-flying St. Catharines Teepees a 5-2 beating Saturday—breaking Teepees' undefeated streak of seven wins and a tie.

It was shifty Nick Gamble who spelled trouble for St. Kitt's. He nabbed three goals in nine minutes of an overtime period after both teams battled to a 2-2 deadlock in regulation play.

Teepees still lead the Ontario Hockey Association junior pack with a comfortable five-point margin over the second-place Windsor Spitfires.

In other Junior games Saturday, Toronto St. Michael's College Majors defeated Stratford Kroehlers 6-3 to move into fourth place, while the third-place Barrie Flyers needed an overtime period to dispose of the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros 4-3. Windsor Spitfires made it five-for-five by defeating Galt Rockets 3-1 in a rough contest that saw 31 penalties handed out.

In the senior loop, Hamilton Tigers maintained their leading margin when they defeated Stratford Indians 3-2 in overtime play. Tigers lead the second-place Owen Sound Mercurys by four points with a total of 12.

The cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros seniors held Owen Sound to a 5-5 tie.

Opens Scoring

Oshawa opened the scoring in the first period when Red Stephen beat netminder Don Campbell on a close-in shot. St. Kitt's tied it up in the second frame, Fred Hildebrand scoring on Geo. Sullivan's pass. Ron Switzer got the equalizer in the third period.

St. Michael's, paced by rugged Tim Horton and Bud Marshall, perekd up in the third period to dispose of Stratford Kroehlers.

Joe Bragagnolo started Stratford off, blasting a close-in shot past goaler Tommy Shea in the first stanza. Don Rope and Horton put the Irish ahead early in the second frame with two quick goals. Joe Beda got the equalizer minutes later.

In the third period, Ray Corcoran nipped a goal to give the Irish the lead again. Then Jimmy Pernfuss flipped a loose puck past Shea on a goal-mouth scarmble to tie it up.

Marlboros' George Armstrong, recently bought from Stratford Kroehlers, gave a sparkling performance, scoring one goal and setting up another.

Count Twice

Barrie counted twice—once in the first period and once in the second—before Marlies answered. With Armstrong always on the offensive and displaying a neat backchecking job, Marlies grabbed the lead with two goals only to have the Flyers tie it up.

Don Ashbee broke up the game when he scored on a goal-mouth scramble.

In the Hamilton-Stratford game, Polly Miocinovich's third goal on a screened shot that never left the ice gave Tigers the decision.

After a scoreless first period, the team split a pair of goals in the second period, Dillon Brady scoring for Tigers and George Blake for Indians. Johnny Conick and Miocinovich gave Tigers a temporary lead in the third stanza. Blake got his second goal to tie it up again and Miocinovich's winning goal followed.

Toronto Marlboros, seeking their first win of the season in five starts, have had to settle for two tie games with Owen Sound. They deadlocked 1-1 in Toronto Friday night.

Holiday Brings Truce In France

PARIS, Nov. 1—(Reuters). — All Saints' Day, a public holiday in France, brought a tense truce today to the strike-bound coalfields.

The truce came after a weekend marked by bomb throwing and house wrecking against non-strikers in the Douai area of northern France.

Acts of vengeance included placing a bomb outside the house of a miner who had returned to work, causing an explosion which injured his wife.

Six people were reported to have been arrested in connection with attacks on 15 miners' homes in the Douai district. It was also reported that a mining engineer and his wife were injured after the explosion of an improvised bomb near their house at Weziers, in the Douai region.

Seek Federal Aid For Europe's Students

TORONTO, Nov. 1—(CP).—International student service voted Sunday to seek aid from the Federal Government and Canadian universities to bring needy European students to Canada to study.

The conference, attended by delegates from 19 Canadian universities, voted also to set up a student hostel in Bombay as part of a relief program, send 400 pairs of shoes to Hungarian students, send books to Paris and aid Greek students at the universities of Athens and Salonika.

The organization plans to bring approximately 35 European students to Canada—a ratio of one for every 2,000 Canadian students. Their stay in Canada would be financed by ISS, with each visitor receiving $1,000 and his tuition fees.

Argos Trip Alouettes 24-11 But Long Way From Playoffs

By The Canadian Press

The Grey Cup final should be different this year.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers won't be there and Toronto Argonauts have a long, long way to go to make the east-west championship game.

Bombers, annual western champions since 1936, were shoved from the picture by Saskatchewan Roughriders who beat Bombers 16-7 to take the Western Conference's second playoff spot. Riders now meet Calgary Stampeders in the west finall.

In a return to their old form, Argos beat Montreal Alouettes 24-11. But to make the Big Four playoffs Argos must beat the powerful Ottawa Rough Riders next Saturday and Hamilton Wildcats must beat Lew Hayman's Alouettes.

In games that meant nothing but reputations and gate receipts, Ottawa staggered past Hamilton Wildcats 18-5 and Hamilton Tigers wound up the Ontario Union schedule with a 41-9 drubbing of Windsor Rockets.

Toronto Beaches Indians had qualified for the ORFU playoffs by beating Sarnia Imperials 22-1 Friday.

Toronto and Hamilton start a best-of-three series for the league championship Friday in Toronto, with the next games scheduled for Hamilton Nov. 13 and Nov. 17.

The powerful University of Western Ontario Mustangs wrote a new page in Canadian football history by surviving a shaky start to beat Queen's 23-9, their 26th consecutive game without a loss. It tied a 26-game record set by Queen's teams in the early 1920's.

University of Toronto smashed McGill for the second straight week. The 33-0 victory put Varsity in second place in Intercollegiate standings.

Holding a 13-11 halftime lead, Argos rolled up 11 more points in the second half. Big Frank Dunlap plunged for three touchdowns. Joe Krol added eight points on two placements, a convert and a rouge and his passes to Royal Copeland, Fred Doty, Jack Wedley and Pete Titanic set up the touchdown plays.

Bob Cunningham and Bronco Reese got the Montreal majors.

Hamilton Wildcats moved into a 4-0 half-time lead over Ottawa on Bill Murmylyk's placement and Ralph Larue's single. Then Tony Golab crossed the line twice in the third quarter and Pete Finlay was end man on an 85-yard lateral-passing play that paid off with a major. Eric Chipper conveted the three touchdowns.

Three touchdowns by Jack Harper and Frank Filchock's deadly passing highlighted Tigers' easy victory over Windsor Rockets, who haven't won a game this year.

Blame Firebug

TORONTO, Nov. 1.— (CP). — Fire Marshal Sam Hill Sunday night blamed a firebug for a $7,000 blaze early Sunday which destroyed Christmas toys intended for poor children. Also burned were hundreds of suits of clothing and dresses which were to have been distributed to needy families through hostels. The fire was on the second floor of the Salvation Army's storage warehouse in west-central Toronto.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Vancouver Sun said Saturday that President Al Leader of the Pacific Coast Hockey League will leave for the East to-day to discuss with National Hockey League authorities a problem of franchise claims.

The NHL granted affiliation rights to the new professional PCHL clubs last spring but refused to wipe out old franchise rights held by Lester Patrick in Vancouver and Victoria, Phil Lycette in Seattle, and the estate of the late Bobby Rowe in Portland, Ore.

"The 'Old Guard' now wants a good-size piece of the present coast loop's box office take," said the Sun. "Coast leaders have demanded that the NHL decide now to support either the present-day group or the men who formerly operated North-west franchises.

"If the NHL fails to support those now in power, the coast loop may well break away from the rest of professional hockey."

Mervin (Red) Dutton, wielding the same heavy hand that a few years ago ruled the National Hockey league, Sunday cracked down on Western Canada Junior Hockey League clubs for using improperly registered players.

Dutton, governor of the circuit, levied fines of $50 each against Calgary Buffaloes, Lethbridge Native Sons, Medicine Hat Tigers and Bellevue Lions.

Battering Paul Rowe emerged Sunday as the 1948 scoring champion in the Western Interprovincial Football Union in a season dominated by players from Calgary Stampeders and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Rowe, veteran pile-driving halfback of the unbeaten Stampeders, finished the schedule with 35 points. His winning margin was by a scant two points over another veteran, kicking-half Ken Charlton of the Roughies, while the 1947 champ Dusky Gabe Patterson of the Roughies—came third with 32.

Windsor Assumption College Varsity Purple Raiders, cutting loose in the second half with three converted majors, defeated Toronto St. Michael's College Majors, 18-5, Saturday in an exhibition football game at Windsor.

It was the third exhibition victory this season for Assumption against three defeats.

Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion, announced his retirement from the ring after being beaten Sunday in Berlin on points by G. Vogt, German light heavyweight champion, over 10 rounds in the Olympic Stadium.

Schmeling weighed 194 pounds; Vogt 187.

"It was absolutely and positively my last fight," said the 43-year-old Schmeling.

Ontario Agricultural College Aggies kept their undefeated record intact in the Intermediate Intercollegiate Football League Saturday when they downed Western Colts 18-11 at Guelph. It was the fourth straight win for Aggies.

Colts threw a scare into the Redmen with a second half drive but Aggies' charging line stiffened whenever their goal-line was threatened.

Garbo Settles On Story For Film Return

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 (AP).—Here's the latest chapter in the screen return of Greta Garbo. She has settled on the story and the shooting location.

Robert Cummings, whose partner, Eugene Frencke, engineered the Garbo deal, reported that the silent Swede will definitely do the Georg Sand Biography It's her own baby—she and a writer have worked on a script for six years. The picture will be filmed in Italy.

Jimmy Stewart will have professional backing on the diamond in "The Stratton Story." Among the ball players in the picture are Jimmy Dykes, Bill Dickey, Gene Beardon, Max West, Red Berger and Mervyn Shea. The Hollywood stars Coast League team will portray the Chicago White Sox in the film.

Cugat Finds Gold

Xavier Cugat has discovered gold in Texas. His band will be paid $10,000 plus expenses to fly to Galveston on November 8 and play for a private party at the Brooks Hollow Country Club.

Toronto-born Walter Huston says he does not want to face the rigors of another stage play. Now in "The Great Sinner," he would like to limit himself to one picture a year with his son John.

Jean Hersholt is celebrating the 35th anniversary of his start in films. He made his debut with Thomas Ince in 1913. Jean's talents have been confined to his air show during the last seven years.

He once played the part of Dr. Dafoe, the Dionne quints' doctor.

James Mason has been canvassing other Hollywood cat lovers for material for his book. Betty Garrett's among th m . . Some localities were amused by Playwright Paul Green's blast in Raleigh, NC, at Hollywood for seeking sordid material. They think it might be sour grapes, since his script for "Oseanna McCoy" was sharply rewritten.

12 Years In a Wheelchair Barrymore Walks Again

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 — (BUP). — Lionel Barrymore, who has spent the past 12 years in a wheelchair, can walk again. And ever since the story got out, he growled today, he hasn't had a moment's peace.

"Phone calls, letters, telegrams," he grumbled. "Dadgumit, why don't they leave a man be?"

Want to Know How

Everybody wants to know how he did it. Or congratulate him for doing it. Or ask him to put on a benefit performance and show how he does it.

"Doctor's orders," says Barrymore. "I just went on a diet. Lost 30 pounds. Gonna lose 20 more."

When he gets his boyish figure back, he added, the doc's going to rig him up a leather girdle. And if he can just get up enough gumption to wear the thing, he'll be able to hock that chrome-plated wheelchair he's lived in so long.

Right now the 70-year-old actor's playing his role in 20th Century-Fox's "Down to the Sea in Ships" in the wheelchair. But between scenes he hobbles around on crutches, getting into practice for his walking debut.

Everybody, says Barrymore with a wag of his white mane, thinks he was crippled up with arthritis.

"No truth to it", he harrumphed. "I fell of a blankety-blank horse back in 1915 and broke my left leg. After that I always limped a little.

"Then in 1936 I was going a scene with Jean Harlow. I tripped over a cable and fractured the other side of me—my right hip. It didn't heal right."

Not long after, he said, walking became almost too painful to bear. Crutches helped a little, but not for long. That's when he took to his wheelchair.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Large Ben Morgan, the whisker-capped mountain of Tennessee, will meet a formidable mat foe in the main grapple bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday e'en. None other than Whipper Bill Watson, of whom too much has been written and said for this scribe to repeat. Suffice to say, the Whip is the smartest pro matman to show here yet and his powerful opponent will need all his rough poundage to withstand the speed and experience of Watson. George McNab tangles with "Blockbuster" Talun in the semi-final, and we hope the ring holds up. McNab is an ex-gridder of nearly 300 pounds, while the powerful Pole (as, sounds like the good old Hydro days) bumps the beam at 315. Jack Moore mixes with Ralph Martin in the prelim. Another right promising wrestling card.

* * * * * *

Eight down and one to go, that's the score for our grid Panthers. They lost 8-0 here Saturday in the first of their ORFU intermediate group finals, a two-game series. While the game drew a good-sized crowd, factories working held down the attendance some, too. Everything happens to the Panthers—they get a good day for a change and an important playoff, so the factories are nearly all working because of this Hydro schemozzle. It was a good scrap most of the way and lots of fans will go to Orillia for the return, as it's not over yet. But Panthers weren't in their best form on Saturday.

* * * * * *

Banged From Start

No, the Bombers were on the field early warming up, and whammed into Panthers from the start. Had most of the play first half to kick two field goals, get a safety touch, and have touchdown pass called back. Line outplayed the local front wall they really looked good. As we said, Panthers were below the they exhibited their two previous jousts. If they get back in it Saturday, they have a fair chance—as eight points aren't so many rugby. Otherwise, they've had it. Bombers are tough and the first fray was a hard-hitting one. But Panthers can be tough, also. They'll have to be extra tough this week-end, or else....

Again Bev Goulding's senior PCVS squad goes into COSSA playoffs after mopping up on their group. Took Oshawa in the Motor City 27-4 Saturday without too much effort. Their line was working okay again to give the smart backfielders time and holes to do their stuff. Blair Thomson and Wally Graham shone in the rear division, with Al Northcott doing the iron-man stunt in there, Bill Coon and Johnny Green quite effective, and Lowes a whale of a help. The team will take on Pickering here Saturday in an exhibition as they warm up for the COSSA playoffs once more.

* * * * * *

Neat One To Take

In junior football Saturday, the junior PCI-ers defeated Grove School of Lakefield on the latter's terrain 25-17 in an exhibition. And Alex Londry's lads deserve lots of credit for winning one against a strong squad from the private school. Frise, Armstrong, Young, Knox, Brown, Jensen, Burns and Gandy all caught the eye for the victors; as Clark, Drew, Burns and Withers stood out for Grove. PCVS meets Oshawa in playoffs now, as the Motor Citizens walloped Trinity on Saturday. Lindsay took St. Peter's 39-1, having too much for the inexperienced Saints in an a.m. game at the Oval.

* * * * * *

In soccer here Saturday, O'Halloran's eliminated CGE 6-3 and Legion rubbed out Lindsay 2-0 in Mayor Ovens Cup play—for injured players—and the winners meet in the cup final this coming week-end. The reinforced soccer goal posts at King Edward Park again were broken by Hallowe'en vandals, and it appears to be an annual occurrence. Like the breaking of windows in Morrow Park and the throwing of stones by kids at the new rink, one wonders if some young fellows have anything inside their heads but rocks. Surely those who did this damage aren't young athletes. Incidentally, we're reminded that Hallowe'en means Holy Evening and was celebrated as such in Merrie England long before Bobby Burns lived

Not Too Satisfied

Lakeshore Loop baseball officials met recently and decided to do some kicking to the OBA at the annual meeting in Peterborough next April. An item out of Cobourg says: "If the OBA feels it can do nothing to help out down here in regard to better decisions as to umpires, playoff arrangements, etc., then the Lakeshore would feel inclined to form a nucleus of a second organization for baseball, which would probably break away from the parent body. This, in the opinion of some of those present, should be done now. But cooler thought was finally taken and the OBA will be given a chance to take on a more kindly aspect toward our baseball setup."

PCVS Seniors Win Group From Oshawa

By REED MAYBEE

Bev Goulding's PCVS senior football team defeated fighting Oshawa Collegiate team at the Motor City Saturday, 27-4, to qualify for the COSSA playoffs November 13, against Welland, St. Catharines or Orillia.

Dave Fleming's boys tried hard to avenge their 30-0 setback of October 9, but to no avail as, led by Wally Graham, Blair Thomson, Al Northcott, Johnny Green, Bill Coon and aided by a fine front line, PCVS outplayed their perennial rivals in every department, to win by a comfortable margin, in a hard fought struggle.

Graham scored mid-way in the first as he took a short lateral from Green at the rival 10 and plunged over, following a big drive led by himself and Captain Blair Thomson a strong front line cleared the way. The convert failed. Oshawa then singled as Krawek hoofed wide to Northcott from the PCVS 40 late in the quarter. Welsh recovered and was rouged. Early in the second, Thomson plunged over from two yards out after an advance from Oshawa's 45 on plunges by himself, Graham and Sergeant. Green converted. A Green to Northcott at near half time enabled the latter to score unconverted to make it 16-1 at half.

Kept Going

PCVS scored again in the third as Thomson passed to Green on Oshawa's 20 and the latter sped around right end to score, but again failed to convert. Oshawa dominated play for a while and a Krawek to Hulcio pass brought play to PCVS 22 and Sarnovsky kicked a beautiful field goal from a difficult angle at the 12 minute mark.

In the finale, the teams fought hard for 10 minutes of scoreless play till a drive took PCVS from their 20 to Oshawa's 45 and the latter were penalized 15 yards for roughing. A direct snap to Thomson on an attempted end run passing play was relayed to Northcott and he in turn tossed to Graham who faded back as he ran to right and then threw a mighty 45 yard pass to Green behind the line for the feature play of the game, perfectly executed. Green passed to Graham, who ran over to convert and wind up the scoring.

PCVS line starring Lowes, Lane, Killingbeck, Hempstead, Buck, Swanston and Grainger, showed to great advantage all through with superb blocking and tackling, enabling their assistants behind the line to carry through and toss neat passes over the line. For Oshawa, the work of Krawek, Brabin, Ferrin, Semeneuk, Sarnovsky, Hulcio, Goulding, Canning and McTavish was worthy of note.

PCVS play Pickering at the Oval Saturday in an exhibition game to keep in shape for the play-offs.

PCVS Seniors— Flying wing, Northcott; halves, Graham, Thomson, Coon; quarter, Green; snap, Killingbeck; insides, Hempstead, Buck; middles, Lane, Lowes; outsides, Swanston, Grainger; alternates, Hamblin, Woodcock, Welsh, Payne, Wright, English, Stewart, Stasey, Fitzpatrick, Robinson, Sergeant, Ward.

Oshawa— Flying wing, Harris; halves, Krawek, Brabin, Hulcio; quarter, Canning; snap, Dalgleish; insides, Semenuk, Penfound; middles, Forde, Ferrier; outsides, Baluk, Sturch; alternates, Babcock, Sarnovsky, Hambley, McTavish, Wotton, Fox, Scuik, Goulding, Marsh.

Cubs Dangling Barter-Bait

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(AP). — Trade winds were blowing on the Chicago baseball front today, but it was hard to tell which way and how strong.

Both the Cubs, who are reported dangling first baseman Eddie Waitkus and catcher Clyde McCullough as barter-bait, and the White Sox, whose most salable player presumably is infielder Don Kolloway, held executive huddles aimed at bolstering their last-place finishers.

Owner Horace Stoneham and manager Leo Durocher of New York Giants dropped in at Wrigley Field Sunday to see the football game and also to chat baseball business with the Cubs.

If they offered catcher Walter Cooper and first baseman Johnny Mize for an opening bid, they got a cold shoulder from manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs, who told reporters:

"I'm definitely not interested in Cooper or Mize. And I don't believe Giants will trade anybody else."

PCVS Juniors Victors In Lakefield

Peterborough Collegiate Juniors defeated Grove School at Lakefield Saturday 25-17 in a stirring football game played before a fine crowd of home supporters. School students livened up festivities as they surrounded the field and kept up a continual uproar of cheering throughout the exhibition.

Withers kicked a field goal for Grove early in the first quarter, but Warren Brown squared matters at the eight-minute mark as he carried over for a touchdown, not converted. Griffin, star quarter, was hurt (not seriously) and retired in favor of Young, who kicked well and played a fine game. His single near quarter's end made it 6-3. Grove came right back, Ward scoring and Withers converting as the quarter ended: Grove 9, PCI 6.

Gandy scored at the seven-minute mark on a nice run around right end, following a pass, and a 15-yard Grove roughing penalty in the second but a 35-yard placement by Withers tied it up at half-time. A pass, Young to Jensen, in the third gave PCVS five more as conversion failed.

Roy Armstrong made a great plunge near three-quarter time to score and converted it. A safety touch added two more for PCVS in the fourth on a Grove fumble but the home team fought back and Terry Clark registered on a nice plunge at the half-way mark to end the scoring and give PCVS the verdict in a great game. For Peterborough, Frize, Knox, Young, Armstrong, Brown, Jensen, Gandy and Burns were best, with every player good, and for Grove, Clark, Withers, Burns and Drew shone in defeat.

PCVS Juniors: Flying wing, Evans; halves, Armstrong, Brown, Gandy; quarter, Griffin; snap, Frize; insides, Grant, Knox; middles, Jopling, McIlraith; outsides, Burns, Jenson; alternates: Fowler, Young, Heard, White, Howe, Cruickshanks, Bigford, Langhorne, Wood, Ackford, Facendi.

Grove Seniors: Flying wing, Easson; halves, Burns, Clark, Withers; quarter, Wilkes; snap, Drew; insides, Rees, Gibson; middles, Ward, McCulloch; outsides, Irwin, Boyd; alternates, Hill, Stirling, Stephens, Legate, Faulkner.

Referee: McNabb.

Longden, as usual, topped other jockeys by bringing home 55 winners in the 41 days; his mounts earned $166,830. Walter Litzenberg was second with 31 winners; Gordon Glisson, third with 27.

The veteran jockey climaxed his Golden Gate stunt by bringing home Clifford Mooers' Old Rockport in the $15,000-added California Centennial Handicap on the closing Saturday.

Trainer Molter is reaching for his third consecutive United State title. He saddled 24 winners during the meeting. Paul Lycan was second with 15, Darrell Cannon and L. H. Kidd tned for third with 10 each.

PCVS STAR—Blair Thomson captain and classy backfielder for PCVS seniors, played a fine game and aided materially Saturday in putting the squad into COSSA playoffs again, as they won in Oshawa 27-4.

Generals Lose By 6 to 3 To O'Halloran's

O'Halloran's eliminated Canadian General from the Mayor Ovens injured player's soccer cup, Saturday afternoon, at King Edward Park before a fair atendance by the score of 6-3 in an excellent brand of the code. Outstanding for the losers were Booth, Cotton Welland and Strong; while O'Halloran's team clicked as a unit.

Right from the kick-off, Attard at centre for C. G. E. dribbled his way past the full back to head the ball into an open goal but Art Downer fell back in time to save. Titchel new custodian was outstanding with his clearances. Featherstone and Cribbis went right through to finally see the latter head against the upright. Pyle broke up an atack to send Croll away on the wing to place the ball into the far corner for a count. On the next raid, Scott broke away fast on the wing to send a rocket drive that dropped into goal to make it 2-0.

C.G.E. still with 10 men, went back into the picture with two smart goals. McPhate centred across to Strong who along with Attard scored; then added another on a timely direct kick by Booth to make it 2-all. Scott enacted the same performance again to put O'Halloran's ahead. Duffus on the next visit connected with a left -footer to make it 4-2. Attard reducted the count with an oblique shot of a spectacular character. Then. McPhate hit the crossbar. C. G. E. wilted under pressure as Duffus and Featherstone on a 20 yard drive made it 6-3.

C.G.E. — E. I. Titshell, goal; E. Cotton and S. Murdufff full backs; H. Steel, R. Wilson and R. Booth half backs; R. Strong, A. Welland, F. Attard, T. McPhate forwards.

O'Halloran's — J. Chamberlan, goal; A. Downer and W. Denisen full backs; D Gray, H. Pyle and C. B. Smart half backs; T. Scott, J. Duffus, W. Cribbis, A. Featherstone and R. Eastbrook forwards. Subs J A. O'Halloran, E. Boon, Referee— G. Downer. Linesmen —H. Foster, J. Smith.

Legion Takes 2-0 Tilt Over Lindsay

With three minutes to go Canadian Legion were fortunate to gain two goals against the Lindsay aggregation in the semi-final of the Mayor Ovens' injured players' soccer cup, Saturday afternoon, in King Edward Park, by a 2-0 count. Winners meet O'Hallorans in the final next Saturday.

With only 10 men, Lindsay opened up the attack to put Legion on the defensive. Francis and Dobbie dominated the situation to make Legion look disorganized in every department with the exception of Craig who tried to consolidate his attack in an endeavor to hold Lindsay in check. Time and again, Latham would penetrate the Legion goal to test the custodian, while Moir's centres from the extreme wing caused anxiety around the Legion citadel.

On resuming, Lindsay again took the initiative through smart combination by Latham, Taylor and Appleby that forced the local boys to be on the alert to hold them scoreless through first-timer tackling. Casual breakaways by Legion outside men enlivened proceedings up until three minutes to go when Dobbie failed to check John Downer while on the run. He measured the distance to perfection when he beat the Lindsay goalie with a rocket drive. He followed this up with a similar count just as the whistle sounded.

Lindsay— V. Thomas, goal; T. Dobbie and L. Francis, full-backs; R. A. Cox, J. Willis and J. Hiscott, half-backs; J. Appleby, H. Latham, H. Taylor and A. Moir, forwards.

Canadian Legion— T. Foster, Sr., goal; T. Foster, Jr., and Al. Downer, full-backs; J. Craig, B. Grant and A. Bromley, half-backs; H. Foster, A. Dunn, N. Downer, G. Downer and John Downer, forwards.

Whipper Watson Will Attempt To Tame Big Ben Morgan Wednesday At Brock

Whipper Billy Watson, the high-flying Adonis of North American mat rings will be back in Peterborough on Wednesday night. The Whipper has agreed to take on Big Ben Morgan who has been going great guns since coming into Canadian territory from Lookout Mountain, Tennessee. Billy Watson is reported to be considerably riled at the tactics which Big Ben used to beat up on Whipper's pal Pat Flanagan here last week. The coming bout is expected to see the flying-tackle drop-kicking Canadian star unleash a punishing attack on the huge fellow from the Southern States.

Jack Moore

The 320-pounder is bound to present a tough problem for any matman but the Whip has blazing speed and along with his scientific stuff can also turn a little rough when needed.

In the semi-final another huge newcomer George McNab has been signed to meet the equally gigantic Wladyslaw Talun. McNab played football for the Buffalo Bills professional team last year and is a near 300-pounder himself.

Jack Moore meets the brilliant young Montrealer Ralph Martin in the opener.

Bombers Defeat Panthers In First of ORFU Playoffs

Orillia Bombers beat the Panthers 8-0 here Saturday before a good-sized crowd in the first of the ORFU intermediate group finals. They'll go into the return fray at Orillia on Saturday with a lead of eight points in the home-and-home series. Panthers looked below form here and were outplayed considerably in the first half, though they battled on more even terms the last two quarters of a good, hard-hitting game.

Getting six first downs to none in the initial quarter, the Bombers had it all their own way, though they scored but three points when Milligan kicked a placement. He, Bond, D. Ross, White and Middleton carried the mail for Orillia, and the latter took a touchdown pass at the end but it was called back for offside.

Early in the second, Newark knocked Hodson back over the local line for a safety touch to make it 5-0, and later on McGill kicked a field goal in off the post to end the tallying. Bond and White were the big yard-gainers for the visitors in this chukker, while Matthews and Magee reeled off some good gains for the locals and McGillis took a forward pass from Jim Conlin. The kicking exchanges were pretty even.

Lovely Tackle

White and Bond started Orillia marching again in the third, but Davidson pulled a lovely tackle to make them lose 12 yards, and Hodson intercepted a forward. Storey unwound for yards after that, followed by D. Ross and a forward to Bond, but it was kicked out at the local 15-yard strip. Panthers were battling grimly at the quarter.

While the homesters fought bitterly in the fourth, Orillia still had a margin on territorial play as they crashed the line and got an edge on hoofing exchanges. But the local line held once in a crucial spot to force Bombers to lose on downs. Hodson plowed through the visitors' front wall to move the sticks and Gord Middleton got 12 on a lateral as play evened up. McGill went off hurt and Burns gained five, but they finally had to kick. O'Brien punted to Garvey on the home 35 with Matthews ripping off eight on an extension and Curtin bucking three, but a forward failed. They kept scrapping right to the finish but time and a solid enemy wall beat them.

The teams:

Orillia — Flying wing, White. halves, Bond, D. Ross, O'Brien; quarter, Milligan; snap, Newark; insides, Caldwell, Boorer; middles Brown, McGill; outsides, Naismith, C. Cook; alternates, Russell, McIntyre, Good, Clark, Gentile, G. Ross, Street, J. Cook, French, MacKenzie, Middleton, Storey.

Panthers—Flying wing, Creighton; halves, Matthews, Jim Conlin, Magee; quarter, Garvey; snap Ouimet; insides, Curtin, Coughlin; middles, Lech, Beatty; outsides, McGillis, Davidson; alternates, VanAllen, John Conlin. Scriver, Middleton, Hodson, Delaney, Farr, Fraser, Douglas. Burns, Berardi, Spencely.

Referee, D. Hitlz; umpire, R. McComb; head linesman, S Stubbs.

Leafs Bow To Hawks 2-1 Rangers Blank Bruins 2-0

By the Canadian Press

The underdog clubs made weekend hay in the National Hockey League as Boston and Detroit lost their first games of the season and Chicago and New York hit the win column for the first time.

When it was all over Detroit Red Wings still were atop the League, two points ahead of Boston Bruins.

Detroit dropped to Toronto 2-1 Saturday, but came back to the top with a 4-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens Sunday.

Montreal and Canadiens battled to a 3-3 overtime tie Saturday, then Bruins bowed 2-0 before the fifth-place New York Rangers.

Chicago Black Hawks, after five straight losses, scored with 11 seconds remaining to dump Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 in Chicago Sunday.

Doug Bentley was the hero of the week-end. It was his goal—scored at 19.49 of the third period after Bill Mosienko and Doug McCaig took the puck behind the Toronto defence—that gave Bill Tobin's hapless Hawks their first win of the year.

Before that it had been a close defensive game with Les Costello putting the Leafs ahead in the first period on passes from Flem Mackell and Ted Kennedy. Bob Goldham tied the score in the second on a desperate shot from just inside the blue line.

Scores Both Goals

Kennedy scored both goals Saturday when Toronto beat Detroit. He put Leafs ahead in the first period on a pass from Max Bentley while Red Wings Leo Reise served a tripping penalty. And he sank the winner in the third period on a pass from Gus Mortson.

Ted Lindsay got the Detroit score, two minutes after Kennedy's first goal, while each team was a man short.

Lindsay added another goal—his fifth this year—Sunday against Montreal.

Three other Red Wings—Gordon Howe, Jim McFadden and George Gee—got their first goals of the season.

Big Butch Bouchard bounced a shot over Harry Lumley's stick in the second period for Montreal's only goal against Detroit in two games this year.

Warwick Stars

Grant Warwick led the Bruins into their 3-3 tie with Canadiens Saturday. He scored twice and passed to Pete Babando for the tying goal with less than two minutes left.

Ken Mosdell, Billy Reay and Glen Harmon scored for Canadiens as Boston came from behind three times to square the score.

The tie snapped Bruins winning streak at four games, then New York surprised by stopping the Bruins completely Sunday.

Nick Mickoski got Rangers first goal in the second period and rookie Clint Albright the other midway in the final period.

The whole NHL crew—but Toronto and members of last year's All-Star squad—now rest until Saturday. Meanwhile Toronto, Stanley Cup holders, meets the rest of the league in the annual All-Star game in Chicago Wednesday.

Flyers Swamp Caps 6-0; Bisons Victors

By The Canadian Press.

St. Louis Flyers, Buffalo Bisons and the New Haven Bears marked up overwhelming victories over their opponents in the American Hockey League on Sunday night.

Goalie Ralph (Red) Almas came through with his third shutout of the season as the Flyers swamped Indianapolis 6-0. Buffalo whitewashed Washington 10-0 with goalie Connie Dion getting his second shut-out. New Haven took Philadelphia for a 10-5 trouncing.

Jerry Brown's goal in the final 21 seconds of play gave Hershey Bears a 3-2 victory over Providence Reds while Cleveland Barons edged out Pittsburg Hornets 3-2.

Paul Gladu, left winger for the first-place Flyers, turned the hat trick while right winger Johnny Raynak collected two goals. Tony Licari scored Flyers' other tally.

Twelve players participated in the Bisons' scoring spree. Honors went to Murdo McKay, Buffalo's flashy centre, who accounted for three goals and added two assists. Freddie Hunt and George Agara each bagged two goals, the others being credited to Les Douglas, Doug Lewis and Floyd Curry.

Sherm White registered two of New Haven's 10 goals while Denis, Johnston, Claude, Davies, Brown, Gordon, Johnstone and Ramsden accounted for a marker each. Harry Pidhirny got a pair of goals for Philadelphia. Kilrea, Wochy, and Prentice shared the balance of the honors.

Providence suffered their first home loss of the season and their first to an Eastern Division team.

Ontario Agricultural College soccer teams swept a twin bill on Saturday at Guelph from the University of Western Ontario. The OAC seniors won 4-3 and the intermediates beat Western 1-0.

Dallas tied Omaha Knights 4-4 Saturday.

Nine SS Groups Attend Institute Meet

FAIRVIEW, Nov. 1—(ENS)—A Sunday School Institute for Smith and Harvey townships and Lakefield village was held Wednesday in the Selwyn United Church. About 70 enjoyed supper prepared by the Selwyn ladies, and served in the hall.

Later the delegates went to the church and divided into five discussion groups. The leaders were primary, Mrs. Lorne Reynolds; junior boys and girls, Miss Olive Sidey; girls, Mrs. Leo Copp; boys, Braden Mann; adults, teachers and officers. Rev. D. P. Morris.

During the worship service, which was taken by the Lakefield Baptist Church, tribute was paid to the memory of the late Rev. Maunsel H. Hunt, followed by a minute of silent prayer.

The following Sunday schools answered to roll call: Selwyn, Bridgenorth, Fairview, Lily Lake, Gilmour Memorial, Lakefield Baptist, Lakefield United, Wesley, Lakehurst United and Young's Point Anglican.

A lovely musical number with guitar accompaniment was given by Leona, George, Stuart and Eldon Stockdale of the Lakehurst United Sunday School.

Speaker was Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite of All Saints' Anglican Church, Peterborough, who brought greetings from the Peterborough County and City Religious Educational Council which at present is sponsoring a leadership training course in Murray Street Baptist Church every Monday evening until the end of November. He spoke of the responsible task which is the work of Sunday School leaders in guiding and developing our boys and girls in the Sunday School.

The meeting closed with the benediction by Canon F. J. Fife, Young's Point.

THE PRICES COMMISSION is studying the dwindling value of the Canadian dollar. Commission Counsel H. A. Joyce Atchison Oratory Winner

BAILIEBORO, Nov. 1—(ENS)—The South Monaghan School area held its annual "public-speaking contest" in the township hall at Centreville on Thursday.

The contest was sponsored by the local school board. The contestants were June Kellar and Glen Kellar of Donaldson School, Allan Nurse of Bensfort School and Joyce Atchison of Buick School. The three judges were Mesdames Harold Howson, Fred Barnard and Merton Thompson. Mrs. Montgomery of Bailieboro School acted as chairman. The pupils of the five schools provided interesting musical items between the speeches.

The excellence of the speeches of all four contestants gave the judges a difficult job but first place was given to Joyce Atchison who spoke on "Laura Secord". Allan Nurse, second, spoke on "First Efforts of Man to Fly"; June Kellar's speech describing her adventures while on her summer vacation, gained third place; Glen Kellar's "My Pet Rabbit" speech was fourth. Mrs. Barnard, in giving the report of the judges, said a mere few points separated the first place winner and the fourth placed speaker. She congratulated the speakers for their efforts and the school board for their interest in promoting public speaking.

79 Candles Grace Cake At Hudson Family Reunion

It was the male members of the Hudson family that got all the attention at a recent family reunion. And small wonder, either, because there were four generations of them gathered under the one roof.

Principals in this quadruple celebration were Andrew Nelson Hudson, 79, a former resident of Peterborough, and now living in Enniskillen, Ontario; his son, Andrew Gordon Hudson, 50, of 107 Morrow St., at whose home the picture was taken; his grandson, Roy Gordon Hudson, 28, of Collingwood; and his great-grandson, nine-months-old David Gordon Hudson.

The reunion was called to celebrate Andrew Hudson's 79th birthday on Oct. 9 and the 28th birthday of Roy which precedes that of his grandfather by three days.

Relating the incident of lighting the candles, Gordon said that it took several of them to do the job, working at top speed.

"Yes, it was quite a job lighting those 79 candles," he laughed. "And the odd one got his fingers nipped from the flames."

But the eldest member of the Hudson clan made short work of this labor of love. He doused the whole 79 of them with two giant breaths resulting in a mushroom of ascending smoke that looked like a miniature Bikini atom blast.

The cake was eagerly devoured by the family and Mr. Hudson, Sr., again took the honors by getting the five-cent-piece in his slice. It was baked by the septuagenarian's daughter-in-law, the former Olga Kushnir of Winnipeg.

The oldest three Hudsons have all lived in Peterborough. Gordon, who now runs a grocery store at Lock and Lansdowne Sts., came to the city with his family when he was 11 and attended King Edward School. He started his business in 1925 when he bought the shop of James Guiry at Park and Elm Sts. Ten years later he bought a store from E. G. Johnston on his present business location and erected a new building there in 1936. Later he sold the Park and Elm St. premises to J. H. Dewart. In 1946 he also sold his present store but re-purchased it a year later.

Andrew came to Peterborough 49 years ago as a CPR employee, later working with the Maple Leaf Milling Co. and after that as a foreman with the city. When his wife died 15 years ago he left Peterborough and returned to farming at Tyrone, Ontario. He was on a mail route for four years and then he retired four years ago. Now he lives at Enniskillen.

Roy, father of nine-month-old David, is a graduate of PCVS who later received a B.A. in Honor Arts from Victoria College and afterwards he served in the navy and with the YMCA Army Service. He married and then attended the Ontario College of Education in Toronto. For a year he taught P.T. and mathematics at the collegiate in Collingwood. He is now an insurance salesman in that centre.

No definite plans have as yet been made for a reunion next year, but the family is wondering what a cake would look like with 80 burning candles on it.

Appointed Director

GUELPH, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Prof. Gerald Nelson Ruhnke, head of the soil department of the Ontario Agricultural College, has been appointed director of research in the Ontario Agricuture Department. It is expected he will remain in his O.A.C. post.

Clarence Day Family Back On Broadway

By PAT USSHER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(CP)—The Clarence Day family is back on the New York stage and that is the happiest news of the week.

This time the play is "Life With Mother," and the principals are Dorothy Stickney and Howard Lindsay, who appeared in "Life With Father" when it began its successful eight-year career in Manhattan.

The tenuous plot concerns the efforts of Vinnie Day belatedly to obtain an engagement ring from the man to whom she has been married for 22 years. This places "Father," an irascible investment broker, in a series of embarrassing and amusing dilemmas.

But it is the characters, not the play, which make the plot. Howard Lindsay fits into the role of the elder Clarence Day as comfortably as into an old shoe. Dorothy Stickney, in private life his wife, is thoroughly at home in the Victorian bustles of Vinnie Day.

Lindsay and Russel Crouse collaborated to write the play. Guthrie McClintic directed the Oscar Serlin presentation.

Massey Plans

The producing plans of Raymond Massey, Toronto-born actor, are at a standstill for the present. He had been thinking of producing a play based on Bruce Hamilton's thriller, "Hanging Judge." The author's brother Patrick had been mentioned as the adaptor, but turned down the job as one to which he is not suited. Another plan, to bring over from London Frank Vosper's play, "People Like Us," was dropped because some of the players could not get away.

Names in Bright Lights

Charles Boyer, the suave motion picture actor, will make his first North American stage appearance in "Red Gloves," by Jean-Paul Sartre. Boris Karloff, long-time screen villain, will portray an Englishman "with murder in his heart" in "The Shop at Sly Corner," a melodrama which is expected in Manhattan late in December. Meg Mundy is to replace Margaret Ashcroft as the wife in "Edward, My Son," from November 22.

Footlight Footnotes

The Theatre Guild Season in New York opens Wednesday night with "Set My People Free." The Dorothy Heward drama is about a negro insurrection in Charleston in 1822. The cast includes Canada Lee and Juano Hernandez.....London theatre-goers will be able to see "Harvey," the Mary Chase comedy about the invisible rabbit, after Christmas. Sid Field will play Elwood P. Dowd, the rabbit's friend, in the Trans-Atlantic production.

Roseneath School Has Gay Masquerade

ROSENEATH, Nov. 1 (ENS)—A masquerade party was held at Atkinson's Schoell, Friday afternoon with mothers of pupils present, providing supper and joining in the exercises. The party opened with a grand march, with musical accompaniment by Mrs. Stewart Atkinson.

Prizes were awarded as follows by judges Mrs. H. Morrow, Mrs. C. McCleary and Mrs. F. Brown: Grades 1 to 4, fancy costume, Gary Frost; Grades 4 to 8—1, Wayne Pollock; 2, Willis McCracken; ladies' fancy costume, Mrs. W. A. Atkinson, an old fashioned mother. Program included readings by Ann Pollock, Rosella Campbell and Willis McCracken; vocal solo, Gordon Atkinson.

There were pumpkin contests, and "musical pumpkins", won by Alex Yule and Mrs. Gerald Pratt respectively. "Tall Tales" contest won by Mrs. Don Yule and an apple ducking contest won by Mrs. Harry Frost.

A vote of thanks was tendered the teacher Miss Aureen Brown, and all responsible for the success of the occasion.

TIRED AFTER THE LONG WATER AND RAIL TRIP from Malta, Mrs. Mary McGaffin, smiles weakly for photographers as she arrived in Montreal recently, along with her nine children. They were among the 210 Maltese citizens who arrived to find new homes in Canada.

Girl Behind Scenes Ran NHL During War

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL, Nov. 1—(CP)—The gal who in unofficial but ultra-efficient fashion practically ran the National Hockey League during the Second World War is out from under hockey's Big Tap.

She's Dorothy Pinard. And maybe fans haven't heard about her previously but there's not a man-Jack in the business who doesn't know her craftiness at hockey management.

Now she's going into Public Relations work with her former hockey assistant, Miss Olga Boyer. They'll work as a team.

Miss Pinard, a plump, brown-haired woman, joined the NHL in 1939 under the late President Frank Calder when there was a lot of office organizational work, and Calder placed a good part of it in her hands.

Dies Suddenly

Calder died suddenly in February, 1943, and Marvyn (Red) Dutton took the job. But Dutton had many business interests in the West, was obliged to be out of town for weeks, sometimes months, and Miss Pinard ran the show.

There were occasional emergency telephone calls to Dutton and regular calls from him, every Tuesday, no matter where he was.

As Miss Pinard smilingly put it today: "We did the president's work during the day, then started our own routine work at 5 p.m."

There was the time, Miss Pinard recalled with a grin, King Clancy typed out nine letters, laboriously using the one-finger hunt-and-peck system, and didn't make a mistake.

When Dutton was in the office he pitched into the routine work, too, said Miss Pinard. One of Dutton's problems was disciplining some of the older players he had met on the ice in his day. One cracked: "When you played, Red, you kept your own private graveyard."

Use Of Power In City Drops Sharply

Peterborough's use of electric power dropped to a new low of 140,000 kilowatt-hours Sunday, 6,000 kwh less than a week ago. The consumption Saturday was 222,000 kwh, and the average for the last seven days was 220,000 kwh.

In so far as the Peterborough figures in the Hydro-Electric reckoning are concerned, implying that they do not tell the entire local story, the week's power peak was 246,000 kwh on Friday.

The average of 220,000 is still substantially lower than the new quota of 229,700 kwh which goes into effect today as a result of Ontario's shortage of electric power for its requirements.

Prepare Bylaw For Extra Hospital Funds

Committee of the whole council will discuss tonight the proposed bylaw to be submitted to the ratepayers for additional funds to complete the new Civic Hospital.

It is understood that the amount required as estimated in the light of increased costs was considered this morning by Mayor Ovens, Aldermen Swanston, Waddell and Raine, City Auditor Edward Humpage and T. T. Rodger, treasurer of the Board of Governors of the Hospital.

An estimate that has been generally mentioned in recent months is around $1,500,000.

There were no serious accidents over the foggy week-end in the city. Several minor crashes were reported.

A collision on Mark St. Saturday morning involved cars driven by Joseph Hill, 487 Chamberlain St., and Louis Lowe, 644 Ontario St., Toronto. The accident happened, Lowe told police, when his steering rod became loose and the car lost control. About $30 to Lowe's car and $10 to Hill's was the extent of the damage. There were no injuries. PC George Shaw investigated.

Damage totalling less than $40 resulted to two cars in a collision at Reid and Charlotte Sts. Saturday morning. Drivers were Mark Crowe, 263 Hunter St. west, and John R. Lewis, RR 4, Peterborough. PC Louis Rodreque investigated.

20 Boys And Girls Mu ss Up Schoolroom Scrub It Under Cool Eyes Of Police Officer

For about 20 boys and girls of Cavan township, the tricks and antics of Hallowe'en vandalism are rather unpleasant to recall at the moment. They spent a good part of the following Sunday doing penance for their sins. They were on their knees, too, scrubbing a floor under the watchful eye of a policeman.

A group of young pranksters broke into the rural school at Mount Pleasant, about 15 miles west of Peterborough. Although there was no serious damage done, they "messed up" the school room badly.

Provincial Constable George Henderson of Peterborough was put on the job. He rounded up bebetween 15 and 20 boys and girls, ranging in age from 10 to 17, all of whom admitted having taken part in the minor vandalism.

Back they went on Sunday to receive their punishment. While Constable Henderson supervised quietly, the despoilers of public property labored to make amends. Mops came out and the floor was scrubbed. Chalk defaced walls were cleaned, the hard way by hand. The same ones who had industriously scribbled all over the blackboards the night before now carefully wiped their efforts off.

Today, with word received that there are several more culprits who haven't yet done their stint, Provincial Constable George Stevens is back in the school area. The remaining offenders will be put to work on a couple of odd jobs which haven't been completely finished by their colleagues.

VOTERS LIST READY

Completion of the voters list by the staff in City Clerk Outram's office signifies readiness for the municipal elections on Monday, Dec. 6. For the second time in a week, residents of the north-end of Aylmer street above Hunter were without power for more than an hour. Two wires came together and short-circuited.

$554,000 PROGRAM

Oshawa's Utilities Commission has listed an expansion program that is estimated to cost $554,600. Enlargement of their pumping plant will involve something like $175,000, and new mains to serve the west side of the city are estimated at $379,100. Gore and Storrie of Toronto are being instructed to prepare plans and call for tenders on eleven items of expenditure in this program.

HYDRO POLE PUSHED AROUND

Another hit-and-run incident reported in the city over the week-end concerned a hydro pole at Antrim and Water Sts. It was struck by some motorist early this morning. The big pole was broken off at the base, and the force of impact forced it 15 feet to the north of its position. It was leaning at a 45-degree angle, supported by telephone wires.

Power Shortage Affects Poultrymen

G. A. Brethen of Norwood has called a meeting of hatcherymen for Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the office of the Department of Agriculture to discuss the effect of electric power shortage on poultry programs through the winter.

Ross L. Dobbin, Utilities manager, has been requested to attend the meeting.

"The farmer, the hatcherymen and the chick raiser are asked to take their cuts in power the same as other users in the community," Mr. Brethen's letter says. "So, we may as well begin to plan now to do something about it."

Fog Saturday Worst Drivers Claim

Each night during the past week drivers have reported night fog conditions getting rapidly worse, with Saturday night the worst, so bad that a Colonial Coach driver pulled up on the shoulder of the highway for an hour at Meyersberg, south of Campbellford. Their coach from Lindsay to Peterborough ran an hour late at midnight and Kawartha coaches were half an hour late inbound from Toronto. Nearly all transports were off the roads on Saturday night since their schedules do not operate them. City buses found driving difficult, especially in the south end, where lack of street lighting reduced visibility to zero in some places.

Conditions improved greatly on Sunday night, probably due to a much warmer blanket of air lying over the country which was well preheated during the day. Transports were rolling again and there was very little change in running times. The highway route from Kinmount to Peterborough was practically fog-free and there were occasional light showers at well-spaced intervals, just enough to make the pavement greasy.

A Smith transport inbound from Montreal was detained six hours at Belleville on Sunday morning by highway authorities; it had nothing to do with fog conditions. A new ruling by the Highways Department, not yet legislated and in effect for the past three weeks, makes it possible for highway police to hold transport loads of a non-perishable nature at certain check points for this period on Sunday. Peterborough Provincial Police headquarters are not able to say why this rule has been put into effect but say that it is nothing to do with fog menace driving. Perishable loads are allowed to highball through all points on Sundays.

Sportsmen who had counted on a week-end shoot on the duck marshes were disappointed on Saturday due to the intense fog. If foggy evenings continue through this week, until Nov. 5, many mallards will escape the fatal blast and many hunters' dinner tables will be bare of roast duck.

500 Men Attend Mission Services

More than 500 men of the Immaculate Conception parish were paid tribute on Sunday evening by Rt. Rev. Monsignor O'Sullivan for their perseverance in completing the week-long mission.

The mission which was conducted by Rev. Frank Lawless, Toronto and Rev. H. Kennedy, Peterborough, both of the Redemptorist Order, started two weeks ago with the women attending the first week, and the men attending during the last seven days.

Monsignor O'Sullivan in expressing his pleasure at the fine attendance said it was gratifying that one of the missionaries, Father Lawless, has returned to conduct a mission in the diocese where he was born. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lawless of Grafton.

He added too that the mission ended on the Feast of Christ the King, and on the eve of All Saints day, and this week marks his 51st anniversary in the priesthood.

Set $1,000 Fire, Burgle Garage

STOUFFVILLE, Nov. 1—(CP).—Thieves, believed to have started a $1,000 fire to divert attention, robbed a garage office of $200 here Saturday night and stole $500 from the wallet of a villager helping the volunteer fire brigade.

The fire started in the barn of Brown and Reeson Transport Co., where eight tons of straw and hay were stored. While the blaze was at its height, thieves entered the garage office and removed $200 from the till. Kenneth Wagg, a jeweller, who was helping fight the fire, had his wallet containing $500 stolen from his coat.

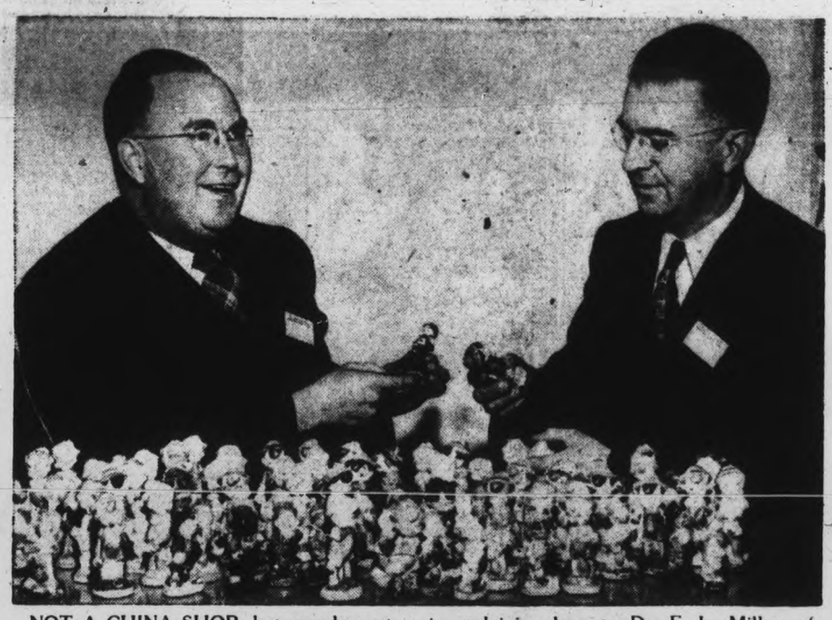
NEWS NOTES

At first it sounded like foul play at the crossroads at midnight.

Detective William Clarke remarked solemnly to Police Chief John Thompson: "Evidence definitely points to murder."



"That's the dark, curly-haired one?" queried the Chief.

"Yes, it was strychnine poisoning all right, Chief. Died almost as soon as he took it."

The two glanced at the ever-snoopy press agent.

Their next remark rather dampened enthusiasm.

Victim of the deadly deed was a dog.—RB.

NOT A CHINA SHOP, but merely part of the collection of 150 dolls which have been painted by juvenile patients of Dr. Ralph Dalgleish, of Sydney, N.S. (left) who works on the theory that children should not be given favors, but should do favors. He is explaining here to Dr. F. L. Miller, of Fredericton, N.B., also a delegate to the Montreal Dental Club's annual fall clinic, how his patients bring him the painted figures, and forget they are to get dental attention.

Street Lights Smashed On Hallowe'en

Property damage caused by Hallowe'en pranksters is said to be much lower than on previous years. So far as is known no major damage was caused anywhere in the Peterborough district.

Police who were patrolling the area in force on Saturday night found it difficult to see potential mischief makers because of the heavy fog. And there were plenty of complaints from angry householders to occupy their attention.

Several windows were broken on Lock St. by young hoodlums, the missle in one case being a pumpkin. On Monaghan Rd. South a number of young saplings were broken off by a group of unidentified boys.

Many streetlights were smashed in the north end of the city. Police said the hardest hit district was Manning-O'Carroll and Benson Ave. triangle. Only one street light was burning on Aylmer St. north of Parkhill Rd. by midnight one resident said. And, he added, that in his opinion, the lights were being popped out with .22 calibre rifles.

A Benson Ave. resident found that his home as well as those of several of his neighbors had been smeared with liberal applications of white paint. In addition a neighbor's deck chair had been taken, streaked with paint, and then abandoned.

And just to give the evening a final touch an outhouse was pushed over at a Young St. address.

In the south end the overly-ebullient youths hit upon a different wrinkle: they erected barricades to slow down motor traffic. Before there were any accidents or traffic tie-ups, a cruiser car arrived in time for police to push aside a line of cement blocks that had been laid across Parnell St.

A heavy 15-foot bench, believed to have been taken from Morrow Park by a gang of boys was laid across Romaine St. This barricade also was removed by police without further incident.

A number of the younger children, but possessed of the same spirit of mischief, entertained themselves by scribbling with soap on plate glass windows. Samples of their art were to be seen on Charlotte and Water Sts., all day Sunday and early Monday morning.

Soap Brigade Busy

Some of the soap brigade broke into the CHEX office, scribbled in soap over the reception desk, then defaced the walls as they ascended the staircase leading to the studio. Before she could proceed with her work one of the station's stenographers had to work for about 15 minutes scraping the wax off the desk with a ruler.

"Oh, how I'd like to get my hands on one of them," she exclaimed as incoming members of the staff chuckled at her labors.

In the west end of the city, residents reported that the odd stop sign had been torn down and several street signs changed around. No confirmation of this was forthcoming from the Board of Works early today but it was admitted that small damage reports might come in later.

East of Downer's Corners, on Highway No. 7, a number of gates had been removed from their hinges and several mail boxes also taken away.

The Peterborough and District Football Association thought that the annual joke played on them was less than funny. Once again the goal posts used for soccer were broken with two important games scheduled for this week.

"We are an organization that never asks or receives any gratuities," said the secretary. "We pay all our obligations as well as all players' doctor bills. Now we get a $30 bill thrown at us with two games to be played—a public school soccer final on Wednesday afternoon and a senior cup final on Saturday.

"How long is this destruction going to last?" he querried.

A word of praise for the behaviour of the Peterborough youngsters came today from Fire Chief George Smith. Whenever Hallowe'en rolls around the Fire Department steels itself for an ordeal of constant calls which generally turn out to be false alarms. But it was not so on Saturday night.

"We didn't have a single false alarm on Hallowe'en," said Chief Smith incredulously. "I thought the kids did pretty well."

Marks Anniversary

On Sunday the church at Curve Lake observed its anniversary. Rev. W. B. Day, pastor of the church, was speaker at the morning service. Special numbers were sung by the church choir, a duet by Mrs. McCue and Mrs. Taylor, solo by Mr. Tobico, trumpet solo by Eric McCue, trio by Mr. Trethewey and Mr. and Mrs. Day, duet by Mr. Trethewey and Mrs. Day, and finally a solo by Mr. Trethewey.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart was the guest speaker at the evening service. The choir from the Sixteenth Church sang three numbers. The services were largely attended throughout the day, with guests from Alderville, Hiawatha, Georgina Island, Rama Road, Jackson's Point, Burleigh Falls Peterborough and surrounding district.

19 Jaycees Take Course In Public Speaking

Interest in public speaking by Jaycees is indicated in the number attending classes at the YMCA each Wednesday night. Under the direction of Chairman Bill Swiss, 19 men have been registered for the course planned to run through until April, 1949.

Speakers at the second meeting were: Bill Swiss, "Outboard Motors," Claude Hewitt, "The Trent Canal," Bruce Payne, "Annuity Plans," and Joe Cooke, "Aspects of Junior Chamber Work."

Conduct of the meetings will see 12 men participating in the session. Introductions, speakers and expressions entail a dozen men. Following each speaker the meeting is thrown open to "critic sessions" and various points of order, conduct and delivery are noted and expressed to the speaker.

Traffic Tied Up Fog To Continue

By The Canadian Press

The dense fog which has hung over Eastern Canada for the last five days continued today to tie up Great Lakes navigation, especially in Georgian Bay and the north shores of Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. Traffic was snarled again Sunday night in Ontario and aircraft grounded.

East of Montreal, however, the weather was clear this morning and visibility good. All shipping on the St. Lawrence River was moving. From Winnipeg to Vancouver skies were clear.

Trans-Canada Airline officials at Toronto's Malton airport said all flights would move on schedule today until early evening when the fog was expected to roll in again.

Weather men said today there is only a 50-50 chance the fog will clear in the next few days. A low pressure area is moving north from Texas and if it entered Ontario the resulting wind and rain might be sufficient to sweep away the fog.

CITY HALL MEETINGS

Peterborough Cancer committee is meeting Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. in the council chamber. Property committee of the council meets at 4.30 p.m. Tuesday; finance committee Thursday at 7.30.

Dives At Car Saves Children

LONDON, Nov. 1 — (CP). — George Henry Dent, 74-year-old retired tailor, died Saturday night four hours after he threw himself in front of a car to protect the lives of children he was guiding across Dundas street to a Hallowe'en party.

The heroic effort of the ex-soldier was credited with saving from possible death two six-year-olds, Paul Wistow and Sandra Elgie, both of Ashland avenue.

Both the children were clinging to Mr. Dent as they crossed the city's main street at east end Oakland avenue. They were knocked down by the impact and suffered minor injuries. Police said the driver of the car, Lavergne Baskey, 22, would be charged with dangerous driving.

Witnesses said when Mr. Dent saw the car he "practically dove in front of the children." The children were knocked to one side by Dent who went down under the car. He was taken to hospital but did not recover consciousness.

B'nai B'rith Club Hears Address On Newspapers

H. L. Garner, General Manager of The Peterborough Examiner, was guest speaker, at a dinner meeting of the Peterborough B'nai-B'rith lodge Sunday evening at the Empress. He gave an interesting and humorous talk on newspaper work, to 40 members and visitors.

Program chairman was Morris Black, and Jacob Low introduced the speaker.

Mr. Garner pointed out several interesting features on newspaper work. He pictured the newspaper as a mirror held over the world, in which one sees things one dislikes and, and things one likes.

"A newspaper is the only university for thousands of people, and as result has a heavy responsibility. Since people all over the world, demand the news, while it is still news and not history, a newspaper cannot avoid making mistakes, due to the speed required in relating the news."

Mr. Garner said that newspapers certainly were not proud of their mistakes, and invariably there was a humorous aspect to it, but also, unfortunately, an embarrassing one.

Newspapers are always trying to their best, and as result the reader should bear with the newspaper, in any of their errors.

Another point made was that "It was poor newspaper business to try to scare people on one page, and sell them on the next page."

Mr. Garner claimed that the newspaper attempts to give the news exactly as the incident occurred and not to color the article. The editorial page was the only one, in which personal feelings were related.

The speaker was thanked by Irv. Moldaver.

Another highlight of the meeting, was a special Armistice Day Service, which is being observed by all B'nai-B'rith lodges, at the last meeting prior to Armistice Day.

Special services were conducted by Rabbi Mayer, new spiritual leader of the Peterborough Jewish Congregation, who recently arrived from England. Rabbi Mayer referred to the dead heroes of the two World Wars, and claimed that these men fought and died, irrespective of race, creed or color.

The House of Israel was the greatest mourner of all, having lost over 6,000,000 people during the past conflict. It was hoped that this would wipe out anti-Semitism forever, but unfortunately, it is still as rampant as ever, and for the most part was even increasing.

Two minutes silence were observed, and the names of two dead Jewish servicemen from the past conflict, Collman Florence, and Sam Rogow were read.

A special prayer for the dead (the ascorah) followed. Rabbi Mayer was thanked by President Hilly Yudin. During these services, there was a color party made up of ex-servicemen carrying the Union Jack and the Mogen David, the flag of the State of Israel.

Out-of-town visitors welcomed by President Hilly Yudin consisted of Lou Bernstein, a past president of B'nai-B'rith in Sherbrooke, who is now residing in Kingston; Marvyn Bernstein of Kingston; Norman Liebman of Iroquois Falls; Meyer Atkins of Toronto; and Bob Dover of Ottawa.

Quebec Liberals Holding Caucus For Reorganizing

By the Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Liberal members of Parliament from Quebec will get together at a caucus here Tuesday to discuss plans for improving party organization in Quebec.

The caucus will be held in Camera under the chairmanship of Solicitor-General Jean, who recently was named Federal Liberal organizer.

Mr. Jean has said that the caucus was called "for general organization" purposes, but he has declined to go into detail.

Election

Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent, who represents Quebec East in the Commons, is expected to attend. Some believe that he may drop some hint as to when the next general election will be held.

The life of Parliament does not expire until 1950, but Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in Regina Thursday that the next Federal election might be "much sooner" than anyone expects.

The Government will be able to test its strength in Quebec within the next few months. Mr. St. Laurent announced Friday that a by-election will be held in the constituency of Laval-Two Mountains in time for that riding to be represented at the next session.

The seat was held until last July by Liguori Lacombe, an Independent who was appointed a Quebec magistrate. The seat is due to disappear at the next Federal election under provisions of the Redistribution Act which changed the boundaries of many existing constituencies.

United Nations

Political sources look for an early return to Canada of Transport Minister Chevrier, now in Paris attending UN meetings.

Mr. Chevrier has been heading the Canadian delegation to the United Nations meetings since mid-September. However, External Affairs Minister Pearson flew to Paris during the week-end to take over that leadership, and it is felt here that Mr. Chevreir might well return.

With Mr. Chevrier's return, Trade Minister Howe will surrender the title of Acting Minister of Transport which he has held since Mr. Chevrier left Ottawa.

HON. L. B. PEARSON, Secretary of State for External Affairs, pauses with Mrs. Pearson briefly at Dorval Airport in Montreal prior to leaving for Europe where he will take over as head of Canada's delegation at the U.N. in Paris. At right is Minister of National Defence Brooke Claxton, who was on hand to bid Mr. Pearson au revoir.

Wonders If Barbara Ann Showman Enough to Star

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 (CP). — It may come as a shock to most Canadians, but there is at least one man who has some doubt whether Barbara Ann Scott will be a sensation in the professional ice-skating business.

Perhaps the gentleman could be accused of bias, yet there is no gainsaying his experience with skaters, both top-notchers and tyros. He is Harry Kuh, advance man for many years with ice-show companies, and his views are duly chronicled by Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson.

On a take-it-or-leave-it basis, Fergie quotes Kuh:

"I don't know whether Barbara Ann has acquired the knack of showmanship. Being a great skater is not quite enough. Barbara Ann is a greater skater to-day, in a mechanical sense, than Sonja Henie ever was. But will she have the flair for showmanship that was natural to Sonja originally and which was developed to a high pitch before she went into the game professionally? I doubt it."

Story-telling Time

This is about two Irishmen, mercifully not named Pat and Mike. One is the ice boss at Verdun (Que.) Auditorium, and you'll pardon him if he would just as soon forget the whole thing.

The other is a quiet, almost shy fellow, who showed up at the auditorium the other day in sport jacket and slacks and carrying a pair of hockey tubes. He politely asked if he could go for a short skate.

Take it away, Al (Montreal Herald) Parsley. It's your nifty:

"Not a chance," growled the ice-man. "I gotta get ready for them fancy skaters, and you'd only be in the way."

"Can't I go out for just 15 minutes? I just want to start getting into condition."

"Are you a hockey player, then? And what team do you play with?"

"New York Rangers," was the quiet reply.

The ice-man stared.

"Faith and it's Buddy O'Connor. I thought there was something Irish in that mug. Get on with you. Of course you can skate here any time you like."

Save Baby's Life

LONDON, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Two resourceful 'teen-age students are credited by Mrs. Maxwell Hudson with saving the life of her two-year-old son, Johnny, Friday. The boy, stricken with tonsilitis, suddenly stopped breathing. One of the boys breathed into Johnny's mouth until he revived. The pair then applied artificial respiration.

King Takes Salute

LONDON, Nov. 1 — (CP). — In the biggest boost for Britain's territorial army since the national recruiting campaign opened, the King Sunday took the salute from 8,000 officers and men and 800 women of the territorials in Hyde Park. Ninety thousand lined the parade route to watch the smartly-uniformed recruits swing past the royal stand.

20 Killed In Traffic Accidents 9 Others Die In Shooting, Mishaps

By The Canadian Press

In an aftermath of a mock duel with rifles between two youths, 15-year-old Ronald Delaney was killed Sunday five miles north of St. Catharines. Bernard Dumoulin, 17, told police Delaney was shot through the head when Dumoulin's rifle discharged accidentally after the youths staged their duel in a quarry.

The gunshot death of young Delaney was one of 29 fatalities reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end. A Canadian Press compilation today showed 20 persons killed in traffic accidents, two in mishaps at work, two by shooting, two in falls. One man was killed by a train, another died in a well—either from drowning or asphyxiation—and a baby died from neglect at birth at Sydney, N.S.

Heaviest toll in a single accident came when a bus crashed into gasoline pumps at Lambton, Que., and four persons lost their lives. Killed were the driver, G. Lavergne, 22, Sherbrooke, Que., and three passengers, H. Baron, 25, Megantic, Que.; Raymond Toulouse, 24, Beauceville, Que.; and Renaud Brennier, 23, St. Sebastien, Que. Thirteen other persons were injured.

Tragic Death

One of the most tragic deaths was that of George Henry Dent, 74-year-old retired tailor, who threw himself in front of an automobile in London, Ont., Saturday night to protect the lives of children he was guiding across the street to a Hallowe'en party. Dent was credited with saving two six-year-olds, Paul (Bud) Wistow and Sandra Elgie.

A traffic accident near Pope's Harbor, N.S., took the lives of Earl Connor, 18, of Spry Bay and Dougald J. Conley of Truro, N.S.

Arnold Gill, 20, was fatally shot Saturday night at Tory Hill, 60 miles north of Peterborough. Police held Herman Woodcock, 33, in connection with the youth's death.

A few hours after the walked into the path of a moving train in dense fog, John Harris, 29, died at Stratford.

Bryson Broster, 28, of Hockley, was found dead in a 60-foot well in which he was digging Saturday. It was not known whether he was drowned or was asphyxiated by fumes.

Two Toronto residents died of falls. They were Guy Macrae, 55, and Mrs. Annie Goodby, 93.

Henry Salapatek, 44, was killed in Toroito beneath a truck after a jack slipped. A flying log took the life of Mac Trumbull, 28, while he was operating a power saw near Eagle Lake, Ont.

Other Victims

Quebec victims of separate traffic accidents were: Roger Provost, 20, Montreal; Muriel Rogerson, 25, Verdun; Henry Peters, 79, Montreal; Yvon Beauchamp, Rosemere, and Frances Paige, 25, Montreal.

Robert Murray, 16, died in hospital at Moncton, N.B., of injuries suffered when his motorcycle collided with a truck.

Others killed in traffic mishaps: Albert McQuade, 49, Kincardine; Adelaide Tosh, 27, Almonte; Nelson Forest, 72, St. Williams; Francis Defrain, 68, Windsor; Albert Alton, 28, Milverton; Alphonse O'Connor, 51, Peterborough; and Mrs. Sarah O'Neil, 80, Thamesville.

Publisher Has Offer To Sell Two Papers

SHERBROOKE, Que., Nov. 1— (CP)—Sen. Jacob Nicol, publisher of the Quebec newspapers L'Evenement-Journal and Le Soleil, disclosed Sunday night that he has had an offer to sell his interest in the two dailies.

The publisher said that if the deal goes through it will involve a sum of about $2,000,000. Sen. Nicol would receive a certain amount of cash, the balance payable a year after his death.

The deal would be made on condition that Sen. Nicol would retain control of both French-language papers as long as he lives, or as long as he is well enough to look after them.

He did not identify the prospective buyer or buyers.

There is no question of selling the other two papers, the Three Rivers Le Vouvelliste and Sherbrooke La Tribune, said Sen. Nicol.

Dr. Clare Horwood Geologist Dies

VANCOUVER, Nov. 1 (CP)— Dr. H. Clare Horwood, 42, of Toronto died Saturday in hospital here.

A well-known geologist, Dr. Horwood was attached to the Ontario Department of Mines, and earlier had served with the Dominion Department of Mines.

He became ill while on a visit to Victoria, where Mrs. Horwood's parents live. Later, he was brought to hospital here.

Dr. Horwood is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter; his stepfather, Dr. E. L. Bruce of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., and a sister, Mrs. H. T. Davis of Kingston.

"Empire Watchdog"

LONDON, Nov. 1 — (CP). — The Daily Express in a Southampton dispatch today quotes Prime Minister Mackenzie King as saying before he sailed for Canada that he now has a new title and a new job—"watchdog of the empire." "That's just what I am," the Express quotes the Prime Minister as saying when he boarded the Queen Elizabeth. "That's what I shall always be."

Pope Makes Plea

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 1 — (Reuters). — Pope Pius Sunday called for a spirit of Christian charity which would break down racial differences, draw classes together, triumph over conflicting interests and thus overcome social crisis. He spoke in a broadcast over the Vatican radio on the occasion of the close of the fifth national Brazilian Eucharistic Congress at Porto Alegre.

He was a paratrooper during the war.

Blames Comics For Shooting

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 1. — (CP).—Dr. J. L. Poirier, St. Catharines coroner, Saturday blamed the influence of lurid comic books for the accidental shooting of 15-year-old Ronald Delaney.

Each armed with a .22-calibre rifle, Delaney and 17-year-old Bernard Doumoulin, crouched behind rocks and fired at each other. Delaney died half an hour after a bullet hit him in the head.

They started shooting at each other after they tired of shooting at empty bottles.

Dr. Poirier certified the death as accidental.

Dumoulin, frightened and dazed, told police they couldn't find anything more to shoot at so "Ronald ducked behind a rock just playing, and I did, too.

'We sighted our rifles at each other, just as if we were cowboys out on a posse, but we only fired over each other's head."

He said his finger was on the trigger of the gun when he tripped and the rifle discharged.

Beverly Pomeroy Wins Award For Best Speech

BETHANY, Nov. 1.—(ENS).—Beverly Pomeroy, grade 8 pupil, won first prize in the public speaking contest of the Bethany Continuation School held in the town hall Friday evening. Her topic was "An Imaginary Trip Across Canada." She will compete in the county finals at Port Hope Nov. 5. Second prize went to Marie Carr, who spoke on "The Village in Which I Live," and third prize went to Joan Bristow with her "Story of Queen Elizabeth." The prizes of $3, $2 and $1 were donated by the School Board and presented by Trustee Dr. G M. Longfield. The judges were Mrs. Carlton Patton, Mrs. Mansell Wright and Mrs. G. M. Longfield. In giving the judges' decision, Mrs. Patton spoke briefly on the value of public speaking contests for school pupils, and as one of the judges in last year's competition commended contestants for the marked improvement in their delivery.

Mr. Lawrence Millson, principal, addressed the audience, stressing the value of public speaking as part of the school curriculum, also thanking the members of the School Board for their interest and donation of prizes.

A social evening followed with a masquerade dance. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Page and Mrs. H. Bothwell supplied the music, and the new school record player was also used. Unbroken Line Is Essential Designer Says

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—(CP). —A long, unbroken line somewhere in a dress—either from shouider to hip or from waist to hem—is essential in a well-planned costume, Indiana designer Norman Norell says.

He told an interviewer that no costume can be attractive unless it emphasizes either the contour of the torso or the grace of a woman's walk. But no dress should be tight all over or loose all over.

An uncluttered neckline is important. A small, round collar with a pearl choker is best.

100 Enjoy Dance In Zion Hall

Watchtower 515 Loyal True Blue Association held a Hallowe'en dance at Zion Hall Friday evening, attended by about 100 members and friends. Those in costume were judged by Mrs. E. Reid of Peterborough, Mr. Norman White of Millbrook and Mr. Roy Swan of Zion. Prize for the best dressed couple went to Mrs. V. Linsey and Mr. D. Linsey, and consolation prizes for comic costumes were given Doreen Linsey and Frances Crowley.

Door prizes were won by Miss Betty Henderson and Douglas Linsey. Spot dance winners were Miss Jean Harrison and W. Porter. Mr. T. Thomas was winner of the draw on a basket of groceries.

Much enjoyed was a step-dancing contest in which Frances Crowley and Bert Davis displayed their skill to the music of "St. Ann's Reel." Music for dancing was supplied by Miss Dolores McCauley and Mr. and Mrs. R. Bannister, with R. Linsey assisting for old-time dances.

Mrs. V. Teneycke was in charge of arrangements, assisted by a committee of Miss F. White, Miss V. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hedges, Mrs. G. Martin, Messrs. W. Cooper, V. Sedgwick, H. Cumming and R. Williams.

Hartin-Deshane

HAVELOCK, Nov. 1.—A quiet wedding was solemnized recently at the parsonage of Havelock United church when the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh united in marriage Olive Mary Deshane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deshane and Gordon James Hartin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartin, all of Belmont township.

The bride wore a teal blue suit with brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson were the attendants, Mrs. Anderson wearing navy pin stripe suit with black accessories.

Later the couple left on motor trip to Toronto and points west. They will reside in Belmont township.

PINK SATIN BALL GOWN—Take your fund for the knockout evening dress of your season to a department store . . . and be amazed at what manufacturer designers do in the way of custom made looking gowns. The aristocratic mat e pink satin ball gown shown here is not made to individual order, but it looks as if it were, and it can (and will) compete with any of them. The slipper satin is moulded to the figure to waltz out into a wide skirt with a crisp, dipped silhouette; the off-shoulder neckline is swathed romantically with seal brown tulle, caught with matching velvet bowknots. Not a cheap dress, of course, but extravagant either and well within best-dress ideas.

Candlelight Wedding Unites Jeanne McCulloch, F. J. Row

With tall burning candles and baskets of yellow 'mums forming a lovely setting for the ceremony Miss Barbara Jeanne McCulloch became the bride of Mr. Fredrick John Row in George St. United Church, Saturday evening. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCulloch of Peterborough and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Row of Brockville.

Their vows were pledges before the Rev. Dr. James Semple Traditional wedding music was played by Mr. Charles Allen. Before the service Miss Nancy Leith sang the "Lord's Prayer" and at the signing of the register, "Because."

Blush satin fashioned the bridal gown with circular train. It was styled with Mandarin neckline on the fitted bodice, button to the waist in front, Dolman sleeves coming to points over her hands and flared fullness in the skirt. Her veil was of blush net, falling to full length from a braided coronet of satin, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias, roses and bouvardia. Mr. McCulloch gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Jacqueline Reed of Montreal as maid-of-honor was in gold moire taffeta with square neckline and cape sleeves. She wore a half-hat of matching material, caught with rosebuds at one side and carried a muff of American Beauty roses. Miss Nancy Row of Brockville as bridesmaid was in American Beauty moire taffeta, styled similarly with hat to match, and carrying a muff of cream roses. Miss Jennifer Leith of Lindsay, second bridesmaid, wore ice blue taffeta with self ruffles at neckline and hem and puffed sleeves. She wore a large poke bonnet of the same material and her poke bonnet was of yellow 'mums.

The groomsman was Mr. William Row of Brockville. Ushers were John McCulloch, Harold Lorimer, Donald Davis and John Griffin, all of Peterborough.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club where Mrs. McCulloch, the bride's mother, received. She wore a floor-length gown of chartreuse with black hat and accessories and her corsage was of Talisman roses. Mrs. Row, mother of the groom, also received and was in a floor length gown of mulberry crepe, black accessories and wore a corsage of roses.

QUESTION: Could you please send me a recipe for a Christmas fruit cake that will last and stay moist several weeks. We are a small family and I usually have several small parties in the three or four weeks after Christmas as I find our friends enjoy these little affairs more after the holiday rush is over. I would also appreciate any other holiday cake and cookie suggestions.

Mrs. J. R. M.

ANSWER:

Dundee Fruit Cake

(I am giving you this cake because it is moist and keeps well.)

Seven-eighths cup butter or best quality shortening, 2-3 cup sugar, 4 eggs, unbeaten, ½ cup blanched almonds, 2¾ cups flour sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup seedlesss raisins (steamed to plump them), 1 cup seeded raisins cut in pieces or same quality of dates, 1-3 cup orange or lemon or citron peel, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 1 teaspoon each orange and vanilla flavouring. Cream the butter very well and gradually cream in the shortening. Add 1 egg and beat 5 minutes, and add remaining eggs one a a time, beating 5 minutes between each addition. Blanch and chop almonds and mix with flour and baking powder and add. Add raisins and peel and orange juice and flavourings. Stir well. Bake in loaf pans heavily lined with greased brown paper at 275 deg. Fahr. (very slow oven) until cakes shrink a little from sides of pans. It is traditional to place halved candied cherries or almonds or sliced citron on top of this cake before baking. Store in tightly covered stone crock, well-wrapped in waxed paper and tea towel.

Christmas Fruit Cookies

(These cookies keep very well.)

Cream together 2 cups sugar, 11-3 cups butter (or half butter and half good quality shortening), 3 eggs; add 1 cup seeded cut raisins, 2 cups seedless raisins or 1 cup currants and seedless raisins or dates, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, soda and baking powder (some of these spices,—especially the cloves, may be reduced by one-half or more). Add just enough flour to handle for rolling out or dropping from teaspoon. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. If kept well-covered these will keep for weeks.

Please watch this column for further Christmas baking recipes for the next 5 or 6 weeks.

REPORT TO MOTHERS

Why 88% of Mothers prefer Heinz Baby Foods

37% choose them for QUALITY
34% for NOURISHMENT
29% for FLAVOUR
100%

Over three hundred mothers, questioned in a recent survey, voted almost 9 to 1 in favour of Heinz Baby Foods. They gave their reasons. Many chose Heinz because of a doctor's recommendation . . . sure proof of safeguarded quality. Others chose Heinz Baby Foods for their newest babies because their older children had thrived on them. They knew from experience how nourishing these foods are. Still others like the flavour. They had taste-tested Heinz Baby Foods themselves.

But whatever the reason, mothers are wise in their preference. Heinz Baby Foods are all that baby foods should be. All 25 varieties of Heinz Baby Foods—soups, meat products, vegetables, puddings and desserts—are carefully selected from the choicest, freshest foods. Then they are scientifically cooked to retain minerals and vitamins in high degree. When you look for baby foods, look for the Heinz label.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Ready-made Family No Help Second Marriage Success

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago my wife died and left me with three children to rear. Thinking to make a home for them, I married a widow with one child. He is a boy of 14, is badly spoiled and treats my children and me with utter contempt. His mother is all for her boy and upholds him in everything he does. She is constantly picking on my children and it tears my heart to shreds.

Dorothy Dix

What can I do except to reflect on what a fool I have been?

UNHAPPY MAN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Wise old Doctor Johnson said that a second marriage was the final triumph of hope over experience, and this goes double for widows and widowers with children. Every one of them has known scores of men and women with bunches of little olive branches who remarried after their first husband or wife died, and they know the trouble and suffering that virtually every one of these marriages brought on the men and women themselves and their unfortunate children. Yet these AWFUL WARNINGS do not keep a single one of them from risking their own and their children's well being by marrying again.

Risky Business

Now marriage is a risky business no matter when, how and whom you marry. But when you throw into it a ready-made family, you make it such a risky their proposition that nothing but a special act of Providence can save it from disaster.

Of course, now and then a miracle is wrought and a widow gets a second husband who is wise and kind and just to her children; and a widower may be lucky enough to find a woman who has a big enough mother-heart to take in his children and treat them as if they were her own. But this rarely happens. And it virtually never happens when the widow has children of her own. It takes a superwoman to deal fairly between her children and her husband's children.

And there is no misery on earth worse than that of the woman and man who stand by helplessly and see their children mistreated and neglected, and who are even afraid to show them any effection themselves, and there is no choice harder than that of the man and woman who must choose between their mates and their children.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband insists on buying and arranging everything in our home to suit his taste, regardless of whether I like it or not. I think he should recognize that it is the wife's privilege to express her own individuality in the home. What do you think about it?

A WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think the best thing for you to do is to talk the matter over with your husband and go 50-50 in selecting the furnishings of your home.

Most women feel that they have a right to monopolize the home and make it the expression of their sole taste, but this isn't fair. The husband should at least have a few rooms that he can fix up according to his notions of comfort.

But, for goodness sake, quit quarreling over the matter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married to a man for four years and cannot help but feel that I am greatly superior to him in every way. He is good, kind, unselfish and honest; but he comes from the other side of the tracks and I have come to the point where I can just tolerate him. He seems to sense my feelings toward him and has become restless and dissatisfied. Is there any help for us?

E. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: What made you marry him if you felt that he was not in your class? Are you perfectly sure that you are so superior to him? A lot of people who haven't any blue blood have mighty good, rich, red blood and have amounted to something in the world.

My advice to you is to climb down off your high horse. Quit being superior and be a good enough sport to make the best of your marriage.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, November 2.

The auguries are most propitious for a pleasant and prosperous state of affairs, in business, social and romantic or domestic affiliations. These should be pursued with confidence in the element of personality and charm, which may prove productive when other endeavors might be negative. In financial matters, property, possessions, or employment, advantage may be found through the friendly, warm, good natured and harmonious approach rather than strictly a business one. Romance is emphasized under such benign rule.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may anticipate a particularly active and pleasant year, especially in the realm of social, domestic and professional affairs. It may be a time for the pursuit of pleasure and culture, and, as well, the friendly and gracious approach may advance business, financial and property plans. With a discreet manipulation of personality, charm, magnetism, there should be more pleasant and prosperous relations than in purely commercial or sordid tactics. Seek employment with assurance.

A child born on this day should be blessed with a warm and attractive personality, in which its cherished hopes and wishes may materialize by its charm, culture and magnetism.

British Parents To Visit Canada

LONDON, Nov. 1 — (CJ). — Thoughts of a "some day" trip to Canada or the United States may soon become realities for thousands of British "moms" and "dads."

The parents of girls who married Canadian and American servicemen during the war, some want to go just for a visit, some perhaps to stay. And with an effort now becoming national through the United States and Canadian War Brides Parents' Association, that "some day" now looks considerably closer.

The idea was born two years ago at Oxford and spread through England and Wales. The organization now embraces more than 4,000 members, not including the clubs in Scotland yet to be affiliated to the national body.

A similar organization has been established in Holland where hundreds of Canadians married Dutch girls during the war. The Dutch association hopes to organize a Canadian agency to enable Dutch wives in Canada to save for trips to Holland.

In Britain branches of the US-CBPA — ther are looking for a shorter name — are autonomous and control their own funds. Many a pound of rationed tea and butter and jars of jam from the meagre larder of members go toward success of social functions through which funds are being built up. Most clubs also have plans through which members can save individually toward a trip.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

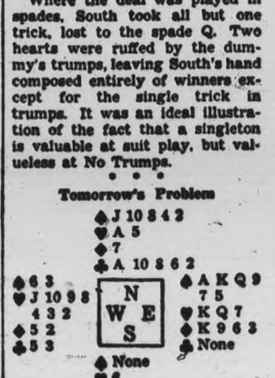
CHIEFLY A SUIT ASSET

HAVING a singleton in your hand, opposite a partner who has bid both No Trumps and a major suit which you support adequately, you may think you have a difficult problem, but you have not. In practically all such cases, you should put the game contract into the major suit. If you think that is because your singleton is a liability at No Trumps, you are wrong. The chief reason is that the singleton is an asset in suit play, affording your partner a chance to pick up by ruffing one or more tricks which he could not get otherwise.

(Dealer: East. North - South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	3 NT

North was plenty sorry about his last bid, after he saw what happened to that contract. West led the heart K, and South could score only eight tricks before losing the lead, since the diamonds broke badly, and the defenders then set him with hearts.



"I should have put the game into spades," he confessed after the debacle, "since my singleton was a danger sign against a No Trump contract. I tried No Trumps because I felt that we might get a better match point score in the tournament if you could score the same number of tricks at either contract."

South pointed out then that the singleton did not cause the trouble at all, that the damage was due to the fact that South had only one stopper in hearts and the diamonds wouldn't break 3-2. The reason for preference of the suit contract was that the singleton would then be an asset, a very valuable asset.

Where the deal was played in spades, South took all but one trick, lost to the spade Q. Two hearts were ruffed by the dummy's trumps, leaving South's hand composed entirely of winners except for the single trick in trumps. It was an ideal illustration of the fact that a singleton is valuable at suit play, but valueless at No Trumps.

How should the bidding of this deal go after East extends himself to bid 2-Spades?

Base Metals Roll Ahead On Market

TORONTO, Nov. 1 — (CP) — Base metals and western oils rolled ahead in heavy trading here today. Industrials also strengthened on fractional advances. Golds were steady in early trading but tended to weaken as the rest of the list climbed upwards.

Several base metals climbed to new highs as the group resumed its upward trend after a week's consolidation. Hudson Bay, Consolidate Smelters, Noranda and International Nickel — the big four of the base metals industry —rolled ahead on gains of almost two points to lead the rise. Reeves MacDonald, Eureka, Pend Oreille and Quemont also gained.

Refining oils were ahead in the industrial groupings and steels and utilities improved on fractional gains. Papers were also better while food and agriculture groupings weakened.

Golds were quiet with seniors on an upward trend and a few speculative juniors trading briskly. Losses edged out gains in the juniors.

Approve Arms Order

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP). —The United States gave approval to $5,000,000 of arms purchases by China during the weekend as the Communists won control of Manchuria. Shipment of American-made ammunition for small arms and military equipment of many kinds has been speeded up by the collapse of Nationalist forces in Manchuria. But the effort to bolster Chiang Kai-Shek's forces is reported to have been complicated by loss of large quantities of American munitions in the fighting around Mukden.

Canada Helps Dutch Children

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP) — Fifteen hundred cases of school supplies, bought with the dimes and nickels of Canadian school children, will help children from the Netherlands go to school this year.

At a ceremony in the Hague, the supplies were presented recently to th Minister of Education for the Netherlands, Prof. F. J. Th. Rutten, by Pierre Dupuy, Canadian Ambassador.

They werepart of 20,000 cases given to school children in 10 countries under a project arranged by the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through the United Nations tEducation, Social and Cultural organization.

The gift to the Netherlands represented the first shipment to be handed ovr. The nine other countries to benefit are Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Germany, Italy, Greece, Malta, Ethiopia, Austria.

Each box contains notebooks, writing paper, rulers, pencils, chalk, crayons, pens, ink, and other articles as well as two anthologies of Canadian literature.

Ask Careful DP Screening

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—(CP).—A general tightening of regulations governing screening of immigrants coming to Canada was asked of the Federal Government in a resolution passed during the week-end at the annual convention of the Quebec command of the Canadian Corps Association.

The resolution asked federal authorities to remedy "the apparent laxity" in screening. At the meeting it was alleged former German storm troopers had entered Canada in the guise of displaced persons.

Harry Jackson, first vice-president, of Noranda, Que., charged that some of the displaced persons who entered Canada were former storm troopers who at one time were brought to Canada as prisoner of war but had been returned to Germany.

Mrs. Ann Woodcock Buried Saturday

MARMORA, Nov. 1 (ENS). — Funeral of Mrs. Ann Woodcock was held Saturday, leaving the residence of her daughter, Mrs. George Kerr, for St. Paul's Anglican Church, where Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie officiated.

By special request, L. R. Rundle and Mrs. Ida Nichol sang the duet, "That Beautiful Land." Burial was in Marmora Protestant Bemetery.

Bearers were Lorne Ash, George Brown, Fred Spry, Bruce Robson, Fred Johnston and Dr. R. E. Lumsden.

Mrs. Woodcock, who had reached an advanced age, died Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Simon Vilneff in Marmora township. She was of UEL stock on the paternal side of her family, her father being Dorland Wright, whose family moved from Adolphustown to Rawdon township, where Mrs. Woodcock was born. Her mother, whose maiden name was Betsy Danford, came of an old Madoc family.

She survived four husbands, the last of whom, namely, Philip Woodcock, died about two years ago. Until a few years ago, she had enjoyed good health and lived an industrious life.

The following children survive her: William Smith, Mrs. Ezra Arnold (Margaret), Mrs. George Kerr (Sadie), all of Marmora; two sons, Samuel and Thomas Smith, wer killed in action in the First World War within 11 months of each other.

She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. William Potts, Rawdon township, and Mrs. George Sellych, Hamilton, and one brother, Isaac Wright, Marmora village.

Promise Relentless Corruption Inquiry

LONDON, Nov. 1.—(AP).—Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross promised today to investigate "quite relentlessly and quite ruthlessly" into bribery and corruption charges involving high officials of the government. Sir Hartley was ordered to present evidence to a special tribunal set up by Parliament. The three-man tribunal, headed by Justice Sir George Justin Lynskey, convened today and announced it would begin hearing witnesses Nov. 15.

Holds Highway Transportation Not Competitor Of Railways

COBOURG, Nov. 1—(ENS)— The concept that highway transportation is a natural competitor of the railway is unsound. It is properly in a field by itself and is a natural supplement to the railway, G. R. Johnston, assistant transport economist of the CNR, told the weekly luncheon here of the Rotary Club

"The point has been reached where rail transportation alone cannot handle efficiently the total movement of a nation's people and their products. Over-the-road haulers, because of undeniably inherent advantages in low terminal costs, have successfully demonstrated that in performing certain services and carrying certain commodities, they can offer something which rail transportation cannot," he said.

Poor Substitute

"Beyond a certain field, highway transport is a poor substitute for the railway. Where one service begins and where the other ends, is the cause of confusion as to the relative value of each function, the speaker said. Due to a set of artificial conditions, the truck has been able to extend beyond its natural field and become an actual competitor to the railway. Highway expenditures have increased greatly with the increase in the use of motor vehicles. Back in 1919, the outlay on highways in Canada amounted to 20 millions and by 1938 the annual expenditure was 104 millions. To provide the existing highways of Canada an investment of over one and half billions was necessary of which 50% was raised by bonds. By assuming no further increase in the bonded debt, the sinking fund payment of four millions is so inadequate that the debt increases each year in perpetuity. In addition to the capital outlay it is necessary to provide for annual maintenance expenditures and administration. These annual costs for the year 1945 are 120 millions while during the same year collections for license fees and gasoline taxes amounted to only $91,000,000 and this was during a year when costs were much lower than now. It is apparent, there" said the speaker, "the users of the highways are not fully paying for them."

"Insofar as the railways are taxed to help pay for highway facilities, it is of prime interest to us if the vehicles which compete with us are not paying their share for the use of the highways," Mr. Johnston declared.

Life Depends On aRilways

"Canada has a greater interes in the provision of rail transportation than any other country in the world, due to the fact that its economic life depnds to a greater extent on the cheap movement of large quantities of basic commodity goods moving great distances. The sale of these goods in open competition is made possible to a large degree by the fact that Canada, with the exception of Japan, has the cheapest rail transport in the world. The railways here have a sliding rate scale based on the principle of charging what each traffic can absorb and still move unhampered to its markets, rather than the actual cost of moving each commodity. Some commodities moving at well below the average costs are coal, lumber, pulpwood, newsprint and wheat. This makes it possible for wheat to compete in world markets."

A tonnage train running from Toronto to Montreal, he continued, is made up of 80 cars, carrying around 2,700 tons of freight and to move this train the railways use a crew of five men, the locomotive will burn $2.50 worth of coal in a mile and the length of the train will be two-thirds of a mile. To move this amount of tonnage would take 540 trucks, 540 drivers, gas would cost $17.00 a mile for these trucks and the truck caravan would be 11 miles in length.

The railway is a long distance hauler while the truck is for use on short hauls. Any economic adjustment to deal with the problem of competition, should be founded on that realization, Mr Johnston said.

PC's Choose New Leader At Convention In April

TORONTO, Nov. 1—(CP).—A new leader will be chosen by the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association at a convention next April 25-27. Meantime Premier Thomas L. Kennedy will lead the Government through the next session of the Legislature, expected to start in February, Mr. Kennedy, 70, who stepped up from Agriculture Minister when George Drew resigned to become national leader of the party, said upon taking office that he would not be a candidate at the next provincial convention.

A meeting of 496 delegate members of the provincial association set the April convention date Saturday in deliberations behind closed doors. The gathering voted down an amendment to hold the leadership convention Dec. 6-8, a proposal which received a scant sprinkling of support.

Maj. John Weir Foote, the wartime padre who won the Victoria Cross at Dieppe and who represents Durham in the Ontario Legislature, moved the resolution for the spring convention. He and his seconder, F. G. Gardiner of Toronto, argued that an early convention would be an affront to Mr. Kennedy while an intervening session would test the qualities of leadership aspirants.

Maj. Foote's motion was supported from the floor by Thomas Pryde, MPP for Huron North; John Root, Wellington North delegate; A. Bishop, Algoma-Manitoulin; Leonard Wookey, Callander; and Mrs. J. M. Hughton, Hamilton.

Park Jamieson of Sarnia and Donald MacLaren of Simcoe Centre were the only delegates to speak in favor of the December date.

Reinstate Union

OTTAWA, Nov. 1. — (CP). — The Canadian Congress of Labor today announced reinstatement of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, suspended from its membership three months ago, to good standing. In a joint statement, A. R. Mosher, president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the CCL, said President John Clark of the IUMMSW, had published a full apology and the CCL executive has voted to reinstate the union in its ranks.

54 Cars Arrive With Vegetables

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 —(CP)— Fifty-four freight cars loaded with fresh fruits and vegetables fro mthe United States arrived in Montreal over night, marking the first day of the rdelaxation of the ban against importation of U.S. produce. Lettuce, grapes and tomatoes predominated at prices far below last year's figures.

The ban was imposed last February by Hon. Douglas Abbott in an effort to conserve dollars. Exceptions to the ban were limited quantities of citrus fruits.

A few minutes after trading started at Montreal terminal today, the price of wholesale lettuce dropped from $2.75 to $2.50 a crate. Drops were also noted in other produces.

Here are the retail prices which now are tagged on various items: Iceberg lettuce, 12 to 15 cents a head; tomatoes, 19 to 23 cents a pound; spinach, 12 to 15 cents a pound and grapes, 12½ to 17 cents a pound.

12 Killed In Crash

MULDROW, Okla., Nov. 1 (AP). — A United States Army plane crashed near here today and 12 bodies were reported recovered from the wreckage. Muldrow is in East Oklahoma, about 12 miles west of Fort Smith, Ark. A reporter for the Fort Smith Times Record, who went to the scene, said the plane fell about a quarter of a mile north of Muldrow. He said 12 unidentified bodies had been removed and that it had not been determined whether there were other occupants of the craft.

Britain Extends Gift Parcel Plan

LONDON, Nov. 1 (Reuters)—Britons may receive gift parcels of British "for-export-only" clothing and other goods paid for in dollars by relatives and friends in Canada and the United States, the Board of Trade has announced.

Under the scheme, an extension of a food gifts system already in effect, firms in Canada and the United States will take orders from the donors for a list of British export goods. The orders will be filled by firms on this side of the Atlantic from export stocks which Britons see in display windows but cannot buy with sterling.

No limit of value is set on the gifts, but the parcels may not weigh more than 22 pounds. Thus the principal commodities in the scheme will probably be clothing, footwear and household goods such as table linen and draperies, a Board of Trade spokesman said. Gifts of expensive jewelry are theoretically possible under the scheme, if included in export stocks here.

Certain commodities are not included in the scheme. They include cigarets and tobacco and British exports in great demand abroad such as pottery and glassware.

OVERCOME BY SMOKE, Lt. Harry Walker (left) is helped from the Sunday School hall of Centenary United Church, Hamilton during noon-hour blaze Saturday by Police Inspector Fred Eddenden and Herbert Brown of St. John Armbulance. He was later taken to hospital. Fireman Phil Sweeney (right), partly overcome, takes a rest in the fresh air before returning to the hall.

Nobody Becomes Excited At CBC Governors' Hearing

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Nov. 1—(CP)—The calm, youthful man in the neat brown suit knocks out his pipe, charge sit slowly, applies a match and smiles pleasantly to the man talking.

The man next to him, equally at ease, interrupts the speaker quietly to ask a question. Tones are pleasant and unruffled.

This is a close-up of the hearings of the CBC Board of Governors, the government body charged with supervising the operation of radio broadcasting throughout Canada.

The man in the brown suit is the chairman, A. D. Dunton, at 36 probably one of the youngest men to head a major government agency. He takes a philosophical view of the job. It brings him, he says, "Lots of grief, lots of pleasure and lots of problems."

Grief

But "Dave" Dunton, as his friends know him, has also had lots of practice dealing with grief and problems. Before becoming chairman in the Fall of 1945, he was editor of a newspaper, The Montreal Standard, and general manager of the Wartime Information Board.

With him at the long table in the hearing-room sit the other members of the board, representative of the various facets of Canadian life.

They include Rene Morin of Montreal, General Trust Company; Howard Chase, Montreal, President of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers; Dean Adrien Pouliot, Quebec, head of the Faculty of Science at Laval University; Frederick Crawford, member of the Toronto Stock Exchange; Dr. G. D. Steel, Charlottetown; Mrs. Mary Sutherland, Parkesville, B.C., and John Bowlen, a rancher from Calgary.

Last week they met in Ottawa to consider applications for television stations.

Space was at a premium. The room, not too large to begin with, was crowded with radio men, motion picture distributors and members of the public who came to hear how and when Canada was to get the new visual radio.

But, despite the cramped quarters, the hearings were harmonious and the board compelted its work without flare or fluster.

HAMILTON, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Damage estimated between $30,000 and $35,000 was caused by fire in Centenary United Church late Saturday. The loss was confined mostly to the Sunday school hall. The blaze is believed to have started between the furnace and an incinerator. Fireman Harry Walker required hospital treatment after he was overcome by smoke.

New Jet Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — (AP). — A United States Air Force jet-powered "flying wing" bomber has flown 9½ hours, longer than any jet aircraft has been able to stay aloft. This definite indication of progress toward solving a major problem of jet planes — high fuel consumption and short range — came in an announcement Saturday by the air force.

Have Wrong Body

DUBUQUE, Ia., Nov. 1 — (AP). — Two coffins, supposed to contain the bodies of a couple killed in a plane crash in Scotland Oct. 20, were opened Saturday and one was found to contain the body of the wrong man. The victims whose bodies were to have been shipped here were John Reichel, 60, and his Austrian bride, the former Ria Worle, who were married in Gutzens, Austria, May 16. They were killed along with 38 other persons in the crash of a Royal Dutch Airlines plane near Prestwick, Scotland, Oct. 20.

Beer Sale Hours Vary In Ontario Hotels

TORONTO, Nov. 1—(CP)—A varied pattern of closing hours for beer sale in Ontario hotels becomes effective today.

Officials of the Ontario Liquor Licence Board said Saturday that recent regulations fixed the hours of sale at noon to 6:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. However it provided that the evening closing hour might be extended by application to the Board. In Toronto and many other centres, hotels applied for a midnight closing and this was granted. The regulations provide that beverage rooms must be cleared of customers half an hour after closing.

Not Changed Opinion

BRISTOL, England, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said Sunday he has not changed his opinion expressed in 1935 that it is "essential" to socialism that the British Empire be liquidated. In reply to a question after an address on Britain's part in the economic recovery program, Sir Stafford said the liquidation of the Empire "is what we have done in the case of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon."

Postpone Resignation

ATHENS, Nov. 1 — (AP). — The threatened resignation of the Greek coalition government was reported Sunday to have been postponed temporarily, possibly through intervention of the king. A source close to Prime Minister Themistokles Sophoulis said he would not act for at least eight to 10 days as the result of a truce with Sophocles Venizelos, deputy leader of the Liberal party.

Start General Hospital In Spring At Campbellford

TORONTO, Nov. 2—(CP).—Ontario got 748 new hospital beds last year and will get 4,319 more during the next two years, the Ontario Hospital Association was told Monday. But Federal Health Minister Paul Martin warned the province needed about 15,500 new beds during the next five years, with "5,000 or so during the succeeding five-year period."

Cyril J. Telfer, Ontario Government hospital inspector, said five new general hospitals would be started next spring—at Sudbury, Trenton, Leamington, Campbellford and Weston.

Mr. Martin said Ontario's population was increasing by 100,000 people a year, far outstripping existing accommodation.

Edna Nicholson, director of the Chicago Institute of Medicine, said the cost of supporting aged and chronically-ill people soon might become too heavy for the young adult population.

"We must strike at the root of the trouble rather than go on spending endlessly to build hospitals and beds for people who are resigned and must spend the rest of their lives in bed," she said.

She suggested special, small neighborhood homes for chronic and elderly patients.

At a meeting of the Women's Hospital Aids Association, Dr. E. C. Routley, secretary-treasurer of the Hospital Association's Blue Cross plan, said more than a quarter of Ontario's population—nearly 1,300,000—were enrolled.

Up to now the plan had covered only group membership, but now "we can start to enrol individuals."

Trans-Canada Highway Parley Called

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP). — Resources Minister MacKinnon today announced the calling of a Dominion-provincial conference on the long-awaited trans-Canada highway.

He said the date for the discussions has not yet been set "but they will take place in the very near future."

Invitations have been sent to the provincial premiers inviting them to come to Ottawa to discuss the construction of the trans-Canada highway.

He said the date for the discussions has not yet been set "but they will take place in the very near future."

Invitations have been sent to the provincial premiers inviting them to come to Ottawa to discuss the construction of the trans-Canada highway.

Mr. MacKinnon's announcement was brief and gave no further details.

He told reporters, however, that the invitations were sent out only a day or so ago and that there was not enough time yet to report any acceptances.

Boats Collide 1 In Crew Dead

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 2 (AP)—An unidentified crew member was reported dead today as the result of a collision of Colchester, Ont., between two lake freighters during a fog on Lake Erie.

The Lucas county coroner's office reported the dead man was aboard the J. J. Boland of Boland & Cornelius of Buffalo. The other ship involved was the Frank Armstrong of Interlake Steamship Company of Cleveland.

Capt. Frank Monroe of the Boland reported his ship collided with the Armstrong off Colchester, about 1 a.m. (EST).

The Boland's bow was badly damaged and she was proceeding slowly up the Maumee river to the Toledo Shipbuilding Company docks.

The Armstrong received considerable damage forward but was proceeding under her own power to Lorain to unload an iron ore cargo. Her original destination was Erie, Pa.

Capt. William Bond of the barge Constitution, which arrived here from Colchester, said he dropped anchor to avoid being involved in the collision. He estimated visibility at the time at about 300 feet.

Chinese Reds Tell Chiang To Surrender

Ambition Spreading As Mao Predicts Control Of All China

NANKING, Nov. 2 —(AP)—Chinese Communists called today for quick surrender of Chiang Kai-Shek's beaten armies in Manchuria and openly boasted they would conquer all of China.

Reports from good authority said fighting had ceased within the entire Mukden area. There were no major disorders, this source said, as the triumphant Red forces took over their richest prize of the civil war.

The impact of Mukden's fall and the disaster to Chiang's armies jarred China. The military setbacks added heavily to economic instability.

A shake-up of the cabinet of Premier Wong Wen-Hao appeared certain. Price controls with which the government had sought to bolster the new gold yuan currency were abolished, and Shanghai priced jumped 300 to 400 per cent. Wong and his finance minister offered to resign but official sources said no action had been taken.

Mukden's conquerers urged residents, including foreigners, to continue normal activities. The proclamation was signed, "The committee of northeast people for negotiation of temporary peace." It was interpreted here as governing only the Manchurian area.

Greater Ambition

A wider scope of Communist ambition was set forth by Mao Tze-Tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist party. He told the Communist countries of eastern Europe his armies eventually will control all of China. He made his prediction in the latest issue of the bulletin published in Bucharest by the Communist International Information Bureau.

Mao said Red forces already control 907,000 square miles, or roughly 24.5 per cent of China's area. Under them, he said, are 163,000,000 people, about 35 per cent of the total population.

The Associated Press correspondent, Spencer Moosa, in Peiping, said capture of Mukden frees the Communists for a massive assault against North China.

2 Youthful Farmhands Held For "Mischief"

OSHAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP). — Two youthful farmhands were arrested Monday on a charge of "causing a public mischief," the aftermath of a flurry of Hallowe'en shooting on the East Whitby farm of J. J. Fleming.

Clarence Smith, 18, and a 16-year-old farmhand today were remanded to Nov. 9.

Smith told police he had held off six armed men besieging the farm by firing a 12-gauge shotgun. He claimed that the attackers fired between 40 and 50 shots from .22-calibre rifles.

Provincial Constable Ray Hodgson said he arrested both youths on a public mischief charge but refused to give details.

Police said they had been unable to find any of the bullets that Smith claimed were fired.

Burns Plane, Jailed

COLTISHALL, Norfolk, England, Nov. 2 — (Reuters). — A young RAF conscript was sentenced to-day to two years' hard labor and discharged from the service with ignominy after he pleaded guilty to setting fire to a fighter-bomber plane, the contents of a cupboard at station headquarters, and office papers.

Locked Door Brings Alarm Find 4 Overcome By Gas

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 2 — (CP).—Because her mother could get no response knocking at the door or by telephone, Mrs. Frank Essex of Merritton, her husband and two babies are alive today. They were found overcome by coal gas, but are now almost completely recovered.

Mrs. Harvey Burns of Niagara Falls, mother of Mrs. Essex, drove to the Merritton home Monday night to visit her daughter. No lights were on and she could get no answer by knocking on the door. A copy of the daily paper was lying on the doorstep. Thinking they were away, she returned home.

However, she called Mrs. Harry Essex, mother of Frank, and told her. Mrs. Essex started phoning the house, and then phoned other relatives. She insisted they go to the house.

A son, Albert Essex, tried the doors, then called Provincial Police in Merritton. They broke in and found Mr. and Mrs. Essex unconscious in an upstairs bedroom. Bobby, aged two, was crawling around the living-room, and Terry, one, was asleep beside his mother. Mr. Essex, who works a midnight shift at a Thorold paper plant, was apparently getting up when he was overcome.

It was half an hour before the parents were revived. They were taken to hospital and placed under oxygen tents, while the children were cared for by relatives.

Cause of the near tragedy was thought to be the arrangement of dampers in a furnace pipe. A new section had been installed in the pipe to the chimney and there were two dampers in addition to the regular check damper. Both dampers were closed.

Tried Separately

MONTREAL, Nov. 2—(CP)—Three alleged slayers of two Montreal police officers will be tried separately for murder this month it was decided today at the formal opening of the November session of the court of King's Bench. Douglas Perreault will be tried Nov. 16. Noel Cloutier will face a jury Nov. 22 and Donald Perreault Nov. 29.

Balloting Heavy In Election Of U.S. President

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. — (CP). —Heavy early voting pointed to a possible record of ballots in today's Presidential election.

Balloting was particularly heavy in industrial centres where Democrats are counting on union labor votes to bring President Truman in ahead of Republican Thomas E. Dewey.

The forenoon hours passed without any reported disorder. But a claim of ballot-box stuffing was made in Kentucky. Deputy Sheriff John Neal said a ballot box with 17 Democrat votes already lodged in it was found when Clintonville precinct No. 3 opened.

Good weather encouraged a big vote.

Hart's Location went 11 for Dewey and one for Truman. Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the precinct 6-4 over Dewey in 1944.

Cataloochee precinct in North Carolina's smoky mountains popped in next—seven for Truman and zero for Dewey. Dewey got two votes there four years ago and Roosevelt got eight.

Brown's Farm precinct in Southern Florida reported four for Truman and two for States-Right candidate J. Strom Thurmond.

First of the presidential candidates to get his own ballot into the box was Henry A. Wallace. The early-rising Progressive party candidate put his vote in shortly after 8 p.m. (EST) at South Salem, N.Y.

Swarm To Polls

ALBANY, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—New York State voters swarmed to the polls in unprecedented numbers.

The rush was so great from the opening at 6 a.m. until noon that it indicated the all-time record of 6,306,237, set in 1944, might be broken.

For the first six hours of the 15-hour balloting stretch, an estimated 40 per cent of the 7,042,040 registered voters had exercised their franchise. Women predominated.

Early voting was heavy in Chicago and Central Illinois today, but rain, which might hold down the final Republican tally, was spreading across the state.

Bad weather was expected to favor the Democrats. Rural areas of the State are predominately Republican. In Chicago, where the Democrats have their greatest strength, the precinct polling places are close to home and weather is not much of a factor..

On the basis of an early spot vote in Chicago, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said a record-breaking city vote of 2,000,000 was in prospect—in line with earlier predictions. Jarecki heads the election system.

Three Killed In House Fire

TRENTON, N.S., Nov. 2.—(CP).—Three persons died one was injured and six escaped today as fire raced through a hillside frame dwelling near this Pictou county town.

Mrs. Joseph (Alta) Oulette and two of her three children, Marion, nine, and George, five, were burned to death.

Mrs. William Oulette, a daughter-in-law, was later reported in serious condition in hospital from burns. Her one-year-old child Catherine and a boarder Gilbert George, 18, were also admitted to hospital. William Oulette, 22, escaped from the burning house unharmed.

George suffered facial cuts and bruises as he leaped from a window to escape the flames and was admitted to hospital. His condition was not believed serious.

Enters Plea Not Guilty, Trial Starts

True Bill Returned By Grand Jury On Charge Of Murder

By BOB BUCHANAN

LINDSAY, Nov. 2—A Supreme Court Grand Jury decided there is sufficent evidence to try Jean McAllister, a 25-year-old Scottish war bride, for the murder of her husband.

John McAllister, 29-year-old former Hamilton naval veteran, died of pistol wounds at a lonely cottage at nearby Kirkfield last Sept. 5 before he could be removed to hospital.

Trial began immediately after the grand jury's verdict was announced. At the request of Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, all except professional witnesses were excluded from the court.

A photographer identified photographs of the cabin and an architect identified plans of the scene of the slaying.

Pleads Not Guilty

Making her first appearance in the court room, Mrs. McAllister, in a quiet but clear voice, answered "not guilty" when the indictment was read by Sheriff Jasper Foreman. Her bright red hair was done in a long single braid down her back. Mrs. McAllister stood perfectly still in the prisoner's box during the reading of the indictment. She wore a black hat and coat. The braid of hair was tied with a black ribbon. Asked if she were ready for her trial she answered "yes" in a voice which carried well. She remained standing in the box for almost ten minutes while panel members of the petit jury were being called. She whispered with her counsel, H. E. Richardson, who stood beside the box, during the selection of the trial jury.

Spectators on the ground floor were practically all men. A number of women had been in the front row of seats a half hour before court.

His Lordship Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven is officiating. The grand jury adso returned true bills in three other cases before the sittings. Douglas Lamb, 25-year-old son of Mayor Charles Lamb of Lindsay, will appear on a motor manslaughter charge. Lamb is alleged to have been the driver of a car which overturned, killing John Hortoon, 61, of Lindsay.

Alex B. Grant of Woodville, driver of a car in which elderly Alex McDuffie was critically injured, also faces a manslaughter charge. McDuffie died one week later.

James Steadman, 61, no address will face a charge of attempted rape of an eight-year-old Lindsay girl.

This is the first murder trial in a Canadian court in which new amendments to the Criminal Code regarding juries will be in effect. Under the new laws, which came into effect Monday, a jury of ten may now bring in a verdict. This eliminates delay and a new trial if one or two jurors become sick or die during the progress of a trial.

Cars Collide In Fog Oshawa People Hurt

OSHAWA, Nov. 2—(P)—Seven persons were injured, including a grandmother and two grandchildren, when two automobiles crashed head-on Monday night in a heavy fog at Maxwell Corners, five miles north of here.

Injured are Ross E. Lee, Taunton, Ont., fractured shoulder, cuts and abrasions, his wife with a fractured ankle, wrist and ribs, and their son Bryan, 9, with facial cuts. Mrs. Philip H. Short of Oshawa suffered a fractured breastbone and keen injuries, and her grand-daughters Jean Short, five and Patsy Bartell, seven, both sufered head injuries.

Police said the driver of the other car, Lawrence Tregunna, 22, of Oshawa, who also suffered injuries, was driving south when the cars collided. Dianne Lee, 15, and Bonnie Bartell, nine, travelling in the Lee car, were uninjured.

ARNOLD GILL, 20, who died in Haliburton hospital after shot-gun shooting on a street of Tory Hill on Saturday night. Herman Woodcock, 33, is in Lindsay jail, charged with murder.

4,000 Workers Laid Off At GM

OSHAWA, Nov. 2.—(CP). —A layoff of 4,000 workers at the General Motors factories here started Monday as a result of a shortage of essential parts.

The shortage was caused by the five-month strike, now settled, at McKinnon Industries, Ltd., in St. Catharines. The McKinnon plant, a General Motors subsidiary, manufactures parts.

The layoff notices, posted on company bulletin boards here Monday, said employees would not be required to report for work until Thursday.

A previous layoff order, issued last week by George Wecker, General Motors president, was cancelled Friday when the company said it would postpone an inventory taking period and operate on its remaining supplies.

Officials of the company said there will be no layoffs at the Windsor plant of General Motors.

HERMAN GEORGE WOODCOX, 33-year-old lumberjack, is seen being escorted into court at Lindsay Monday to face charge of murder resulting from shotgun shooting of Arnold Gill, at Tory Hill Saturday night.

French Coal Mine Strikers Battle Troops, Police With Bullets, Grenades

Halt Motorized Guards With Flaming Oil Poured Into Trenches; Charge Saboteurs Derailed Two Trains

PARIS, Nov. 2—(AP).—Communist-led coal mine strikers fought French troops and police today in the Lille area with bullets, fire and grenades. The semi-official France Presse news agency said about 15 police were wounded. An undisclosed number of strikers also were reported hurt. Apparently none of the injuries was serious.

It was the first defence of the pitheads by strikers since about 30,000 police and troops began clearing pickets last week from 112 mines in the largest French coal field. Government sources predicted a back-to-work movement would break this strike this week.

The battle today was in the Lievin section, 20 miles southwest of Lille. Strikers dug trenches in the mine yard at the No. 5 pit, poured fuel oil into them and set the oil afire to halt the motorized mobile guards.

Shoot At Patrols

In Southeastern France, scattered shots were fired at two police patrols in the St. Etienne mining area. Two persons were arrested.

Achille Blondeau, a mine union secretary, estimated 15 strikers were injured in the Lievin skirmish before pickets finally yielded the mine. He declared the pickets had no arms, and replied with stones only when police opened fire.

Previous violence, in which three miners have been killed and many strikers, troops and police wounded, has centred in the south.

At Oignies, strikers tried to recapture one pit from government forces, but were driven off.

The government charged that saboteurs derailed two miners' trains as three columns of troops drove into the last pits held by the Communist-led coal strikers in the Lens area.

Government sources predict that a back-to-work movement among the miners in defiance of Communist strike leaders will cause the collapse of the coal walkout this week.

Communist Union leaders called a 24-hour general strike for today in the Valenciennes region, where the back-to-work movement has been the strongest. It was only partially successful. Railway service and trolley cars operated normally under police protection.

Ontario Official Fined $6,000 Over Currency

LONDON, Nov. 2 — (CP). — Leonard Beauchamp, 56, until recently assistant manager of immigration for Ontario, today was fined £1,500 ($6,000) with £100 in costs for breaches of the Exchange Control Act.

He was given an option of nine months in prison.

Beauchamp was said to have come from Canada to answer the charges.

Prosecutor F. D. Barry told the court that Ernest William Busby, a school teacher who took his family to Canada last April, had arranged to take £3,200 with him. The sum which emigrants were allowed to take with them had been reduced from £5,000 to £1,000, and despite the intervention of "a prominent and influential man" Busby was refused permission to take more than that amount.

The prosecutor said Beauchamp, as a Canadian, agreed to take the money to Canada and transfer it to Busby there. He said Busby falsely represented the £3,200 to Canadian authorities as his own savings.

In a similar way, the prosecution claimed, Beauchamp received £300 from Miss Lynn Carlyle and agreed to pay her in Canada.

Magistrate J. F. Eastwood said Beauchamp was liable to a maximum penalty of £20,000. The exact amount of the penalty was still in the bank and he thought it would be paid.

Britain Facing Cut In Bacon

LONDON, Nov. 2.— (CP). — Food Minister John Strachey, who Monday night announced a number of ration increases for Britain, warned at the same time that Canadian "internal working difficulty" temporarily threatens the bacon ration here.

Canada could not sell to Britain the quantity of bacon Britain was willing to buy, and "we will be in difficulty for the next few weeks over the arrival of our supplies," he said.

"I am unable to tell the House whether this hold-up will affect the ration," he added, "but it will be temporary and for only one or two weeks.

"We should be able to find some substitute for bacon."

The increases announced were in the rations of candy, sugar and fats, and he added that rationing has been ended for all kinds of jam and marmalade.

Tie Up Canal Dredge Aid Power Shortage

HAMILTON, Nov. 2 — (CP)— The Shuniah, a Welland Canal dredge with a 1,500 horse-power diesel generator capable of producing 20,000 kilowatt hours of power per day, will be tied up in Hamilton for the winter to alleviate the power shortage, A. W. Bradt, general manager of the Hydro-Electric system of Hamilton, said to-day that he was completing arrangements for the dredge to arrive here toward the end of the month.

The dredge's generator will be in continuous operation from 7 a.m. until midnight — the critical period of the day, Mr. Bradt said.

Fifth Rider Escapes Injury, Have To Cut Victims From Badly Twisted Metal

Truck Driver Says Car Out Of Control, Swerved Into His Vehicle; No Fog Reported At Time Of Accident

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 2—(CP).—Four men died when an automobile and an oil truck collided on Hamilton Road about eight miles east of here Monday night. All from Brantford, the dead were: Lewis Marco, 30; his brother, Michael, 26; Stephen Radley, 40, and John Czuppson, 50. A fifth passenger in the car, which police said was driven by Lewis Marco, was a younger brother, James Joseph Marco, 24. He as removed to hospital. Authorities said he was suffering shock but had no apparent injuries.

Three of the men were apparently killed almost instantly. The fourth, Czuppson, died en route to hospital.

The driver of the oil truck, Victor Ryall of London, was unhurt.

The truck was westbound and the car eastbound when the crash occurred. The truck was comparatively undamaged. The car was wrecked.

Flag Down Truck

First to reach the wrecked car were Clarence Haycock and his three sons, who rushed from their farm home nearby. They flagged a truck in which three London men were riding.

The men used a bolt cutter from the truck to cut into the twisted metal and remove the bodies.

Ryall told police the car seemed to go out of control and swerved into the truck. He felt "a little jar" in his heavy vehicle, and that he did not know how serious the crash had been until he got out to investigate. There was no fog at the time.

All five men in the Marco car were hotel employees in Brantford. Michael Marco and Czuppson were married. The five had been given a day off from their work and were homeward-bound from a visit to London.

Alta. Official Shot To Death

EDMONTON, Nov. 2—(CP).—Police today pieced together details of a shooting near Gunn, Alta., Monday in which an Alberta government official was shot to death and his assailant died shortly after being admitted to an Edmonton hospital.

Dead are E. Hatson, superintendent of an Alberta government welfare camp near Gunn, and Henry Delphy, 78-year-old former inmate of the camp, used as a home for elderly men on provincial relief.

Hatson, said to have been shot from ambush, was felled by a undetermined number of bullets in the chest.

Delphy died shortly after admittance to hospital where authorities would not comment on the case beyond saying that the elderly man had been brought here by ambulance from Gunn, some 25 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Jury Returns Two True Bills

SIMCOE, Nov. 2 (CP) — Seth Linton, 41-year-old well digger will stand trial for murder in the shooting deaths of two men last June 6. True bills in both murder indictments were returned today by a Norfolk County grand jury.

C. P. Pope, special crown prosecutor, told Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel that he wished to proceed first on the charge that Linton killed Lew Stewart, 44-year-old plasterer, whose wife had been acting as Linton's housekeeper. Linton is also charged with the murder of John Kipp, 32-year-old Vienna carpenter, the same morning.

Both men were shot with a .22-calibre rifle at Linton's home about 2½ miles west of here and just south of Charlotteville. On the fatal morning the two men were accompanied by Mrs. Stewart who said she wanted her clothing from Linton's home, her intention being to return to her husband.

Pleased With Action Of Board Of Works

"We are highly pleased that the Board of Works have felt disposed to recommend to the city council the acceptance of our offer to purchase the city-owned property at George and Sherbrooke streets," is a quotation from a letter by C. W. Foster, vice-president of Dominion Stores Limited to the council.

The company recently bid $31,000 for the vacant land on the east side of George St., north of Sherbrooke and extending to Water St.

"We assume from this that there will be no further need of our interviewing anyone or doing anything further until after your council meeting . . . It is our intention to build a one-storey building and basement, but their height of this building will be equal to that of the average two-storey building, so that it will not have a squatty appearance.

"We are most anxious not to become involved in tenants over our premises, and we feel that the height of the building and the detail of the store front, which costs about $7,000 alone, do amply take care of the problem of contributing generally to the good appearance of the commercial area of Peterborough, or of any other city in which we build a store."

This letter received by the council Monday night required no action, and was simply received.

Snap Up Vegetables As U.S. Ban Lifted

TORONTO, Nov. 2 —(CP)—Forty-five carloads of American lettuce, tomatoes and grapes—first to arrive here since last February—were snapped up Monday by Toronto wholesalers and went on sale in stores a few hours later.

Most retailers reported a brisk business in the sales which followed relaxation of the ban against importation of certain fruits and vegetables from the United States.

One retailer said he sold U.S. lettuce at two heads for 25 cents. Last week two heads of Canadian lettuce sold for 19 cents.

California tomatoes sold at two pounds for 47 cents and imported seedless grapes at two pounds for 35 cents.

Base Metals Ahead Lead Exchange Groups

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Base metals raced ahead to lead all groups on the Toronto Stock Exchange today in a general advance. Trading was heavy as industrials added fractions. Junior golds attracted attention for some small advances.

Base metals showed an almost complete list of gains and several new highs as the group advanced rapidly in some heavy action. Consolidated Smelters was up 1½ and Hudson Bay added 2½. Noranda was at a new high at 56 while International Nickel, the last of the Big Four dipped ⅜.

The industrial list was a little slow to follow the advance, but picked up in mid-session as papers, utilities and foods moved ahead. Banks were also up while steels weakened slightly. Gains began to broaden from the morning's narrow fractional range.

Hollinger attracted brisk action in senior golds, advancing 1⅜. Nicholson traded heavily in juniors for a strong advance in early trading but sold off to hold steady at Monday's close.

600 Miners Strike

STELLARTON, NS, Nov. 2 (CP). — Some 600 miners employed by Acadia Coal Company here struck Monday in sympathy with a worker dismissed by the company. Union members intimated additional company miners would join the walkout. The UMW local will hold a meeting today to discuss the issue.

Says Fire Dept. Showing Discrimination

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 2 — (ENS) — A communication was received from W. A Hogle of the Hogle Nursery Co. charging the town council with discrimination at their regular meeting on Monday night. The letter said in part that the fire department had refused to answer a call to his place which is just over the town limits when a few days later it had sent the chemical wagon to Myersburg to extinguish a fire in a farm house. He requested a written explanation.

The council instructed the secretary to write the fire marshal regarding whether or not it was permissible to allow the fire equipment to leave town and at the same time to inform Mr. Hogle of the council's decision.

J. E. Ayrhart wrote the council concerning his lot on Front St. He stated that if the council would give him a further extension of time he would start by next May 15 the erection of a building which would contain 8 bowling alleys with stores above. As proof of his good intentions, Savage and Co. of Toronto would post with the council a $500 bond.

The secretary was instructed to write Mr. Ayrhart to the effect that the extension would be granted providing he complied with the original specifications and pays all legal expenses.

A communication was received from the St. John Ambulance organization asking for a grant. A donation of $15 was voted by council.

The high school wrote the council asking for permission to hold a tag day Nov 20, on behalf of the Navy League of Canada. Permission was granted.

F. D. Spry of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation outlined to the council what steps should be taken in order to raise the rent of the war-time houses to meet the extra cost of garbage collection. The council decided to ask the Department of Planning and Development for this permission.

Don Meyers, chairman of the School Board, told the council that the financial situation of the Board was in such a state that it could not meet the full cost of repairs on the public school. He said that the total cost will far exceed the estimated cost, that the supervision of work had not been satisfactory and that materials had risen in price. He asked the council for at least a minimum of $10,000 to finish the essential work. The matter was carried over until the next meeting.

The council was addressed by Mr. Farrell, representing the Trustees and Ratepayers Association in regards to purchasing miniature cups for the winners of the public-speaking contest. Mr. Farrell's request was granted.

Mrs. Hollings complained to the council about receiving a $198.40 sewer bill which she claimed should have been $22.50. The council explained to her that the proper adjustment would be made after receiving the auditor's report.

N. A. MacColl, town solicitor, gave a report on his interview with the deputy inspector of legal offices regarding the park reserve. The Deputy had told him that the park reserve would have to be surveyed into lots before it could be sold and that the present town plan was inadequate. It would cost at least $200 to have the survey made. The council directed the legal committee to look into the whole matter.

Enters Plea

The accused's mother, Mrs. McInerney, took her seat directly behind the prisoner's box shortly after the Crown's first witnesses were called. The red-haired woman turned often to talk to her and the two smiled encouragement at each other. During a brief adjournment, the accused woman talked with jail officials as she stood in a breeze from an open door. She looked cheerful and grateful for the change from the court room.

Mrs. McInerney confirmed reports that she would—if possible—fly back to Scotland on Saturday. "Bad news from the family," was the reason she gave.

Members of the petit jury are: R. H. Robb, Harold Staples, Lindsay; Marvin Hamilton, Karl Pinney and Edgar Patterson, of Fenelon township; William Chatten, Emily township; William Rodd, Lindsay; Lloyd Beck, Bobcaygeon; A. J. Isaac, Fenelon; Patrick Greenan, RR 4, Lindsay; Mark Lee, Reaboro; William Hall, RR 5, Lindsay. The gallery above the court room was jammed with spectators, most of them women.

Enter Pistol

The single shot .22 pistol which the Crown will attempt to prove was used by the accused to shoot her 29-year-old navy veteran was introduced and entered as an exhibit.

Provincial Constable Lloyd Lyle of Fenelon Falls, called only to identify the death weapon, told the court he had found the pistol lying in the grass near the road in front of the McAllister home. A discharged shell was in the pistol and a box with three live shells was found on a sideboard in the kitchen. Also found in the kitchen, said the officer, was a holster. With the pellet taken from McAllister's body all these articles, he said were turned over to an RC MP expert. The expert will give evidence on the objects later in the trial, also about tests made. Other witnesses included Stanley Bright, Lindsay photographer and John T. Allan, Lindsay architect. They identified pictures and sketches of the log house near Kirkfield where the shooting took place.

They described in detail the three rooms, kitchen, living room and bedroom, on the ground floor of the two storey cabin. Bright said that he had been instructed to take pictures which included the bed in the bedroom. There were "blood stains" on the mattress of the bed, he said.

His Lordship, in his charge to the grand jury on Monday said that their duty was to return a true bill—which means the accused will take her trial before a petit jury—if sufficient evidence is produced to indicate that Mrs. McAllister should face the murder charge.

Returned for Instruction

The grand jury returned to the courtroom about 4.30 to be instructed on points of law concerning three other presentments on major charges before this sitting of the Supreme Court: a charge of manslaughter against Douglas Lamb, 24, of Lindsay; a charge of manslaughter against Alexander B. Grant, 34, of Woodville; and a charge of attempted rape against 61-year-old James Steadman of no fixed address. The jury did not deliver a verdict on the McAllister bill at that time.

A panel of 48 residents of the Lindsay area were drawn. From them, the petit jury of 12 will be selected today. They will hear the murder case if a true bill is returned.

Conduct Draw

While Jean McAllister awaited the coming of morning a group of war brides last night conducted a blanket raffle in the Legion Hall and raised $91.25 toward the cost of her defence.

Twenty former residents of the United Kingdom, banded in an organization known as the Overseas Ladies' Club of Lindsay, went to bat for the 25-year-old woman. The raffle was the result of their efforts.

Sheriff Jaspar Foreman of Victoria County, who will be in the court throughout Mrs. McAllister's trial, presided at the draw. He is also president of the Legion branch and head of the Red Cross. It was Sheriff Foreman who dipped his hand into a big cardboard container and pulled out the winning ticket. And he helped count the bills and silver collected through the sale of 365 tickets at 35 cents apiece.

The blanket for the raffle was donated by Ada Bond of Hamilton, of Scottish birth herself. She arrived in Lindsay for the fourth time to help her fellow countrywoman. Winner of the blanket was R. B. Sharpe, a Lindsay tailor, who, oddly enough, was the last person to buy a ticket.

Tickets were sold in Lindsay by the war brides and in Hamilton by Miss Bond. The Overseas Ladies' Club once before came to the aid of Mrs. McAllister, though indirectly. They conducted a rummage sale three weeks ago and turned the proceeds, $126, over to Mrs. Emily McInerney, mother of the accused woman. She came here from Scotland to stand by her daughter.

Russians Keep Woman Witness To U.S. Slaying

VIENNA, Nov. 2 — (AP). — United States authorities said on Monday the Russians have refused two American requests to interview the woman companion of Irving Ross, slain American official.

The woman is Dana Superina, 42, who also was brutally beaten after Ross was bludgeoned and bayonetted to death in the Soviet zone of Vienna early on Sunday.

She blamed four Russian soldiers for the crime, but United States officials still are seeking details.

Ross, 38, was an official here the Economic Co-operation Administration.

The Provost Marshal's office advanced robbery as a probable motive for the murder. Officials said Ross' billfold with a few papers in it was found about 15 feet from his car.

In rejecting a United States request for an interview, the Russians said Miss Superina was too seriously hurt to be questioned. They also turned down a proposal that an American army doctor be assigned to the case.

Ottawa Fails So Double Power Blackouts

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP). — The capital goes into its second day of compulsory power blackouts today with a general order that blackout periods be doubled and in one section of the city, tripled.

The new order increasing the shut-off period from 30 minutes to a full hour came from S. W. Canniff, general manager of the Ottawa Hydro-Electric Commission.

He said in a statement that he was disappointed with the results obtained from Monday's 30 minute cut. There had been no saving at all, for no sooner had power been restored than the saving in consumption was lost in increased power use.

He ordered an extra 30 minutes of blackout for Ottawa's west end today, as was done in Ottawa's east side Sands Hill district yesterday.

Yesterday's general power blackout lasted from 12 to 12:30 p.m. Today it will be from 9 a.m. until 10.

Meanwhile Ottawa's city council Monday night heard criticism of the cut-offs and the Hydro's system of instituting the cuts.

Alderman Rheaume suggested that in "setting the cut-off hours, the Hydro could have done a better job." He had many complaints Monday of both the morning and afternoon blackouts.

Acting Mayor Geldert asked for "patience." He said he would ask the Commission to try and rearrange its plans for cuts.

It first had been thought that if savings proved to be large enough, the 30-minute periods might be reduced.

Peel County Gives Party For Premier

BRAMPTON, Nov. 2.—(CP).—The people of Peel county gave a party Monday night for Tom Kennedy, the farm boy who became premier of Ontario.

Thomas L. Kennedy, who recently succeeded George Drew as Ontario premier, shook hands for more than two hours as some 3,000 of his neighbors—of every political stripe—filed by in Brampton's new Canadian Legion Memorial Hall. With him stood his wife, the former Minnie Patterson of Toronto, Ruth, one of their four daughters, and the official hosts, Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Peel, and Mrs. Graydon.

One of the first to greet the new premier was William J. Lowe, a Liberal, who held this seat from 1916 to 1918. Another Liberal was Dr. R. J. Hiscox, whom Mr. Kennedy defeated in the June 7 Ontario election. There was also Herbert Sovereign, CCF candidate in the same election.

Old Friends Gather

Jim Fletcher, a 78-year-old retired farmer who lives two miles out of town, was there to meet his old friend. What with his rehumatism and all he didn't figure he was up to standing in the line that stretched half way around the hall. But he made the effort.

"Well, Tom," he said, "now you're the new premier do I got to get down on my knees?"

"No, a little bow will be all right, Mr. Kennedy assured him.

Gail Pinkney, 3½ years old, was probably the youngest to greet the 70-year-old premier. As he knelt down she obligingly kissed him for the photographers, and kissed him again, and again, as the camera men asked for "just one more please." Gail's grandfather, William Pinkney, a boyhood chum of the premier watched approvingly.

He recalled the days, 50 years ago, when he and Tom used to play soccer for Cooksville.

"Tom was a forward, I think, and a pretty good one."

Canada's Pacts For Defence Go Long Way Back

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—(CP).—The fact that Canada is moving towards a military-political North Atlantic alliance has focused attention on her background in international commitments—and in one way it goes a surprisingly long way back.

The alliance itself will represent at least one of the more important steps she has undertaken in the 25 years since her autonomy in foreign obligations was formally recognized by Britain in an Imperial conference.

It will be the latest milestone in an evolution that stretches back into the early years of the 19th century and gradually worked up to full Canadian rights in foreign bargaining in 1923.

The Dominion today is bound to scores of international agreements, many of them made for her by the King of Britain long before she had any voice whatsoever in what went on. Because these things have a way of lingering in existence long after they have ceased to have much practical effect, government shelves are heavy with obligations that may mean nothing.

1825 Agreement

The ring, for instance, bound this territory in 1825 to a treaty of "amity, commerce and navigation" with Argentine. It was superceded in 1941 by a trade agreement between Canada and that country, but the original pact remains.

Canada's treaty autonomy developed slowly. At first, after Confederation, Canadians served on British negotiating groups. Then they began to negotiate themselves, but not to sign.

In 1919, Sir Robert Borden, the Prime Minister, set a precedent when he signed the Versailles peace treaty for his country. Three years later Ernest Lapointe signed a convention regulating Pacific halibut fisheries and that was the first case in which Canadians participated fully and entirely alone.

The following year an Imperial Conference formally approved Canada's right to negotiate, sign and conclude her own treaties. The power is implicit now in the terms of the statute of Westminster of 1931.

Whether the Atlantic alliance is going to mark a new departure in Canada's obligations abroad, government sources are not yet prepared to say. They point out that both the League of Nations covenant and the United Nations charter involved certain commitments towards maintaining peace.

Insofar, however, as the alliance binds Canada to a small group of states in mutual guarantees to resist aggression by any other state upon any one of them, it would seem to be without precedent for Canada.

WHATEVER ANYONE ELSE CARES to say about the housing situation in Canada six-year-old Jane Davidson is prepared to say that it is bad. She is shown above with her father, Donald Davidson, a miner from Sudbury, Ont., following their arrival at London airport on Friday last. Davidson, unable to find a home in Canada, went to England to work in his father-in-law's garage at Redhill, Surrey, England. Mrs. Davidson, ailing in Canada, was unable to make trip at this time, but soon will leave Canada for Redhill.

THE 1948 NOBEL PRIZE for physiology was awarded to Dr. Paul Mueller, above, of Switzerland, for the discovery in 1939 of the insecticide known as DDT. Dr. Mueller first used his discovery in 1940 on refugees pouring into Switzerland and is credited with saving hundreds of thousands of lives that might have been lost to typhus and other lice-carried diseases. The only insect said to be impervious to Dr. Mueller's discovery is the thick-skinned ordinary housefly.

Shipbuilders Urge Navy Keep Them Busy

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—(CP). — With an uneasy weather eye cocked toward the economic and international future, the makers of Canada's ships today suggested that something should be done to keep the Dominion's war-nurtured shipyards alive and modern.

At present, Canadian yards are busy. But builders remember the days before the Second World War when the industry had little to do, yards rotted and skilled workmen sought other jobs. They were aware too, of the uncertain international picture today and the importance of a strong merchant marine and navy in event of an emergency.

With these factors in mind the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association today issued a report offering co-operation with the Industrial Defence Board to ensure rapid development of a naval expansion program.

The Association, representing 17 yards from coast to coast, is headed by R. J. R. Nelson of Halifax. It's report recalled that $36,500,000 was required during the Second World War to revitalize and build new yards. An the report suggested a program to keep Canada's builders employed to keep the yards bustling—and to make such an expenditure unnecessary in the future.

Canada's naval staff is "well aware of the inadequacy and deficiency of present ships to cope with possible conditions of war," he report says. It calls for an immediate meeting between the Association and top naval officers to discuss government plans for the present uneasy world situation and for an actual emergency.

The Association warns that many skilled Canadian builders might go to the United States to work "where, we understand, active re-armament programs are under way."

Hear Landscaping Talk From W. A. Hogle

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 2. — (ENS) — "Landscaping and the Beautification of the Home" was the subject of an address by W. A. Hogle before the Rotary Club on Monday.

He prefaced his remarks with the information that landscaping was comparatively new. He said that prior to a few years ago the services performed by the landscape nurserymen were accomplished by three entirely different individuals, namely: the landscape architect, the plant salesman and the gardener. Few could afford to employ the landscape architect because of the cost involved. Lately a new man had appeared—the expert in all three branches known as the landscape nurseryman who catered to small home owners. The landscape nurseryman grew the trees and shrubs on his own land to the required size and height, carrying stock to fit the job on hand, so that his client did not have to waits years to enjoy the results of his investment.

"Many United States communities," he said, "have launched beautification projects with various clubs, church organizations and town councils co-operating. The project like any other beautification plan, pays big dividends. To the question, 'how much should I spend on landscaping?' varies in different cases, depending on the condition of the condition of the property. The usual recognized figure is from 5 to 8 per cent. of the market value. Real estate men claim the value of property is increased from 5 to 25 per cent by attractive landscaping."

Rotarian Henry Scott introduced the speaker and Rotarian Alex McColl moved the vote of thanks.

Oddfellows Honor Late Peter Duncan

COBOURG, Nov. 2 — The funeral of Peter Duncan, life-long resident of Cobourg, was held on Monday afternoon with burial in Cobourg Union Cemetery. He was buried with IOOF honors and the service was conducted by Rev. E. W. MacKay of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Ill for the past four years, Mr. Duncan died at the age of 80.

In his early days he worked at the Crossen Car Works and when the plant went out of business he went into the upholstering trade. In 1916 he was appointed caretaker of the town hall, retiring in 1945 when his health became bad. He will be remembered by very old residents of the town as one of the best third-base players of any town team in the past.

He married Margaret Smith of Haldimand Township 47 years ago and he is survived by his widow and two sons, Jack of Cobourg and Harold of Pittsburg. A cousin, Fred Duncan, lives in Orono. The pall-bearers at his funeral were Roy Dodge, Arthur Brown, Joe Andrews, Charlie Bolster, Harry Boundy and Gilbert Wicks.

Minister Returns For Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Nov. 2. (ENS) — Anniversary services were held in Havelock United Church Sunday with Rev. J. W. Wilkinson of Oakwood, a former minister, as guest speaker.

In October, 1947, Rev. Mr. Wilkinson and Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh of Oakwood exchanged pastoral charges. On Sunday, they exchanged pulpits to officiate at anniversary services in their former churches.

At the morning service Mr. Wilkinson spoke on the subject "Stewardship of Talents" and in the evening, "Foundation for Reconstruction." Reconstruction, he said, was a world task and it was essential to have a solid foundation on which to build and strict adherence to the first commandment: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me", was a vital necessity. He also dwelt on Christ's charge to Peter "to feed my lambs and feed my sheep."

Special music was given by the choir at both services under the direction of Mrs. R. Campney, which included three anthems, solos by Miss Joyce Agnew and Donald Pollock, quartette by Mrs. S. Southward, Miss J. Agnew, James Watson and E. D. Chiles; girls' quartette by Misses Edith Thompson, Beulah Chase, Laura Chase and Helen Hayes.

Time For Mayoralty Candidates To Declare Themselves

In a statement which was published in this paper on October 9 Mayor William Ovens said that he would not seek the mayoralty for a third year. The civic nomination day is little more than a fortnight off and we feel that it is time that the contestants for the mayoral office declared themselves and sought support. Most citizens, we think, would be glad to see a field of four or five candidates in the contest. In particular we think that some of the younger men who are ambitious for a career in municipal service (and perhaps beyond it) should try their luck in a mayoral election; they may not win, but they will make themselves known to the electorate and in that way they will improve their chances in the years to come.

• • •

Although the quality of the men who have occupied the mayor's chair has been high, municipal politics in Peterborough suffers from excessive caution. Candidates for the mayoralty and for the aldermanic posts seem to labour under a quite unnecessary fear of defeat. There is nothing disgraceful about being defeated in a municipal contest; a defeat, taken in a sportsmanlike manner, may be turned into a victory at the next try. The only disgrace lies in being afraid to take a risk. Many a good man has missed the sweets of public office from too much caution.

• • •

These are great and critical days in Peterborough's history. Large sums of money are being spent, and the development of the city is at a peak never reached before. Every intelligent citizen is keenly interested in the composition of the Council and in the personality of the Mayor. At the municipal elections a bylaw empowering the spending of another $1,500,000 on the civic hospital will be put to the decision of the people. Would it not be a strange thing to vote money in such a sum and to find that the mayoralty contest was a lukewarm affair? To any prospective candidates and to those who are wavering we offer the ghost's advice to Macbeth: "Be bloody, bold and resolute".

Toward Atlantic Security

An actuality is taking form from the proposal for a defensive pact between various countries on the Atlantic seaboard which Canada did not initiate but was the first nation to espouse officially. The five nations signatory to the Brussels Pact (Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxemburg) expressed last Tuesday their complete agreement on the principle of a North Atlantic Security Pact. That is important since they would be party to this Pact, which is designed to supplement and extend the scope of the military agreements of the Brussels Pact.

Mr. Pearson, our Minister of External Affairs, said on Thursday that the Canadian Government is now ready to enter into negotiations with the Western European Union and North Atlantic states "for a treaty of collective security on a regional basis". The Scandinavian countries are showing an interest in the arrangement. The American military and foreign office officials are engaged in preliminary study. The spade work is being done. Nothing final can be decided, however, until the United States decides to participate.

If Mr. Dewey is successful in today's elections, the American Government is unlikely to agree officially to any defensive pact with European countries until next January when he would take office. Such a pact would involve the sharpest of all breaks with the traditional isolationist sentiment of the Republican party. Nevertheless, Mr. Dewey and John Foster Dulles, his advisor on foreign matters, have altered their isolationist policy which both preached in 1940. They accept E.R.P. and recognize the need for co-operating with the democracies of western Europe against Communism. Even if Mr. Dewey is the next President and Mr. Dulles the next Secretary of State (replacing Mr. Marshall), some sort of defensive agreement between this continent and western Europe is almost certain. If Mr. Truman retains office, the agreement will probably come sooner and more fully.

Hallowe'en Soap

Despite the security from detection which the fog offered to pranksters with malicious intent, Hallowe'en passed locally with little viciousness. As a matter of fact, had Peterborough been stocked with godless, lawbreaking hoodlums, they would have celebrated not on Saturday night but Sunday, which was really All Hallow's Eve. We commend the methods of the Provincial constable who rounded up a score of children in Cavan township who had ransacked their schoolhouse and stood over the malefactors on Sunday until they had cleaned up the mess they had created. One result of the juvenile activities of Saturday night was that shop windows in the central part of the city were plentifully marked with hieroglyphics in soap, some of them unfortunately readable. We would wish that the city police had collared these soap artists and washed out their mouths with the soap they were misusing.

The Maternalistic State

It is very often said that modern socialist states are paternalistic; we feel that they might with greater justice be called maternalistic, for one of their chief desires seems to be to render superfluous the mothers who bring forth and care for the human child until it is able to fend for itself—until it is about twenty-five, that is to say.

The Bishop of Salisbury, Dr. Lunt, recently printed this verse in his diocesan magazine, The Sarum Messenger; it is to be sung to the tune of Mother Machree:

I love the clean clinic which washed me with care,
And the nursery school lady who tooth-combed my hair,
And all the youth movements so tot-worn for me;
But mother, God bless her, she never sees me.

There is a bitter ring of truth in this. The army of experts, armoured in child psychology and redolent of antisepsis, are rapidly making mothers unnecessary nuisances. Except for producing the babies, of course. Very few of the experts have time or inclination for such unskilled labour.

Embittered Censorship

Some odd things have been happening in the world of the movies lately. The American film Gentleman's Agreement, which is a strong indictment of anti-Semitism, has been refused entry to Spain; several fancy reasons have been given, one of them being that the film teaches a false doctrine by insisting that Jews and Christians are equal in God's sight; in a Fascist country, this is inadmissable. In Great Britain films upon which the uproarious Zionist Ben Hecht has worked are refused in several hundred movie theatres, because Hecht "makes a little holiday in his heart" whenever a British soldier is killed. And the British film Oliver Twist is boycotted in the U.S.A. because the character if Fagin is offensive to some Jewish people. (In this matter it must be said that Fagin is never once referred to in the film as a Jew, and his makeup is copied from the original drawings which illustrated the book a century ago; Fagin in the movie has a big nose and a beard, but there are millions of Jews who have neither, and millions of Gentiles who have one, or the other, or both.)

It is shameful and disgraceful that this sort of censorship should exist. We mock the Russians for their idiotic censorship of works of art on ideological grounds, but are we of the western world any better? If this sort of madness spreads we can expect the complete decay of all the arts, for when artists have to work with one eye on the cash register and another on the police they cannot be expected to produce anything but rubbish.

NOTE AND COMMENT

This week a 41-year-old man was sentenced in the Peterborough police court to fifteen days in jail for theft. It was his 49th conviction in 23 years. An active old lag like that cannot be called a laggard.

A doctor writes that to live long one should "cultivate a sense of humour". Personally we find that a somewhat uncultivated sense of humour provides us with more and louder laughs.

Automobile manufacturers tell us that cars are cheaper, by the pound, than steak. There might be some sense to this if there were anything appetizing about, for instance, a differential and onions.

Adoption Without Papers

By F. R. D.

NOTES FROM NASSAU: Not being an orphan I never expected to be adopted. I've always secretly believed, however, that had I been left to my own devices at an early age I would have made Horatio Alger's heroes look pretty feeble. These hearty lads, ranging in ages from 12 to 16 years, were johnny at the rat hole when the millionaire's daughter had to be rescued. It might be a runaway horse or a fate worse than death at the hands of the local bully, but prompt action permitted the Algeronian to toss his shoe shine box or paper route over the nearest fence, and take a job in daddy's bank. Horatio never actually married the couple off, child marriages being frowned upon as unwholesome, but he dropped some pretty broad hints as to what might be expected.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOW I would be as a runaway horse stopper remains for speculation, as I've never been tried by fire, but as a bully stopper I'd be nowhere. If the bully was willing to debate the matter I think I could hold my own. I've talked myself out of many a well-deserved punch on the nose. Ingratiating myself with the millionaire and his daughter might have posed a problem, but had I been an orphan I'm sure something would have turned up.

✧ ✧ ✧

BEFORE I got snarled up with Horatio and his boy heroes I started to tell you how I've been adopted. No formal papers have been taken out, but both my yard boy and my golf caddy have adopted me. There are those who argue coloured people are an inferior race. I can only suspect they haven't had too much contact with our coloured brethren. When it comes to finding a comfortable berth and sticking to it, limpets could take their correspondence course.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT should be pointed out that my adoption is rather different from the general concept. It appears I am now responsible for the adopters, not them for me. I find it all most confusing. Isaac the yard boy, adopted me by dividing his time between looking helpless and doing things about the place which had already been done. He usually managed to get paid well above the scale for his labours, by never knowing the proper charge to make. Six weeks of this and I now find Isaac a permanent retainer on my staff. As I write I hear the cheery rustle of his broom sweeping a place the cook has already swept.

✧ ✧ ✧

TECHNICALLY Isaac is the gardener. Actually he is nursemaid of the two young ladies of the house. They think nothing of interrupting whatever chore Isaac is engaged in to carry him off on a landcrab hunt, an expedition after jelly coconuts, or a tour of the racing stables across the road. I suspect Isaac enjoys this much more than work. He has the negro gift of yarning. I am regaled at each meal with horrific tales of land spiders as big as dinner plates, sharks which have bitten a personal friend of Isaac's neatly across the middle, and barrel-coolers which lie in wait for unwary swimmers. I strongly suspect the last named refers to barracuda.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE three, Isaac and the two little girls, are of the same mental age, and get along splendidly. My neighbours, English, complete with Nannys for their young, regard my child care arrangements as rather unusual. So far no one has actually put their criticism into words, or cut me dead on the street, but I feel it won't be long now. I've suggested taking the curse of this somewhat odd arrangement by fitting Isaac out with the mob cap and white uniform approved for children's nurses here, but Isaac has been a little shy about adopting my idea.

Just how Isaac adopted me I haven't figured out. The only point on which I'm quite certain is that each Saturday at noon he appears with a wide smile, and an offer to do something he knows perfectly well I don't want done. When money is suggested he protests, but not too much. When persuaded to affect the filthy stuff he does so with an air which almost deceives you into thinking you are paying for value received.

✧ ✧ ✧

GEORGE, my caddy, was equally subtle in his adoption proceedings. The first day I appeared at the links he bat out the other caddies in getting first grip on my bag of clubs. When I started my round he told me his name, and informed me he was my caddy from then on. I took this to mean one time only, but that was where George and I differed. I learned this the next morning when I came back to my car which I had parked in town. There was George inquiring if I intended playing that afternoon. If I did George wanted to know so he could postpone another engagement (his word) to caddy for me. This performance has been repeated each morning since. It costs me a shilling a day to maintain George. He gets eight shillings a round, but never seems to have any money. He has sublime faith that I won't let him starve.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the beginning he was most humble in making his request for breakfast money. Now he greets me with an ivory smile, and the cheery observation, he is pretty hungry, not having had breakfast as yet. I can't be sure whether I look like an easy-mark, or whether I'm weak-willed. How I get jockeyed into positions like this is a problem for a greater brain than mine. George has adopted me, and he is quite sure I'm as happy about the arrangement as he is.

✧ ✧ ✧

GEORGE is not above making pointed comments about my clothes. He is quick to notice any signs of wear, or a missing button. I have batted many a ball into the broad Atlantic, unnerved by the fixed and calculating look with which he regards any blemish in my attire. I know perfectly well he is counting how many days it will be before he can persuade me to part with some item of my costume which has taken his fancy. George, at the present time, is rather sketchily attired in a pair of mustard yellow pants, black and white sport shoes, and a straw hat. He has remarked a couple of times about the cooler weather, and how handy a shirt would be. Which one of mine he has settled upon to round out his winter costume I'm not sure. I do know, when he is ready, he'll fox me out of it, leaving me with the notion I've done the whole thing of my own free will.

✧ ✧ ✧

MY adoption of Isaac and George is, at the moment all outgo. However, I'm studying their methods pretty closely, and want to issue fair warning to all presidents of large, prosperous concerns, that on my return to the frozen north there is every likelihood of a new vice-president appearing on somebody's payroll. How he got there may cause considerable head-scratching among the high brass, but so long as the stipend is in keeping with the dignity of a vice-presidency I shan't complain.

"FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE"

Letter To The Editor

ANGLICANS ARE NOT PROTESTANTS

Sir: In your Saturday night edition your second editorial is entitled "The Lack of Criticism". You regret this lack. I too think criticism, if kindly given, is always in order and deserves kindly consideration. I take the liberty therefore of criticising your first editorial entitled, "Make the Clergy Independent".

My criticism has nothing to do with the Taxes on Clerical Incomes nor with the solution offered, with which the editorial is concerned, but with the impression given that all clergy are either Roman Catholic or Protestant. I know this idea is largely held and widely propagated, but it does not take into account and does a grave injustice to a large number of your readers. Speaking for the clergy of the Anglican Church, whose numbers and world-wide fellowship the recent Lambeth Conference in England so conspicuously manifested, we confess to being members of the Catholic Church, and have so confessed in the Creeds of the Church from the very earliest times. The English Reformation was but a passing event in our history, and the term 'Protestant', which then arose, meant, as the Anglican Church still understands it today, anti-Papal, not anti-Catholic. The term 'Protestant' does not occur anywhere in the Worship or Rites and Ceremonies in the Prayer Book, but the name 'Catholics' is so found. We are Catholics, not Roman Catholics; but we have no quarrel with the word 'Protestant' if it is used in the sense in which all Christians are Protestants—protesting against what they think is wrong.

Further, and in consequence, your words in the editorial, "The Protestant Churches .... have deprived their clergy of many of their priestly attributes, and having made it plain that Protestant ministers are teachers and exemplars, and no more ...." certainly do not apply to the Bishops, Priests and Deacons of the Anglican Church. Our priests have never from the time the church came to the British Isles in the second or third century been deprived of their sacred functions.

In the interest of what is factual, accurate and fair in the belief and confession of many of our Christian citizens I offer this criticism of the wording of your article, believing you will be glad to receive it.

Sincerely yours,
ARCHDEACON BALFOUR.
Peterborough.

Three Farmers Reclaim 1,500 Acres From Sea

The enterprise of three farmers in Britain has reclaimed from the sea 1,500 acres for food production. This has been achieved by building a new bank 6½ miles long on the south side of the Wash, in Lincolnshire. This area contains some of the most fertile land in Britain. The remarkable aspect of this achievement is that this has been done in less than six months despite very bad weather. Fifty men have been working day and night with bulldozers and draglines. Huge creeks, some being 100 feet wide had to be closed. The bank stands eleven feet high and is composed of 500,000 tons of strong clay.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die.

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat.

And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden. (Gen. 3: 1-6, 8.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Jimmy, aged five, had learned the effective use of some profanity. His mother was at her wits' end to curb it.

He was invited to his friend's birthday party, and it seemed an opportune chance to end the problem. In Jimmy's presence she told John's mother that he was to be sent home if he should swear.

Jimmy was scrubbed, admonished, and sent off to the party. He arrived home in fifteen minutes, very angry.

"Now, what did you say?" his mother asked severely.

"I didn't say anything. The damned party is tomorrow."

✧ ✧ ✧

He was a beginner at golf, and like most beginners had managed one magnificent drive during the round. He then proceeded to bore the whole of the occupants of the club lounge with it.

"Wasn't that drive a marvel George?" he asked a friend for the umpteenth time.

"Yes," replied George, bitterly, "it's a great pity you can't take it home and have it stuffed!"

✧ ✧ ✧

Robinson had invited a friend to have a look at his garden, and in one corner the visitor noticed an enormous dog kennel with a very small dog curled up inside it.

"Why on earth have you got a kennel that size for a little dog like that?" asked the visitor.

Robinson looked round cautiously and then, lowering his voice, replied: "It's like this. I got a really big one because sometimes when I get home late I find that my wife has locked me out."

City Council authorized the move and also raised Brantford township's 1949 fire protection from the present $6,959 to $20,000. The interest and principal payments for the debentures will be provided from the annual revenue of the parks board, it was announced.

Milk Drinking Drops Sharply

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP). — Dr. L. B. Pett, chief of the Nutrition Division of the National Health Department, said yesterday milk consumption has been going down steadily for some months, and the drop is considered to be serious from a nutritional standpoint.

He said the decrease in consumption was shown in recent Bureau of Statistics figures. In a report Saturday, the Bureau said that in the first eight months of this year sales of fluid milk and cream totalled 2,687,104,000 lbs., a drop of nearly 119 million lbs. from the figure for the corresponding period of 1947.

Dr. Pett said milk consumption is 40 per cent higher than it was before the war, "so we have gained a lot since 1939."

But nutritionists would like to see another 40 or 50 per cent added to the increase.

Church Blaze Puzzles Priest

MONTMAGNY, Que., Nov. 2—(CP)— Canon Auguste Lessard, 75-year-old parish priest of this south shore municipality near Quebec City, said Monday he had called a meeting of church wardens to determine whether police should be called into investigate the flash fire that gutted Saint Thomas' Church here early Monday.

"It has not been proved that an arsonist set the fire," Canon Lessard said, "but the origin of the fire is so mysterious that it is not an impossibility."

The blaze, noticed at 2:10 a.m. raced through the large church swiftly.

Canon Lessard said the sacristan had just made his round at 1:15 a.m., and "all was normal."

When the blaze was discovered "there was fire everywhere in the sacristy," Canon Lessard said.

He said the fire apparently started near the altar on the side of the gospel.

That looks like Steve Nemeth walking in foreground in the recent Argos-Alouettes game in Montreal which Argos won 24-11.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Speaking of her discovery of a real amateur, Bobbie Rosenfeld —Globe's girl columnist—writes: "This unique individual is Isabel Bullock, member of the Toronto Fuels, champions of the Sunnyside Ladies' Softball League. It's refreshing to learn that Miss Bullock represents a combination that is truly amateur. The athletic young miss hails from Peterborough. A yearning passion to play on a senior softball team in the 'big city' brought her down from her native bailiwick whenever Fuels were skedded. She was always first in the ball park, first on the field, ready for whatever chore assigned her. By trade she was a pitcher. That she pitched and won the final game which gave her team the championship over Sinny-Lees is incidental compared to the coincidence for Ripley.

* * * * * *

"Without making the management aware of it, Miss Bullock always dipped into her own DuVal, paying her expenses from and back to Peterborough. This happened some 35 times during the season, which at current CFR rates multiplies to $166.25. (Plenty softballers I know would sneer at even signing for that sum.) Why did she do it? Because apparently somewhere she had read something about playing sports for sports' sake. Nobody can deny that Miss Bullock played it in truly amateur fashion. The story has a happy ending. By a circuitous route, the amateur actions of Miss Bullock reached the ears of sponsor D. M. Springer. You can be sure that the gal isn't now out of pocket."

Tribute Is Deserved

This tribute to Isabel (Tommy) Bullock is a worthy one — and deserved. There is no more modest or a gamer athlete in the city. And she is an all-around capable performer in sports. Goes in for softball, basketball, hockey, bowling, skiing and golf. Maybe a few others, also. Puts everything she has into whatever game she's playing, and has often pitched when every throw pained a wrenched back. Just a few seasons ago she hurled Westclox to the provincial intermediate girls' softball championship. Yes, we're glad to see her getting a deserved plug in the Toronto paper.

The New York Rangers have put out a smart hockey booklet, edited by Stan Saplin, entitled: "Inside The Blue Shirt". It contains the complete record of every player who ever performed for the Rangers. Recalling that Doug Brennan, now with the CNE out of Havelock, used to play for 'em, we looked it up. Yes, he's described as a defenceman with a left shot, five feet 10½ inches, weighing 180 pounds. After coming from a long stretch of pro hockey out on the Pacific Coast, he did his stuff from 1931 through 1934 in New York. Finished up later as an amateur with the Petes.

Dave As Star Goalie

Leafing along, we ran across the name of Dave Kerr, now a hotelman in Peterborough. The 170-pound goalie for Rangers, five feet 10 tall, was with the New Yorkers from 1934 to 1941 and compiled an impressive record. Had 40 shutouts and 82 one-goal games in the seven seasons of regular play, plus seven shutouts and eight one-goal games in playoffs. Rangers were a potent pack at that time, and Kerr was rated highly as a goalie in the NHL, being named to the all-stars in 1939-40, and also winning the Vezina Trophy at that time. He was in the longest game played at Madison Square on March 28, 1938, with Amerks and Rangers going nearly five hours.

Noticed in the a.m. paper today that Toronto Meteors tied 8-8 last night with Welland Mangs in an exhibition senior "B" puck game. The Meteors are supposed to play home games in senior "B" competition this winter in Lindsay and our clubs might be meeting them in exhibitions, group games or possibly playoffs. Bill Thoms is playing coach of the Toronto team, other players being: Goal, Cleary; defence, Thompson, Elliott; centre, Veiggel; wings, Wilson, Johnson; alternates, Gamble, Gordon, Carter, Gallagher, Williams, Delatt and Bell. Some of those puckists' names are familiar enough.

Likes Dick's Work

Over the week-end, Doug Smith, a Montreal sportscaster, gave a salute on the air to Peterborough athletics. Speaking from the big French-Canadian metroplis, Doug named Dick Ouimet as an outstanding worker here for minor sports. And Dick is an ideal example in this city, heading the large Peterborough Minor Hockey Association, being keen on football, and one of the main pushes behind the new Civic Arena. Of which he has been appointed temporary manager. Since coming here from Sarnia to play football shortly before the war, Dick has done a lot for local sports—taking time out for war service—and he has been especially prominent the last two years.

Horse Racing Plain Screwy In Great Britain

By BILL MACKLIN

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Horse racing is plain screwy in Britain.

They call it "flat racing" to differentiate from steeple-chasing, but it really isn't on the level. The tracks are seldom flat. They're gently rolling turf with sometimes pronounced upgrades as on the Derby course at Epsom Downs.

In some countries tracks are called "ovals," but oval tracks are a rarity here. Most are shaped like canes, question marks or horseshoes, and some even like pretzels.

These twisted routes explain how Deuces Wild lost a 1⅝-mile race at Alexandra Park this year, although he was leading by 20 lengths entering the stretch. The horse took a wrong turn and apprentice jockey M. Hanes couldn't straighten him out in time to keep him in the field.

Practically all experts for newspapers have aliases, a handy shield if there is a run of losing tips. Newspapers also have cute ways of giving tips. The Evening Standard has a "Cryptip" in which they hint at a winner and you confirm by turning the paper sideways and peeking at the white space in the fold.

The Daily Express has a selection feature named "Riddle-me-ree." It is the British equivalent of the singing commercial. Riddle-me gives a two line rhyme and you guess what, to wit:

"My first as exclamation might signify delight,
"My next perhaps opinion or that which lies in sight.
"My whole may win Sandown's 4 o'clock race."

That day Riddle-me was right. The answer—Good View—won.

STAR GIRL ATHLETE—Isabel (Tommy) Bullock, shown letting her fast ball go, recently pitched Toronto Fuels to the senior girls' softball title at Sunnyside. This Peterborough lass is an outstanding athlete in several lines of sport, including golf, hockey, skiing, basketball and bowling.

Universities Asked Play Hockey Title Series

SASKATOON, Nov. 2.—(CP).—Proposals for a Dominion intercollegiate hockey championship series are being presented to several universities across Canada, Bill Neale, coach of University of Saskatchewan Huskies, said Monday.

It has been suggested tentatively that a straight east-west final be played in mid-February. Regardless of the local it is felt both eastern and western universities should be able to finance the final. Neale said the cost of staging the series of a best-of-three games would run to nearly $6,000.

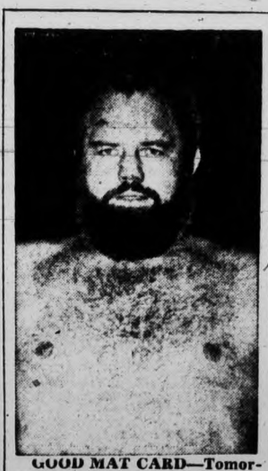
Past practice has been for eastern universities to declare a winner, unofficially name it the "Dominion" champion, and then to play an Eastern American college for the "North American" intercollegiate title.

"Western universities, on the whole, have ignored the eastern claim to the title and now feel that the east has advanced sufficiently to offer top-notch competition to the western clubs," Neale said.

Hub Macey Takes Scoring Leadership

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 2—(AP).—Hub Macey of Houston took over the scoring leadership in the United States Hocey League during the last week's play, figures from the league's headquarters showed today.

Macey has slapped in five goals and aided in eight others for 13 points. His new total put him one point ahead of Ray Powell of Kansas City and two points ahead of Bert Olmstead of Kansas City. Powell and Blades led the league at the start of last week's play.



Powell had four goals and eight assists for 12 points with Olmstead counting five goals and six assists for 11 points.

Dies From Fall

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Leonard Tucci, 22, a semi-professional football player, died on Monday night in a Syracuse hospital of injuries suffered in a football game Sunday. Tucci suffered a brain haemorrhage in a pile-up of players during a city league game.

LAND OF LAKES

Suomi, the Finnish name for Finland, means "the land of fens and lakes."

GOOD MAT CARD—Tomorrow night's lineup of mat bouts at the Brock Arena would appear to have everything fans could desire. In the main go Whipper Watson meets Ben Morgan, pictured above. In the semi-final George McNab collides with Wladyslaw Talun. In the first bout Jack Moore meets Ralph Martin.

Watson may find the going plenty scratchy when he tries his smart aerial tactics on Big Ben, who has yet to be pinned in his Canadian campaign. It shapes up a hard battle.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Starry right winger Johnny Wilson became Windsor Spitfires' first major casualty of the season last Saturday night when he suffered a broken collar bone during a junior Ontario Hockey Association game at Galt. The mishap occurred when he crashed into the boards.

The accident is expected to keep the player benched for at least two months.

John, along with brother Lawrence, and Doug McGinn, form the league-leading Spits' second line.

Defenceman Ralph Toohy will make his first appearance with Moncton Hawks of the Maritime Senior League at Halifax tomorrow, team Manager G. D. Montgomery said in Moncton Monday night.

Toohy, presently playing outside wing with Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football League, will travel to Hamilton for their Saturday game against Hamilton Wildcats. If Alouettes advance into the Big Four he will remain with the football team until the season is finished.

Toohy played hockey last year with Seattle in the Pacific Coast League.

Sarnia Wanderers rallied in the last half to defeat London R.C.-A.S.C. Falcons 16-11 in the final game of the O.R.F.U. Senior B. Grid League in London, Ont., Monday. The victory was the third straight for the Wanderers, and enabled them to move into a first-place tie with Falcons.

The cases of two United States Olympic team ice skaters, accused of unsportsmanlike conduct, was considered yesterday by a special committee of the Amateur Skating Union at Milwaukee. The A.S.U. suspended Ken Bartholomew of St. Paul, Minn., and Ray Blum of Nutley, N.J., and then named a five-man committee to conduct a hearing on "instances which occurred in Europe during the Olympics and on the way over aboard ship."

The Amateur Athletic Association of Great Britain yesterday named Scotsman Alastair McCorquodale, fourth in the 100-metre Olympic sprint, as the outstanding British track and field athlete of the year. He will receive the C. N. Jackson Memorial Cup.

Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds today retains his top place in the scoring list of the American Hockey League, it was announced at New York. The Perth, left-winger, who led the A.H.L. scoring last season, has a total of 18 points made up of 10 goals and eight assists. Sid Smith of Pittsburgh Hornets is right behind with 17 points. Murdo MacKay of Buffalo Bisons and George (Wingy) Johnston of New Haven Ramblers each have 16 points.

Lew Hayman, manager-coach of the Montreal Alouettes Football Club, was married Monday at Montreal to Joan Spencer of Toronto. Rabbi Harry Stern officiated.

Senior B Group To Be Launched

BRANTFORD, Nov. 2 (CP)—Late Monday night a change was made in the date of the organization meeting of the proposed senior "B" group of the Ontario Hockey Association.

The meeting was postponed until Monday, Nov. 8, owing to two teams requiring more time in which to perfect their club organization.

Herb Jarvis of Grimsby, one of the leading figures in organizing the ground, expects to meet with delegates from Grimsby, St. Catharines, Brantford, Georgetown, Welland, Woodstock and Preston. While not all the cities mentioned are certain starters it is known they are interested and promised representation at the meeting.

Russell McLeod, Preston, feels he can pick up a good club from places adjacent to Preston that have no senior B clubs and get a strong team.

St. Catharines reports the industrial league is not operating this season and enough good players could be selected there from last year's local circuit to ice a good club.

Grimsby is well set for both ice and players and wants to play. Welland may be doubtful. Woodstock's hesitation, if any stems from the fact artificial ice will not be available to start the season.

RCMP Musical Ride Back NY Horse Show

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(CP).—Society, fashion and glamor set will make its annual pilgrimage to Madison Square Garden today to view the formal opening of the 60th annual horse show.

The show, which will continue for eight days, will be highlighted by a special military salute given to Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan, by the military jumping teams of Canada, France and Mexico.

For the first time in years, however, the mink and money mob will not see the United States military team, since it abandoned the sport and broke up its team soon after the Olympic games.

In all, 17 States and Canada are represented among the exhibitors of some 500 horses. Of these, 444 are entered in the open jumping, hunter, saddle and harness classes.

A total of $30,000 in prizes has drawn some 270 exhibitors.

The famed musical ride of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, not seen here since before the war, will be back to add a crowning touch of color. Canada also will be represented by entries in the jumping events of the military team and civilian contenders.

Ballard also is entered in the civilian events and the other Dominion entrants are Vernon G. Gard, Montreal; A. B. C. Farms of Brampton; and J. Lance Rumble of Durham.

NHL All-Star Team To Take To Ice Without Practice

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 — (AP). — They scarcely need it, but the National Hockey League All-Stars probably will take the ice without practice for their second annual match against the Toronto Maple Leafs before a capacity 17,000 at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

The Maple Leafs, who bowed to the Chicago Black Hawks, 2-1, at the Stadium Sunday night, stayed in town for the game. They worked out Monday and have another drill scheduled for to-day.

Most of the 18 All-Stars will drift into town to-day and early Wednesday and Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit apparently has little chance to round them up for a test flight on the Stadium ice.

Chicago's Doug Bentley and Gaye Stewart, of course, are already here.

The visiting contingent includes goalie Bill Durnan, defencemen Butch Bouchard and Ken Reardon, centre Elmer Lach and wing Maurice Richard, all of Montreal's Canadiens; five Detroit Red Wings — Bud Poile, defencemen Jack Stewart and Bill Quackenbush, and wingers Ted Lindsay, Gordon Howe; goalie Frank Brimsek, wing Woody Dumart, and centre Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins; and the New York Rangers' defenceman Neil Colville, centre Ed Laprade, and wing Tony Leswick.

Coaches Choos

The 1947-1948 All-Star first team as chosen by the league coaches included wingers Lindsay and Richard, centre Lach, defencemen Stewart and Quackenbush, and Toronto's Turk Broda as goalie.

That will ostensibly be Coach Ivan's starting lineup, excepting of course Broda, who will be in the nets for his own team, last season's league and Stanley Cup champions.

Boston's Brimsek, last season's all-star alternate goalie, will get the starting call at that post.

Proceeds of the game will go to the league's pension fund, with a portion earmarked for the Daily News' Veteran's Fund.

In last year's inaugural all-start contest at Toronto, the Maple Leafs bowed to the hand-picked performers 4-3. It was a costly exhibition for the Black Hawks, whose speedy Bill Mosienko suffered a broken leg.

Ottawa Man Belts Drake To Canvas

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Toronto's Alan McFater, 136 pounds, Monday night dropped a five-round lightweight amateur boxing decision to Ottawa's ace lightweight, Ronnie Lacelle, 139, by the slim margin of one point.

The win ended McFater's winning streak which stretches back into 1946.

In the semi-finals, Oshawa's Stoney Drake was belted to the canvas at 1.25 of the third round by Bob St. Jacques of Ottawa. Drake took a nine count in the second round and another in the third.

Another Oshawa puncher, Bud Henry, was dropped in the preliminaries by Mac Plouffe, hard-hitting Ottawa lightweight. Henry went to the floor for nine counts in the second and two in the fourth before losing the decision in the fifth.

3 Joes Toast Of 1948 NHL Scoring Race

MONTREAL, Nov. 2 (CP) — A forward line in training camp a month ago was made up of three guys named Joe today is the toast of the National Hockey League.

Official NHL statistics released today show Boston Bruins' red-hot attacking unit with Eddie Sandford at centre between Grant Warwick and Pete Babando running one-two-three in the scoring race.

Sandford, a big, long-striding pivotman just two years out of junior ranks, shares top spot with Warwick, the mighty-mite Bruins obtained from New York in a trade for Billy Taylor. Each has 10 points.

In third place with eight points is Babando, another second-year man with the Bruins.

Ted Lindsay of Detroit, up near the top of the scoring list all last season, shares fourth place with two other players, Toronto's Ted Kennedy and Billy Reay of Montreal Canadiens. Each has seven points.

Sandford, Babando and Lindsay share goal-getting honors with five apiece, while Warwick tops the assists department with six.

In seven games netminder Harry Lumley of Detroit has allowed only seven goals for an amazing goal-a-game average. Lumley and Bill Durnan of Montreal are tied for shutout honors with two each.

Murph Chamberlain, Canadiens' old warhorse, still heads the penalty parade with 19 minutes. In second place a minute behind is last year's leader, Bill Barilko of Toronto.

"Character Builder"

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—Sport, and particularly hockey, as a character builder was upheld Monday night in a speech by Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League. "In my opinion, hockey now has reached the point where it is part of our way of life," he told the Young Men's Canadian Club. "It is a national asset and it will, I hope, continue to grow."

Kroehlers Trip Marlboros 4-2

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Marlboros and Stratford Kroehlers battled it out for the cellar spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior race last night, while the rest of the pack were idle.

Marlboros, although sparked by a solid performance by star forward George Armstrong, failed to come up with a win as Kroehlers defeated them 4-2.

The victory moved Stratford into a fifth-place, three-way tie with Guelph Biltmores and Galt Rockets, with four points, 11 points behind the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees.

Toronto grabbed a 2-1 lead in the first period on goals by Armstrong and "Red" McKenneil. Dinny Flanagan notched Stratford's counter.

Bibber O'Hearn and Joe Beda put Kroehlers on the long end of a 3-2 count in the second frame. O'Hearn got his second goal of the night when he beat Roy McMeekin on a pass from Flanagan.

Two games are slated on the OHA bill tonight. The third-place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen clash with the second-spot Owen Sound Mercurys in the senior loop. Guelph Biltmores take on Galt Rockets in the junior circuit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Seabrook Feted On 61st Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seabrook, who recently marked their 61st wedding anniversary, members of the Belmont Women's Institute, friends and neighbors of the couple held a surprise party for them in Belmont Township Hall on Friday night.

Following the program, Mrs. Harry Scott invited Mr. and Mrs. Seabrook to the platform where a table centred with a large wedding cake adorned with 61 candles, and white candles in silver holders on either side, was placed under a large white bell from which white streamers were brought to the wall and caught with clusters of white bells.

The couple were presented with a woollen blanket and lace tablecloth. The presentation was made by Mrs. R. Wrightly with Mrs. W. Harris reading the address, president and secretary respectively of the Belmont Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Seabrook were married on October 7, 1887 by Rev. John Cooper, an Anglican minister. All of their married life has been spent at Preneveau with the exception of the first year of their marriage, in McGill settlement.

Mrs. Seabrook was formerly Johanna Harnden, a daughter of the late Joshua Harnden and Rebecca Allewell. She was born in Haldimand township, Northumberland county. She was the first truant officer for the Township of Belmont and served many years as secretary-treasurer of the Belmont Women's Institute.

Isaac Anderson of Round Lake wa chairman for the evening.

Violin and piano selections by Gerald and Donald Young of Campbellford were well received and they were recalled several times. The boys also played a piano duet. Vocal numbers by Lillan and Billy Toms with the latter playing the guitar accompaniments. Mrs. W. J. Corneil sang two solos for which she played harp accompaniment. Violin selections were given by Robert Anderson and his son Harry Anderson with Mrs. William Anderson at the piano. They also played for the dance which followed the program. Other numbers were readings by Mrs. G. Hartin and Carol Anderson. Community singing with Mrs. W. Anderson at the piano.

French Gansgters Thrive On Black Market Money

By ALAN HARVEY

PARIS, Nov. 2 (CP)—A sinister breed of "Spiv" thrives in unhappy, post-war France.

He lounges on street corners, cigaret in corner of mouth, waiting to peddle black-market goods or exchange Fre[illegible] dollars.

Tourists in the so-called "American quarter" around the Place de l'Opera know him well. He does his business brazenly. His target is persons whose clothes suggest North America and his approach is standard.

As you pass the Spiv falls in step beside you, asking in muffled tones whether you have any money to "change." The next tack, unless rebuffed immediately, is negotiation. This usually results in an offer of 400 to lar (official rate 300 to the dollar).

Canadian currency, not quite as popular, may draw up to 400 francs.

It's a dirty business, but the Spivs say they're seldom caught. And once they have American dollars, it's easy to obtain up to 480 francs for them from rich Frenchmen going to the United States or Canada.

The street-corner profiteers look like North American gangsters, and probably many of them are. Despite the fair "living" they make, they dress disreputably and might be barred from a corner saloon.

The Paris variety has been compared by students of the French scene to maggots, "crawling on a decaying organism."

They speak fair, sometimes, flawless, english. One boasted to this correspondent of spending years in Montreal, Quebec, St. Johns, Que., and Halifax, "picking up a dollar here and a dollar there." He was one of six moneychanger who buttonholed me during a 100-yard stroll along the Boulevard des Capucines, past the popular Cafe de la Paix.

ONTARIO'S PROSPERITY DEPENDS ON ELECTRICITY

10 EASY WAYS YOU CAN SAVE ELECTRICITY

1. Turn off all unnecessary lights. Don't forget about lights in empty rooms, halls, basement, attic, porch and garage.
2. Keep lamps, reflectors and shades clean. Dusty fixtures waste as much as 25 percent of your light.
3. Use "high" heat sparingly on new model ranges. A lower heat is most efficient in many cooking needs. Always turn elements off immediately after cooking is finished.
4. Use oven for cooking complete meals. Only one element is required for the oven process while three or four elements are needed for the cooking surface.
5. Defrost refrigerator regularly, when ¼" of frost has accumulated on the evaporator.
6. Do not overload washer with clothes or hot water. Overloading is a strain on the washer motor, thus using more electricity. Fill washer to water line only.
7. Where water is electrically heated, use it sparingly. Keep hot water taps turned all the way off. A drop a second from a leaking hot water tap can waste as much as 175 gallons a month.
8. Don't forget your electrical appliances—toaster, vacuum cleaner, electric iron, coffee-maker — turn them off when not in use.
9. Portable electric heaters are a heavy drain on electric current. Avoid using them if at all possible.
10. At all times, follow instructions for all electrical products carefully. The manufacturers' instructions are designed to give you the most economical use from your appliances.

CGE Donates $2,500 In Aid Of Arena Fund

Largest singe donation to the Civic Arena found was made over the week-end by the Canadian General Electric Company when Ian McRae, works manager, presented a cheque for $2,500 to Percy Killingbeck, employee of the plant, and a hard-working member of the Civic Arena committee.

This large donation put the total receipts for the campaign over the $34,000 mark, with but $6,000 to go to reach the final objective of $40,000.

The present campaign, with an objective of $20,000 is being brought to a close this week. While several thousand dollars short of its objective the Civic Arena committee is highly gratified at the results and hopes to raise the balance during the forthcoming winter.

Every Little Helps

"I want to help, will you see that this money goes where it is urgently needed?" The little note arrived at headquarters Monday morning with a cheque for five dollars. Not an impressive donation, compared with some of the gifts made to the Fund which run into four figures. But members of the committee are as happy over these smaller gifts, which often represent a sacrifice when living costs are so high, as they are over the bigger contribution of a large firm.

The committee, who will of course carry on until the Arena is completely paid for, wishes to thank all citizens, all firms and all organizations who have donated so generously, not only to the campaign closing his week, but also to the one which preceded it.

Without the help of even the smallest contributors the project would never have been able to reach its present stage. The committee's dream of completely financing the arena through public subscription is now almost a reality. By mid-winter or next spring at the very latest, the committee will be able to hand over the keys to the city, who will then operate the arena as an entirely public-owned and public-operated project.

Further donations made to the fund during the past few days are as follows:

Canadian General Electric Co., $2,500; Peterborough Business College, $10; Dr. Penhall, $10; Albert Dryland, $10; Dunn Tailors, $25; Regan & Shaughnessy, $20; Peterborough Bus Lines, $100; Deyell's Refrigeration, $10; Dr. A. Mitchell, $10; B. Barns, $25; R. V. Dawson, $25; G. Hutchins, $10; Mr. and Mrs. Halcrow, $10; Joe Cook, $10; O. A. DeGraw, $25; D. E. Dennison, $10; Lucky Strike Bait Works, $50; Imperial Optical Co., $25; Braund & O'Toole, $15; American Optical Co., $10; R. C. Braund, $25; Modern Tailor Shop, $25; M. Collins, $10; United Co-Operative, $10; Ken Gadd, $5.

WINNER of the Peterborough Rotary Club car on Friday evening was Miss Marjorie Cameron, 738 Stewart St., shown behind the wheel and receiving the keys from J. L. Thompson, treasurer of the finance committee. Miss Jean Cameron, her sister, sits beside Miss Marjorie and E. L. Sackville. Right, is ready to hand over the car insurance policy. Miss Cameron purchased the single lucky ticket at home from a bread salesman.

Need $1,500,000 To Complete Civic Hospital

Outcome of three or four meetings with representatives of the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital and of enquiries in Toronto, the amount of money required for the completion of the new hospital was adopted at $1,500,000 Monday night by the special hospital committee.

The question simply repeated itself, how much money should we ask for in the bylaw that has to be submitted to the ratepayers?

Hospital costs and funds are outlined as follows:

Main building	$1,914,280
Power house and laundry	304,425
Additional east wing	490,500
Nurses' residence	479,040
Furnishings and equipment	376,740
Total cost, estimated	$3,564,985
Capital available	1,800,000
Balance	$1,764,985

To the credit column should be added the money that is expected to be received for the present hospital that is the old Nicholls unit, leaving as a round figure $1,500,000.

The council proposes to borrow the money by issue of debentures. They were informed by the Ontario Municipal Board that, because of the large sum involved, the approval of the ratepayers would have to be obtained.

The Raine committee in a motion by Aldermen Swanston and Grant Miller recommended that a bylaw be prepared authorizing the borrowing of $1,500,000 for the completion of the hospital. It will be passed at a special meeting of the council Thursday night, following a session of the finance committee, and will have to be ratified by the taxpayers.

The committee is arranging to present to the qualified voters the facts of progress of the hospital with a statement of expenditures and also of the funds that have been received from various sources.

Attending the meeting last night were: Ald. Raine, chairman, Mayor Ovens, Aldermen Swanston, Grant Miller, Anglesey, Waddell, D. Miller, Armstrong, and T. T. Rodger and Dr. G. S. Cameron of the Board of Governors.

The members of the council later voted unanimously for the reference of the bylaw to the ratepayers.

Industrial Leaders Oppose Pulling of Switches; Renew Appeal to Save Power

Only as a final recourse will Peterborough switches be pulled to comply with the new electric power quota of 229,700 kilowatt-hours daily from Monday to Friday inclusive. That was the consensus of the largely attended meeting of industrial and commercial power users sponsored by the Utilities Commission Monday afternoon in the city council chamber.

Voluntary co-operation is going to be continued this week with renewed appeal to the public to save power. Tighten the vigilance against waste of electricity in the homes and stores and shops and offices.

If Peterborough should be forced to cut its power consumption two hours in a working day, as it was pointed out, the loss in wages would be 25 per cent. a week, ten hours out of forty.

The Utilities Commission and heads of industry are anxious to avoid any loss of wage-earning time. Some of the larger factories have effected substantial saving of power while maintaining plant operations. Opinion of the meeting was that drastic intervention by the Hydro-Electric Commission ordering the pulling of switches could still be avoided if the public would realize that everyone should be active in this power-conserving campaign.

Remove Light Bulbs

One of the minor suggestions, particularly for homes, stores, offices and public buildings, was the removal of light bulbs where there are more than one in a circuit, at least enough of them to help reduce the load, for the simple reason that every little bit helps.

Gordon Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission, summed up the spirit of the meeting, at its close in the undertaking, assuming increased co-operation from the community as a whole: "We'll try our darndest to get more voluntary saving this week, and see what we can do."

That is the extent of the respite for this week. The daily record announced from Utilities headquarters will indicate the progress in avoiding the cuts in power which have been applied in some cities of Ontario.

David Leether of Peterborough-Brinton Carpet quoted a Guelph newspaper reporting groups of industries taking turns in lay-offs. Much the same plan was reported from Brantford recently.

"We don't want to hear any talk about pulling switches," was the comment of J. E. Girven, assistant works manager of Canadian General Electric Company. That was the general spirit of the 70 or more of the larger power consumers in the city.

Mr. Matthews recalled that Peterborough's first quota of 260,000 kwh a day was reduced to 240,000 and then this week to 229,700 kwh daily, Mon. to Fri. "We have had a great deal of help, and in particular from the Quaker Oats Co. and the C.G.E. We are actually buying power from the Quaker Oats, and the C.G.E. have been producing extra power from their steam turbine burning coal that is a comparatively costly method. They have reduced the load considerably but at cost to themselves."

Utilities have discovered during the last few days that the most electricity is used during the hours between 12 noon and 1 p.m.

May Be Cut Lower

"The new quota means that we will have to pull switches probably for an hour and a half a day if we cannot make sufficient saving on a voluntary basis. You don't want to see switches pulled, and we don't want to pull them. And, we have no way of guaranteeing that this is the last cut in our daily power quota."

John H. Vernor said Western Clock Co. was co-operating with the Utilities Commission in every way they could manage. "We don't like the idea of shortening time any more than you do. All our heating boilers are working with motors and condensation pumps. If there has got to be any cut we would prefer to have it at the beginning or the end of a shift, 11 a.m. or 4 p.m. Or start at 2 p.m. instead of 1 p.m. At the end of a shift it could be worked out with least convenience."

Mr. Girven said that in his own office he had taken out four bulbs leaving two when light was needed, instead of six. "Surely we can do something to keep away from pulling switches." He said a man, not at C.G.E., had expressed concern to him about losing a day's pay. This man mentioned a blaze of lights at the Collegiate Institute and in some stores.

Canadian General Electric has saved 310,500 kilowatts more than its required cut of 22 per cent since Sept. 22. The total saving at the plant was 620,000 kwh. C.G.E. produced last week 88,200 kilowatts "the Utilities did not have to supply us" by using our steam turbines to the best advantage."

Mr. Girven said C.G.E. felt that it could save power by operating from midnight to 7 a.m., "but some other people have to help, too. I think the manufacturers have done a good job, but the power load for lighting should be brought down. If stores would take out one-third to one-half of their light bulbs they could still see their price tags. Coming to work this morning before 8 o'clock there were some stores and offices blazing like July. I think we can still do something more voluntarily if everybody will get into it."

Ernie Braund, president of the Business Men's Association, said that if the merchants were asked to close the full day Wednesday "I think we'll get better co-operation than before."

"We want an additional 10 per cent saving to keep within the new quota," Mr. Matthews said.

H. L. Reynolds, Park St., south, remarked that some people were satisfied to keep on using more power than they needed, if others were doing something to save it. He mentioned various types of small business that could help the cause of economy in electricity. Mr. Reynolds mentioned the method of compulsion as a means of bringing others into line.

"Compulsory methods are out," Mr. Matthews said. "We don't want to go into that. Even if we send one of our men around to the stores they think we are policing them. That should come from among the merchants themselves."

Pete King said he believed the hotels were doing the best they could to co-operate with the Commission. They have posted notices in the rooms asking guests to help.

Mr. McCarrell said that if Quaker Oats had taken credit for the power they had delivered to the city their reduction would have amounted to 74 per cent. They are putting back 15,000 kilowatts a day or 153,000 for a 10-day period. Quakers Oats power cut is 34 per cent.

Mr. McCarrell said Quaker Oats had to operate continuously 24 hours a day. "When we shut down we are in trouble. The men lose time and we mess up production. If industry had to shut down an hour or more a day, there would be that much less money to go to the retail stores."

Hot Stove Fires Clothing Drying On Rack

An overheated stove that ignited some nearby clothes is believed responsible for a $200 fire on Monday night at the home of Norman R. Bugg, 563 Brioux Ave.

The clothes had been hung to dry on a rack behind the coal-wood stove in the kitchen. Mrs. Bugg left the room for about five minutes while she attended to her baby.

When she returned the clothes were in flames and the wall behind the stove was also burning. Before firemen were able to extinguish the blaze it had crept up the wall and across the ceiling.

The flames did not burn through either the wall or ceiling but the intense heat shot up through a register in an upper bedroom floor and burned a blanket which had been placed to dry on a nearby chair.

Apart from this freak upstairs blaze which destroyed the blanket and blistered the chair, damage was confined to the walls and ceiling of the kitchen.

Fire Chief George Smith estimated total damage at $200.

OCT. CUSTOMS DOWN

A general easing of the excise tax, particularly on theatre tickets, is believed to be the chief reason for a small drop in the total Peterborough customs and excise receipts for this October. In 1947 receipts were $376,955.36 compared to the past month's figure of $317,581.35. For the first 10 months of 1947 $3,630,523.75 was received compared with the 1948 total of $4,740,090.66.

CNR Subway At Oval Estimated To Cost $15,300

CNR bridge engineers estimate at $15,300 the cost of a subway under their siding south of the Park Hill Road bridge at Nicholls Oval. This project is an elaboration of an original proposal to provide suitable accommodation for picnics at the park in the north end of Ashburnham. Probably it was first conceived by Robert S. Cotton in his aldermanic term, and was outlined in its first form as a suggestion to make the Oval more attractive for picnics of local industrial, church and other groups and also for excursions which might come here from other places.

A permanent stage for concerts was a dtail recently completely by Eastwood Construction Co. It is concrete structure that cost more than $9,000 in its present stage. The money is being obtained from the City Trust Commission. Presumably some covering will be required in the final appearance of the stand. There was one suggestion that it might be equipped as a band shell.

In the meantime local opinion has become set against the continued use of Inverlea Park as a bathing beach. On the opposite side of the river, and below the Park Hill Road bridge, a stretch of beach is considered more suitable, especially as a safer beach for children.

Progress of thinking combines the east bank swimming place and its development with the concrete stage covering rooms that could be used for dressing purposes. It was regarded as dual investment, — concert and picnic purposes at the Oval and swimming at the beach. But, the C.N.R. siding to the Quaker Oats mills parallels the river from Auburn.

Between the park and the water front it loomed as a danger to children. To avoid it, the subway under the C.N.R. was suggested. The company was asked for an estimate of cost. Their report came to the council last night, $15,300 for an eight foot subway allowing headroom of 7 ft. 6 in. The C.N.R. letter was referred to the board of works.

CGE Employee Said Missing

Gerald Rose, 19, 593 Homewood Ave., an employee of the C.G.E. left his home at noon Monday to go to work, and has not been heard from since.

Today police are searching for the young man, who according to his sister, was worrying over something when he left home. He is described as being 5 ft. 8" tall, has dark curly hair, fair complexion and weighs about 145 pounds.

He likes walking and his favorite area is out toward Mount St. Joseph and Jackson Park. Any person who has information that might help locate this young man is asked to telephone 3770.

Suffers Leg Injuries When Struck By Car

Otto Lee, Patterson Street, is in Civic Hospital as a result of injuries received on Monday night when he was knocked down by a car driven by Wilfred Davies, King George Street. Both legs are injured and an X-ray is being taken to-day.

Davies told police he was driving south on Reid Street and saw two men, one of whom was Lee, start to cross the road from east to west. He said he swung his car in an effort to avoid Lee, but struck him with the right headlight knocking him to the pavement.

The injured man was taken by ambulance to Civic Hospital where he was attended to by Dr. J. E. Howes.

PC's Douglas Farthing and Claire McGillen investigated.

Want Decision On Memorial Site

"A definite decision regarding the location and the financing of the Memorial Centre project before this year's council dissolves," was requested in a letter to the council Monday night by Joseph A. Jebson, chairman of the Centre committee.

Accompanied by C. B. Neal, Ald. Doug Miller and J. H. Eastwood, Mr. Jebson recently visited the new arena at Guelph. He suggested that Ald. Miller might make a report of their impressions.

"On our return each of us was more convinced than ever that our Memorial Centre should be a job under way," Mr. Jebson wrote as a preface to his suggestion to the council. His letter was referred to the finance committee which meets Thursday night.

CHECK COAL GAS FUMES

A faulty furnace which allowed coal gas to escape caused firemen to go to the residence of C. Jensen, 476 McKellar St., on Monday night.

Monday Below Hydro Quota

Peterborough's use of electric power Monday was 206,000 kwh., about the average for the first day of the week when some of the factories are shut down.

The figure for Monday last week was 204,000 kwh. Several weeks ago it was 164,000 kwh. The quota for the day was 229,700. Peterborough is getting off on the right foot this week.

Kitchener has adopted a plan of group lay-offs. They divided their main industries into five groups. For example, group three comprises Lang Tanning, Dominion Rubber (textiles division), Kaufman Rubber, Blue Top Brewery and Doon Twines. That group lay off work Thursdays. The other groups take their turns on the four other days.

Most of them work the five day week. They can make up their fifth day by working Saturdays. This is an expedient which still demands a great deal of power saving by the commercial and domestic users.

Hit-Run Driver Clipped Selkirk Car

COBOURG, Nov. 2—(ENS). — Laverne Hoy of Kendall pleaded guilty to two charges of leaving the scene of an accident, when he appeared in police court yesterday, the magistrate imposing a fine of $50 and costs on each charge. He was also fined $10 and costs for having liquor in an illegal place.

Hoy was charged by Chief W. Graham of Port Hope with failing to remain at the scene of an accident at Port Hope last week when his car struck one driven by Clayton Selkirk of Peterborough. Provincial police charged him likewise after his car was later involved in a collision with one driven by Miss M. Minaker of Oshawa.

Collar Bone Broken In Kick By Horse

WARKWORTH, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Miss Annetta Adams of Warkworth was taken to Belleville Hospital, after being kicked by a horse. There it was found she had four ribs and collar bone broken. She also received a bad cut to her head.

Three Men Rig Hot Dog Stands In Garages Get 4-Star Rating From Hallowe'en Crowds

This is the story of three men who are still boys at heart, who still regard Hallowe'en as an institution to be observed to the full, no locking of front doors, no turning out light. No, sir, they were kids once, and they can't let the eve of All Hallows pass without proper ceremony and conduct.

The first is George Solmes, purchasing agent at the CGE. He must have become engulfed by a wave of nostalgia as Hallowe'en approached because he introduced a rather novel type of entertainment for the youngsters near his home on Gordon Avenue.

He rigged up a counter in his garage, hung out welcome sign, laid in a supply of doughnuts, hot dogs and buns and several gallons of apple juice. Word spread quickly in the neighborhood and it was not long before Mr. Solmes was doing a land-office business. The crowd was orderly, and merry, and reports indicate a good time was had by all — particularly the host who not only enjoyed himself, but has won a four-star rating with the gang in the neighborhood.

Up at the north-end the two other hosts went into action. Charlie Doughty and Charlie Levine put their heads together, and decided Levine's garage would make an ideal hot dog stand. So they went into business — without profits. They ordered 24 dozen buns and enough weiners to fill them, a big jar mustard, and proper cooking facilities. Then they donned aprons, high chef hats and went into action like two midway barkers. The kids must have had good ears because they came for blocks around, and polished off mustard-smeared hot dogs at an amazing rate. The business venture was a complete success. The two men were dog-tired, and their only kudos was the salute from the boys and girls—"Gee, they're swell guys."

Flying Game Wardens Keep Winter Watch On Fish, Fur

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 2—(CP).—Flying game wardens will patrol the lonely reaches of Ontario's north country this winter to guard the province's resources of fish and fur. With two of the new beaver-type aircraft and eight Norseman planes, long the workhorses of bush flying, the rangers will operate from nine provincial air service bases, keeping special watch for poachers.

George E. Ponsford, head of the air service, said in an interview at provincial headquarters here that the winter's combined operations by the Air Service and the Lands and Forests Department will mean a great deal to the game protection cause. The joint effort was announced recently by Lands Minister Harold Scott.

"We are keeping in very close touch with the work of the Lands Department's fish and wildlife division," Mr. Ponsford said. "And I think the results of our efforts will be beneficial to Northern Ontario. We are trying to co-operate in every way with the Department."

Winter Operations

In past years, the Ontario air service, which now boasts a fleet of 30 planes, found its main job in detecting and fighting bush fires. This year it will carry out its first large-scale winter operations.

Air service bases scheduled to operate this winter are those at Fort Frances, Sioux Lookout, Geraldton, Port Arthur, Biscotasing, Gogama, Sudbury, Algonquin Park and Chapleau.

Planes used in summer service have completed their season's work and returned here from Pickle Lake, Fort Frances, Sioux Lookout, Ignace, Pays Plat, Orient Bay, Caribou Lake, Twin Lakes, Oba Lake, Kapuskasing and Timagami. The seaplanes from Biscotasing and Red Lake have yet to set down here for the winter.

Jane Russell Says No More Cheesecake

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2. (CP)—A woeful cry has arisen in press agent circles. The moan echoes back from the Hollywood hills and can be heard above the sound of dropped potions. It is the reaction of publicists to the news: Jane Russell says no more cheesecake."

Yes, Jane, the Queen of the Leg (etc.) art, has put her shapely foot down and says she'll do no posing in airy costumes on leopard skins and haystacks. I hastened out to the San Fernando Valley to confirm the report.

"That's right," the shapely brunette replied. "I had seven years of posing and I'm tired of of it."

Aha! Is this because she thinks leg art is deleterious to her acting career?

"No," she replied, tossing my theory to the four winds, "I just think leg art is stupid. When I see other girls posing in shorts for some silly gag, I think it's ridiculous."

"Yes, but that's because you're not a male," I ventured. She shrugged the remark into oblivion.

A Decided Uplift

Leg art or no, the Russell career is getting a decided uplift. The third film of her career ("Paleface" with Bob Hope) will be released shortly. She is now playing Belle Starr in "Montana Belle" with George Brent.

Next, she is supposed to do "It's Only Money" for her boss, Howard Hughes. Co-starring are Frank Sinatra and Groucho Marx. This seems an odd casting since Groucho is not particularly her type. And as for Frank, his build will hardly bear comparison with Jane's.

"I'll look as though I could throw him a few blocks," she remarked.

The cheesecake ban makes it appear that the gal is out to destroy the Jane Russell legend —that she's merely a photographable form.

One part of the J. R. legend is no fiction. That is her famed figure. Here are the up-to-date measurements: hips, 39 inches; waist, 25; bust 38.

Discard School Plan

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) — Toronto investigated—and rejected—Monday a plan to send the city's 80,000 children to school on Saturday as a possible means of shifting some hydro consumption to the week-ends. Trustee C. R. Conquergood said the scheme would "be of no value whatsoever as a means of saving power and would cause too many dislocations."

FOUND GUILTY — George Szautner, 22-year-old Muenster, Sask., youth who was convicted of kidnapping by a Moose Jaw court last week. According to evidence, Szautner, using a toy pistol, kidnapped a Moose Jaw nurse and Saskatoon salesman in an attempt to force the nurse to marry him.

FLOATING SCHOOL—Next summer, the Fairmile class ship, shown here, will cruise the St. Lawrence with young Quebecers training for jobs in the Canadian merchant navy. The 86-ton, 114-foot craft was originally built for the Canadian navy but now has been converted to serve as a floating classroom for the Quebec government's Marine School at Rimouski. The ship has been christened "Le St. Barnabe."

Western Sectors Of Berlin Settle Into Blockade Routine

BERLIN, Nov. 2 (Reuters). — After more than 100 days of economic isolation, the Western sectors of Berlin have settled into a blockade routine planned and implemented by the Western Allied military governments and the German city administration.

To the newly-arrived visitors, the British, United States, and French sectors do not present a picture of a besieged fortress. Western Berlin is separated from the Eastern sector only by huge signposts.

Hundreds of thousands of Berliners cross the invisible demarcation line daily on their way to work or home. Street cars, subways and railroads carry other thousands across sector boundaries.

At 6 p.m., however, the picture changes.

While in the Soviet sector traffic continues uninterrupted, sudden quiet descends on two-thirds of the city which form the three Western sectors. Street cars and subways abruptly stop and iron gates close on stations in Western Berlin.

Must Stay Home

Electricity shortage, the most widely felt consequence of the blockade, compels Western Berliners to remain home at night or walk. Only the Soviet-controlled elevated railway runs on until late at night because it was technically impossible for the Russians to separate the Western Berlin part of the track from that in the Soviet sector. As a result, elevated railway trains are grossly overcrowded. After dark, airlift pilots can easily distinguish the Western sectors from the remainder of Berlin. The latter is brightly illuminated while the Western sectors are in darkness, broken only by patches of light at Gatow and Tempelhof airfields and in those districts which are supplied with electricity for two hours after midnight.

Food rations in Western Berlin are fully met by means of the air lift. But housewives nevertheless face many insurmountable problems every day.

No food is legally available in addition to the rations, and the black market takes full advantage of the blockade to demand extortionate prices for whatever additional food is smuggled into Western Berlin.

But in spite of all difficulties, neither the German nor the Allied Communists have allowed the blockade to engender fear of despondency. Theatres and other places of entertainment are never short of visitors and the art of cheerfully making the best of a bad situation is highly developed.

Sold Nails Too High

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) — Clare Sherratt, building supplies retailer, Monday was fined $500 and costs at nearby Port Credit on a charge of selling nails at a price not "reasonable and just." N. L. Mathews, Prices Board counsel, said from Dec. 15, 1947 to June 15, 1948, Sherratt sold 1,077 kegs of nails for $17,065, a profit of $3.09 a keg against a normal profit of 85 cents a keg.

SUSAN FLETCHER, CBC movie critic of Toronto and Vancouver, boards a plane at Vancouver for Hollywood where she has been signed to play the role of a Yorkshire scullery maid in "Secret Garden." Get More Power From New Unit

SARNIA, Nov. 2—(CP)—Another 30,000 horsepower surged into Ontario's burdened electric power system Monday with the opening of a steam-generating plant at the Polymer Corporation.

The plant turns out 60-cycle power, converted into 25 cycles for the provincial grid.

But Hydro officials said the new unit would not solve the province's critical power shortage. It would provide only enough power for a city of 25,000 people.

The generating plant later will be part of the province's plan to convert to 60-cycle power.

Polymer, a Federal Government corporation, was built during the war as a synthetic rubber and chemical plant. In addition to supplying power for its own industry, the new generating plant will serve other industries along the St. Clair River.

TRADE LINK—A. R. Palit, director of the India Supply Mission for North America, expects to place more than $60,000,000 in government orders in Canada this year for everything from wheat to locomotives. Mr. Palit returned to Washington late last week after conferring with officals in Ottawa.

Crown Continues Case Against Howard Urquhart

KINGSTON, Nov. 2—(CP)—The Crown continued its case today against Howard Urquhart, 21-year-old convict, accused of murdering John D. Kennedy, a messenger at Kingston penitentiary, when he and Austin Craft escaped from the prison last April 2.

Craft was convicted of the murder last week and sentenced to be hanged Jan. 2.

It was the second time in two years that Urquhart has come before Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay of the Ontario Supreme Court on a murder charge.

The first trial—in Toronto in 1948—followed the fatal shooting of Meyer Tobias, a furrier. A jury reduced the charge against Urquhart and the other youths to manslaughter.

It was for the Tobias killing that Urquhart had been sent to the Federal penitentiary for 20 years.

He and Craft, sentenced to 10 years for the robbery of a Hamilton bank, shot their way from the prison April 27. They were captured four hours later in a swamp north of Kingston.

During his trial, Craft took full responsibility for the killing and said he, alone, was responsible.

Dies From Injuries

PORT SEVERN, Ont., Nov. 2.—(CP)—Albert Vincent Wood, 86, was found dead Sunday at the foot of a stairway in his lonely farm home at Little Go-Home Bay, eight miles north of this Georgian Bay community. Police decided that the man, who lived alone, died accidentally in a fall downstairs.

Comic Book Ban Said Negative Way To Problem

WINNIPEG, Nov. 2—(CP)—No constructive purpose can be served by banning comic books, is the opinion of E. L. Robinson, city librarian of Vancouver and treasurer of the Canadian Library Association.

"Our experience has been that if you lay two books—one good and the other bad—before a child, he will take the better book if he has been properly trained."

Mr. Robinson, here to attend the annual meeting of the C.L.A.'s Central Council, said it felt the banning of trashy literature represented a negative attitude.

The constructive approach involved the use of libraries generally to bring the public the best in literature. It was especially important to provide children with suitable reading matter, using to the full the services of school and traveling libraries.

This was one of the aims of the C.L.A.

The Central Council decided that the C.L.A. will inaugu[rate] a Canadian [Children's] book week this month. During it the reading of good books will be publicized throughout Canada. Carefully chosen books for children will be made available in libraries and schools.

The Central Council, to which 15 delegates belong, is representative of libraries in Canada's principal cities. It has been meeting here since Saturday, and winds up its sessions today.

Decide Today If Linton Tried

SIMCOE, Nov. 2—(CP)—Seth Linton, 41-year-old well digger, will know today whether he must stand trial for murder in the shooting deaths June of two men.

The grand jury at Fall Assizes of the Ontario Supreme Court adjourned late Monday until today without announcing whether it had decided to free Linton or send him to trial.

Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel, presiding, told the grand jury at the opening of the court that he deplored the rise of what he called such "false philosophies" as those who urge that "might is right" and that "man should live dangerously." He said those theories were current before the Second World War and were in line with other unsettling tendencies.

"To combat these false philosophies, we must have swift retributive justice for those who have chosen lawlessness and anarchy in preference to law and order."

Schoolgirl Testifies Against Grandfather

TORONTO, Nov. 2—(CP)—An 11-year-old Indian schoolgirl testified Monday how her grandfather scribbled "I am on a spot" on the back of a greeting card, a few minutes after he allegedly beat a woman to death in his attic room.

The girl, Audrey Powless, was testifying at the trial of Peter Powless, 60-year-old herbalist and self-styled Indian chief, charged with the murder of Mrs. Gwendolyn Pine, 41, last July, 30.

Crown Attorney William Gibson read the message—written by Powless to his son—as the trial opened Monday.

The girl testified that her grandfather wrote the message on the back of a father's day card and "told me to put it away for my father. And then grandfather said goodbye."

Mrs. Elsie West, 35, testified she, Mrs. Pine and Powless drank wine in his room and then went to a hotel beverage room. Mrs. Pine was found beaten to death the next morning.

McNeil and Mrs. Ross Moore, and Bob Hutchinson contributed two violin solos with piano accompaniment by Max Clarke. Pianist for anthems was Mrs. J. Williams.

The principal, Mr. O. Steer, expressed extreme pleasure in the realization of a dream of years in the opening of the new school. He also spoke in glowing terms of the fine spirit of co-operation existing among staff members, and between the staff and the pupils, parents and the association itself. He then introduced the 19 members as follows: Misses Stenton, Deyell, Doughty, Robinson, Thurston, Beals, Stout, McIntosh, Munro, Hooey, Parrington, Moore, Henderson, and Caddy. Messrs. Worcholoz-Lavoie Bridal Couple Live in Hamilton

The wedding of Miss Lavonne Lavoie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lavoie of Peterborough, to Morris Worcholoz of Hamilton was solemnized Saturday morning in St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, Hamilton, by the parish priest. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Worcholoz of that city.

Traditional wedding music was played by the organist, and the bride's cousin, Miss Joan Lavoie of Georgetown, was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a handsome gown of ivory satin with very long train and a front peplum fold, forming a cascade in the back, trimmed with antique ivory lace. Tiny pleats of satin adorned the sweetheart neckline and the tight-fitting sleeves were tipped over her hands. She wore a veil of embroidered net lace, falling to the floor from a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a showered bouquet of American Beauty roses.

She was attended by Miss Jean McClennan of Hamilton, as maid of honor, gowned in rose velvet with slight train on the bustled skirt. Bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Betty Lavoie of Peterborough, and the groom's cousin, Miss Madeline Worcholoz, who were frocked in blue and pink silk lace, styled alike with three-fold skirts. Each wore a small half-hat and mittens in the material of her gown and they carried showered bouquets of pink and white roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Benjamin Trechun, and the ushers were David Lavoie of Peterborough, brother of the bride, and John Knoarowski of Oshawa, cousin of the groom. All were attired similarly in black gabardine suits with maroon ties, and the groom wore the same with white tie.

At the reception following more than 150 guests were present in Holy Ghost hall. Mrs. Lavoie, the bride's mother, received, gowned in grey crepe with black hat and accessories, and wore American Beauty roses at her shoulder. Mrs. Worcholoz, mother of the groom, also received, and was in a grey and black ensemble with black accessories and corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

After their wedding trip to Windsor and Detroit the bride and groom will live in Hamilton. When going-away the bride wore a black gabardine suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

MR. AND MRS. DURWOOD HANNA of Toronto are seen leaving Murray Street Baptist Church after their wedding on Saturday. The bride is Joan Shirley, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Stenton of Peterborough, and the groom is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hanna, Toronto.

So Many Costumes Judges Confused

There was no lack of festive spirit when 20 Plus Club held their Hallowe'en party in the YWCA Saturday evening. More than 117 different costumes gave the patrons, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Roper and Miss Leta Brownscombe, quite a headache when they had to choose prize winners.

The parade was long, but it was hilarious, and finally an "old gentleman" wearing an outsize moustachio was selected for the men's prize, and a graceful Spanish senorita for the ladies'. Unmasked, they were recognized as Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bailey, guests of the club for the evening. The winning pair appeared to be mysterious characters of the Far East, but were actually Don Landry and Bill Piercy. Mrs. Harry Tasker and Miss Audrey Metherall took prizes for the comic pair, while Miss Frances Allen and Mr. Bob Brown were the best comic couple.

A pie-eating contest caused much laughter, and the winners, Miss Audrey Metherall and Mr. Don Landry, received handsome prizes. Spot dance winners of the evening received gifts of hose.

Mr. Bob Clark, master of ceremonies, introduced various Hallowe'en games, including bobbing for apples and string chewing to get candy.

Reception Held At Bride's Home

Margaret Jean Frankish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Frankish, was married to Eric George Jackman, son of George Jackman and the late Mrs. Jackman, on Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents in Lakefield.

Following the wedding ceremony, Mrs. Frankish received the guests in a gown of teal-blue crepe romaine witr corsage of roses. She was assisted by the groom's sister, Mrs. V. Armstrong, wearing coral wool crepe, black hat and accessories and corsage of roses.

The name of the groom's attendant, Ray Jackman, was omitted from the story of the wedding.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Reviving Burned-out Love Impossible to Attain

There is no question that I am asked oftener by wives than how they can revive a dead love and get back the men they have lost.

Dorothy Dix

The answer to that pitiful question is, sadly, that it cannot be done. Once love has fled, it is gone forever. Once passion has burned itself out, there is no re-kindling its dead ashes and blowing them into flame again. No woman is miracle worker enough to breath the breath of life again into the corps of a dead love.

It is easy enough for a woman to make a man fall in love with her the first time, but it is a stunt that she cannot repeat. Once he has awakened from love's young dream, she cannot hypnotize him back to a state where he sees her as the One woman in the world. All her arts and wiles are practiced upon him in vain. The beauty he once thought so ravishing has ceased to appeal to him. The little tricks and manners he thought so cute leave him cold. Where he once saw only perfection, now he perceives only blemishes.

Nor is the man to blame for this. No one knows why he loves nor why he ceases to love. It is not a matter of volition. It is a matter of taste, and we have no more control over that than we have over any other phenomenon of nature.

No Explanation

Often a man who has loved a woman can no more explain, even to himself, why he has ceased to love her than he can why he has ceased to care for the food he craved. Nor can he any more help it or make himself want her than he could the all-day suckers he was crazy about in his boyhood.

It would save women a lot of heartache if they would only face the fact that there is no reviving a dead love, and that there is absolutely nothing that they can do about it except to accept the finality. To reproach the man with his fickleness is folly, since he cannot help it. To weep over him and appeal to his pity because he has wearied of you only makes him the more tired. To pursue him only makes him flee from you the faster.

It is the part of wisdom and dignity for a woman to let the man who has ceased to care for her go in peace, since he is lost to her anyway, and for her to centre her interests on aims and aspirations that will fill her life. There are many things in the world better worth striving for than the affections of an inconstant man.

But there is one comfort for wives, and that is that while it is impossible to resuscitate a dead love, it is easy enough to keep one alive. A man obviously is in love with a woman when he marries her, or else he would not take upon himself the responsibilities of marriage. If he falls out of love with her, nine times out of ten it is because she has been to lazy, or too selfish, or too stupid to take the trouble to keep him thinking that he was the luckiest man in the world when he got her for a wife.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, November 3

While there are indications of a static, congested or trying state of affairs, with impediments, frustrations or delays, yet as well there are signs that a well-planned and executed course of action could prove more flexible and productive than any rash attempt to gain the citadel by use of storm, passion, of force and strife. By keen analysis born of experience and study, sustained by tact, finesse and subtlety rather than crass and crude measures, definite progress may be looked for in launching bold or fresh ventures of scope and authority.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may be prepared to meet a difficult or disappointing state of affairs in which stagnation and frustration seem wellnigh overwhelming. Nonetheless the situation is not hopeless, since it may be deftly manipulated by clever, shrewd and patient techniques in which logic, experience and fortitude have power to batter down tenacious obstacles or limitations. Force and tumult would prove footless, when tact, strategem and perhaps intuition of subtlety may ultimately bring durable and gratifying returns. This applies to the pushing or inauguration of new objectives, where enterprise and initiative may be built upon past experience or solid preparation.

A child born on this day is well endowed with vigor, initiative, power and ambition, under restraint of fact, subtlety, industry and sagacity.

Reds To Choose Between Party And Union

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

This is the period of decision for Communist officials in British trade unions. They have been told the time for divided loyalty is over and they must choose between the party and the trade union movement.

The issue has smouldered for years. It flared up intensely last week, first when the General Council of the Trades Union Congress accused the Communists of trying to wreck British and European recovery and again when the National Union of Mine Workers rebuked its Communist secretary, Arthur Horner, for statements "contrary to union policy."

As far as the public is concerned, the conflict has crystallized in the person of Horner, ginger-haired little Welshman who fought against Britain with the Irish Republicans after the First World War. He organized the South Wales mining town of Mardy so thoroughly that it became known as "Little Moscow."

Founder of Party

He is the founder of the Communist Party in Britain. Due to his influential position — he became president of the South Wales Miners Federation in 1936 and assumed his present position 10 years later — He has been allowed to show a bit more individuality than most Communist party members.

Lately, however, there have been signs that the party is pulling the strings a bit tighter. Hints that they expected more support from Horner may have been responsible for his recent statement in Paris that British miners sympathized with the Communist-inspired French coal strike.

Those remarks put fat in the fire. Will Lawther, a big bluff Scott who is president of the Mine Workers and also of the TUC., said Horner was speaking without the authority of the union. For almost a week they slanged at each other across the Channel.

After Horner returned, the union exexcutive met and issued a statement disclaiming Horner's "unauthorized" remarks and adding "recurrence of such conduct will not be tolerated."

In other words if Horner follows the party instead of the union line he will have to get out of the union.

240,000 In Ceremony

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP) —Approximately 40,000 active and reserve force soldiers and more than 200,000 war veterans will particpate in Remembrance Day ceremonies across Canada Nov. 11 Defence Headquarters estimated Monday. Army headquarters has authorized all former members of the army to wear uniform Nov. 11. Previously, authority to wear uniform was granted to all veterans engaged in selling poppies.

Candidate With 266 Votes Will Win US Presidency

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (CP). — Keep your eye on the electoral votes when the United States election returns start rolling in to-night.

There are 531 electoral votes divided among the 48 states. The candidate who gets a majority of them—266—wins.

Why 531 electoral votes? Because that is the total number of members of Congress—96 Senators and 435 in the House of Representatives.

Each state is entitled to a number of electoral votes equal to the number of persons it has in Congress. For example:

There are 47 New York State members in Congress: Two Senators and 45 House members, and in New York the Republicans have a slate of 47 electors. So have the Democrats.

Say Republican Thomas E. Dewey gets 3,000,000 votes in New York, and President Truman, the Democratic candidate, gets 2,999,999.

Then Dewey, although receiving only one more popular vote than Truman, gets all of New York's 47 electoral votes. Truman gets none.

Does that mean the 2,999,999 popular votes for Truman would not be included in the total national popular vote to elect him? That is right.

Other Possibilities

Suppose that in Illinois Truman gets 3,000,000 popular votes and Dewey gets only 1,000,000. Then Truman gets Illinois' 28 electoral votes and Dewey's 1,000,000 popular votes don't count.

But in those two states, Truman would receive 5,999,999 popular votes to only 4,000,000 for Dewey, but Truman would wind up with only 28 electoral votes, while Dewey, because of his New York victory, has 47.

A candidate could get more popular votes and yet lose the election because his opponent carried states with the most electoral votes. That has happened.

This year Truman, or Dewey, could make a sweep of 36 states and yet lost if his opponent carried only these 12 states: California, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Ohio, Texas and Wisconsin.

Those 12 states have 269 electoral votes, or three more than the 266 majority needed to win.

But suppose it happened that no single candidate got a majority of the electoral votes.

The newly-elected House of Representatives than would choose the President from the three candidates receiving the greatest number of electoral votes.

Lack Of Funds Holding Up University Work

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP).—Dr. G. E. Hall, President of University of Western Ontario, said today that lack of financial support and "the difficulty of being constructive when forced to exist on a year-to-year basis" are making it virtually impossible for Canadian universities to meet their responsibilities and to do the job of which they are capable.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Canadian Club, he said the universities could meet their responsibilities towards their students and their communities only if the financial crisis were solved.

"We can only hope that enlightened public opinion in this province will result in adequate support of our own universities," he added, pointing to the example of Great Britain which this year is contributing more than $700 a student to her universities.

"I believe that we must in Canada assume our proper place by becoming vital forces in the study and actual practice of living in this everyday society which we serve. The universities must accept the challenge of giving leadership in a world which, through the impact of science, the chaos of international affairs and the influence of the social revolution, is changing the life of every citizen of every country."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FREAKS NEVER CEASE

THERE IS no limit to the different kinds of freak occurrences at the bridge table. Just when you think you have experienced every kind of queer thing that can happen, along comes another to add to your store of oddities. Can you imagine someone bidding and making a grand slam after an opponent had opened the auction with a game-forcing two-bid? Especially with the contract doubled, and then redoubled by your partner?

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
2♠	3♦	Pass	3 NT
4♠	6♣	Pass	7♣
Dbl	Pass	Pass	Rdbl

The vast majority of high-ranking players would not bid two on East's hand, but at the average social game that call would be made. South's bidding was readily understandable, but North's was based on considerable imagination, courage and confidence. Her redouble was consistent, since if her bid of 7-Clubs was sound in the first place, the redouble was doubly sound, as it would increase the possible gain much more than the possible loss. That is exactly what happened, for South made the contract.

The spade 6 was led and ruffed by the club 4, the club 7 sent to the A and the diamond Q finessed. The diamond 4 was ruffed, the heart A scored and the heart 5 ruffed high. The diamond 8 was then ruffed high and the rest of the tricks taken by clubs and diamonds.

North, Mrs. Olive Sutton, one of New York's most enthusiastic duplicate devotees, explained afterward that she had so many of the spades rebid by East that she was sure her partner had none. In addition, her partner had seen fit to bid six without the ace of trumps, so that this vital card was the key to going the rest of the way.

The point here is not that East "did not have a two-bid," but that he made a two-bid, and the successful grand slam was bid in spite of it.

Tomorrow's Problem

What is the soundest play by South for 6-Diamonds after the club 7 lead?
